WHEELING, OCTOBER 12, 1893.

Proud Chicago.

Chicago is boiling over with satisfaction. She undertook to break all records on her own day and her success was beyond her most daring hope.

The Chicago crowd gathered on a mission of peace and good will, and here is where it took the red ribbon. There never has been so big a crowd so eager to pay an admission fee for the chance of glorifying a city or for any other purpose.

It is recorded in the local press that fifty thousand men and women slept out of doors the night before Chicago day, which doubtless breaks another record. The local transportation lines carried six hundred thousand persons to the fair, and this, too, is without precedent.

That nothing might be wanting to the uniqueness and completeness of the day a pretty babe, destined to become historic, was born within the enclosure. The family name is Tucker, and the babe might as well be named World's Fair Chicago Day Tucker.

Taking one consideration with another, Chicago has a right to be proud of her triumph and the rest of us have reason to be proud of the city that made the greatest international exposition in all history.

Another point, if you please. Chicago Day was the twenty-second anniversary of the great fire, that made one hundred thousand people homeless and virtually penniless. What was the greatest achievement of Chicago? The fair or resurrection? In less than a generation she arose from ashes to affluence; from desolation to magnificence—a veritable Phoenix, and a more practical "I Will."

Democrats of a Maryland district nominated a candidate for judge after taking 5,812 ballots and spending two months over it. This is a record-breaking age.

A Felon For Judge. The bar association of New York urges all good citizens to join to defeat the election to the supreme court of that state of Judge Maynard. This is the man whom Hill made judge as a reward for the felony which put the legislature in the power of the Hill machine.

Instead of being on the bench Maynard should be in the penitentiary. Under the law this is the penalty for his crime. He is to remain on the bench of the highest court in the state if the Democratic machine can keep him there, probably because a judge of his stripe is handy for a machine to have about, probably as a further reward for the felony he had the nerve to commit in the interest of the Democratic machine.

Doings of this kind will be far from convincing scoundrels under punishment that society is treating them fairly. If Maynard is to be on the bench they may well ask why they may not at least be at large.

This able New York Post, which helped elect Cleveland, is becoming more bitter in its denunciations of the Democratic ticket. Before many days the Post will be entirely out of line.

Majority Rule in the Senate. Ex-Senator Edwards expresses the opinion that "there ought to be a means of enabling the majority of any responsible deliberative body to declare its will after a minority shall have had a fair and liberal opportunity of stating its views."

In other words, the majority should give the minority fair play and then rule. One of these days it will be so in the senate of the United States. If senators do not come to it willingly the people will force them to it or drive the senate out of existence.

This Republicans across the river should turn out en masse to-night to hear the Hon. Lorenzo Danford, discuss the issues of the hour at Emsville. The people of Belmont know Mr. Danford, and have an abiding confidence in him, and for this reason all should hear him.

manifested in this campaign than was ever known before, but enthusiasm alone won't win. Watch the wily old enemy; they are always up to tricks. And then let every Republican vote. Don't stay at home and labor under the impression that your vote won't be needed in the final count. It will. McKinley must have a rousing majority.

This is strange. The announcement is made in Washington without any reservations that Mr. Justice Field of the supreme court strongly opposed the nomination of Mr. Hornblower to a justiceship and that he is as determinedly opposing confirmation. This may have been done before by a justice of the supreme court of the United States, but in view of the impropriety of the proceeding this may be doubted.

The reason assigned for Justice Field's opposition, and said to have been flattery offered by him to the President and to others, is that the law firm of which Mr. Hornblower is a member has a large retainer from the Illinois Central to try to secure a reopening of the Chicago lake front case, in which a large and valuable property is involved.

If this story is true and made no impression on the President and on senators, it is hardly the place of a justice of the supreme court to lobby for the defeat of the nomination. He can well afford to allow the responsibility to rest where it belongs, with the President and the senate.

VON TAAFE'S proposition to give the right of suffrage to three million voters in Austria, who have heretofore been debarred from that privilege, although thoroughly competent to exercise the right, has stirred up European political circles. And, no wonder, for the reason that it is the entering wedge that will soon split the monarchies of the old world—or, at least bring them in touch with their more humble but not less patriotic subjects.

