

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

The Famous Cincinnati Reds Will Cross Bats With Wheeling.

HOW THE TEAMS WILL LINE UP

To-morrow Afternoon—Three Wheeling Pitchers Will Oppose—Pen and Pencil Bowlers Defeat the Daisies—Peerless and Hoodoo, Louisville Ball Tossers Go Down Before Cleveland—Cincinnati Won Out.

To-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the professional base ball season in Wheeling will be started with what will probably be one of the best games of the year. It will be the first game of the season for White's Wheeling team and for their opponents they will have "Duck" Ewing's Cincinnati Reds, who are the favorite team of a host of the "fans" in this city.

Manager White's men are all here with the exception of Regan, the third baseman, who is expected to arrive to-day, and Hannavan, the Hartford man, who is strangely silent after asking for his railroad ticket.

REVELON COMES IN

The Interstate League In Akron's Place. Quick Work. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 28.—Kenton will take Akron's place in the Interstate league. This arrangement was made yesterday and the stability of the league will in no wise be affected by Akron's withdrawal.

President Zeigler had the following to say last night: "I am unable to account for Rhue's actions. Here he has been posing as the manager of the Akron club when he had no idea of getting together a team."

Wallace Was a Puzzle. LOUISVILLE, April 28.—Louisville could not hit Wallace to-day, while the Clevelanders bunched their hits on Luby.

RIVER AND WHEELING.

The Town's Importance as a River Stapling Port on the Waco.

THE WIRE NAIL DID THE WORK

More Than Anything Else—Troubles of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati Packet Line Directors in Naming Their Boats—A Wheeling Man Who Wanted to Name a Boat "Fair Count"—Notes on Navigation.

Although the suggestion made first in the columns of this paper that the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line name its new boat "City of Wheeling" was received here with general favor, it is not likely that the boat will be so named.

Speaking of names, a Wheeling steamboatman who heard Captain Henderson telling of the troubles of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati company's directors in naming their new boats, told of the very decided wish of a Wheeling man away back in 1877, when the Haves-Tilden contest had just been decided.

Captain Henderson, general manager of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line, in connection with the names of his new boats, spoke of the great decline in late years of Wheeling's importance as a river town.

Wheeling was one of the most important shipping towns on the Ohio. Often the old Andes would start down the river from Wheeling with 5,000 to 10,000 kegs of nails.
