

AWFUL FIRE

Almost Sweeps Cameron Out of Existence.

MANY ARE RENDERED HOMELESS

And Many Business Men Lost Their All in the Flames.

RELIEF TRAIN FROM WHEELING

Containing a Fire Apparatus and Hose Reel Wrecked.

TWO WHEELING MEN ARE KILLED

And Several Persons Escape With Slight Injuries—The Fire Engine Totally Ruined—The Flames at Cameron Sweep Away the Entire Business Section and Had Surrounded the Baltimore & Ohio Station at Last Accounts—The Reports Necessarily Meagre.

Cameron, the busy little Marshall county town, fifteen miles back of Moundsville, on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio road, was wiped out of existence by the fire flood last night and this morning. As detailed below the aid of the Wheeling fire department was asked, but owing to the bad accident at Roseby's Rock, the aid did not reach the stricken town. The Intelligencer man did not reach Cameron on account of the accident, and for that reason the account of the fire, sent by the telegraph operator while almost surrounded by fire, is necessarily meagre. Finally the operator wired that he was unable to send more as he had to abandon his office.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CAMERON, W. VA., June 9.—Cameron is a thing of the past and the hillside are covered by homeless women and children and household goods. Fire began in Fitzgerald's livery stable at 10 o'clock to-night. All the business portion of the town is burned and at this time (midnight) the brick buildings are burning.

The buildings on the street north of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are all burned and the firemen are struggling hard to keep the railroad building from burning. Several houses are burned on the street running north from the Crawford House, which had to succumb long ago, many of the inhabitants have lost their all and the loss at this writing (1:30 a. m.) is $50,000 to $100,000.

Great heroism has been displayed by the inhabitants.

At this moment I hear the rattling of the brick walls and the fire has crossed to the east side of the "Y" on the railroad, and soon the railroad buildings will be surrounded, except on the south side. The buildings which have been burned are Fitzgerald's livery stable, Hill & Howard's drug store, Call's confectionery and grocery, Jones's bakery, Davis's drug store, McCleskey's hardware store, Reynolds's harness shop, Borer's dry goods store, Hineman's grocery, Sisson's barber shop, Pariotti's grocery, Bachmann's cigar store, Willard's dry goods store, The World Printing office, new Crawford hotel, Cropp's military store, postoffice, Mathews jewelry shop, Spragg hardware store, Helm's furniture store, Walton & Co.'s general store, Duncan's drug store, Carpenter's confectionery, G. W. Pipes jewelry store, B. W. Mathews merchant tailor, Fry's barber shop, Cooper grocery store and from twenty-five to thirty-five dwelling houses still burning, and every business house in town is expected to go.

The report has just come in that the train from Wheeling, with a fire engine, is ditched about 200 yards east of No. 115 bridge, and they have sent here for all the doctors that can be had.

RELIEF TRAIN WRECKED.

The Atlantic Engine Involved in a Wreck at Roseby's Rock—Could Not Reach the Cameron Fire—None of the Firemen Injured—Engineer Duffy and Young Donohue Killed.

About 1:15 this morning the startling information was received here that the special train on the Baltimore & Ohio with the Atlantic engine, Chief Healy, firemen and others had been wrecked at Roseby's Rock, on the main line of the road between Moundsville and Cameron. The first information was to the effect that the engine and firemen of the train had both been killed, but as will be seen in the special from the Intelligencer's staff correspondent, only the engineer was killed. At 2 o'clock this morning a telegram was received from Chief Healy stating that none of the Wheeling party were injured, but that the Atlantic engine had been thrown into the creek and wrecked. The telegram instructed the foreman of the Atlantic to secure hose and couplings for use at the Atlantic in case of emergencies. The special dispatch below gives the story of the wreck in full:

Roseby's Rock, W. Va., June 10, (2 p. m.)—The special Baltimore & Ohio train from Wheeling, carrying the Atlantic engine and hose wagon, and railroad caboose full of men bound for the fire at Cameron, jumped the track at bridge No. 115, about two miles east of Roseby's Rock at 12:30 o'clock this morning. The track was clear, orders having been issued for everything to get out of the way of the fire special and Engineer Pat Duffy, who was at the throttle, was straining his engine to the utmost in order to get to Cameron in time to save some of the doomed town. The crash came utterly without warning and while the train was running at full speed.