The city election in Indianapolis gives the most encouraging results in regard to the revision of political feeling. Two years ago a Democrat was elected mayor with a majority of 2,800. Day before yesterday the Republicans turned the tables and swept the platter clean by from 2,000 to 3,000 majority. This is only one spot on the Democratic sun which does not require a telescope to discover. Other spots are already discernable in the distance.

It is rather interesting to note that when the strike in the flint glass trade began at noon yesterday there were but twelve men in the Wheeling houses to go out, and those were in the mould shop of factory "O." The point is, that when the United States Glass Company got ready to try conclusions with its labor it was employing in this city just twelve men in its mechanical department. It seems that Wheeling dropped out of the glass business when her glass houses went into this big corporation.

In the Register's Benwood news of yesterday appeared the following: The Jew who opened a store about two months ago in the McDonald building on Main street, moved his store to Bellaire yesterday. Perhaps this Jewish merchant has a name, by which it would be as easy to designate him as to call him a Jew. There is a too-strong Russian flavor about this for the United States of America.

For once a Virginian had sense enough to refuse to fight a duel. Not only that, but the editor of the Richmond Times, who was challenged, turned the challenger over to the police. This is one of the most gratifying signs of times in the south, and we expect soon to hear of negroes being turned over to the law officers instead of being summarily dealt with.

KENTUCKY is compelled to undergo the humiliation of being unable to convict the outlaws of Perry county. The court cannot be held to blame. It was the intimidation of witnesses by both parties to the feud that made it impossible to punish the mountain cutthroats. It is a sad, sad state of affairs.

New Jersey justice is determined to lay its heavy hand on the Princeton students recently suspended for hazing. The grand jury is instructed that these lawless and brutal students are no better than common criminals. This is wholesome doctrine, and other courts would do well to preach it as often as occasion furnishes the text.

Those Democrats who said that Tom Reed wouldn't lend a hand to swell McKinley's majority must have drawn their news from Democratic sources. Brother Reed will make the free traders sorrow that he is able to be about and to raise his powerful voice in Ohio.

SAYS Benjamin Harrison: "In honest elections lies our national safety, and we cannot tolerate fraud in elections without paying a bitter price for it in the end." The Democratic house of representatives has just passed a bill to legalize fraud in elections.

If Larry Neal is going to do any campaigning in Ohio this year it is time he was up and at it. The little round he is making and the little attention he is attracting can't be called campaigning with McKinley on the other side.

It is pronounced Val-kyr-ic, with the accent on the first syllable. At least, Lord Dunraven says that is the proper form.

If the protectionists of Ohio do their duty McKinley will have a veritable Chicago day majority over the effete Neal.

If the senate only would—but what's the use? Ephraim is joined to his idols, and that settles it.

Town Sinking Out of Sight. DENVER, COL., Oct. 11.—A telegram received here says: Louisvillia, a coal mining town of 700 inhabitants, and situated twenty-five miles north of here, is sinking out of sight. The town is built over the wash mines and its destruction is being caused by the sinking of the surface above the line.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

The most highly prized piece of ancestral silverware preserved by the Lees of Virginia is a mammoth stirrup-cup, which even when empty is a specimen for two stalwart arms to lift up.

A movement has been inaugurated at Scranton, Pa., to send a choir of 100 Welsh-Americans to Wales next year to represent the United States at the National eisteddfod.

It is stated that a pail of water containing a handful of hay, if placed in a room where there has been smoking, will absorb all the odor of the tobacco.

A pretty charity, that of furnishing street car tickets to poor invalids for rides in the suburbs of the city, is practiced successfully in Boston.

A very sad death is that of Miss Annie Loftis of New York, who expired in the arms of her lover two nights before her wedding day.

A Shawnee lad, who entered the Indian school in Virginia as Tommy Wild Cat, remains under the dignified name of Thomas W. Catt.

A pear tree and an apple tree on the same grounds in Hempstead, L. I., is in blossom. The former tree is also bearing fruit.

Col. Gus Leftwich, of the Miami (Mo.) News, is the proud possessor of a stalk of corn nineteen and one-half feet high.

There is a falling off in the number of children attending the public schools in New York this fall.

At the present rate of increase there will be 100,000,000 people in the United States in fifty years.

