

DILLON'S GOOD RIDE.

The Wheeling to Pittsburgh and Return Ride Made in A LITTLE OVER FOURTEEN HOURS.

Other Riders May Attempt to Break the Newly Created Record Made by Dillon—The Races at St. Asaph and Oakley Yesterday—Bowling Season Opens Monday—Other Late News from the Domain of Sport and Athletics—The New Ball League.

As exclusively chronicled in the INTELLIGENCER yesterday morning, Lester R. Dillon, the crack local long distance rider, left this office at 3 o'clock on his Triangle racing wheel, the task he had set out for himself being to create a record for the round trip between Wheeling and Pittsburgh. Dillon made a really creditable ride and set up a mark for the run that will hardly be broken this season—14 hours 11 minutes—though it is already said one or two local cyclists will shortly attempt to shatter the newly created record.

The start was made in front of the INTELLIGENCER office at 3 o'clock sharp yesterday morning, "Sammy" Nichols, the well-known ball player, firing off a pistol just as the capital clock began to ring out the third morning hour. He was given a hearty push-off, and, bumping against the street car tracks, shot up the Fourteenth street hill at a clip that bade fair to carry the rider through in "mighty fast time," as a spectator remarked. Official dignity was given the start by the presence of those two guardians of the peace, Officers Scally and Desmond.

Dillon expected to arrive in Washington not before 6 p. m., but he exceeded his own expectations by being checked at the Hotel Main there at 4:45 o'clock. The morning ride in the crisp air had sharpened the rider's appetite, so he remained in the old Pennsylvania town for breakfast, and then resumed his ride at 6:12 a. m. From Washington to Pittsburgh the road is not so good as between Wheeling and Washington, but the time occupied for the ride of thirty-five miles, 2 hours and 58 minutes, shows that he kept up a good pace over the hills.

Dillon arrived in Pittsburgh at 9:10, checking at the Pittsburgh Press at that hour. He rested in the Smoky City but 20 minutes, and then set out on the return trip of 70 miles. He got back into Washington at 1:24 p. m., 3 hours and 45 minutes for the 35 miles. After a three minute stop at Washington he speeded down the long hill out of the town, feeling in first class condition. Five or six miles out, however, he came to grief. Going down a big hill his tire became punctured and fifteen minutes were lost in repairing the tube. Near West Alexander another puncture caused a similar delay, so that when he wheeled through the little town on the state line, the time from Washington was 2 hours and 25 minutes.

From West Alexander into Wheeling Dillon did some of his best work of the trip, which considering what he had gone through earlier in the day was phenomenal, making the sixteen miles in 1 hour and 19 minutes.

Throughout the afternoon the bulletins posted at the INTELLIGENCER office were watched by hundreds of people, and when the rider's white sweater hove into view at the top of the Fourteenth street hill, at 5:09, the crowd that had gathered at the corner of Fourteenth and Chapline gave a yell, and every man and boy in the gang started on a dead run for the INTELLIGENCER office. Dillon was at the finishing point before all the crowd got there. He dismounted and was at once checked, after which he was taken in charge by friends and taken to his home, where he was rubbed down and given a bath. Following is the tabulated story of the ride:

The selection of the eighth club has been left to a committee comprising Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee, with full power to act. The contract is brief, not being over two hundred words in length. The contract does not contain any reserve option or release clause. At the afternoon session the delegates adopted the Kiffe ball, which is manufactured by Kiefe & Beccanone, of New York. President Kames was given the power to form the schedule and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the president.

BELLAIRE. All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

Marshal Bairra has an embarrassing experience Thursday evening. He had received the description of a man who was wanted at Middleport, O., for obtaining money under false pretenses and for jumping a board bill. A man got off a B. & O. train who filled the bill. He had two large satchels and the marshal followed him to the baggage room and sought to engage him in conversation, but the stranger evaded him and seemed annoyed at his presence so much that he endeavored to get away as soon as possible. This further convinced the marshal that his suspicions were well founded and he placed the stranger under arrest. At the mayor's office he succeeded in convincing the mayor and marshal that he was a Persian missionary, and he departed with apologies.
