Mr. Wanamaker and Prices. Democratic newspapers and Democratic stumpers have sought to make a campaign point on John Wanamaker's advertised reductions in the prices of commodities sold in his great store in Philadelphia.

Mr. S. H. Chalfant had the good sense not to believe this. Accordingly he wrote to Mr. Wanamaker, who answered promptly.

First, the foreign manufacturers, taking advantage of the unwillingness of American wage-earners to accept reduced wages necessary to compete with them, are demanding more for their goods than formerly.

Secondly, "there are large reductions in prices of goods, but they arise from sales of goods of people forced to realize, or driven out of business, by the long shuffling and finally unwise legislation of Congress."

This is one way to make commodities cheap, but it is a very costly way to any people. An economic policy which forces producers to sell at loss to get ready money, which drives manufacturers out of business and throws their products on a falling market, is a policy which means the decay of the national industries.

Perhaps this result is what Mr. William L. Wilson had in mind when he told his British admirers at the banquet table in London that he and his party friends in Congress were engaged in tearing down the tariff defenses which the protectionists had built up.

It is a policy which gives infinite satisfaction to every foreign manufacturer and every foreign laborer. Wool refuses to go up to help the free trade provocators. Wool is a stubborn thing.

An Onslaught by Democratic Rounders. It has come to a pretty pass when in so enlightened a community as this a man cannot entertain such political opinions as he pleases without toughs jumping on him to beat his opinions out of him.

Young Tom O'Brien, who has been a Democrat, has seen fit to exercise his right as an American citizen to abandon the party which no longer suited him and ally himself with the Republican party.

only to "take it out of him" but to serve notice on other young men who have been Democrats that it will be dangerous for them to join the Republican party or to vote the Republican ticket this year.

By the time the law gets through with the gang who made this assault they and others like them will see that the job they have undertaken is not a profitable sort of work.

Workingmen and the McKinley Tariff. Mr. John O. Pendleton, in his speech in the Opera House last Saturday night, said that no workingmen appeared before the ways and means committee while the McKinley bill was under consideration to ask for its provisions.

Mr. John O. Pendleton, in his speech in the Opera House last Saturday night, said that no workingmen appeared before the ways and means committee while the McKinley bill was under consideration to ask for its provisions.

Without going through the whole 1,400 pages of the printed record it will doubtless relieve Mr. Pendleton's mind to have his attention called to the appearance by its authorized representative of the whole American Flint Glass Workers' Union.

The memorial of the American Flints was presented by its president, Mr. Smith, who was not given an office by President Harrison and who is still at the head of the organization which he then represented before the ways and means committee.

From the most reliable data obtainable on the subject the cost of labor in the German states whence the bulk of these goods is imported may be set down at one-third of the cost in the United States, that of Great Britain at five-eighths, and that of France at a medium between that of the German states and that of Great Britain.

"To give the home product an equal chance to compete in United States markets against the foreign product, we think the duty on foreign-made goods should be increased."

Now perhaps Mr. Pendleton or some other free trader will be good enough to show when and where the American Flint Glass Workers' Union or any other body of organized labor appeared before Mr. Wilson's ways and means committee and asked for a reduction of duties.

SENATOR HILL continues to hold his best ear-jam against the 'phone, and still he does not detect the voice of Grover Cleveland. Has Mr. Cleveland been stricken dumb?

A Reduced Wool Clip. "Owing to the great slaughter of sheep the past year" and "poorer care due to the discouraged feeling among sheep men," the American Agriculturist estimates that the wool clip of 1894 "is the lightest in several years."

All the free trade falsehoods that may be circulated will not make wool growers feel better about it. They know that the knoll of their industry has been sounded, and, fortunately, they know that their only hope lies in the restoration of the party that has stood by that industry.

Don't trade. Vote your own good Republican ticket and let the other ticket take its chances. No matter how fair the offer to trade there is danger in it.

How Can They Answer? In its pictured fraud on prices under the new tariff the Register sought to make it appear that wool has advanced since the removal of the duty. Every market quotation shows this to be untrue.

The INTELLIGENCER has quoted the Democratic Philadelphia Record to show that the very opposite is true—that since the passage of the free wool bill American wool has fallen to its lowest price on record.

The Philadelphia Record of last Friday quotes the wool of this region, XX and above, at 18 cents. This is the current quotation in Philadelphia, but sales are made below the quotation.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report. Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE this quotation for last August be correct, what has happened since August to knock out every pound of our fine wool from 3 cents to 6 cents of its value?

