

JOY'S JOB

Is Not to Organize Miners' Unions in Wilson's District,

BUT TO DISTRIBUTE THE BOODLE

Which Chairman McGraw Hopes Will Hold Democrats in Line.

DAMAGING LETTER COMES TO LIGHT

And Shows Up a Democratic Worker Who Was Interviewed by the "Register" Correspondent at Elk Garden--He Details What Money He Has Already Spent in Pulling the Wool Over the Miners' Eyes and in Working a Campaign Falsehood Against Dayton, and "Pulls McGraw's Leg" for Two Hundred More--The Peculiarly Dishonest Campaign That is Being Run in the Interest of the So-Called "First Citizen of the Commonwealth."

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence. GRAFTON, W. VA., Oct. 24.--In the Register of the 23d was printed a special from Elk Garden, giving an interview with "National Organizer" J. J. Joy, of Clearfield, Pa., of the United Mine Workers of America. The dispatch states that Joy "has been traveling in the interest of that organization among the miners of the Second West Virginia congressional district for some time. He has just organized local unions in Marion county, (Fairmont coal region); one at Wormeisdorf, Randolph county, and one at Thomas, Tucker county."

The dispatch goes on to say: "Mr. Joy, when asked his views as to the actions of the miners in this congressional district in the contest now on between the Hon. William L. Wilson and Hon. A. G. Dayton, said he was not a politician and would not take part in politics. When pressed as to Mr. Dayton's probable strength among the miners, he remarked that as the miners in this section had solicited Mr. Dayton's services as a lawyer during the late strike, and he had in that hour of great need, and, judging the future by the past, it was quite likely that many miners would be too busy on the sixth of November to respond to Mr. Dayton's call for help. From his conversation it was plain to be seen that certain employers along the line of the West Virginia Central railway over-stepped the line of discretion in their zeal to advance Dayton's cause when they asked their employes to sign a pledge to vote for him, for under our present system of voting it will never be known how these forced pledges were kept. The miners in the 'West Virginia hills' are among 'God's noblemen,' and will not be dictated to as to how they shall vote."

JOY'S REAL WORK EXPOSED. The work of this man Joy who was so backward about expressing his opinion as to the contest in this district is engaged in, clearly shown up by a letter he wrote to John T. McGraw, Wilson's manager in this district. The letter is dated at Elk Garden, on the 16th of this month, and the following is an exact copy of it:

ELK GARDEN, W. VA., 10-16, 1894. "Mr. J. T. McGraw, Grafton, W. Va. "DEAR SIR:--I have visited 3 local unions last week and succeed in getting them to endorse W. L. Wilson for congress. This might appear strange to you but the fact of the matter is this A. G. Dayton pledged himself to the miners along this road last spring and when some of our member got in trouble he refused to defend us and the obligation of the union says Oppose those who Oppose you and those who is not for you is surly again you and all I haf to do is to work on that point and jag their memories on that point, but I also must work slow and be careful and not spring the subject to quick on them. I stated to Clark that there was 7 families that contemplated moving away but I have advanced those men $5. dollars each to stay until after the election and am to give them 5 dollars apiece on this day week I made this contract believing you would endorse it and help me out they are not Republican votes but democrats and by mesporting them until after the election so as to give them the privilege to vote I dont think could be considered bribe. "Scott is preparing A report of the strike and it will be in your hands soon now there is a lot of Sweeds in davis that worked on the mills there and the companies have secured papers for them to vote and want to make them vote for Dayton but there is an interpreter at thomas that I can get to go over there and work them follows up and 50 dollars will keep him right in there until after the election. Now dont think I am trying to pull your legz but if you have any suspicion of that rite to Thomas Mc Dormett Davis W. Va. it was him put me on the Rackett he runs A barber shop there and of cors is A good Democrat and I must make A confident of some one to find those things out and if you send me the money to work with I can get the full vote out here and turn quite A few Republicans to vote for Wilson now I must have money to get men work among those fellows and to keep them at it until after the election we need A worker at window shaw, davis, fair fax, thomas, Elk garden, atlantic, and Wormeisdorf and it must be A man from among themselves to have any effect I have selected now for that purpose and I know somebody to furnish me with the signs of war to carry on the light and I am confident of success if you do your part it will take me all week to get things in shape here so rite me here and send me some money it will take two hundred dollars for me to get the full vote out on this line and it to Elk Garden. Yours Truly, "J. J. Joy, Elk Garden, W. Va." "dancer quick"