The first warning was when the train left the rails, crashing along on the cross ties for a hundred yards and then left the track entirely and went with a crash down a fifty foot embankment into the creek below. A moment's stillness, and then the cries of the injured arose. Those who were not hurt or not hurt badly, got to their feet as quickly as possible. A short survey showed a terrible condition of affairs. The engine was upside-down in the creek, and poor Pat Duffy, the engineer, pinned underneath, if not killed instantly was burned to death.

So far as can be learned all of the Wheeling people on the train have escaped without serious injuries although nearly everybody has slight bruises and cuts.

Brakeman Clayton, of Wheeling, is badly injured, but it is believed that his injuries will not prove fatal.

LATER, 3 A. M.

Roseby's Rock, June 10.—Richard Donohue, jr., of Wheeling, who was missing, has been found dead under the gondola that carried the engine. He was badly crushed and must have been killed instantly. Charles Litton, of Moundsville, who boarded the train there is badly crushed about the breast; his condition is serious. Brakeman Clayton is injured internally and will probably die. Conductor William Dean is injured about the breast, but not fatally. Fireman T. J. Wakeman escaped almost unhurt. Of the eleven occupants of the caboose, not one escaped unhurt. John Shortt, the B. & O. detective, had his wrist cut on the glass of the door. Will S. Farris, of the Intelligencer, had his left arm wrecked.

After the wreck the cab of the engine took fire, and Pat Duffy was roasted to death if he did not die instantly. An hour later Drs. R. W. Hall and T. R. Rogers, of Moundsville, were on the scene. The fire apparatus is a total loss, as is the locomotive, which is now burning.

Injured Men Removed. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. Roseby's Rock, June 10.—The injured men will be taken to Benwood at once.

AID ASKED AND GIVEN

To Cameron in the Hour of its Affliction. A Special Train Provided by the Baltimore & Ohio Road—Atlantic Engine Sent Out.

CAMERON, W. VA., June 9.

Chief Wheeling Fire Department: Send fire engine and fire department here at once. Have a big fire and can't save the town unless we get aid soon.

E. W. FITZPATRICK.

The above is the message that was handed to Chief Healy of the fire department last night at 10:30 o'clock. After a consultation with Mayor Caldwell it was decided to send out a steamer. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad furnished a special train of two flat cars on which the Atlantic engine was loaded. The chief Atlantic firemen and Intelligencer man, and others boarded the train which was sent out at 11:10 p. m. The engine was loaded on the cars in front of the engine house, with the aid of George Abrams.

Efforts to secure reliable information regarding the conflagration in Cameron were nearly without effect, except to elicit the information from the telegraph operator there that the town was burning up and that the fire was then (11:30 p. m.) only two houses away from his office. The engine should have reached Cameron, twenty-eight miles, an hour after the start, as the track had been cleared and the special had to wait for nothing along the line.

At midnight it was learned that the fire started in the Crawford house on the Main street in Cameron and from thence spread up and down the street, taking in most of the business establishments of the place. As the town had no fire apparatus it was then determined to call on Wheeling for aid, with the result above noted.

Started by Tramps.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., June 9.—Fire this afternoon, which is thought to have been started by tramps, destroyed Dewing & Sons extensive planing mill, sash, door and blind works, and lumber yard, and seven brick and frame stores. Dewing's loss will reach $150,000; insurance, $100,000. The total loss is about $200,000; insurance, $115,000.

One Hundred People Homeless.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 9.—Store's planing mill and lumber yard, ten dwellings on East Monument street, and nine dwellings on North Front street, in the rear and the westward, were gutted, and nine additional were more or less damaged by a fire, which broke out shortly before noon to-day. The property loss is placed at $125,000. One hundred poor people were rendered homeless. The insurance aggregates $50,000.

Fatal Tenement House Fire.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 9.—Two persons were fatally injured in a tenement house fire to-night. The flames spread rapidly and Mrs. John Fitch jumped from a window to the ground. She was so badly hurt that she will die. John Grigg went into the building to save some of his property. He was rescued in an unconscious condition and cannot recover.

Lantern Burned.

UTICA, N. Y., June 9.—The "Cornell" the beautiful launch recently presented to the "navy" by the alumni of the university, was destroyed by fire to-day. It cost $9,000 to build and equip her, and was insured for about half her value. The origin of the fire is unknown.

