

BRIGGS' LATEST.

The Conception of Christ He holds Was Not a Miracle,

BUT HIS DIVINITY NOT DENIED.

God Brought About the Birth Through Theophanic Presence. The Doctor Also Deals With the Second Advent of Christ and Expresses Strong Opinions Thereon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Prof. Charles A. Briggs has issued his latest book, "The Messiah of the Gospel." It has been ready for publication since 1887, but he delayed giving it to the public, owing to the heresy trials through which he has passed in the past few years.

The book will attract greater attention than any he has written, and for a time will set all orthodox Christians almost wild. He attacks the accepted theories concerning the conception of Christ, denying that a miracle was performed, and claiming that all the laws of nature were fulfilled. His belief is that the conception was brought about by God Himself present in theophany.

TO HENRY PRESERVED SMITH. The work is dedicated to "Henry Preserved Smith, true scholar, faithful friend and brave companion in holy warfare, this book is dedicated in sympathy and love."

A synopsis of the book has been published. Extracts are here given, which will show the startling nature of the professor's assertions.

"The Blessed Virgin was residing in Nazareth of Galilee, betrothed to Joseph of the royal line of David, the heir of the Messianic promises of the Old Testament. The time for marriage had not yet come. God had a higher appointment for her to fulfill as the Virgin Mother of the Messiah."

"The Virgin Conception of Jesus as announced by the Archangel is not to be interpreted as if it were a miracle in violation of the laws of nature, but rather as brought about by God Himself present in theophany. The words of the angel imply a theophanic presence, though it might be urged that the coming of the spirit upon her was an invisible coming after the analogy of many passages of the Old Testament, yet the parallel statement that the divine power overshadowed her cannot be so interpreted."

"This announcement represents the conception of Jesus as due to a theophany. It does not rotate the doctrine of his pre-existence; although that doctrine is a legitimate inference. It represents an early stage of New Testament Christology. It does not go a step beyond the epistle to the Corinthians. It implies nothing more than the sending in birth taught by the epistle to the Galatians and to the Romans. It is really a more primitive and more simple Christological conception."

SECOND ADVENT OF CHRIST. Dr. Briggs makes a special study of the second advent of Christ. He says: "The hour of the resurrection is coming. It cannot be said of it that 'it is now' or that it is at hand. We have, however, a prediction of three resurrections, the first, spiritual, the last universal; the intermediate one distinct from the first and the last, and impending, being connected with the resurrection of the Messiah himself."

"Christ first predicts the impartation of everlasting life to all who hear the word of the Messiah and believe in God. All such have passed out of death into life. They will no more die. This is a spiritual resurrection imparted by the word of the Messiah to all believers during the physical life in this world."

"It is also predicted that the hour is coming and now is when the dead will hear the quickening voice of the Son of God and live. The hour coming points to the future, and therefore, indicates a different resurrection from the spiritual resurrection of the previous section, which was already enjoyed by all those who heard the Messiah's word and believed. Christ also predicts a universal resurrection of the dead at the ultimate judgment, in which some will rise to life and others to condemnation."

CON. RIORDAN'S DEATH.

The Fatal Blow Struck by Bob Fitzsimmons in a Friendly Sparring Match. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Con. Riordan, the sparring partner of Bob Fitzsimmons, died early Saturday morning, the result of that terrific blow which Fitzsimmons gave him in the jaw while sparring Friday night. The man never regained consciousness.

Captain Glori, Fitzsimmons's manager, said: "Riordan has been drinking heavily for months. He was accustomed to fortify himself with whisky before his performance. Had we known he was in such a condition, we would never have let him go on the stage."

Captain Glori has engaged Corporation Counsel Charles E. Ide, of this city, as counsel for Fitzsimmons.

Fitzsimmons was arraigned in police court at 11 o'clock, on the charge of manslaughter in the first degree. He pleaded not guilty, waived examination and was taken before County Judge Northrup, who imposed $10,000 bail. "Yank" Sullivan, the well-known referee of pugilistic events, and ex-Sheriff Thos. R. O'Neill went on the bond and Fitzsimmons was released.

An autopsy was held on Riordan's body at 11 a. m. The certificate issued gives as the cause of death, "hemorrhage within the cranial cavity, causing compression of the brain." Riordan was found to be in perfect health. Dr. D. M. Totman, who conducted the autopsy, says that Riordan must have been struck a terrible blow on the chin which communicated direct with the base of the brain. The depression on the right side of the brain was very deep and remained for half an hour after the clot was removed.

