

COXEY'S CAMP

In Washington Much Disturbed by the Pangs of Hunger.

COMMANDERS LIVE LIKE LORDS

At Hotels While Their Followers Starve and Sleep on Straw.

BUT THE ARMY PARADES TO-DAY

And CoxeY Declares They Will March to the Capitol Steps—The Authorities Will Intercept Them at the Entrance to the Grounds, However—If This is Done the Procession Will Disband and the Men go in as Individuals—Coxey Will Contest in Court the Right of the Police to Interfere With His Programme—Kelly's Brigade in Hard Lines—Galvin's Contingent Arrives at Belleaire En Route to Wheeling.

The various contingents of the Commonwealth "army" up to date are located and numbered as follows:

Table listing contingents of the Commonwealth "army" with columns for Location and Leader, and Number.

CAMP GEORGE WASHINGTON, BENTWOOD PARK, D. C., April 30.—Although they had pitched their tents in the promised land, the Commonwealth have not found it a land flowing with milk and honey.

The morning sun thawed out a stiff and cold and hungry lot of tourists after the first night passed in the District of Columbia. Many of the rank and file had stretched their limbs unprotected on the bare ground within the enclosure of canvas which circles their quarters.

COXEY'S DEPT. CoxeY went at 4 o'clock to the office of the sergeant-at-arms of the senate, armed with a letter of introduction from the chief of police to Colonel Bright.

Meanwhile, while the body of Commonwealthers was dropping into uncomfortable slumber in their tent, it was faring hard with the little contingent of irregulars under the leadership of the patent medicine fakir Bozaro, once styled the Unknown Smith.

HEAD TO "GIT." The police force of Takoma, three mounted officers, assembled en masse and bore down valiantly upon the contingent of the unknown. Smith himself was not there. He had followed the illustrious example of CoxeY and Brown and had betaken himself to the luxuries of a city hotel.

They were followed to the District line by the police department and thus ended the reform crusade of Bozaro. Ten o'clock came before the fires were lighted for breakfast in the camp of the regulars.

COULDN'T STAND A BATH. Two sick men were found in a tent, one of them William Fitzgerald, the standard bearer, threatened with pneumonia, the other John Smith, leader of the band, who had taken a bath in a wayside brook Sunday, and was suffering from a chill.

NOON ARRIVED, and with it no breakfast for the hungry men. Mutterings of discontent were heard and seemed to be particularly bitter against Carl Browne, who was in the city.

BROWNE PACIFIES THE MEN. Carl Browne, the marshal, put in an appearance about 3 o'clock this afternoon. He was garbed in his spectacular buckskin suit and occupied the seat of a grocer's wagon loaded with bread.

with angry mutterings, but the sang froid of Marshal Browne was absolutely unquenchable. "Our friends down town this morning told us they would make all the arrangements for supplies," he shouted, mounting the seat of the wagon and waving a huge loaf of bread.

in Des Moines and the authorities were as anxious to-day as yesterday. The mass meeting of laboring men called for to-night was looked forward to with apprehension as it was feared that a repetition of the Council Bluffs demonstration was likely to result.

Committees from labor organizations were busy all day soliciting food for the army and money for a train. Out at the stove works camp the day was a quiet one. The men were comfortably housed and well fed and seemed content to await developments.

The Council Bluffs women, Misses Hooton and Edna Harper, who have been with the army, were told by Kelly to-day that they could march with the industrials no further. Their presence had subjected the general to much criticism.

Kelly was confident of securing a train and claimed that he had assurances that the army would be carried out of Des Moines to-morrow or Wednesday. Denunciation by the laboring classes of the action of the industrial army and the continued growth of sentiment favorable to Kelly kept the city officials in a turmoil all day.

Wolcott Denounced. ASPEN, COL., April 30.—At a meeting of citizens to organize an army to join CoxeY resolutions were adopted condemning Senator Wolcott for his address on the Allen resolution.

Another Regiment Starts. SALT LAKE, UTAH, April 30.—A number of unemployed men here, estimated at 200 or 300, under the leadership of a man named Carter, have a desire to go to Washington.

HELENA, MONT., April 30.—Hogan's army, numbering 330 men, arrived here to-day on a special train in charge of soldiers from Fort Koepp.

Galvin's Army Coming. Ticked through to Belleaire and due to arrive at 3 a. m.—Preparations to prevent their getting farther.

Authentic reports reached the B. & O. officials here last night that Galvin's main "army" was on its way from Columbus to Belleaire, traveling second class on a passenger train.

At Belleaire no preparation was made by the city authorities in view of the invasion, although it was definitely known there early in the evening to be impending.