An unfortunate mother in Hannibal, Mo., has two sons and a daughter in the penitentiary.

A pear that weighs over thirty ounces is on exhibition at a drug store in Atlanta, Ga.

More people die in the spring than in any of the other seasons.

PERSONAL POINTS.

The grave of Phillips Brooks, in Mt. Auburn cemetery, is in an old-fashioned lot surrounded by a plain iron fence. The only ornament there is the bed of myrtle by which the mound is thickly overgrown, and the flowers which friends supply abundantly and keep fresh. There are innumerable visitors to the great churchman's grave.

Prof. Drummond is giving a series of lectures in the chapel of the University of Chicago, and is also repeating in a Chicago church, under the auspices of the University Extension authorities, the lectures on "Evolution" which he gave at the Lowell Institute, Boston.

John Hooker, husband of Isabella Beecher Hooker (sister of the late Henry Ward Beecher), has just resigned the position of reporter of the supreme court of Connecticut, which he has held for thirty-six years.

The Cumberland Presbyterians say there is no truth in the report recently started that Prof. Briggs would soon be made pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in New Brunswick, N. J.

Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, has the reputation of being the gourmet par excellence of Congress, and his tips are so generous that the waiters grow rich on them.

F. Marion Crawford the novelist, is visiting the family of his father-in-law, General Berdan, in Washington. He will probably pass the winter in that city.

A piece of apple pie and a cup of coffee comprises the lunch that stimulates Senator Peller's busy intellect to erratic action.

Richard Watson Gilder has just brought out a volume of poems entitled "The Great Remembrance."

Miss Emily Faithful is an inveterate smoker through the advice of her physician.

WAYSIDE WIT.

Lady of the House—"Put that statuette of Apollo on the other side of the room, Bridget." Bridget (taking up the marble)—"Faith, mem, and who is the indecent spalpeen?" Lady—"Why, Bridget, he was a Greek." Bridget—"Phwat's that his name is, mem?" Lady—"Apollo." Bridget—"Bad cess to 'm, mem. Phwat's the murderin' Craike, wid no clothes on his back, doin' wid a good Irish name like O'Pollo?" —Tit-Bits.

"Hello, Jack, I understand you're engaged." "I am, old man, to—" "Ah, yes, I know; to the dearest, sweetest, little woman on earth. The one woman calculated to make you a happy home, the embodiment of your ideal, the dream of your youth." "Say, old man, how did you ever find that out? You—you don't know her, do you?" —Harper's Bazar.

POLITICAL POTHER.

Isaac H. Maynard must be a moral pachyderm, says the Mugwump Springfield, Mass., Republican, if he can rest easy under the blast of condemnation which his nomination as judge of the court of appeals has called forth. Nobody outside the Hill-Croker-Murphy machine and that universal devil's advocate, the New York Sun, defends his nomination, while honest Democrats all over the state are protesting against it and threatening to bolt it. It is a big price to pay for such honor as comes from the nomination to be held up as a mail-thief before the country, as Maynard is.

The Democratic New York Post seems to be getting a good ready to bolt the entire Democratic ticket when it gives utterance to the following: A comparison of the nominations for delegates-at-large to the constitutional convention made by the two conventions shows that the Republican set is, as a whole, much superior to the Democratic set.

Says the New York Advertiser: Do we understand the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, of Plymouth Church, to say that the clause of the Declaration of Independence which proclaims that all men are created equal is "a defiance of law"? No profounder truth was ever uttered. It is the one great truth, the utterance of which has revolutionized and is revolutionizing the world.

This from the New York World is cheerful reading: Since his exhibition in the legislature Mr. Maynard's only way of getting an office has been through appointment. The machine bosses did not dare attempt to pay their "debt" to him with a nomination last year, when the Presidency and governorship were involved. They therefore agreed to support a Republican candidate for chief justice, and "arranged" to have Maynard appointed to fill the vacancy.

The New York Tribune says: The civil service reformers who voted for Cleveland, having complained that the abuses which they wished to have reformed had been continued and aggravated under Assistant Secretary of State Josiah Quincy, are told by Josiah, with the utmost coolness, that "no administration, unless seeking suicide, could afford to lose from a well-established system." And he calls himself a reformer, too. Josiah adds to the advantages of a liberal education and a limber lower jaw the protuberant cheek of a right whale.