A CLEAR "GIVEAWAY." Joy's work in Mineral county is not to organizing for the National Organization of Mine Workers, but to distribute boodle for John T. McGraw. He says: "I have visited three local unions last week and succeeded in getting them to endorse W. L. Wilson for congress." Then remembering that this William L. Wilson is the same Wilson who voted to put coal on the free list, after promising that the tariff on coal should not be reduced, but if any change were made should be increased, Joy says to his employer: "This may appear strange to you;" and he seeks to support his assertion by the statement that Mr. Dayton refused to act as attorney for the miners. Now, Mr. Dayton has never been employed, nor never acted, either directly or indirectly, as attorney for the West Virginia Central railroad; but he has frequently been employed against them in damage suits brought by their employes.

Joy appreciates the indelicacy of the work he is engaged in, and writes McGraw that he "must work slow" and "be careful and not spring the subject too quick on them." In order that McGraw may not be suspicious that he is pulling his "leg," he details the amount of money he has been compelled to spend in his work.

THE ELUQUENCE OF WHEELS. The "hippodrome" performance here to-day was one of the flattest of flat failures. There was no crowd, no enthusiasm, and almost no speech. Mr. Cowen, the chief counsel of the Baltimore & Railroad Co., who gets a snug salary of $3,000 a year, which is not cut down when the wages of the men in the shops are cut down, spoke briefly, but failed to arouse the slightest enthusiasm, and although he invited it in his peroration, the feeble cheer which greeted it was confined to a very few people standing around the car steps.

It seems to be all right for Mr. Wilson to travel around in Mr. Camden's "palatial palace on wheels," but quite a sin for Mr. Elkins, who has just recovered from a serious spell of sickness, to go about in his own car, for doing which the Wheeling Register censures him.

Desperation and despair are characteristics now of every move made by McGraw and his crowd. They know, if they know anything of the campaign, as matters stand to-day, Wilson is defeated; and though they have plenty of money they are compelled to use it with their own people, to pull them back into line, and to urge them to go to the polls, but they can neither get them back nor get them all out.

COLORED REPUBLICANS Addressed at Martinsburg by a Distinguished and Patriotic Member of the Race.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 24.--Hon. James K. Poe, colored, of Lenox Castle, N. C., made an effective speech here to-night to a large audience of both white and colored citizens. Nearly the entire colored population turned out to hear him, and showed their appreciation of his remarks by close attention and frequent applause. The chief feature of his speech was a patriotic appeal to the colored voter to support the Republican ticket, not only in the interest of the negro race, but because the Republican party was the best for the general welfare of the whole country.

GOV. MCKINLEY Replies to a Point That Congressman Wilson Made--Great Orator at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 24.--After spending the morning at Columbus attending to official business Governor McKinley came to Pittsburgh this evening and talked tariff to as many as could crowd into the Old City Hall. A very small percentage of the enormous crowd that followed the governor from the hotel to the hall, yelling, blowing horns and burning colored fires, waving flags and performing sundry other acts of almost riotous demonstration were able to get near the hall. Governor McKinley made an exhaustive discussion of his subject, and found his audience thoroughly responsive.

A reference was made to Congressman Wilson. "Mr. Wilson says that, free trade brings prosperity," remarked he. "He said that yesterday and he cited as an instance the prosperity we enjoyed during President Cleveland's first administration. We certainly did have prosperity, but we were living under laws made by the Republican party. Every interest in the United States was protected, and all President Cleveland could do was to execute Republican policy." [Applause.] Governor McKinley left at 11 o'clock for Duikirk and Buffalo.

The Peasny Democratic Tour. MEADVILLE, PA., Oct. 24.--The itinerary of Mr. Singery and the other Democrats of the state ticket to-day addressed meetings at Titusville and Meadville, in Crawford county, and Oil City and Franklin in Venango county.

The party left Erie at 7:30 a. m. reaching Titusville, where the first stop was made at 10:30 a. m. An impromptu meeting in the Opera house brought 1,000 people to whom addresses were made by Messrs. Singery, Harry, Hensel, Gorman, Lowry and others.

Harrison May Stump New York. NEW YORK, Oct. 24.--Ex-President Harrison arrived here this afternoon.

