Crushed by his Horse.

William Bussey, a young man of Short Creek, while taking part in the Democratic jollification at West Liberty Friday night met his death. The young man was riding a horse and just after the parade started the animal became frightened at the Roman candles. It reared and falling backward caught the young man, pinning him to the ground, crushing his chest and injuring him fatally.

They Were Not Guilty.

Saturday night Scott Gordon and Andrew Stead were given a hearing before mayor of Bridgeport on a charge of setting fire to the mill recently burned so badly at Etnaville. Mr. Duncan prosecuted them for the mill company, and Capt. Dauser defended them. The evidence showed that a boy who looked about the mill was probably guilty. He had disappeared, and there was testimony to connect Gordon and Stead with the crime, so they were honorably discharged.

Recount in Wetzel.

There was a funny thing in the recount for justice in Wetzel county. David Dunlay had two majority over D. D. Postlethwaite. On the recount he gained nineteen, net, yet the count showed 1,756 votes each, a tie. The only conceivable explanation is that there was a mistake in the first returns. Dunlay, as president of the county court, will have the casting vote in settling his own election. The scratching of the People's party ticket in Wetzel was much more for Capt. Dovenor than Mr. Pendleton.

Police Pickups Yesterday.

Yesterday was an unusually lively Sunday in police circles. William Kemp was run in for indecent exposure by Lieutenant Terrill. He is thought to be the man of whom constant complaint has been heard from East Wheeling for some time past. Lou Jordan, a young German, was locked up by Officer West for drunkenness, and the same officer arrested William Miller for the same offense. Dukes Riley was corraled by Officer Creighton for disorder, Joe Dixon by Watson as a plain drunk, and Jimmie Johnson by Daum on the same charge.

A Sermon Attracts Attention.

Considerable comment was created in Martin's Ferry yesterday by the delivery of a sermon by Rev. L. B. Moore, on Separation. He drew a parallel between the Christian and the Worldly, saying that at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Friday night there was only a handful of people in attendance, worshipping during the week of prayer, while in the same building, separated by a wall, there were over 600 people seeking worldly amusement.

This was a Merchant's Carnival, given under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, a number of the members taking part, and it was opened by prayer by a prominent minister of another denomination.

Transfers Recorded.

The following transfers of real estate were left for record at Clerk Hook's office Saturday:

Deed made November 10, 1892, by Robert E. Birkett, of Chicago, and others, to Rose E. Birkett, for 84 acres, 2 rods and 15 poles of land on Peter's run. Consideration, $3,420.

Deed made November 10, 1892, by Robert E. Birkett and others to Rose E. Birkett, for 351 acres of land near Elm Grove. Consideration, $2,520.

Deed made November 10, 1892, by Robert E. Birkett and others to Rose E. Birkett, for 126 acres of land in Triadelphia district. Consideration, $5,619 50.

Rosina Vokes.

At the Opera House Thursday, November 24, that charming comedienne, Rosina Vokes, accompanied by Felix Morris and her London comedy company, will begin a three nights' engagement. As is customary with this delightful organization, three separate and distinct plays will be presented each evening. For the entertainment of her many Wheeling friends Miss Vokes has made the following happy selections: Thursday and Friday nights, "A Game of Cards," in one act; "The Circus Rider," in one act, and "A Double Lesson." Saturday night the bill will be "Crocodile Tears," "My Milliner's Bill," in which Miss Vokes will sing her famous song "His Art was True to Poll," and "My Lord in Livery," a farcical comedy in one act. Seats go on sale to-morrow.

In Olden Times

people overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

LET the hungry little ones be fed and clothed. Fill the Children's Home sack.

Reduced Sale.

We will place on sale for the next three days only Gents' Fine regular $6 Shoe at $4. L. V. BLOD.

Half Fare Rates.

On account of Thanksgiving the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway will sell tickets to all stations on its line at one fare for the round trip on November 23 and 24, good returning until November 25. O. R. WOOD, Traveling Passenger Agent.

NUMEROUS BLAZES.

The Fire Fiend Gets in his Work at Wheeling and West Alexander.

THREE FIRES HERE YESTERDAY.

The Wheeling House Livery Stable at West Alexander Burns—Six Horses Imprisoned in the Burning Building—They Burn up—Loss over $2,000—Three Trivial Blazes in the City Yesterday, with no Loss to Speak of.

News reached here at a late hour last night of a very destructive fire at West Alexander. It started about 10:30 p. m. in the Wheeling House livery stables and, like all livery stable fires, was beyond control in almost an instant. The efforts of the people—there is no fire department there—were directed toward saving what was possible to get out of the stable. Though none of the horses were rescued from the burning building, a number of carriages were gotten out before the heat drove the men from the stables. Six horses perished in the flames, as well as harness and feed kept in the building. For a time it looked as though the Wheeling House and other surrounding buildings would also burn, and but for the inch or two of snow on the roofs they would probably have caught. The stable was managed by Rowley & Barnhart, and their loss is probably nearly $2,000. The building was the property of Sam Dunley, was completely destroyed, and was valued at $1,000.

GOOD DAY FOR FIRES.

Three Small Blazes Yesterday, but No Damage to Speak of.

Last night about eleven o'clock an alarm was rung in from box 31, at the Cathedral corner, to which the fire department made a very prompt response. It was found that the fire was in the house of Mr. P. J. Gilligan, on Eoff street, north of Twelfth, and next door to the house from which there was an alarm the other Sunday night.

A child lighted a match to look for something under a stairway, and a lot of paper and rubbish piled there was ignited. The flames were put out before the first apparatus, the chemical engine, arrived.

Nearly a serious fire.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning flames of unknown origin broke out in a box of paper and rubbish in the hallway over Carle Bros' book store on Market street. When discovered by Mrs. Fink, who lives in the building, the blaze was burning brightly and communicated to a box of clothing near. Officers Wilkie and Buch were quickly on the scene and with a bucket and a dish pan they carried water and put out the fire with but trifling damage. It is thought a match may have been ignited by a mouse or rat chewing it, and thus starting the flames.

A still alarm.

A still alarm was yesterday sent into the Atlantic engine house, on account of the rubbish on the creek bank at the foot of Sixteenth street catching fire. The engine worked from about 10 a. m. till noon before the flames were extinguished.

A TAILOR FIRM ASSIGNS.

T. C. Moffat & Co. Fail and Assign for the Benefit of their Creditors.

On Saturday a deed was filed with Clerk Hook by which the firm of T. C. Moffat & Co., merchant tailors, assigned to S. G. Smith their entire stock and fixtures, bills collectable and other assets, for the benefit of their creditors. The stock is to be sold and the proceeds divided pro rata among the claimants. The misfortune of this old and well known firm causes general regret. The amount of the assets and liabilities is not known. The firm was the successor in the merchant tailoring business to I. H. Stallman & Co., and for about sixteen years has been favorably known in the trade, doing a large business. The firm was composed of T. C. and John Moffat.

Dyspepsia's victims find prompt and permanent relief in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which tones the stomach and creates an appetite.
