

ITS TWENTY-SEVENTH.

The Seguin College and Conservatory's Commencement

AT THE OPERA HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

A Fine Programme Rendered by the Graduates and Pupils—A List of the Prizes Distributed—The Graduates in the Different Departments—A Brilliant Affair.

The twenty-seventh annual commencement and concert of the Seguin business college and conservatory of music, which took place at the Opera House last night, was probably the most brilliant of all the events in the history of this famous school.

The audience was large and critical, good naturedly discriminating, and intelligently appreciative. Mrs. Annie Kennard Martin captured her audience on her first appearance in "Air de Saimon" from Herodiade, and sustained the good impression she made throughout the programme.

Dr. Carl Martin is scarcely a stranger to Wheeling audiences, which years ago he may be said to have practiced on. He has a wonderfully powerful bass voice, and last night's performance showed how much he has done towards cultivating it since he won his first triumph and recognition in this city.

Mrs. Dr. Martin, who kindly consented to give two numbers, was in touch with the audience, establishing herself as a skillful and sympathetic pianist.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the work of the Choral club. It was the most artistic performance ever given by an organization of that character in this city.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln school alumnae was held last evening at the Lincoln school building, and was one of the most enjoyable and successful in the history of the organization.

The length of the programme precludes the possibility of individual mention. Suffice it to say that all the numbers were rendered in a manner which reflected credit not only on the pupils themselves, but as well on the principal, Miss Pauline Seguin, and her efficient assistant, Miss Zella Blighard.

The prizes conferred are as follows: Shortland and typewriting department: Diplomas for completing the prescribed course were conferred upon Miss Carrie M. Bachtler, Miss Lulu H. Denney, Miss Laura S. Gray, Mr. Herman A. Hundt, Miss Kate R. Knop, Miss Nellie C. Stelle, Mr. Rudolph H. Tappe and Miss Annie J. Witt.

Bookkeeping department: Messrs. H. Hundt and R. Tappe and Miss Kate R. Knop.

Musical department: Misses Mollie E. Kraft and Carrie E. Croasley.

English department: Miss Laura S. Gray.

The following honor students were entitled to gold medals in their respective departments:

English department, senior class, Miss Laura S. Gray, Wheeling.

Vocal and instrumental music, Miss Carrie E. Croasley, Martin's Ferry, O.

Instrumental music, Miss Mollie E. Kraft, Wheeling.

Full business course, Mr. Herman A. Hundt, Wheeling.

Silver medals were awarded as follows: English department, junior class, Miss Jessie M. Holmbricht.

Typewriting department, highest speed and accuracy on machine, Miss Annie J. Witt.

The committee on programme was Miss Carrie Frederick.

CHORAL CLUB CONCERT

At the Grand Opera House Last Evening. An Artistic Performance.

One of the most pleasant evenings of song ever enjoyed in Wheeling was the first grand concert of the Wheeling Choral Club given at the Grand Opera House last evening under the direction of Mr. James Stephen Martin, assisted by Mrs. Annie Kennard Martin, of Pittsburgh, and Dr. and Mrs. Carl Martin, of New York.

The audience was large and critical, good naturedly discriminating, and intelligently appreciative. Mrs. Annie Kennard Martin captured her audience on her first appearance in "Air de Saimon" from Herodiade, and sustained the good impression she made throughout the programme.

TREND OF BUSINESS.

Merchants are Buying More Than for Some Time Past, but

MONEY IS STILL VERY SCARCE.

And the Wholesalers have not yet felt the Effect of Improved Trade in Retail Circles—The Drought Injuring Oats and Hay, but Yesterday's Rains Helped Matters Considerably.

Since the miners' strike was settled business with both wholesalers and retailers in this vicinity has been better than for several weeks, but as the men who have just returned to their work have not yet received their wages, retailers are being carried to a considerable extent by the wholesale men. In a week or two money is expected to be easier than at present.

