

IT WAS A BEAUTY.

Wheeling Plays an Errorless Game and Defeats Canton's Team.

THAT FINISH IN THE NINTH INNING

Was Magnificent and Shows That White's Team is Made Up of Good Stuff—It was a Pitchers' Battle, and Anderson Had the Better of It—McDougal Arrives in the City and Will Pitch Today—Yesterday's Races, National League Ball Games and Other News of Sport.

TO-DAY'S GAMES—Canton at Wheeling, Friday at Columbus, Kenton at Steubenville, Twin Cities at Mansfield.

Although the Cantons never led in any stage of yesterday's contest, the second game of the series with White's men, they were perilously near it on several occasions, and but for the magnificent ball playing with which the Wheelings treated the rather small crowd in the ninth inning there would have been another extra inning contest, as the score had been a tie for three innings. By the finest kind of team work and timely hitting the home team made three runs in the decisive ninth and secured the lead once more. In Canton's half their players were retired in one, two, three order, and by long odds the best game of the season was won for the locals.

It was a pitcher's battle, and up to the ninth inning the Cantonian twirler, Conover, had a shade the better of the argument, six hits having been off his delivery, while Anderson had been touched up for eight. In the ninth, however, Wheeling hit Conover for four hits, giving Anderson the best of the pitching battle.

The game was remarkable for the magnificent fielding of the Wheeling team, not an error being made in their record. Canton, too, was right in the swim, only one error being made in the entire game. For the home team the fielding of Regan, White and Crotty was as good as ever seen on a local diamond. Davis, behind the bat, also distinguished himself again, accepting several difficult foul fly chances.

But the star feature of the game was the readiness with which the home team went into the game in the ninth inning without regard to individual records. Each side had two runs at the end of the eighth. When Wheeling came to the bat there was a general cry from the spectators to break the tie. The first man up was Kane, the lanky outfielder, who had already twice landed safely on Conover's curves. He was admonished to make at least a two-bagger and he responded nobly, swatting the ball on the nose. It was a liner to center and seemed to rise as it spee'd over the infield. Schrader ran in, but misjudged the sphere which he saw, too late, was going to go above him. The little fielder jumped up after the ball, but too late, and Kane stood safe on second before it was fielded back. With a man on second and nobody out, there was a great chance for team work. Brown sacrificed, sending Kane to third. A double by Crotty scored Kane, a single by Regan scored Crotty, and Regan came over the plate on Davis' safe hit. Keeffe went out to Schrader.

In Canton's half of the ninth Douglas came up to fly which Regan accepted. Chambers, however, hit safe and it looked as though the visitors also were going to make a pretty finish. Chambers attempted to go down to second, but a pretty throw from Davis to Crotty nabbed him by a yard. Smith then hit a grass cutter to White, who assisted to Keeffe, ending a ball game that was enjoyable to witness, not only because Wheeling won, but because both teams put up an article of ball that will make the turnstiles click merrily if the page is kept up.

Wheeling scored the first run in the first inning. Crotty got his base on four bad ones, stole second by a hair's breadth and came across the plate on Regan's sacrifice hit. In the third Crotty again got dead head transportation to the first base, and went to second when Regan was hit by pitched ball. Davis then sacrificed and both base runners advanced a base on the out. Keeffe then cracked out a single back of second and Crotty trotted across the pan.

Canton made her first run in the fourth inning. After O'Brien had struck out, big Delaney, the Cantonian captain hit for a single. Schrader followed with a safe hit and Delaney scored, but Schrader was out on a minute later from Keeffe to White. In the sixth Schrader led off with a two bagger and scored on Geheran's single. McDOUGAL ARRIVES.

The St. Louis Twirler to Officiate in This Afternoon's Game. Last evening at 5 o'clock, John McDougal, the pitcher who started the season with the St. Louis League club, arrived in the city over the Pan Handle and at once reported to Manager White, of the Wheeling team. The deal by which McDougal is "farmed out" to Wheeling was conducted by Manager Al Buckenberger, of the Browns, who is also president of the Wheeling club. McDougal is to remain with Wheeling until his services are required on the St. Louis team. He pitched part of a game against Cleveland the other day and was hit fairly hard, but it is a safe prediction that he will be among the leading twirlers in the Inter-State League.

RAILROAD SWITCHES.

The Council Committee Examined Several Yesterday.

ONE IS ORDERED TO BE TAKEN UP

And Another's Location Must be Changed—The Switch into the new Reymann Business Block Approved by the Committee after an Inspection.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON THE COUNCIL COMMITTEES ON RAILROADS AND STREETS, ALLEYS AND GRADES MET IN JOINT SESSION.

Chairman Richards laid before them a communication from Beneke & Co., of the South Side furniture manufacturers, asking the removal or change of location of a switch from the Baltimore & Ohio road into the alley adjoining the Warwick pottery. It was stated that it not only prevented trees ingress and egress for Beneke & Co., but also turned all the drainage upon their premises.

The committee went down and examined the situation, and found the complaint just. They recommended that council order the switch moved from the inside track to the second one, so as to run up the middle of the street. The committee also looked at a switch running close beside the Wheeling Stamping Company's works, and agreed to recommend to council that it be taken up altogether.

The committee then went to the corner of Main and Sixteenth streets, to examine the location of the switch asked for by Mr. A. Reymann. Engineer Gil Brown, representing Mr. Reymann, accompanied them and explained the plans. Some of the members thought it would be difficult to get a proper grade, but Mr. Zwicker moved that the grant of the right of way be recommended to council, and supported the motion by a strong speech. The committee agreed to the motion.
