Miss Annie Dieringer, of Edgington, becomes Mrs. Hugh J. Whyte—Reception at the Bride's Home.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Joseph's cathedral Rev. Father O'Kane united in marriage Hugh J. Whyte and Miss Annie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dieringer, of Edgington. The bride wore a gown of crystal silk trimmed in pearl and carried tea roses. The groom was dressed in plain black. Eccles O. Whyte, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Ligonri Dieringer, sister of the bride, acted as her maid. From the cathedral the wedding party went at once to the home of the bride's parents, where a largely attended reception was held. Many and beautiful presents, testimonials of the regard of friends, were displayed. The bride is an accomplished young woman and a great favorite with a large circle of acquaintances. The groom is a business man who has earned the respect and confidence of the business community and has the regard of all who know him. Mr. and Mrs. Whyte will reside at Mr. Whyte's home in Edgington.

MADAME ROLLA

Arrives in New York—Will Sing in Opera at the Metropolitan.

Madame Rolla (Mrs. Kate Wheat-Rammelsberg) arrived in New York from London last Sunday after an eventful voyage. The American line steamer New York, on which she sailed, had a very rough trip, having encountered several severe gales and rough seas, many waves washing her decks. The New York was nearly two days overdue when she arrived, but her rough experiences at sea wrought no serious damage to her.

On the way over a concert was given for the widow and children of the third officer of the American line steamer Berlin, who was lost overboard from that vessel on her last eastern trip, in which Madame Rolla took a conspicuous part. The affair netted $510. The New York papers state that Madame Rolla will sing during the season of opera just begun at the Metropolitan opera house with the De Reszkes and Madame Malba. She was accompanied by Mlle. Bauermeister, Signor Vaschetti and Signor Rinaldini.

DEPRECIATION OF PROPERTY

Emphasized by two Public Sales at Baltimore.

The Windsor hotel in Baltimore was sold by the sheriff yesterday afternoon under foreclosure of mortgages held by Jacob Heatherington and Henry Schulbach. It was appraised at $18,000. There was a large crowd present, yet there was but one bid of $12,000, and that was made by Henry Schulbach and the property could easily have been sold for more money than that a few years ago, in fact brought the full amount of the appraisement not many years ago, and Mr. Schulbach is being congratulated upon securing a bargain.

The old Bellair window glass works was offered for sale yesterday afternoon, but there were no bidders and the company took it in at two-thirds of the appraisement, $4,007. That plant cost $47,000 and was once one of the most prosperous industries in that city, its stock commanding a premium and its trade furnishing profitable employment for many and excellent business for those who had invested. A local paper truthfully remarks: "Such depreciation in industrial property is astounding and without precedent. It is no wonder capital is frightened away from that class of investment."

THE LOCAL MARKETS

Without Special Features in the Past Week—Pork Stiffer.

The local market report this week shows a stationary condition of prices in every department and all of the local houses report business slow but steady. In provisions and hog products the indications point to a fractional advance, but of so small a degree as to leave the market practically featureless. The wool market is slow, the business being of such small volume to give promise of little immediate activity. The quotations are unchanged and stocks are stationary.

The only element of strength is the demand for eggs. The demand for fresh eggs is remarkably good and the supply limited. The scarcity of fresh eggs is being replaced by cold storage ones with bakers and hotels. Butter finds a ready sale at quotations and the demand is very good. Poultry of all kinds is in active demand, the coming holiday trade causing some business in turkeys. The chances of an advance in this line are not good and country dealers should hold low prices, as the market will undoubtedly remain at present figures for some time.

The cheapness of grain has had a very unquieting effect upon the local market and dealers will not quote for future delivery, as the market is liable to have sudden changes which cannot be foreseen definitely. Cattle are very slow and the supply equals the limited demand.