Ashley Cole, the private secretary of Levi P. Morton, saw him after his arrival and arranged for an interview between the ex-President and Mr. Morton. It is understood that Mr. Morton will personally ask Mr. Harrison to deliver four speeches here during the campaign.

A Monument to Curtin. BELLEFONTE, PA., Oct. 14.--The movement for a monument to ex-Governor Curtin is beginning to assume definite shape. The grand army has appointed a committee to look into the matter and it is proposed to erect a $25,000 marble structure in the public square here, surmounted by a statue of the war governor. Many organizations have already offered assistance.

Scottish Rite Masons. NEW YORK, Oct. 24.--The Supreme Council of 33rd and last degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, which has been in session in New York city for the past two days, to-day elected John J. Gorman, of New York, sovereign grand commander; William A. Hershiser, of Ohio, lieutenant commander.

DISCRETIONARY POOLS.

A Hundred Women Besiege Irwin's Place in Pittsburgh--Cleared By the Police. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 24.--Over 100 women, many with babies in their arms, stormed the office of George H. Irwin & Co.'s discretionary pool this morning. They one and all demanded the return of the money they had invested.

Manager Irwin made a little speech, in which he told them that they could have their money by giving five days' notice after the date of next dividend, but did not state when that date would arrive. This did not satisfy the women, and the office was cleared by a policeman.

Manager E. X. Devlin, of the Pittsburgh branch of the American syndicate, returned from the headquarters at Chicago this morning. Depositors have to send their notice of withdrawal through the Chicago office. Mr. Devlin painted a rosy picture of the affairs of the concern and promised that a large dividend would be declared in a few days.

At the other discretionary pool offices matters are comparatively quiet to-day.

OCEAN DISASTER.

The Paris Collides With an Unknown Sailing Vessel Which is Lost With all on Board.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 24.--Between 1:30 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning the American line steamer Paris, Captain Watkins, which arrived here to-night from New York, ran down and probably sank an unknown ship. The weather was very thick at the time, a heavy rain falling. As soon as the collision occurred the Paris was put about and a search made for the ship.

After a time the vessel or a capsized wreck was reported off the starboard bow, but sight of it was lost before a lifeboat could be lowered. Nothing further was seen, though the Paris laid off and on searching until daylight.

The steamer sustained no damage beyond having a portion of her rail bent and two wire stays broken. The sailing vessel showed signals of distress after the collision and screams were heard on board of her.

Georgia's Legislature.

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 24.--The general assembly of Georgia, convened to-day. Hon. W. H. Venable, of Atlanta, was elected president of the senate and Hon. W. H. Fleming, of Augusta, was elected as speaker of the house. There are seven Populists, one Republican and thirty six Democrats in the senate, and the total membership of 175 in the house, forty-six are Populists, the remainder being Democrats. This is the first time in twenty years, when there has been any party caucus in the organization of the legislature of Georgia. But the increased strength of the Populists renders undesirable to the Democratic leaders.

American Missionary Association.

DORCHESTER, MASS., Oct. 24.--The attendance of the delegates to the forty-eighth annual meeting of the American Missionary Association was largely augmented by the arrival of a number of clergymen and delegates from the west and southwest to-day. After the opening religious services by President Bates, the "greetings" from the National Benevolent Societies were read. All the reports were of a highly encouraging nature and were received with much satisfaction by the delegates.

Advance to Day Laborers.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 24.--The Carrie Furnace Company has advanced the wages of day laborers from $1.05 to $1.20 per day. It is believed that other employes of labor who have been paying less than $1.20 for day labor will restore the price to what it was prior to panic. This is the second advance in wages which has occurred in Pittsburgh this year. The other was to laborers at a South side mill. They, however, only received 7 cents of an advance.

The Switchmen's Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.--The Switchmen's convention to-day adopted the proposed name: Switchmen's National Union of North America. The convention was engaged all day on the adoption of a constitution and by-laws by sections. The question of affiliating with the other organizations and of insurance, it is believed, will be reached probably to-morrow.

And All This Under the New Tariff Law.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.--Steel men throughout the country are said to contemplate the formation of a trust and two meetings held to-day at the Holland House of men interested in the steel business are supposed to have had that end in view. The proceedings, however, were conducted in strict privacy and none of those present would in any way discuss the matter.

