

FARMERS' INSTITUTES

In Both Brooke and Ohio Counties Great Successes.

THE ATTENDANCE LARGE AT EACH

And Interesting Programmes Were Rendered, Creditable in the Extreme to the Local Talent Which Took Part as Well as to All Others Concerned—A Thing to be Encouraged by the People.

The members of the staff of the agricultural experiment station, who have been attending the farmers' institute at Wellsburg and West Liberty, passed through the city on their way home, Saturday.

They report most excellent farmers' institutes at both Wellsburg and West Liberty. The halls were crowded at both places and the farmers in attendance expressed themselves as delighted. The characteristic of these farmers' institutes was the appearance of so much local talent. The addresses were of high order and the discussions were animated and the interest in the institutes sustained throughout.

The institute at West Liberty was the best ever held in the state and is not surpassed in the character of the papers and discussions by the farmers' institutes in the older states, where the legislatures make large appropriations for carrying on this class of work.

These farmers' institutes are non-partisan and confine their efforts to instruction of the farmers in the most approved systems of farming, and in a free exchange of ideas in regard to methods of culture. It would contribute much to the promotion of agriculture in West Virginia if successful farmers' institutes could be conducted in every county of the state, as is done elsewhere. They are intended solely for the advancement of agriculture.

The programme at West Liberty was very attractive, as well as interesting and profitable. It was as follows:

THURSDAY MORNING. 10:00 a. m. Music. Prayer. Music. 10:15 a. m. President's address. 10:30 a. m. Small Fruits for Profit. William Doolittle. 11:00 a. m. Clover as a Feed and Fertilizer. A. K. Jacob. 11:30 a. m. Special or Mixed Farming. John A. Meyer.

AFTERNOON SESSION. 1:00 p. m. The Farmer and Wife as Business Partners. Mrs. Ella Springer. 1:15 p. m. Poultry for Profit. Miss Lulu Frazier. 1:30 p. m. How Can We Farmer Girls Make Our Homes More Attractive? Miss A. Finley. 1:45 p. m. Social Improvement in Farm Life. Miss Lou Edgely. 2:00 p. m. Talk Upon Insects. Prof. Hopkins. 2:15 p. m. Diseases During the Past Year. In Fungus Diseases. Prof. F. William Rane. 3:00 p. m. Query Box.

EVENING SESSION. 7:00 p. m. Music. Prayer. Music. 7:15 p. m. Shall We Continue to Reduce the Cost of Production? Yes, Dr. Myers; No, W. Foreman. 8:15 p. m. Query Box.

FRIDAY MORNING. 10:00 a. m. Music. Prayer. Music. 10:15 a. m. Spraying Fruits. W. B. Gibson. 10:30 a. m. Slices and Enlarging. Dr. J. W. Bates. 11:45 a. m. Bidding, Grading and Fencing. J. R. Garvin.

AFTERNOON SESSION. 1:00 p. m. Merino Sheep for Profit. Wm. Nichols. 1:30 p. m. The Outlook for the Wool Industry. 2:00 p. m. The Care of Domestic Animals. Dr. Reeder. 2:30 p. m. Roads and Tolls. Abe McColloch. 3:00 p. m. Thorough Tillage of the Soil. John Baird. 3:30 p. m. Query Box.

EVENING SESSION. 7:00 p. m. Music. Prayer. Music. 7:15 p. m. Should the Farmer Receive a Thorough Education? Opened by Prof. Diehl. Music. 8:15 p. m. General Discussion and Question Box.

At Wellsburg an equally valuable series of papers and discussions was given, as follows:

TUESDAY MORNING. Music. Prayer. Music. Potato Planting from January to September, with specimens. Mr. F. A. Sanders, Wellsburg, W. Va. Irrigation of the Garden and the Concentration of Labor upon Small Areas. Prof. F. William Rane, Experiment Station, Morgantown, W. Va. The Poland China. Mr. George Hemphill, Independence, Pa. The Berkshire. Mr. H. C. Drennon, Bethany, W. Va.

AFTERNOON. Music. Prayer. Music. The Jersey. Mr. L. C. Applegate, Wellsburg, W. Va. The Shropshire. Mr. D. McCullough, Steubenville, Ohio. The Hornet. Mr. James L. Hemler, Washington, Pa. Practical Notes on Breeding and Feeding Mutton Sheep. Dr. A. D. Hopkins, Experiment Station, Morgantown, W. Va. Sheep Notes by an Observer. Mr. W. W. Hunter, Buffalo, Pa.

WEDNESDAY MORNING. Music. Prayer. Music. Commercial Fertilizers, their Uses and Abuses, Dr. R. de Boode, Experiment Station, Morgantown. How to Make and Preserve Farm Manures, Dr. John A. Myers, Experiment Station, Morgantown. Corn and Corn Culture, Mr. Henry C. Hervey, Wellsburg. The Orange. Mr. H. C. Anderson, Burgettsburg, Pa. How the Grange Organization Affects the Farmer. J. B. Painter, representative of Farmers' Club, Independence, Pa.

AFTERNOON. Music. Prayer. Music. Hints on Planting Orchards, Thomas Mahan, Steubenville. Orchards and How to Take Care of Them, Prof. F. W. Rane, Experiment Station, Morgantown. Some Fruit Insects and How to Fight Them, W. E. Rumsey, Experiment Station, Morgantown. The Relation of Insects to the Farmer's Success, Dr. A. D. Hopkins, Experiment Station, Morgantown. Some Insect Enemies of the Market Garden, W. F. Rumsey, Experiment Station, Morgantown.

Brooke and Ohio counties to a great extent shared both of these institutes, and their influence for good cannot be overestimated. They afford also a pleasant opportunity for social reunion, and ought to receive the encouragement of all interested in the welfare of the people.