The company goes from here to Boston. The blow that killed Riordan was a new punch which Fitzsimmons discovered a few weeks ago. It may be described in this way: Riordan would lead with a straight left. It was custom for Fitzsimmons to counter with his right, forcing Riordan's own glove back to his own face and neck, with Fitzsimmons leading a light punch. Fitzsimmons conceived the idea of reversing this method when the lead of his opponent was not particularly strong. Riordan would be allowed to shove out his left and Fitzsimmons would counter with his right on the inside of the opponent's left arm, forcing his fist out and away from the body.

Then with lightning rapidity Fitzsimmons would continue the countering blow, landing in nine out of ten cases on the other man's jaw or face.

It was one of the prettiest, most scientific blows in pugilism, but it has been contended by authorities on boxing that a man cannot punch hard enough with it to produce a knock-out. If this was the blow practiced last night the arguments against it are forever thrust aside, for here, where there was no intention to hurt Riordan or even to hit him hard, his friend and employer landed the blow which ended his life.

SENATOR-ELECT GRAMM.

Of the Banner Republican Senatorial District, on the U. S. Senatorship. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Nov. 18.—The Hon. S. H. Gramm, state senator-elect, for the Eleventh senatorial district, comprising the counties of Taylor, Monongalia and Preston, holds the record for West Virginia on the size of the plurality by which he was elected. Mr. Gramm received 3,668 more votes than his Democratic opponent, W. R. D. Dent, which is the largest plurality ever given a candidate for the state senate by either party in this state.

The INTELLIGENCER correspondent met Senator Gramm at the Grafton jollification Friday night, and asked him if he cared to announce his position on the United States senatorship and what his views were on the senatorial situation. Mr. Gramm promptly replied:

"I have no hesitancy in placing myself squarely on record in favor of Mr. Elkins. In fact, the Republican party of this state is on record for Mr. Elkins for the United States senatorship, and I know of no instance where an honor was more generally conceded a man than in this case. It has been the public understanding ever since General Goff went on the bench that if the Republicans succeeded in capturing the legislature Mr. Elkins would be elected to the United States senate. In the campaign of 1892, and in that of the recent election, no other name was mentioned in connection with the senatorship, and this was so generally understood that in the legislative contents the Democratic party made the fight as much on Mr. Elkins personally as on the Republican party."

"I, therefore, feel that in declaring myself for Mr. Elkins, I am simply occupying the position that our party has all along taken in the matter. I think our party is practically as solid now for him as before the election, and his claims to the senatorship and the wisdom of his selection is too generally understood to call for any comment. There is no doubt of his election, and in my humble opinion it seems to me to be good politics as well as a deserved tribute to make his election unanimous in the party caucus, without any show of opposition, and it is most likely that this will be the final outcome of the matter when the legislature meets."

LED AWAY FROM SIN.

How "Christian Workers" at Hagerstown Saved a Young Girl From a Terrible Life. Shepherds, W. Va., Register. A band of evangelists calling themselves "Christian Workers" has been engaged in public and private religious work in Hagerstown for several weeks past, and there have been some strange conversions as a result of their labors. One of the most sensational scenes was enacted last Sunday evening. The band had been conducting services at the jail and were returning by way of North Jonathan street. Not far from the jail, in the region familiarly known as the "Bowery," they stopped before the house of a woman named Mollie Miller, in front of which were sitting two girls, inmates of the house. Mrs. Salome Cameron, a member of the band, started to talk with the girls, when one of them rose and retreated into the house. The other, known as Maggie Colbert, remained outside and listened to the pleadings of the evangelists to leave the house and endeavor to lead a better life. A large crowd gathered and the evangelists continued their intercessions in spite of vigorous protest on the part of the mistress of the house. The half-penitent woman was urged to return to the house by the mistress and other inmates. The crowd divided into the appeals, some calling out to the woman to go in and others urging her to leave the place. After prayer and intercession and singing for an hour the workers won and the girl consented to go with them. She wore a loose wrapper and was bareheaded. One of the women of the party, rather than have the girl go back into the house to dress, gave the girl her own coat and hat. The girl was accompanied to the Mansion House, followed by a crowd of men and boys.