One of the Results.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 24.--Many of the Connecticut savings banks have given notice to depositors having more than $10,000 to draw down their deposits so as to relieve the banks from the operation of the income tax law.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The president has recognized the consuls and vice consuls of the new consular service of the Hawaiian republic.

Hon. A. C. Boutelle, of Maine, and C. H. Grayson addressed a large meeting at the opera house in McArthur, Ohio, last night.

Mrs. Mary Woodbridge, national and world's secretary of the W. C. T. U., was stricken with apoplexy at Chicago yesterday and is not expected to recover.

At the session of the convention of woman's clubs of Ohio yesterday it was decided to form a state federation of clubs. Officers and a constitution will be selected to-day.

THE RED COATS HERE.

The British Contingent from the Second District.

IT ARRIVES ON A SPECIAL TRAIN

In Senator Camden's Special Coach, with Two Brass Bands--The Free Trade Champion's Own and Only Greatest Spectacular Exhibition. The Tiger and the Sheep Bow Together to the "First Citizen of the Commonwealth."

The Democratic organ has had a good deal to say about "importing speakers to bolster up the Republican cause," and has criticized McKinley for riding in a special car. In view of the hysterical utterances of that sheet on this line, it was a sight for the gods when William L. Wilson's own and only greatest spectacular political aggregation arrived in Wheeling yesterday afternoon on a special train and in Senator Camden's own private car, with two brass bands, one brought clear from Keyser and the other from Grafton. Talk about "boodle," it must have cost a thousand kerplunks to put up that outfit. A committee of chairmen and other people met the aggregation at the station and escorted them in half a dozen hacks by a roundabout route to the Hotel Windsor. In the party, besides Mr. Wilson, Burke Cockran and Senator Camden, were Chairman McGraw, of the Second district, Mr. Cowan, of Maryland, Charles Wells, Joe Gallagher, of Moundsville, State Senator Dorsey and others, and in the local committees were Chairmen Kinchelow and Delaplain, John Corcoran, Col. Robert White, Mike Stein and a number of others.

The two meetings last night were well attended, as was to be expected. The Register had given a column to booming it daily for some time. A lot of paper badges were circulated by Register reporters and small boys all afternoon, and besides this, silk badges were peddled about the streets, and this is the unique way in which one young fellow called them out: "Fine silk badges for the big Democratic meeting to-night; pictures of Wilson and Cockran, both prominent leaders; only worth ten cents apiece!"

The two portraits did not look at all alike, yet both were prominently labeled "Brics," though Brics was not named as one of the speakers expected.

After supper the late Wilson Tariff Students, to the number of seventy, the Y. M. C. U., ninety or so strong, the Keyser band in regulation British red-coat uniforms, the Grafton band and some opera houses. Both were, of course, well filled, and a large throng of curious people watched the passage of the spectacle along the streets.

IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

A Large Crowd Gathers Only to be Disappointed.

The Opera House was packed full of people long before the speaker arrived. While the crowd waited for the strains of the imported brass band with the British uniform, the boys in the gallery had fun.

While the crowd waited somebody spied ex-Mayor Seabright in the house and called him out for a speech. He was altogether willing, and spoke until the crowd stamped him down, and then, not satisfied to quit, he tried to proceed, but the audience would not have it.

Colonel White was next called out and made a brief speech, at the close of which somebody called for three cheers for White, but there were no cheers. Just at this juncture Messrs. Cockran & Co. appeared, and the escort filed to the reserved seats. Congressional Chairman Delaplain called the meeting to order and presented Mr. F. H. Lange as chairman. Mr. Lange gave a very graceful welcome to all present, especially to the Republicans, and introduced Mr. Cockran.

Mr. Cockran went right into his subject, saying that Mr. McKinley, speaking at three places in this county yesterday (he spoke but once in Ohio county) rax the changes on the charge that the Democratic party was responsible for the bad times. He said if the Democrats were responsible for this state of affairs, they should be hurled from power. He proceeded to generously "admit" a great many things to the credit of the Democratic party and deny others not so praiseworthy. He speaks rapidly and with animation. He talks a great deal about trusts and "favored individuals," but specifies not.

He referred to the panic of 1873 as a fruit of Republican rule, and then said the last panic was not due to Democratic rule, and anybody who said it was insulted his hearers' intelligence. This panic was coming for ten years, and was finally stopped only by the passage of the recent tariff law. He did not repeat his remarks about the new tariff bill being worse than the McKinley law, and did not roast W. L. Wilson as he had done before. He was not here for that purpose.