IT WAS ALL A MISTAKE.

How a Funeral Director Got Into Hot Water Last Week.

Last week, the young man who occupies the position of funeral director for a local undertaking establishment, was called up by telephone at the hotel, where he resides, at 3 o'clock a. m. Hurriedly dressing, he answered and found his employer was at the other end of the line, who informed him that the wife of a man whose name is not known, but something like it, had died, and that he was wanted immediately to prepare the body for burial. The young man went down town and knocked at the residence of the supposed dead woman. After about half an hour's knocking at the three or four doors he heard a feminine voice inside, that inquired what he wanted.

"I'm from So and So, the undertaker, to prepare the body of Mrs. Kehrens," was the reply of the young man. A startled and frightened reply was heard, and then the voice managed to say:

"Why, she's not dead; I am Mrs. Kehrens."

"This almost took the young man off his feet, but he managed to say:

"Well, madam, allow me to congratulate you, and departed, feeling very uncomfortable, to say the least.

The next day it developed that it was Mrs. Kehrens who had died, and not Mrs. Kehrens. The similarity of the names caused the very peculiar mistake.

But this was not all. The clerk at the hotel was a friend of the supposed dead woman's husband and immediately mailed a letter of condolence, which, of course, was past the understanding of the gentleman when he received it.

"Shore Acres" Coming.

Of James A. Hearne's "Shore Acres," to be seen at the Opera House next Friday evening, the Boston Transcript says: "Shore Acres" is a drama worthy the suggestion of its name; and that is high praise. For "Shore Acres" is a phrase which brings to the imagination the homely simplicities of the farm-land, and the keen savor, the wild courage, of the sea. And the play has both at these; and is raised thereby not only to, but above the level of the best stage pictures of New England life our generation has seen. It will rank with the conspicuous not alone of the season, but of the dramatic generation."

Refusum Frozen.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Jan. 20.—Word comes from up the river that raftsmen who worked during the recent terrible cold spell to catch logs in the Guyandotte and Mud rivers were so badly frozen that many of them will lose an ear or a hand. Some jumped into the water to get warm, as even the icy water was warmer than the air, and by so doing made matters worse. When they came out their clothes instantly froze still.

HOUSE PROGRAMME.

The Week's Business as Arranged for the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—This promises to be a busy and important week in the house. The programme arranged by the committee on rules before the departure of Speaker Crisp for Asheville, N. C., last night (where he expects to remain a week or more), contemplates the consideration of the public building bill on the calendar to be followed by the Indian appropriation bill, now under consideration, the sundry civil and the agricultural appropriation bills.

The committee on rules, with much urging, decided to bring a closure rule to secure a vote on the bill for a new public building at Chicago to cost $1,000,000. Two hours will be given to-morrow for the consideration of the measure, after which the vote will be taken. The improvements for the New York public building are provided for in the sundry civil bill. The other public building bills, six in number, are as follows: Newport, Ky., $100,000; Cumberland, Md., $75,000; South Omaha, Neb., $200,000; Paterson, N. J., $250,000; Brookline, Mass., $75,000, and Pottsville, Pa., $60,000.

The programme as arranged for the week may be subject to change in case Mr. Springer, chairman of the committee on banking and currency decides before the end of the week to bring forward his new measure. He has been in constant consultation with Secretary Carlisle for the past week and is very sanguine that concessions can be made to the silver men, which will induce them to withdraw their opposition. On yesterday he expressed the opinion that he would bring forward the modified bill this week and that it would pass. This opinion, however, is not generally shared by the Democratic leaders of the house, most of whom do not hesitate to say that they believe all hope of currency legislation at this session is dead.

It is possible that the resolution for the impeachment of Judge Ricks may be before the house before the end of the week, but the fact that the committee on judiciary decided Friday to reopen the case is interpreted to mean a delay which will render any attempt to push the case against him at this session abortive.

Next Saturday, by a special order, will be set aside for eulogies on the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt, of Georgia. It is not improbable that Mr. Boutelle will attempt to secure consideration of his Hawaiian resolution, and thus a debate on this subject precipitated in some form.

INCOME TAX QUESTION.

Will Have the Right of Way in the Senate This Week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—The prospect in the senate this week is for more talk than accomplishment. When the senate adjourned yesterday the senate's attitude toward Hawaii, the proposed recession from the senate amendments to the income tax appropriation and the Nicaragua bill all occupied in the different ways, technically considered, the position of unfinished business.

The income tax question will have the right of way by virtue of its being a part of an appropriation bill. The Hawaiian question will in all probability be considered in the morning hour Monday morning, if not crowded out by the debate on the income tax. There are known to be several senators, most, if not all, of them on the Republican side, anxious to express their views on the Hawaiian problem, and judging from their private expressions, the remarks to be made will in some instances be very pointed. Senator Hill is also expected to stand out for his income tax amendment. The Nicaraguan question still holds its place at the head of the calendar for consideration daily after two o'clock. Senator Morgan said to-day that he was still hopeful of securing a vote on this bill before the close of the week, but if there should be many interruptions he may again be disappointed. Senator Turpie has the floor for a reply to Senator Morgan, and is expected to make one of his characteristic speeches. There will also be addresses on this subject before the vote is finally taken.

Senator Cockrell expects to ask to have the fortifications appropriation bill taken up as soon as the urgent deficiency bill is out of the way, and thinks there will be no difficulty in getting it through during the week. The friends of the bankruptcy and territorial admission bills are growing anxious concerning the fate of these measures, and are beginning to be apprehensive that time may not be left for their consideration if the Nicaragua bill be not soon disposed of.

The present prospect is against a revival of the financial and currency question in the senate during the week, but much will depend upon the action of the committee on finance at its meeting Tuesday, and also upon the attitude of the house of representatives.
