

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

Strown on the Graves of Wheeling's Dead Heroes

ATTEST THE GRATITUDE ALL FEEL

For Those Who "Counted Not Their Lives Dear Unto Them," and Died That Their Nation Might Live. Memorial Day Will Be Fittingly Observed To-day.

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest, by half-seen country's graves to rest, by half-seen country's graves to rest, by half-seen country's graves to rest..."

Wheeling and all the towns in this vicinity will celebrate Memorial Day this year, as usual in recent years, in a manner fitting the solemn and beautiful significance of the anniversary.

The formal Memorial Day exercises of Holiday post will be held in G. A. R. hall this evening, and the public is cordially invited to be present.

Everybody who has a flag should show his patriotism by putting it out. The city building will be nicely decorated with flags and appropriate emblems.

THE DAY OF PENTECOST.

Interesting and Impressive Services at the Jewish Synagogue—Ten Youth Confirmed.

Yesterday being the feast of Pentecost in the Jewish calendar, the confirmation took place at the synagogue on Eoff street, and a large audience congregated to witness the solemn ceremonies.

Then while the choir sang "Come, ye Children, to His Altar," the confirmations laid down their bouquets and advanced to the altar, where they united in prayer.

GLORIOUS AMERICA!

The Magnificent Tribute Paid By Statistics—An Englishman's Ardent Prologues and Paves of the United States Has No Parallel in History.

New York, May 29.—The English statistician, Michael G. Mulhall, publishes in the June number of the North American review just issued, an article on "The power and wealth of the United States."

Mr. Mulhall's conclusion is that "if we take a survey of mankind in ancient or modern times as regards the physical, mechanical and intellectual force of nations we find nothing to compare with the United States in this present year of 1895, and that the United States possesses by far the greatest productive power in the world. He asserts that the absolute effective force of the American people is now more than three times what it was in 1850, and that the United States possesses almost as much energy as Great Britain, Germany and France collectively, and that the ratio falling to each American is more than what two Englishmen or Germans have at their disposal. He points out by a careful comparison between the conditions in those different countries that an ordinary farm land in the United States raises as much grain as three in England, four in France, five in Germany, or six in Austria. One man in America can produce as much flour as will feed two hundred and fifty, whereas in Europe one man feeds only thirty persons. Mr. Mulhall's special attention to the fact that the intellectual and moral greatness of the American people is in harmony with the industrial and mechanical, 57 per cent of the total population over ten years of age being able to read and write. "It may be fearlessly asserted," said he, "that in the history of the human race no nation ever before possessed forty-one million instructed citizens."

The writer sets forth in regard to the growth of the wealth of the United States that the average annual increment from 1821 to 1890 was nine hundred and one millions of dollars, and he asserts that "the new wealth added during a single generation—that is, in the period of thirty years between 1850 and 1880—was no less than forty-nine millions of dollars, which is one milliard over the total wealth of Great Britain."

Classifying the whole wealth of the Union under the two heads of urban and rural, Mr. Mulhall finds that rural or agricultural wealth has only quadrupled in forty years, while urban wealth has multiplied sixteen fold. It is shown that the rise in wealth and the increase of wages came almost hand in hand, "in dealing with the development of farm values Mr. Mulhall makes the following statement: "If the United States had no urban population or industries whatever the advance of agricultural interests would be enough to claim the admiration of mankind, for it has no parallel in history."

Appreciative Citizens. New York, May 29.—The people of St. Louis have presented to the steamer of that name a library for the first cabin, consisting of 1,632 carefully selected volumes handsomely bound and numbered. A library for the second cabin, containing 639 volumes, also especially selected. All the volumes are uniformly bound and have stamped on the front cover in gold leaf "Presented to the S. S. St. Louis, by the citizens of St. Louis."

The Iron Conference. CLEVELAND, OHIO, May 29.—President Garland, Secretary Kilgallon, and a committee of the Amalgamated Association, met the representatives of the iron manufacturers in joint conference here to-day. The only subject to be considered is the iron scale. The steel scale will not be taken up by the conference. Both parties profess to believe that the subject to be considered will be readily disposed of.

A Humorous Fact. About Hood's Sarsaparilla—it expels bad humor and creates good humor.