She Was Burned.

NORTHAMPTON, MASS., June 9.—The John M. Learned's silk mills were burned this evening. Loss, $150,000.

The Best for the Family.

MACON, GA.—"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine. I have used it in indigestion and biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if on going to bed I take a dose of it, I never feel any bad effects of the supper."—Ovid G. Sparks, ex-Mayor.

THE NEW SECRETARY

Of the Department of State Will Take the Oath To-day.

THERE WILL BE NO UNDUCE HASTE

On His Part to Take Active Hold of the Affairs

AS SOME OF THE PENDING BUSINESS

In the Department of Justice Will Require His Personal Attention. There Are Many Complications with Foreign Countries Which Attract Attention During Gresham's Administration of the Department of State Still Pending, But for Whose Consideration Mr. Olney is Eminently Qualified—The Most Significant Matter of Diplomacy in the Monroe Doctrine in Connection With the British-Venezuela Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—Secretary of State Olney is expected to take the oath of office to-morrow. There will be no undue haste, however, on the part of the new chief of the state department to lay aside the pending business of the department of justice and take up the important foreign questions before the state department. Mr. Olney has given much close study to the larger law questions coming before his department that it will take some time for him to put the work aside and for the new attorney general to grow into it. Mr. Olney is, moreover, equipped in advance for the duties of his new office, as he has been consulted constantly during the last year on the various complications over Venezuela, Nicaragua, Bering Sea, the Waller case, foreign tariff retaliation, the Japan-China treaties, Spain's conflict with Cuba and the lesser questions in which the United States has been brought in relation with the rest of the world.

The last year has been unusually fruitful in foreign complications. Some of these were closed by Mr. Gresham, or advanced to such a stage that they will not include the British-Nicaragua incident, in which the United States aided toward a settlement; the Japan-China treaty of peace, which was effected as a result of kindly intervention by the United States; and the friction with Hawaii as the result of the demand for the recall of Minister Thureston. The other foreign questions which attracted public attention during Mr. Gresham's administration of the department are still pending.

With Great Britain, there are two questions of special importance to be adjusted, viz: Those affecting Bering sea and the Venezuela boundary. A Bering sea conference will be held in Washington in October next, Sir Julian Pauncefote having effected the preliminary arrangements with Mr. Gresham. The purpose is to draft a new treaty by which the claims of Canadian sealers for alleged seizures and losses will be submitted to a commission. The conference will not take up the more important question of readjusting the Bering sea regulations in order to make them effective. This will come later, however, and promises to call out a vigorous legal and diplomatic controversy.

The British-Venezuela question is mainly significant in involving the Monroe doctrine. The United States has asked Great Britain to arbitrate the question. So far as is known no definite answer has been given to Ambassador Bayard, who presented the request of this country. But as the British foreign office has positively declined to consider similar requests of Pope Leo and by the international arbitration association, it is not doubted that in due time a declaration will come to the United States. It will then remain for the State Department to determine to what extent British aggression in Venezuela is compatible with the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Gresham had made a special study of the subject, regarding it as of more importance than other foreign questions under consideration. Mr. Olney was called into conference and for several weeks prior to his selection for Secretary of State, he was busy investigating this complicated question. It is probable that a definite issue will be reached when Ambassador Bayard sends Great Britain's answer.

With France, the only question of consequence pending is as to the imprisonment of ex-Consul General Waller. Ambassador Estie has been instructed to make inquiries with a view to securing for Waller all the rights of an American citizen abroad, including a trial by a civil court.

Germany, Austria and Denmark are having numerous tariff complications with the United States, which threatened at one time to bring about radical retaliation by this country. The readjustment has proceeded largely through the state department. Germany and Denmark continue their exclusion of American meats, but there are prospects that a satisfactory settlement will be effected.

The discriminating duties levied against the best sugars of Germany and Austria brought on the conflict, and Denmark followed the lead of her influential neighbors.

The Cuban revolution promises to be a source of controversy with Spain. Minister De Loma has already asked the state department to apprehend those sending arms to Cuba, and the suggestion is made that Spain will make a claim against the United States, based on the precedent of the Alabama claims. Officials are not solicitous, however, as to this claim, and the intimation is made that it is inspired by British sources and of resentment for the Alabama decision.