Yesterday's rains came in the nick of time. The drought of several weeks was beginning to get in its deadly work on potatoes, oats and hay, and but for the rain there would have been great damage done to those crops in the tri-state region. It is reported that the rain was of a general character in this region. It was hailed by the farming community with delight.

The first car of Georgia watermelons will be received to-day by Booth & Digby, the commission men. Already the demand for the melons is first class, though the prices are away up. Strawberries are about out of the market; this week will see the last of them.

THE PRICE OF WOOL

Never Known to be so Low as It is This Season—The Effect of the Wilson Bill.

West Virginia fine washed wool is selling just now at 16 cents. It has not been so cheap in many years. Last year when 23 cents was the ruling price, and Horkheimer Bros. and other local dealers were predicting still lower figures, Democratic politicians and wool growers denounced this prediction as a scheme to bear the market. A writer in the Register referred to the wool dealers in general as bunco men, and said they were trying to force prices down and rob the growers. The talk of cheaper wool was pronounced a "bluff."

This year men who have heretofore held their wool till the market suited them, have been compelled to sell their clips to get ready cash to pay their taxes. There has been a good deal of argument as to the effect of the tariff on the price of wool, but the figures for the year and a half past tell a story. An Intelligence reporter yesterday obtained them from Horkheimer Bros., the largest wool dealers in Wheeling or vicinity. The prices their books show to have prevailed ran as follows:

February, 1893.....20 cents
March, 1893.....25 cents
April, 1893.....25 cents
May, 1893.....25 cents
June, 1893.....25 cents
July, 1893.....25 cents

Twenty cents prevailed up to this year's clip. Since it began to come into market prices have ruled as follows:

May, 1894.....15 cents
June 1 to June 15.....15 cents
Since June 15.....16 cents

At the same time other dealers have paid but 15 cents.

In former years 30 cents was considered cheap for this grade of wool. It has often been predicted that this wool would never get down to a quarter. In addition to its low price now, there never was so dull a market for it. Everybody, both manufacturers and buyers, is waiting on the outcome of the Wilson bill, which is to put wool on the free list. There are in the east millions of pounds of wool in bond which have been imported at a cost to the holder of 16 cents a pound. As a dealer said the other day, "Wool to-day is selling at a free wool price, for who can afford to pay the duty when it must be taken off soon?"

The best authorities agree, however, that when wool is on the free list the price will go still a notch lower.

If the old idea that an article costs in this country the foreign price with duty added, then 16 cent wool would be worth but five cents in England. The fact is the same wool sells to-day in England at 8 pence, or 16 cents.

SOMEWHAT OF A STORM.

Two Fine Showers and a Great Deal of Wind Yesterday.

Yesterday shortly after 4 o'clock a terrific wind storm sprang up in the west. The roads all over the valley herabouts were dried out so that the dust was several inches deep, and apparently the wind lifted all this dust into the air in one great cloud. The streets were almost impassable, and out the National Pike the clouds of dust actually obscured objects across the road. The scene from a distance was very much like the pictured sand-storm of the desert. A little later a fine shower fell, laying the dust somewhat and cooling the atmosphere a little. A second rain storm occurred last night, much more water falling, and after the storm the air was a great deal cooler and the dust had ceased to trouble. The country could stand a great deal more rain. Some of the growing crops were badly in need of it, and raspberries promised to be a comparative failure on account of the dry weather. The rain of last evening will greatly benefit them.

MAY RETURN TO WORK.

Maryland Miners Will Hold Meetings During the Week.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 26.—A dispatch to the Sun from Lonaconing, Md., says: The proposal of yesterday to hold a meeting of the employes of the Georges Creek Coal and Iron Company has set the example to others. Meetings are expected to be held by the employes of several of the other coal companies in this end of the Maryland region before the middle of the week to consider the advisability of returning to work on Monday next.

The United Mine workers say they will frustrate this scheme on the part of the non-union men to break the meetings in sufficient numbers to prevent a majority vote on a proposition to resume work.