Superintendent Sheets, of Grafton, was here, and when he got reliable information of the approach of the crowd he, Yardmaster Jamieson and other local officials, accompanied by Sheriff Franzheim, assembled at the station here, but it was found that the basis of operations could not be closer than Benwood, and the railroad officials went there on the 1:40 a. m. train.

The army was on three special cars attached to train No. 8, and the train was reported twenty-five minutes late at Barnesville, which meant it would reach Belleaire about 2:45.

An Associated Press dispatch from Columbus says: The Galvin wing of General Frye's army left Columbus at 8:10 p. m. on the B. & O., for Benwood, W. Va., 137 miles east of Columbus.

Galvin obtained forty-five recruits here, and the regiment numbered 210 men when it filed through the city to the depot, where between 5,000 and 6,000 people witnessed the departure.

The train arrived at Belleaire at 2:45 a. m. with the 250 "rebels." The army was "hobbed" by the authorities, and, 250 strong, proceeded to the city building where they made preparations to spend the night.

There was a rumor current yesterday that the first detachment of Galvin's army, a squad consisting of eighty men, had arrived at Benwood and zone on east. This was afterwards denied, but inquiry showed that a party of about eighty men had passed through east on an early train, changing cars at Benwood, and that they were bound to join CoxeY at Washington.

FRANK HATTON DEAD. The Washington "Post" Editor and Ex-Postmaster General Succumbs to Paralysis.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—Mr. Frank Hatton, late editor of the Washington Post, is dead. Death occurred at 4:30 p. m.

At the death bed were Mrs. Hatton, Richard Hatton, the only child; Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, Mr. John D. O'Connor, Mr. Hatton's confidential secretary; Dr. Sowers, the attending physician and the trained nurse.

Frank Hatton was born in Cambridge, Ohio, April 28, 1846. At the outbreak of the war of the rebellion he enlisted in the Ninety-eighth Ohio Infantry, and in 1864 was commissioned first lieutenant.

SENATOR STOCKBRIDGE DEAD. He Dies Suddenly in Chicago While Seated in a Chair.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Senator Francis B. Stockbridge, of Michigan, died suddenly at the residence of his nephew, J. L. Houghtaling, this evening.

PARKERSBURG NOTES. A Travelling Salesman Hurt—Boys' Curiosity Satisfied—Penitentesses.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., April 30.—P. F. Conley, travelling salesman for the wholesale house of Thompson & Jackson, fell off a fast moving train near here to-day and was quite badly hurt.

HELENA, MONT., April 30.—Hogan's army, numbering 330 men, arrived here to-day on a special train in charge of soldiers from Fort Koepp.

Galvin's Army Coming. Ticked through to Belleaire and due to arrive at 3 a. m.—Preparations to prevent their getting farther.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS. Two thousand painters are on strike in Chicago.

deliberately, "he speaks for no one but himself. Under other circumstances and conditions I do not believe he would have made the speech he has made," Mr. Aldrich took his seat.

THE MINERS' STRIKE. Colonel Read Gives Up Trying to Get a Compromise—Operators Won't Come Together.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 30.—Col. W. P. Read returns to Chicago to-night without having succeeded in getting the coal operators to agree to a conference looking to a settlement of the strike.

ALDRICH'S DIGNIFIED RESPONSE. In Marked Contrast to the Bar-Room Language Indulged in by the Democratic Statesman—The Rhode Island Senator's Persistent Charge That the Tariff Bill is to be Amended to Placate Kicking Democrats Causes the Leaders on That Side to Lose Their Temper—Senator Hill Makes Some Remarks That do Not Seem to Please His Colleagues.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—Senator Harris, who is in charge of the tariff bill, lost patience to-day at the way in which progress was impeded by Senator Hale in the morning hour.

Mr. Aldrich said it was due to the senate and country that they should know what bill was to be considered. "House bill 4,864," interjected Mr. Harris sharply.

GREAT NORTHERN STRIKE. United States Troops on Guard—Strikers Will Not Arbitrate.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 30.—The special train bearing four companies of United States troops arrived at Grand Forks, N. D., to-day and immediately went into camp with a guard about the train.

West Virginians in Washington. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—Judge John J. Jackson, Col. Jasper Y. Moore and A. D. Gardon are here on their way to Charleston to attend court.

A Slight Blaze This Morning. An alarm at 2 a. m. called the department to No. 1131 Eoff street, where a blaze had started from an ash box in the rear and set fire to the back of the house, where it had blazed for some time before discovered.

Fought with a Lamp. James and Billy Gillespy fought in their mother's house on East Fourteenth street early this morning and used a lamp as a missile, with disastrous results.

Weather Forecast for To-day. For West Virginia, fair and warmer; southwest winds; probably showers by Wednesday morning.

THE TEMPERATURE YESTERDAY. As furnished by C. Schaeffer, druggist, corner Market and Fourteenth streets.