She said her name was Maggie Cubbage, that she was seventeen years old, that her home is near Shenandoah, Va., that her father is a farmer and that she has seven children. She said she was beguiled to Hagerstown by the mistress of a house, at which she remained only a few weeks, under the impression that she was to be employed as a domestic in a family. Circumstances influenced her to a life of shame. She wept as she told her story. The girl remained at a Christian home in the city with one of the evangelists, and next morning she invested Rev. Edmund Walton with the powers of guardian. Mr. Walton, accompanied by Officer Saylor, went to the Jonathan street house and got the girl's clothing, the mistress surrendered them without opposition. The girl has been placed in a home in Baltimore, with the view of eventually restoring her to society and her parents or relatives.

Jubilant at Berkeley Springs.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Last night the town was a perfect blaze of glory, it being the occasion of celebrating the victory achieved by the Republicans in the state and the defeat of free trader Wilson by Alton G. Dayton in the Second Congressional district; also to celebrate the victory won in the county. Two years ago the majority this fall is 513.

The parade was the largest ever held here, and was attended by two brass bands, several hundred horsemen and a multitude of footmen, all bearing torches or transparencies. Several live and stuffed raccoons were featured. The illuminations in the houses were gorgeous. At the conclusion of the procession a number of speeches were delivered in front of the court house, Dr. W. H. Perkins, of Hancock, Md., being the orator of the evening. Fully one thousand people were in town and everything passed off nicely and in order.

He was one of the prominent citizens of Central West Virginia and for a quarter of a century has been a commanding figure in political campaigns. He affiliated with the Republican party and has at different times held prominent county offices.

THE W. C. T. U.'s Saturday Session—Principally Devoted to Routine Work.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 18.—Yesterday's session of the convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union began with devotional exercises.

Mrs. J. T. Fouts, of Cleveland, then took charge of the meeting and introduced Mrs. Bertha Orviatt Cox, who sang very sweetly the crusade hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee." An impressive silence prevailed during the singing. Mrs. H. C. Ford, a Cleveland crusader, then read a portion of the Scripture, the last chapter of Deuteronomy. Mrs. Manley, of Akron, O., Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton, the author, and spoke briefly, and Mrs. Louisa Hedges, of Piqua, who was jailed in Cincinnati during the crusade, led the audience in the singing of "How Firm a Foundation." Mrs. N. Coe Stewart, who was a member of the first praying band, spoke of the crusade times and also for the ballot of woman, announcing that she expected, some day, to vote. Mrs. Stewart's address was followed by the singing of "My Faith Looks Up to Thee."

After this Mother Thompson, of Hillsboro, Ohio, was introduced for a two minutes' speech.

Tremendous applause greeted the conclusion of Mrs. Thompson's brief address.

Rev. Henrietta Moore next spoke and led the convention in the noon day prayer.

At the afternoon session Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, of St. Louis, spoke on narcotics. Mrs. Katharine L. Stevenson spoke on temperance literature.

Mrs. E. E. Emory spoke on the relation of capital and labor to temperance. She referred to "capital, imperious, insolent and aggressive," and "labor, feeble and helpless, trying to keep its slight political influence, cringing at the feet of capital."

The increase of suicide, insanity and crime she referred to as the procurer of "national death."

She denounced the "contradictory money policy of the present administration as the cause of the hard times. She thought money should be issued in sufficient quantity to hire every idle man in the country on public work."

Robert E. Audion, of the Central Labor Union, of Cleveland, next spoke. He brought greetings from the American Federation of Labor at the request of President Samuel Gompers.

Then Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, of Massachusetts, spoke on parliamentary usage and Miss Jodie E. Reed, of Indianapolis, reported on the press, referring in a very complimentary manner to the Associated Press.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Saturday's Session of the General Assembly at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., November 18.—The Knights of Labor were in session nine or ten hours yesterday and there is good authority for the statement that the press committee have been suppressing facts, and that the real work of the session is not being very fully given to the public through the official press committee, but the committee has striven to suppress information suppressing them.

The principal business transacted at the evening session, according to the press committee, was consideration of the cases of fifteen subordinate assemblies which had been suspended and referred to the general assembly. This created the necessity of prolonging the session from 2 to 6:30, when an adjournment was had to 8 p. m.

Master Workman Sovereign stated that it had been intended to elect officers for the ensuing year to-day, but that the election had been deferred to Monday on account of the hearing of the cases mentioned above.

From good authority it is learned that the afternoon session was taken up with the hearing of the Pennsylvania miners' cases, no conclusion being reached when the regular afternoon adjournment was taken. The miners have not concluded their statements, and five of them have been given fifteen minutes each to present arguments and facts.

The Sovereign contingent has been reinforced by the arrival of two delegates in response to telegrams, and who were admitted without the formality of having to go through the credentials committee to test their eligibility.