He asked: "Who ever protected wheat, or corn or pork in this country? Their price is fixed in Liverpool." The idea of protection means the right of the producer to tax the consumer more for his product than it cost. His whole argument seemed to be that if an industry or calling could not prosper in this country without protection, it could well be spared.

The people who give liberally to Republican campaign funds are always anxious about keeping wages up, yet as soon as the election is over they hire Pinkerton detectives to shoot people who strike for higher wages. He dwelt a great deal on this general idea of bull-lets. He denied that wages were ever increased or kept up by a protective system, and said if he could be shown that he was wrong he would become the most ardent advocate of protection ever seen.

His theories on the tariff were shown by an illustration, in which he used a table as an article to be produced. If the cost of the production were doubled, the production would be cut down one-half. If the cost of production were cut down one-half, the maker would produce twice as many tables. What he would do with the tables after they

THE CZAR'S CONDITION.

Latest Bulletin From the Bedside of the Dying Ruler--There May Be Trouble Regarding His Successor.

St. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.--A bulletin issued from Livadia at 8 o'clock this evening and signed by the five doctors in attendance on the czar, says:

"During the day his majesty showed no signs of somnolence. His appetite and spirits are better. The oedema of the feet has somewhat increased.

The dispatch says the sacrament was partaken of by his majesty on Sunday, and this is taken to indicate that his condition is not as serious as would be supposed from a prior dispatch stating that the last sacrament of the church had been administered to him. The dispatch that makes this statement mentioned no date on which the sacrament was partaken of, and the supposition here now is that the czar simply partook of holy communion on Sunday, as is his custom.

An imperial decree was published to-day declaring Grand Duke Michael, the third son of the czar, the heir to the throne in succession to his brother, Grand Duke Nicholas, the czarowitch and present heir apparent. The Grand Duke George, the second son, has renounced his rights of accession in view of the fact that his condition is considered hopeless.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.--The Cologne Gazette says advices received in Berlin this morning are to the effect that the condition of the czar has become worse since yesterday. The death of Grand Duke George, the second son of the czar, who was not long since recalled to St. Petersburg from Abbastman in the Caucasus, where he sojourned for his health, is, according to the Gazette, a question of a few days.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung predicts trouble over the accession to the throne. He says: "The supposition following the death of Nicholas I, that no other Nicholas would be enthroned survives. Fears of a renewal of the condition of affairs under the first Nicholas is deeply rooted. The feeling prevailing among the lower classes proves that they do not regard the czarowitch as heir by the grace of God. Moreover, their views on autocracy have greatly changed."

A despatch to the Daily News from Berlin states that according to telegrams received in Darmstadt, the czar slept well last night. Yesterday he joined his family at dinner. In the afternoon, as it was beautiful, he was carried on the terrace and, later, a family council was held.

The servants, who accompanied Princess Aix to Warsaw, where she met her sister, Grand Duchess Sergius, have returned to the Hessian capital.

All telegrams from Livadia go first to St. Petersburg, where they are subjected to the scrutiny of the censor.

Detailed accounts are given of the will of the czar, but nothing authentic can possibly be known beyond the official bulletins. Even the ministers and ambassadors receive no other information than is contained in the bulletins. It is true, however, that since the eighteenth of the current month all the state papers have been signed by the czarowitch by the czar's order.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says that the official bulletins do not represent the gravity of the czar's condition. Temporary relief by tapping, he said, means nothing. It is the general opinion that his majesty is already dying. It is known that his unconsciousness lasted several hours. It is not known whether the wedding of the czarowitch and Princess Aix occurred to-day or not. This alliance is ominous.

THEY HAVE EVERYTHING.

The Adams Express Company Loses Nothing by the Quantic Robbery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.--President L. C. Weir, of the Adams Express Company, was seen to-day in his office and questioned regarding the recovery of the express pouch at Calverton, Va., yesterday.

President Weir said: "We have not opened the bag as yet, and of course I don't know what it contains, but I can tell you now what it should contain. The contents include some bills of lading for cotton and several thousand dollars' worth of railroad receivers' certificates, and of very small, but would cause considerable trouble to our customers and ourselves in replacing them. We have now recovered everything."

For Catholic Unity.