The best Mr. Howard's friends can do is to figure out a small majority for him. If the Republicans of the district get their votes in he will have no majority by a long shot.

JOHN O. PENDLETON makes the best tariff speech from the Democratic point of view that has been heard in Wheeling this year. He recites the Democratic campaign book so much more rapidly than the others that he does not weary one so.

He Has a Word to Say Regarding Mr. Howard's Quotations From His Advertisements. To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—Hon. John A. Howard made a speech here on the 22d inst., and made some assertions which I did not believe. Among other things he said, in effect: "I want you to know where I stand. I am in favor of tearing down every vestige of protection. You who are not in favor of free trade are not true Democrats and have no business in the party, and if I am elected to Congress I will vote to tear down the wall of protection, and you who are not in favor of free trade need not vote for me."

In his further talk he declared that wool had gone up and that John Wanamaker made great reductions in the selling prices of goods: I herewith send you a copy of a letter I wrote to Mr. Wanamaker and a copy of his reply:

SHINNSTON, W. VA., Oct. 22, 1894. Hon. John Wanamaker, Philadelphia. My DEAR SIR:—I am sorry to trouble you, but I want to ask one question. The Democratic candidate for Congress in our district makes the assertion in his speeches that you have made a reduction of 33 1/2 per cent on all your goods by reason of the reduction made by the Democratic tariff. Now, I do not believe the story, and you will confer a favor on me by an early reply, regarding the truth or falsity of the statements. Yours truly, S. H. CHALFANT.

The following is a copy of Mr. Wanamaker's reply: JOHN WANAMAKER, PHILADELPHIA, PRIVATE OFFICE, Oct. 24, 1894. S. H. Chalfant, Shinnston, W. Va.

DEAR SIR:—Answering your letter inquiring if it is true that our firm has made a reduction of 33 1/2 per cent in prices on account of the new tariff, I have to say that such a statement is both false and silly.

Silks under the new tariff are 5 per cent less; linens, no change at all; gloves very little. Each article is reduced according to the tariff schedule. Some articles cannot be reduced at all because the foreign manufacturers have seen their chance to withdraw certain rebates formerly allowed, as they knew our work people had not yet accepted the lower wages necessary for them to take to compete with foreign manufacturers under the new tariff.

This letter is commended to the attention of Democrats who persist in quoting Mr. Wanamaker's advertisements.

A Sample Democratic Forgery Denounced by Mr. F. S. Landstreet.

"Mr. Elkins, my services are yours, my politics are my own; when they don't suit you, you know your remedy."—F. S. Landstreet in 1892.

The Johnnie Bulls in Our Clover Field. The largest importation of tin ever shipped to Denver arrived yesterday. Sixty thousand pounds were consigned from England. Surveyor of Customs Otis Spencer collected for the duties under the McKinley bill the duties would have been double that amount.

Although the fences are only partly down, the British bulls are jumping over, and are eagerly gathering our succulent grass to nourish their furnished systems. How do our American workmen like it? Who lost and who gained that thousand dollars which the Democratic surveyor of customs at Denver failed to collect on the above consignment of British tin? "Oh, justice thou hast had to brutish beasts and men have lost their reason."—TIN PLATE.

BREAKFAST BUDGET. During the past year 41,399 applications were made for patents and 24,304 were granted. Of these 1,000 were for boots and shoes, 1,800 for carriages and wagons, 1,000 for harvesters' implements, 1,000 for lamps and gas fittings, 1,400 for railway cars, and 1,050 for packing and storing vessels.

The supposed pre-historic stone walls that the recent fire in Sanilac and Tuscola counties, Mich., uncovered are believed by many to be a collection of stones that have become cemented together by some mineral deposit similar to that used in the manufacture of mineral paint.

A method has at last been found of soldering aluminum by heating the metal and scraping the surface so as to remove the oxidizing film until the metal is "tinned." The alloy used consists of 50 parts of tin, 25 of silver, 25 of aluminum, and melts at 750 degrees.

L. M. Hudson and sons, of Juniper precinct, Oregon, this year raised 18,000 bushels of wheat and 2,000 bushels of barley. Next year they will have 1,200 acres of summer fallow wheat and something like 700 acres of spring grain.

MRKINLEY AND WILSON ABOARD. In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Salford; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was wired and dined in London because he is the author of a free trade tariff bill. These are significant facts.

THERE is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quiesced. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for.
