

MR. BLOUNT'S ACTION

In Hauling Down the American Flag at Honolulu

IS CONSTRUED AT WASHINGTON

In Various Ways—It is Believed that He Followed the Instructions of the President—How the Startling News is Received by the Statesmen—Senators Express their Views—Commissioner Carter, of Hawaii, Still Has Hopes of Annexation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—The startling news from Honolulu of the hauling down of the United States flag, it is said, was the subject of much animated discussion at the cabinet meeting to-day. Before going into the cabinet room, Secretary Gresham said to a reporter that he had received no information, whatever, aside from that printed in the papers. When questioned further as to the truth of the statements contained in special dispatches to western newspapers that Mr. Blount was conveying at the restoration of Queen Lilioukalan, and would support her return to the throne if need be by the forces of the United States ship Boston, he said he knew nothing about it, and declined to express any opinion on the subject.

There is a diplomatic reticence around the white house concerning the nature of the instructions given Commissioner Blount in his mission to Hawaii, but it is stated with some positiveness that he was given authority for hauling down the stars and stripes at Honolulu. It is understood that Mr. Blount was given definite instructions to withdraw the protectorate of the United States over Hawaii in order that this government might find itself freer in dealing with the main question of annexation, but on the day of his departure for San Francisco he was cautioned to confide this information to no person whatever in order that the motives and the intentions of the administration might not be construed so as to cause trouble among the Hawaiians.

On the afternoon of his departure from Washington Mr. Blount spent some time at the white house. The cabinet was in session and Mr. Blount was called in and discussed with the President and his official family the manner of his course to be pursued in Hawaii. He left for San Francisco that night, but the nature of his mission leaked out before he was a thousand miles from Washington, and news was telegraphed to San Francisco, where Mr. Burk, Queen Lilioukalan's agent, learned it and started immediately for Honolulu. So, when Mr. Blount arrived at his destination, the knowledge of his business had preceded him. It was not the intention to keep secret what that business was, with the exception of the fact that the commissioner had authority to declare the protectorate at an end.

The exception was guarded carefully by Mr. Blount for the reason given, it is said, by the President that if the fact that the American flag was to be hauled down became known, it might create trouble and bloodshed and also offer temptation to foreign nations to step in and secure the prize before the United States could offer an explanation of its course. Mr. Blount followed his instructions to the letter. He waited until the excitement incidental to his arrival had completely died out and affairs were in a tranquil state before making known that the protectorate was at an end. He also made it known at the same time that the United States would still consider Hawaii and the Hawaiians under its guardianship so far as outside interference was concerned, and in this also showed the caution which Mr. Cleveland and Secretary Gresham had impressed on him to deprive the announcement of anything of sensationalism. There are said to be the facts in the matter with reference to the instructions of Mr. Blount.

Mr. Charles L. Carter, one of the annexation commissioners, was seen and asked if he had any news. He replied in the negative, but stated that he fully expected to hear something in the course of the day. Speaking of the lowering of the United States flag by Mr. Blount's order, Mr. Carter said: "I do not think it means a reversal of the policy as expressed by the late administration. Secretary Foster's attitude was satisfactory to the annexationists, and he promptly disavowed the protectorate. The force of marines was posted on duty in response to a request of the provisional government to protect persons and property against assaults and danger from the natives. The necessity for this has passed, the annexation movement has gained strength, and members and President Dole announce that it is able to maintain itself if not assisted from without. Therefore, the forces of the United States were no longer essential, and with their removal of course the flag came down. We all regret that events have made it necessary to pursue that course. We had hoped that when it was once hoisted that annexation would be accomplished and that it might never again be hauled down."

WHAT SENATORS THINK.

The news from Hawaii attracted a great deal of attention among senators, although there was much reticence manifested when an effort was made to draw them out. Democrats refrained from giving utterance to what appeared to be their real sentiments, and Republicans, equally cautious, said more for private ears than they were willing to see printed in cold type. Members of the foreign affairs committee were naturally averse to any discussion of matters over which, as such committee, they have jurisdiction when the senate is called upon to act.

Senator Palmer, of Illinois, sees no reason for alarm in the action of Commissioner Blount. "I can scarcely see," said the senator, "that the action of Mr. Blount can be construed as an abandonment on the part of the present administration of all intentions concerning the islands. It, to my mind, signifies rather that the situation suggests, so that the matter of annexation or the establishment of a protectorate can be discussed with sober deliberation. By hauling down the flag there passes from view that coercion which might be supposed to exist if the marines were permitted to remain as a guard and the flag waves. I hope it will come out all right. Mr. Blount's action may be the simple result of a desire on Mr. Cleveland's part to put the negotiations on a basis from which he can deal with the native authorities anew. I do not care to say anything to prejudice the case, and know little of the effect of the removal of the protectorate until the present information is reinforced by something more definite."