ROME, Oct. 24.--The conference to arrange if possible, a reunion between the eastern and western churches, a movement that had its initiative in the pope, was opened to-day, his holiness presiding.

The pope addressed the prelates on the return of the eastern churches into Catholic unity, and invited Cardinal Langenieux and the patriarchs to give a statement of their views. The conference will be resumed in a few days.

The War in the Orient.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 24.--The steamship Empress of Japan brings the following advices from the orient: The Chinese loss in the battle of Yakushina was killed, 700; wounded, 252.

The Niv Pon published an account of an encounter between the Maya Kou and four Chinese ships in the Yellow Sea where the Maya Kou was reconnoitering. A fierce fight ensued, in which the Maya Kou sank one of her opponents and then escaped in a more or less injured condition.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her. Mr. Thomas, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cough, tried with approaching everything else, then brought one bottle Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thin and weak. It is such results, of which there are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Logan Drug Co.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

WANING CHANCES

BOTH HARRISON AND CLEVELAND

Arrive at the Metropolis at the Same Time--The Ex-President May Make Speeches for the Republican Cause. Senator Faulkner Labors With President Cleveland to Get Him to Endorse Hill's Candidacy--Boss Croker, of Tammany, Still Kicking.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.--President Cleveland and ex-President Harrison both arrived in this city to-day. The former was accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and E. C. Benedict, at whose residence in Greenwich the presidential family spent last night. The party was driven to the house of Dr. Bryant, the president's physician. Ex-President Harrison went to the Fifth Avenue hotel, where a vast throng of Republican politicians were awaiting his arrival. Soon after reaching the hotel Hon. L. P. Morton, the Republican nominee for governor, called, and their interview, it is said, resulted in an agreement on the part of the ex-president to make one or more speeches before his return. There has been, however, no definite announcement to this effect.

At Republican headquarters, it was announced that there had been no developments to disturb conditions that have existed for several days past. The work of the campaign is being proceeded with and the nearest approach to a side issue was reported from Rochester, that Hon. C. F. Williams who was nominated by petition for Congress on the Independent Republican ticket, had withdrawn at the request of the Republican state committee, as it was feared his candidacy would endanger the head of the state ticket.

The Democratic managers spent the day in a further endeavor to bring about harmony of action between the opposing Democratic factions in this city and Brooklyn, but in New York, it was said at Democratic headquarters this evening the prospects of reaching an agreement in this city were not bright. Despite the efforts of Senator Hill, Lieutenant Governor Sheehan and Senator Faulkner to secure the concessions from Tammany demanded by ex-Mayor Grace, it was said that the Tammany candidates who were asked to withdraw refused to do so. Walsh, Cantor and McClellan declined, so it is stated, to step out, but Congressman Cummings authorized the statement that both he and General Sickles would obey orders. Mr. Croker is quoted at headquarters as saying that Tammany had already conceded enough when it allowed Senator Hill's name to head the Grace ticket, headed by Strong, a Republican, for mayor. At headquarters it was also said that the indications this evening were that the combination could not be made, although hope was expressed that it might be.

Senator Faulkner succeeded to-day in bringing together Chairman Bell, of the Kings county regular Democracy, and Edward M. Shepherd, the leader of the reform movement. Many conferences took place, Mr. Shepherd making his demands in writing, but in this case, also, Lawrence Gardner, the secretary of the League of Democratic Clubs, who is aiding Senator Faulkner, said no definite results had been obtained. He said, too, that the prospects for harmony were brighter in Brooklyn than in New York. The conferences were still proceeding in the former city this evening and there might be a result in five minutes or five hours.

In the course of the afternoon Senator Faulkner had an interview with President Cleveland, but declined to state its nature. It was said, however, that they discussed the congressional situation and that Senator Faulkner impudently the President to give expression to an utterance on the subject of the New York campaign.

Accompanied by the Bryant family, the President occupied a box at the Broadway theatre to-night.

Parkersburg Notes.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence. PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 24.--Mrs. Maggie Taylor, wife of ex-policeman A. C. Taylor, tried to commit suicide this morning by cutting her throat with a razor, but will probably recover.

Contract has been let for a new city building to Thomas J. Miller, for $48,000. Tremendous efforts have been made all over the county to get up a great crowd for the Wilson meeting here to-morrow. They are trying to make it the biggest meeting ever held in Parkersburg.
