Assassination of President Carnot. Once more the world stands aghast at the assassination of the executive head of a great state.

He was a man of singular purity of life, of distinguished public service, a lover of his country, a friend to all the people.

There are others in France who would have done the deed if they had had the nerve or the opportunity, and by these and these alone the foul crime will be approved.

According to the Anarchist theory the death of the President of the French republic is a great gain to all who work for wages, and according to this theory the gain would be immensely increased if every man connected with the government were treated in the same way.

The Anarchists of every other country hold the same views. They seek to abolish all government and hope much from establishing a reign of terror.

The reign of the commune in Paris did not realize the dream of those who established it. The poor did not become rich, they had more difficulty than before to get bread, and general disorder made all but the ringleaders rejoice over the restoration of law and order under men of more intelligence and patriotism.

Fortunately for France and the world the government of that country, like that of our own, does not depend on the life of its President. We have twice seen the President of the United States fall by the assassin's hand, but the republic survived.

So it will be in France. There will be mourning and there will be indignation, but there will also be a government, and that government will continue to be republican.

The weather is helping to advance the tariff bill. The ice in the julep melts too rapidly for iced comfort.

Saved from the Maddened Crowd. If the representatives of the law had been as brutal as the assassin of President Carnot, they would have allowed the infuriated populace to wreak a dreadful vengeance on him; but, monster that he is, he will have a fair trial.

The representatives of the law were right. The law should have a chance to take its course and to mete out its own punishment. With absolute certainty that will be the guillotine. Santo may be a man of disordered mind, but he has had enough to fall in the basket and French justice will make short work of him.

It will be idle to resort to the insanity dodge. The man is known to be guilty and he will pay the penalty. There will be no Prendergast nonsense in his case. They do these things differently in France.

Hard times make no impression down in Rutherford county, Tennessee, where four little cherubs have just been born of one mother.

They Know. Free traders used to like to point to what they called Prof. Sumner's good work in Yale. That was when that great collegian was graduating more free traders than protectionists.

tectionists increased 300 per cent. The boys seem to discount the able professor's teaching.

A Great Opportunity and a Great Duty. The INTELLIGENCER's urgent suggestion that delegates to the Ohio county convention keep themselves free to confer with each other as to the nominations to be made, meets with a ready response.

These delegates are chosen to represent their party. Their party desires the best nominations that can be made. It hopes that as nominees for the house of delegates the convention will place on the ticket four men of acknowledged fitness for the place, men who stand with the best in the community, whose nomination shall be accepted by the people of the county as the Republican pledge of good faith.

With such a ticket there is more than an even chance of success. With anything less the chances are the other way. No Republican should deceive himself. The tide is not running high enough to carry into the legislature from Ohio county any kind of men but the best. This kind the people have a right to expect on the Republican ticket.

If the county convention does its duty, cautiously and with the highest regard to party interests and the public welfare, it will in all probability have the satisfaction of seeing its good work endorsed by the people in November. This is the opportunity of the convention and of every member of it.

Let every delegate hold himself free to do his share of the work on this high plane. Success in Ohio county means a legislature Republican on joint ballot. Republicans of the rest of the state are looking for Ohio county Republicans to put forward their best efforts.

It is a great opportunity and a great duty that confront the Republicans of Ohio county.

Grocers' day this year promises to go ahead of anything those enterprising men have undertaken. The INTELLIGENCER wishes them a fine day and a good time.

Representation in the Republican National Convention.

The Chicago Iner Ocean reminds some mistaken delegates to the Republican league convention at Denver that their body cannot change the basis of representation in the next Republican national convention to nominate a presidential ticket.

It is odd that anybody has to be told this. Nor can the change be made in the national committee, which is without authority in the premises. The national convention of the Republican party can make the change. There is no other power that can.

The INTELLIGENCER does not agree with the Inter Ocean that the Denver convention will make a mistake to incorporate in its platform anything regarding the basis of representation in the regular national convention of the Republican party. Anybody may recommend anything.

A recommendation from the Republican league to the Republican national convention would be entitled to respectful consideration and would receive it.