Senator Cullum deprecated the act of the commissioner and said: "I am not surprised that the present Democratic administration should order the stars and stripes to be hauled down, they have taken the flag down whenever they had the opportunity and there was a time when they had it down in the states for quite a while. The dominant power in the Democratic party caused the flag to come down then in the southern states, and now they are performing the same act elsewhere. It is not the first time, by any means, that Democrats have ordered down the flag of the country."

"I am opposed to the annexation of Hawaii," said Mr. Vest. "But I do not see anything in the action of Mr. Blount that affects the subject one way or the other. I have no doubt he went there with plenary powers to do what he thought was best in the light of events that should be unfolded to him, and at this distance, thoroughly in the dark as to the real condition of affairs, it seems unjust to attempt and criticism of his acts. There is certainly nothing reprehensible in his conduct, but I do think that the act of Minister Stevens in establishing a protectorate is to be strongly condemned."

MR. MORRILL'S OPINION.

Mr. Morrill does not condemn the proceedings unqualifiedly, but it is easy to see that he disapproves of the act which resulted in the lowering of the American colors.

"It may come up all right," he said, "It may be that the administration wants to be in a position where they can act as they believe freely and without prejudice."

"On general principles," said Mr. Proctor, ex-secretary of war, "I believe in holding up the flag. I hope this action of Commissioner Blount does not menace the future of that country nor the abandonment of the principle to which the public has up to this time given its hearty assent. But just what it means I cannot say and I presume we must wait until we are made acquainted with all the facts."

Mr. Dolph, of Oregon, being interested in the Pacific coast is naturally in favor of annexation and has been pronounced in his view in favor of that policy. "I am as strongly in favor of taking care of those islands now as I have ever been and would be very sorry to see anything done that would frustrate their annexation to the United States."

BLOUNT'S MISTAKE.

Is the Sugar Trust Dictating the Administration's Policy?

CHICAGO, April 14.—Hugh Morrison, manager of the great Makawell sugar plantation at Kahu, the northernmost part of the Sandwich Islands, who was at the Great Northern Hotel here to-day, expressed the opinion that Commissioner Blount made a mistake in lowering the American flag in Honolulu. Said he: "I have a strong suspicion that the American sugar trust is, by intrigue at Washington, seeking to bring about the conditions toward which the preliminary steps have been taken if this morning's dispatches are correct. The trust fears that if the American protectorate is established that sugar refineries will be started on the islands."

FOUND AT MOUNT SINAI.

Additional Particulars Concerning the Discovery of the Syrian Text of the Four Gospels.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Independent publishes the following additional particulars and comments concerning the Syrian text of the four Gospels, the discovery of which, at Mount Sinai, has been announced by cable: "The text is in Curetonian Syriac. We are not yet informed whether it contains the whole New Testament or not, but it does contain at least the four Gospels substantially complete. It is a palimpsest manuscript, and the work of reading it is not easy. The Curetonian is the earliest Syriac version of the New Testament, going back, it is believed, into the second century, and was replaced in common use by the Peshitto, which is the ordinary Syriac version, and hitherto the most valuable of all versions of the New Testament. Only fragments of the Curetonian Syriac before known were obtained from odd leaves of parchment found in the Nitrian monastery.

"Scholars will be very much interested to know that this new manuscript, which we hope will be published before long, does not contain the last eight verses of Mark, although the Nitrian fragments do contain part of them. We can hardly say what may be expected. Within the last few years there have been discovered a commentary from which we recover much of the Diatessaron of Tatian, the teaching of the apostles, the apology of Aristides, portions of fragments of the Jerusalem Syriac version of the New Testament and the gospel and revelation of Peter. If we went back a little further we should have to add the Sinaitic manuscript, the philosophumena of Hippolytus. Now, what we most want to find are the writings of Papias and the Aramaic Matthew."

AHLWARD'S PARCE.

He Continues the Performances to the Amusement of the Reichstag.

BERLIN, April 14.—There was a crowded attendance to-day at the opening of the Reichstag, owing to the interest excited by the statement of Herr Ahlwardt, the Jew baiter, that he would to-day present the documents which he had promised to produce implicating high German officials in corrupt conduct. Upon the opening of the proceedings Herr Ahlwardt presented a written statement, which the president scanned and returned to Ahlwardt, announcing amid general laughter that the house would proceed to the ordinary business. It is understood that Ahlwardt withdrew the papers, although the general hubbub and laughter rendered it difficult to ascertain whether Ahlwardt had really done so or not.

Sympathy Strikes.

