THE MORMON CHURCH.

It is Steadily Growing in this Community, Seemingly.

THEIR ANNUAL CONFERENCE HELD

In the Church in North Benwood Saturday and Yesterday—Interesting Lectures on the Authenticity of the Book of Mormon—The Progress of the Local Congregation.

The annual district conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, popularly known as the Mormon church, convened in the little church on Water street, just below Forty-eighth, Saturday morning, and will close tomorrow evening. This is the original church founded by Joseph Smith. Its members disclaim any connection whatsoever with the Utah church, do not accept Brigham Young as a prophet, and as Presiding Elder Garrett said to an INTELLIGENCER reporter yesterday, consider the Utah Mormons as apostates from the true faith. This church has never taught nor sanctioned polygamy. Its headquarters are at Kirtland, O., and the sect numbers about 30,000 souls.

This district includes Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia. It is known as the Pittsburgh-Kirtland district. The church here, when the neat little edifice was dedicated by Elder McDowell, now one of the "First Quorum of Seventy," or ruling council of the church, numbered but sixteen members. A congregation can be formed with but six members, that being the number with which Joseph Smith started his new religion. In 1830 the church here had thirty-nine members. The report at this meeting showed a membership of 125.

The business sessions were held Saturday in the church, Rev. Gomer I. Griffith, of Kirtland, O., missionary of the district, presiding, assisted by Elder R. Etzenhouser, of Independence, Mo.

There were delegates present from Pittsburgh, Kirtland, Cleveland, Lake View, Blake's Mills, Youngstown, O.; Connellsville and Sharon, Pa.

The regular routine of business of the district was transacted. Delegates were elected to the world's conference, to be held at Independence, Mo., April 6, as follows: George H. Hulmes, Frank Criley, Maggie E. Handy, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Gomer I. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Bond, Hattie Griffith, of Kirtland, O.

Encouraging reports were read from the various branches in the district. Elder W. H. Garrett, of Kirtland, O., was chosen presiding elder for the ensuing year, and E. S. Fairley, of Pittsburgh, was re-elected secretary.

The evening session was devoted to a lecture by C. E. Miller, of Pittsburgh, on "Biblical Evidences of the Authenticity of the Book of Mormon." Mr. Miller was a compositor in a Pittsburgh printing office until failing eyesight compelled him to give up his calling. He is now employed as a pressman. He has devoted his spare time to study of the Book of Mormon, and of the exterior evidences in its favor. He holds that many monuments on the American continent, preserved from antiquity, furnish evidence of the truth of its story. He also dwelt on the references in the 29th chapter of Isaiah, to "a book that is sealed," delivered to the learned, who shall say they cannot read because it is sealed; and to him that is not learned, and he shall say, "I am not learned," and finally: "In that day shall the deaf hear the words of the Book, and the eyes of the blind shall see," etc.

The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon views, and was very interesting even to those whom it did not convince. Many passages from scripture were presented to bear out the speaker's views.

Yesterday there was an early praise service in the church, followed by Sunday school at 9 a. m. At 10:30 Elder R. Etzenhouser, of Independence, Mo., preached a sermon. He is a member of the "First Quorum of Seventy." At 2 o'clock in the afternoon there was communion, followed by social services, or a love feast. There were short experiences and testimonies by a large number of members, and the little church was literally packed by the congregation.

Last evening Elder M. H. Bond, also a member of the First Quorum of Seventy, preached to another large congregation.

This evening Mr. Miller will deliver another lecture, illustrated with stereopticon views, his theme being, "Archaeological Evidences of the Authenticity of the Book of Mormon." He shows some of the monuments and inscriptions of American antiquity to show that the early inhabitants of this continent came from Asia, and has a very ingenious argument to that effect. Tomorrow evening the sessions will close with another sermon by Elder Etzenhouser.

HOBNOBBING WITH REX.

A Wheeling Man who has a High Opinion of the Gentility of Orleanians.

Down in New Orleans, during Mardi Gras week, the mayor of the city holds a public reception and meets people from Maine to California. Among the callers last Tuesday were Roland Reed, the comedian; Mayor McKenna, of Pittsburgh, and a well known Wheeling man, as will be seen by the following from the New Orleans Picayune:

Mr. W. B. McMechen, member of the firm of McMechen, Son & Co., of Wheeling, W. Va., was one of the early guests. Mr. McMechen was in company with his wife, a charming and amiable young woman. They were profuse in expressions of the geniality of Orleanians. They voted the entertainment tendered them in the hall just the kind they heard New Orleans was famous for. Mrs. McMechen said her impression of the carnival and the people was of the kind that falls of plain expression. She was charmed beyond expectation, and the realization beyond any anticipation. Mr. McMechen, in the nature of his business, shakes hands with nearly all of the business men of the country. At the hall, he said, and in the city of New Orleans, the hand grasp he experienced was of such a character as to imply: "Why, my dear old friend, I am awfully glad to see you," and the cordiality of that greeting left no room to consider it anything but sincere. Then the sunny southerners emphasized every feature of cordiality accorded them by practical effort. He promised that New Orleans and the mayor should meet him as often as the carnival comes. He found the citizens as earnest in pleasure as they are in business.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The Term Ended Saturday in Both Sides. Much Business.

Both sides of the circuit court were in session Saturday and much business was transacted, after which court adjourned to court in course.

Some time last year Justice George Arke fined a man who was employed at the Elm Grove Coal Works. This was one of the cases which figured in the proceedings against the justice before the board of county commissioners. The fine and costs amounted to $18 00. Several days ago a constable attached the wages of the young man in the hands of the coal company. Saturday J. J. Coniff, esq., attorney for the man, secured an order from Judge Paul, in the circuit court, directing Justice Arke to cease further proceedings in the case, to recall all executions, and to furnish the court with a transcript of the docket of proceedings.

Before Judge Campbell, in the case of Albert G. Boons vs. Catharine Boons. Objection to petition of plaintiff argued and sustained.

Bedillon & Co. vs. James Keller. Clerk ordered to pay judgment and costs out of funds remaining in his hands.

Mary L. Schroder vs. August Bud-schwanz et al. Commissioners ordered to sell property and pay amount of judgment of plaintiff.

Before Judge Paul, in the matter of R. H. Cochran, administrator of the estate of Dominick M. Carey, arguments were heard and case taken under advisement.

Frederick Ziegler vs. Frederick Setzer, et al. A. L. St. Myers, constable, ordered to sell certain personal property belonging to defendant, and to hold proceeds of sale until the further order of the court.

In the case of Mary E. Wessel vs. Joseph P. Wessel, an order was entered showing the distribution of purchase money.

Frew & Bertsch, et al. vs. H. A. Delters, et al., order entered directing A. L. St. Myers, special receiver, in the distribution of funds in his hands.

In the case of George J. Mathison, executor of the estate of Francis W. Mummer vs. L. A. Kolt and others, the court handed down an order referring matter to the investigation of Commissioner George E. Boyd.

PROCRASTINATION

IS THE THIEF OF TIME!

So the poet says—We are not going to dispute it. That is not what we want to allude to just now. It is to those fellows that have put off the buying of a Suit or Overcoat that we want to speak.

Come in and See what procrastination prices are. You won't find such prices elsewhere. You'll be glad you put off buying—for the saving will about balance up the discomfort you may have endured.
