OLD TIME BASE BALL.

How It Was Played Away Back in the '60's.

THE BELMONT-STAR CLUBS' GAMES.

The St. Clairsville Farmers Everlastingly Slaughtered the Wheeling Merchants—The Personnel of the Teams—Some Pleasant Reminiscences of the Early Days of the National Game in This Neighborhood. Even in Those Days the Noble Art of Slugging the Ball was Known.

In the light of renewed interest in base ball in this city, or a revival of the "craze," if the reader will have it technically, a reporter for the INTELLIGENCER resurrected an account of the celebrated conflict between the Belmont club, of St. Clairsville, and the Star club, of this city in the year—no, not of the siege of Fort Henry, but 1866, just nine and twenty years ago, since which time a generation of "rooters" has sprung up. The Star club was the out growth of the first club organized in Wheeling by the late C. H. Collier, who, during the war, was the principal of the Second ward (now Lincoln) school. The clipping at hand is from the Wheeling Register, August 20, 1866, and what memories it recalls! In those days everybody played ball. It was on amateur lines alone that each club maintained its basis of popularity, and visits to neighboring towns were always attended with one good appetizing meal "to which," as the amiable chronicler of to-day would put it, "ample justice was done."

But about this famous feud between the Belmonts and the Stars. The first game was played in St. Clairsville, and to show the style of scoring in those days the following faithful copy of the table is presented herewith:

BELMONT.	O.	R.	E.	R.	STARS.	O.	R.
Ferren, I.	1	9	Berger, C.	1	3
Clark, 2	2	8	Norton, F. P.	3	3
Alexander, 3	3	7	Taney, M.	4	4
Alexander, W. C.	3	7	Adams, J.	2	2
Jepson, M.	5	8	Mendel, J.	2	2
Hawthorne, T.	3	5	Brannum, J.	3	2
Danford, L.	4	5	Norton, S. L.	4	1
Darrah, C.	3	4	McCoy, C.	3	4
Coelet, R.	3	6	Bliss, T.	3	4

TOTAL RUNS EACH INNING.

Stars.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Belmonts.	0	1	2	3	2	1	3	0	7—23
	2	8	4	16	12	0	3	9	0—54

Fly catches—Stars 11; Belmonts 7.

Home runs—Belmonts 1.

Umpire—Charles McClellan, Nassau club, Princeton, N. J.

Scorer—Harry List, of Stars; R. H. Cochran, of Belmonts.

The Alexander who played third for the Belmonts in those days was no other than the Hon. Ross J. Alexander of to-day, who is fattening up his averages in a government position in the far west under the present administration.

The nimble Jepson, who cavorted around in the position of short stop, is the staid family physician of this city, who had the honor of introducing the game into Belmont county.

Of the Wheeling team, William Berger, S. P. Norton and W. H. Taney have long since been called out. Mr. Berger was of the firm of Berger & Hoffman, and W. H. Taney, brother of J. B. and C. H. Taney, was then city editor of the Register. The rest are all living—G. E. D.

Mendel, Fred Norton, Virgil Adams, Greeley Brannum, James A. McCoy and Dan Bliss. The umpire was a brother of the late ex-Mayor Samuel McClellan, and then a student of Princeton Theological Seminary. Of the scorers, Harry W. List is dead; and R. H. Cochran was the Whilom judge of the county court of Ohio county, and later president of the Terminal railway.

There seems to have been some doubt about the ability of the Belmont team "to do" the Stars on their own grounds, and the second discussion in the argument took place on the old fair grounds on August 24, and the demurrer entered by the Stars was over-ruled 20 to 11. But in those days there were feasts, a concomitant to the game that made its social features a season of unending joy and delight. Both clubs dined at the Spring House (now the Hotel Windsor) after the "onslaught," when "spicy remarks were made by Ross J. Alexander, Mr. S. L. Jepson, Mr. Clark and Mr. Cochran, of St. Clairsville, and Mr. John T. Oxtoby, of Wheeling."

The last named gentleman is now a minister of the Presbyterian church. The records of the ancient base-ball pyramids might be explored further, for they are rich in reminiscences and opulent in memories, but the above notes recalling "other days and other years" of the national game are sufficient for present reflections and retrospection.

ANOTHER WORLD'S FAIR.

Containing Marvelous Attractions from Every Land.

Circus and aerial performances this year, in the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth are made a specialty, and are simply the best ever seen. There are twelve champion male and female bar-back equestrians, the best ever seen, special performers, who startle the audience for three hours with their marvelous acts, in the three rings, on the two stages, and on the racing track. But besides these there is a big iron-barred arena, where wild beasts and domestic animals go through an extraordinary performance in harmony together. One would naturally think that would be enough for one single admission; but no! for the performances, long as they are, and with its stupendous variety of novel and wonderful features, is really but half the attractions, for in the new menagerie pavilion there is a veritable midway, lined by the huts, dwellings, and tents of the groups and families of strange and savage people, comprising the grand Ethnological Congress.

Two menageries of wild and trained beasts, cages teeming with rare quadrupeds and feathered oddities, whole herds of elephants, camels and dromedaries, a rare collection of queer animal freaks, and other living curiosities, are also a few of the most wonderful attractions of these shows for this season. An entirely new free street parade, showing representatives of all the crowned heads of the world, and the military uniforms of the nations, is still another startling novelty. It will be here on Thursday, May 23, with twice as many railroad cars as other shows.

B. H. BOWMAN, publisher Enquirer, of Bremen, Ind., writes: Last week our little girl baby, the only one we have, was taken sick with croup. After two doctors failed to give relief and life was hanging on a mere thread, we tried One Minute Cough Cure and its life was saved. Logan Drug Co., Wheeling, W. Va., B. F. A FORMER WHEELING LAWYER Killed By Falling Down An Elevator Shaft in St. Louis.

The following telegram from St. Louis, under date of Tuesday, will be read by many old residents, and especially members of the bar in Wheeling:

"John M. Chandler, aged 60, a leading attorney of this city, was instantly killed this afternoon by falling down the elevator shaft of the Security building. He fell head foremost from the seventh floor to the first and struck on his head and shoulders."

Mr. Chandler had been practicing law in St. Louis with distinguished success for twenty-five years. Before coming here he was located at Wheeling, W. Va., and was then the attorney of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. Nine years ago he was appointed the attorney for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company for St. Louis. The deceased leaves a widow, formerly a Miss Barber, of Sandusky, Ohio, and several children."

Mr. Chandler was one of the leading members of the Ohio county bar up to a quarter of a century ago, and was for several years a partner of the late George O. Davenport. His father was also for years a member of the bar here, and he was a brother of the late Moses A. Chandler, long a well known business man.

A Plain Justice.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Sir:—In the interest of justice I desire to protest against the suppressing of the names of persons indicted by the grand jury, as was done on Tuesday. I would especially call attention to the wrong done by not printing the "not true bills." Take a case like this: A man is accused of theft, arrested, given a hearing by a justice and held for court. All these successive steps are chronicled in the papers. Then the grand jury finds the charge too flimsy to indict on, and ignores the bill, but this fact is suppressed. Is this just to the man who has been vindicated? Why, certainly not.