HARTLEPOOL, April 14.—The dock laborers at this port have resolved to support the Hull men and will refuse to unload vessels of the Wilson line while the strike is pending.

LONDON, April 14.—The notice given yesterday by the dock laborers' union at Liverpool to the shipping federation that unless the demands of the workmen were complied with a strike would be inaugurated, stated that the ship owners must give an answer by Monday morning next. If the demand were not conceded then the men would at once strike.

A SENSATIONAL SUIT

Brought by the City of Toledo Against the Standard Oil Company—A Charge of Conspiracy. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 14.—One of the most sensational suits in the history of this state was filed in the common pleas court here to-day by the city solicitor against the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas Company, the Standard Oil Company and about forty of the leading attorneys and politicians of Toledo, charging them in a voluminous document with having, at the time the Toledo Morning Commercial here was owned by the Standard Oil Company and operated by P. C. Boyle (now publisher of the Oil City Derrick), entered into a conspiracy to prevent the sale of the city's gas bonds and alleging that reports to the discredit of the city were circulated to such an extent in the eastern bond markets as to prevent the sale of the bonds. Judgment is asked in the sum of $1,000,000 actual damages. The suit was unlooked for and its startling specifications have created a decided sensation. It is understood that every effort will be put forth to push the matter to a speedy trial.

A DEADLOCK BROKEN.

Settlement of the Fight for Collector at Steubenville. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 14.—For two weeks the water works trustees of this city have had a deadlock over the selection of a collector. There were nine candidates and each of the three trustees had a man that he was committed to. R. E. Blinn voted for William Griffith, a postal telegraph operator; R. M. Brown voted for his son, Hugh Brown, jr., and Charles Foreman for Daniel McCurdy. They met on three different occasions and had 206 ballots, standing the same on each ballot. As each man was determined that the other favorites should not be nominated, another way out of the prolonged deadlock was looked for.

Finally Mr. Foreman voted for R. M. Brown, one of the trustees. As the question arose whether Mr. Brown would have to resign as trustee if he was elected, or whether he could vote for himself, the trustees adjourned to hear a decision from the city solicitor who held that he could vote for himself and that being a tie of the second class he would not have to resign as trustee, so last night he was elected. It is the second best office in the city and the selection of Mr. Brown settles a bitter content and gives general satisfaction, as he has always been a stalwart Republican, and is a citizen who has the confidence of every one.

The Business Outlook.

NEW YORK, April 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The ruling fact in the business situation is the outgo of gold, $3,500,000 Tuesday, $1,000,000 and possibly more to-day with the prospect of a large amount Tuesday next. Treasury gold is again reduced below $2,000,000 in excess of the bullion fund and there is more talk of bond issues with the old doubt whether these would meet the real difficulty which is the enormous excess of imports over exports of goods. Pig iron is steady, though Bessemer is rather weaker, rails are stagnant and bar offered by western mills below cost to production at east. Plates are a little stronger and the structural demand very large but at prices extremely low. Copper is a shade lower, the output exceeding the present demand. Tin declined a little but recovered and lead is stronger at 1.15.

The outlook for iron at Pittsburgh is not so bright, but the glass trade is good. Trade at Cleveland is good in manufactured iron. The business failures during the last seven days numbered 209 as compared with totals of 223 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 226.

DRINK the Schmalbach Brewing Company's celebrated Beck Beer. This year's product is better than ever before. It will be on tap Saturday and Monday.

FOR SILKS and Laces go to KMSHEIMER'S.

TO-DAY at L. S. Good & Co.'s Plain and Figured India Silks 25c, worth 40c.

Cancers in the Neck

Terrible Choking Sensation

Mrs. James Baker of Locust Valley, Long Island.

"Four years ago, while living in Trinidad, Colorado, a small lump appeared on my neck, which gradually swelled and developed into an intensely painful livid sore with a centre filled with granulations like shot. Another sore appeared an inch or two distant, and I had to give up and return to my parents in Brooklyn. Physicians pronounced them cancers and for their removal, I suffered a great deal before the operation, and far worse since. One of the cancers, the smaller one, healed over but was as sore as ever, while the other did not heal and was worse. The physician told me I would have to submit to another operation, but I said I would die first."

A similar lump a year ago came on the right side of my neck. For many months I could swallow only liquid or very soft food, and sometimes found great difficulty in speaking aloud. At the suggestion of a friend, I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the only thing I regret is that I did not take it years ago, and thus have prevented terrible suffering, for had I taken the medicine, I sincerely believe I should not have needed any operation at all. These sores are now, after taking two bottles,

Completely Gone and, I am satisfied, permanently healed up. The lump on the right side of my neck has nearly all dried up, and no longer causes me any inconvenience. I can eat anything once more, and can use my voice as well as ever."