A GENTLER, juster, more patriotic man than Sadi Carnot was never at the head of affairs in France. He was the worthy grandson of that Carnot whose name in French history is immortal. He was a fine example of the best his country produces. He was in the prime of life, and his countrymen were about to confide in him another term of the presidency. There is no fouler crime in the blood-stained history of France than that which the Italian Santo has committed.

The little royalty born to their highnesses of York has only to wait for his great grandmother, his grandfather and his father to pass away, and he will have the British crown to wear. That will be a long stretch if all who are ahead of him hold out as long as Queen Victoria has, and by the time the little chap's turn comes the royalty business may be played out in England.

Some Toledo employers have discharged employees who are members of the national guard and responded when the governor ordered them out to suppress the riots. Ohio law makes provision for this kind of meanness, and the offense is not likely to pass unnoticed.

Public Opinion has issued a group of fifty portraits of prominent magazine contributors, good portraits of people well known through their work. Public Opinion has taken deep root in a field of its own making and thrives because it deserves to thrive.

The assassin of President Carnot boasts that he is an Anarchist. That will not save him from the guillotine. His guilt is fastened on him and his deed has inspired the people with horror and detestation of his tribe.

CONGRESSMAN STONE's bill to deal with Anarchists at a rope's-end will strike the popular fancy as being just about the right thing. A mad dog is dangerous, and it is best to deal with him before he bites.

HARRIS and his awkward squad in the senate hope to finish up their tariff job this week. The further they go the more probability there is that they will come out somewhere some time.

The man who persists in giving you longwinded views on this sort of weather is not your best friend. Some things were best left unsaid.

The butchery of French phrases by telegraph is explained by the fact that our telegraph lines are of the English-speaking kind. It may be that the tugboat Nicol, which capsized off Sandy Hook, was carrying more passengers than she should have carried, but the chief trouble seems to have been that the passengers paid no attention to the captain's orders. They were nearly all on one side, and when the captain saw the situation he endeavored without success to get them to change their position. If they had done this there would probably have been no loss of life.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

A proud girl, tall, curly-headed and bright-eyed, sat near the fruit stand of which her father is the owner, in Brooklyn. Charles N. Erwin tried to kiss her, and may have succeeded. She screamed. He was arrested, but protesting to Justice Goetting that his arrest was an outrage, for the girl had put her lips into a kissing position, he was discharged with a bill caution to be more careful.

A letter from Bill Dalton, dated from Pryor's Creek, J. T. June 14, has reached the St. Louis Republic. Bill implores the testimony of his wife and brother as to his death. He says that "there is a lot of marshes in this territory that has no more grit than a pet dog, and I am one that certainly ought to know these things, as I have been thrown with them the year past."

An Augusta (Me.) clergyman walked into the store of a merchant, wet to the skin by a thunderstorm. The merchant had some exquisite old brandy, of which he was very proud. He offered the domine some, as a joke, not dreaming that his guest would accept. The minister not only took a big drink, but put the bottle in his pocket.

A Michigan girl had the day set for her wedding. She told the young man that was to marry her that he must deed his farm to her first. He respectfully declined. The marriage feast was ready, and so was the groom; but the bride did not appear. Next day it was discovered that she had begun an action for breach of promise.

Scientists say that 4,000,000 webspuns by young spiders would not form a strand as great in diameter as a hair from the human head. Coal tar yields sixteen shades of blue, the same number of yellow tints, twelve of orange, nine of violet and numerous other colors and shades.

No Time for Differences. Charleston Evening Mail.

The Wheeling Register tried mightily hard to make it appear that there was dissension and bad feeling at the state meeting of Republican League clubs at Fairmont. But it's no use. The Republicans of West Virginia have learned lessons from former family differences, and recognize that this is not the time for them. The business in hand just now is the defeat of incompetent Democracy, and they propose to see to it that a good job is done.