It is never too late to repent. The Charleston News and Courier has at last got over on the right side of the protection fence. Speaking of the thousands of hungry and unemployed workmen in Philadelphia it says: "The cause of these people's poverty is government interference with the laws of trade." That's hitting the nail square on the head, says the Philadelphia Press. The Democratic administration's monkeying with our protective tariff was never dealt a harder blow south of Mason's and Dixon's line.

Any party or parties with capital and a desire to invest in campaign funds with a view of future rewards, says the Washington Post, should hasten to correspond with the treasurer of the Ohio Democratic committee. It has been discovered that it will require something more convincing than free trade sentiment to convince the Ohio voters that the tariff is fraudulent and unconstitutional.

Our Ohio friends should ponder on these words of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, which says: The progress of the McKinley meetings, taking as a basis the political history of Ohio, is surprising, but we would admonish the friends of the principles represented by the Republican party of Ohio that the true test of endurance and success will be ascertained when the votes shall be counted in November. Too much stock is not to be taken in prospects, inasmuch as prospects do not count. Therefore, every citizen should register to begin with, and thus prepare himself to deposit his ballot in November.

The United Press Failed. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A rather unique phase of journalistic enterprise was displayed by James Gordon Bennett's evening paper, the Telegram. It was quite worthy of the man who sent Stanley to Africa, and De Long to the Polar sea. Finding the service of the United Press, on which the Telegram has hitherto relied, utterly inefficient and inadequate, a military signal service was improvised and a report of each movement of the boats was transmitted instantaneously, a distance of more than thirty-five miles, to the tower of Madison Square Garden, whence it was wired to the Telegram office in Thirty-fifth street. It was really a remarkable exhibition of speed in the transmission of news.

Old B. & O. Engineer Dead. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 11.—Benton Myers, one of the oldest and most experienced railroad engineers in this section, and an old-time Baltimore & Ohio employe, died here to-night. His remains will be taken to Parkersburg for burial.

When catarrh attacks a person of serofulous diathesis, the disease is almost sure to become chronic. The only efficacious cure, therefore, is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which expels serofula from the system and the catarrh soon follows suit. Local treatment is only a waste of time.

WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM.

Something Peculiar, to Say the Least.

An Event Which Has Puzzled the Doctors Not a Little.

The Occurrence Has Created a Great Deal of Comment.

The following remarkable account we have from the man's own lips. Mr. Amos R. Darter is well known in Indianapolis, Ind., living at 225 West Chesapeake street. He says:

"Ten years ago a pain came in my left foot and went all over me. I had such severe pain in my head that I could get no rest day or night. I called a doctor; he said I had rheumatism, but he could not relieve me.

Then I went to taking patent medicines, and bought everything I would see advertised for rheumatism, but all failed to give me any relief. Then I called in the doctors; had five good ones treat me, but all failed to relieve me. I was taken down and suffered intense pain. My flesh got so sore that I could not bear my clothes to touch me. My left side got numb from my foot to my head. I would feel a tingling in my side; in a second I would fall prostrated.

"I could not sleep night or day until when under the influence of morphine. I could not walk one square without resting. I would have to set my cane out first and stop with my right foot and then drag the left foot up.

AMOS R. DARTER.

"I gave up all hopes of getting well, and quit taking any medicine except morphine. "I would roll all night in bed and get up as tired in the morning as if I had worked all night. "At last I found a cure in Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The first two bottles drove all the pain out of my head. I took six bottles more. Now I can walk and I am free from pain. I thank God that I found this wonderful remedy. If any one will call at my home I will tell all about my cure."

We venture the prediction that no sufferer from pain, whether of the head or elsewhere in the system, who reads about this remarkable cure, will delay getting this wonderful medicine from the drug store. It certainly cures rheumatism, headache, backache, in fact all kinds of pains. Mr. Darter's marvelous cure by it, after many doctors failed even to afford relief, is proof of this, and he may be seen or written to about his cure.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and is recommended by the doctors as the best remedy to take. It is, in fact, the prescription and discovery of a physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. Fourteenth street, New York, the noted specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

If you are suffering from pain, or ache, or feel badly, use this remedy at once. It will cure you.