MASONIC CELEBRATION. St. John's Day at Cameron—Address by Dr. Baker, of Wheeling.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. CAMERON, W. Va., June 25.—The Masonic celebration of the anniversary of St. John the Baptist was a great success. A most sumptuous repast was served on the first floor of the new M. E. church, where good cheer and good edibles were dispensed in a way that made all to feel that life was worth the living. After dinner a short recess was improved in getting acquainted and in pleasant conversations. Having adjourned to the main auditorium of the new church building on account of the threatening aspect of the weather, instead of repairing to the grove just east of town as was laid down in the programme, the audience, consisting of most of the members and their families, with a fair sprinkling of outsiders, was called to order by the worshipful master at 2 p. m.

Music by the choir was followed by an earnest prayer by Rev. C. W. Upton, then music by the choir, after which Rev. Baker, of the Fourth street M. E. church, Wheeling, was introduced and made a speech that for force and eloquence could not be excelled. He spoke of the antiquity of the organization and its relation to other fraternities, and said that "young man who spent an evening in a Masonic lodge would not bear an impure word. He said that a man who wore a white apron should be a manly man, above vulgarity, profanity and all vices, and that a master Mason should be a master citizen, and that patriotism belonged to Masonry as much as any other principle, and spoke very enthusiastically of the American flag displayed. Womanhood owed a debt to the organization.

No finer address was ever delivered in this town and the attention given to the speaker from start to finish was a fine tribute to the powerful eloquence of the speaker. Rev. Upton, of the M. E. church, was introduced and among his bright remarks acknowledged that he had made a mistake by not becoming a Mason. His remarks were heartily applauded. Rev. Montgomery was introduced and excused himself by saying that if there were no blackbills he expected before his hair were gray to become a Mason. Mr. M. Kinsheimer, of Wheeling, was the next speaker, his subject being the duty of Masons, and he explained the brotherhood of the fraternity and the benefits to be derived from belonging to the order, and was listened to with marked attention.

The music was under the direction of that master musician, Prof. S. W. Lollar, and was a fine accompaniment to the other part of a fine programme. Lunch was served at 4:30.

Success of the Republican League. Charleston Telegram.

The success of the meeting was due almost wholly to the untiring efforts of Mr. James K. Hall, who had not lost an opportunity for the past two months for creating favorable sentiment and appealing to the patriotism of the Republicans of the state to make June 19, 1894, a day to be long remembered in the history of the party. The Telegram cordially pronounces resolutions expressing universal appreciation of the labors of Mr. Hall, the state secretary of the League.

Mr. Elkins as a Speaker. Charleston Telegram.

Hon. Stephen B. Elkins is not called one of the great orators of the country, and he only claims to be a business man, yet we have never yet heard or read a speech of his that was not a production of great depth. That he is a man of wonderful ability no one can deny. His speech at Fairmont last Tuesday was one of his best.

AN ARTIFICIAL MAIDEN.

It is Easy Enough to be Beautiful if You Only Know How.

Moles and Blemishes on the Face, Moustaches on Women, Fur or Crooked Nostrils, Large Mouths, Outstanding Ears—there is no reason for putting up with such disfigurements nowadays. They, and likewise, are all easily removed by well-known Surgical and Electrical processes. For years the treatment of such things has been especially at the John H. Wood, City Beauty Dermatology Institute, 225 West 42nd St., New York. Regular Physicians there doing nothing else but the thing. Their new Face Book, telling all about it, will be mailed, sealed to your address for 10c. in stamps or silver.

HINTS FOR THE SUMMER.

Try and keep cool. Do not get excited. Exertion is good—over exertion, injurious. Keep the blood cool, well circulated and healthy. Do not eat fat or heavy foods, but those that will nourish and not overheat. Don't eat unripe fruits or other unwholesome food. Keep yourself clean, keep your home clean, and live in a clean neighborhood. If you feel heated, do not resort to icy drinks, but take a little pure medicinal whiskey in food water. Remember that there is but one pure medicinal whiskey in the market and that is Duffy's Pure Malt, and that is the only kind that can safely be depended upon during hot weather.

It may be that some people, possibly your druggist or grocer, will tell you that there are other whiskeys "just as good." If you are wise you will not be deceived, but insist upon having that which is pure, best, and certain to do you good.

If you follow these common sense suggestions there is no reason why you are not, throughout the summer, free from colds, summer complaints and all the changes which surround us during this trying time of the year.