Italy and the United States are expected to arrive at a satisfactory settlement ere long concerning the murder of a number of Italians in Colorado. It is understood that Secretary Gresham regarded the offenses as such that he inaugurated negotiations for the payment of cash indemnities to the families of the deceased Italians. This step, if consummated, will be in addition to the steps taken by the authorities of Colorado to prosecute the offenders.

The only subject of consequence pending with Russia is that concerning the amelioration of the condition of the Jews. The United States has taken little part in the Armenian question, which is provoking a conflict between Turkey and the European powers.

One of the first acts Mr. Olney is likely to be called on to perform is that of recognizing the new government of Ecuador, which has come into power after a bloody revolution. There are no pending questions with other South or Central American countries, save that in which Venezuela is involved.

The New Attorney General.

CINCINNATI, O., June 9.—Judge Judson Harrison, the new attorney general, spent Sunday with his family here. He received many callers, and telegrams of congratulation are still pouring in. He could not state to-night when he would go to Washington. Unless he is called to the national capital officially at once, he will remain a few days to close up some matters with his law partners.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

In the Pennsylvania Oil Region—Other Fires Throughout the Country.

BRADFORD, PA., June 9.—The forest fires of last week began burning fiercely yesterday and are still burning. It was thought the recent rains had started vegetation sufficiently to prevent further trouble. Fires are reported in the vicinity of the Kane oil field, and a force of men are fighting the flames. No damage has been done so far.

Grimsby is again the scene of destructive fires and a large amount of valuable timber has been destroyed.

Fires are reported in the vicinity of Mount Alton and Mount Jewett. At the latter place E. A. Kane had some timber land burned over and the Bradford chemical works is in great danger of being destroyed unless the wind shifts.

A destructive fire was burning at Sugar Run, a small lumber town eighteen miles west of here, to-day, and destroyed a trestle on the Allegheny & Kinzua railroad. A large amount of timber, the property of H. A. Ostrander and others, has been burned. Word was received from there asking for a steamer from this city, but later information was received that the fire was under control and that the steamer was not needed.

TERRIBLE MASSACRE

Of Persons Connected with English, French and American Missions in China.

LONDON, June 9.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that it is almost certain that a massacre of all the persons connected with the English, French and American missions at Chenzu has occurred. Neither men, women or children have been spared, according to the report.

It is admitted that telegrams have been intercepted by the government, the object being to conceal the news of the massacre. A French gunboat is en route to Wuenchang to investigate the report.

Fatal Gas Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, PA., June 9.—While drilling an oil well on the McDonald farm, near here, yesterday a heavy flow of gas was struck at the depth of 1,000 feet. The drillers rushed to the boiler to put out the fire, but the great volume of gas exploded before they could get this done. Three men were thrown into the air and terribly burned. John McLeod cannot recover. His brother, Edward McLeod, and W. R. Proctor are also badly burned, but there is slight hopes of their recovery.

Senator Gordon Out of Politics.

St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—A special to the Republic from Atlanta, Ga., says: Senator John B. Gordon is out in a card to-day announcing his permanent retirement from politics. This paves the way for Hoke Smith to be the administration candidate for the senate with no opposition in administration ranks. In view of Speaker Crisp's straightforward declaration for free silver, it looks now as if these two men would lead the opposition forces.

Gen. Bushnell's Surprise Party.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 9.—Nine carloads of Columbus Republicans, headed by the Fourteenth regiment band and the Buckeye club, paid their respects to General Bushnell last night at his residence. Speeches were made by Judge G. K. Nash, E. P. Poe, John W. Barger, R. M. Nevin, of Dayton; State Treasurer A. T. Cope, Secretary of State Taylor, General Axline, General Bushnell and others.

All Were Drowned.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, June 9.—Three boys, Emmett Sweeney, Patrick Morris and Michael Sheridan, aged eleven, twelve and eleven years respectively, went bathing in Lake Erie this afternoon. They were only a short distance from the shore and the water was not very deep. Young Morris was seized with cramps and his two companions went to his rescue, when all three were drowned.

Four Girls Drown Together.

DE BOIS, PA., June 9.—Sadie and Dora Anthony, Sarah Routh and Rosa Rimer were drowned yesterday while bathing in Stump creek, near here. They were wading together, when they sank in a deep hole.

The New Hawaiian Minister.

HONOLULU, June 9.—William R. Castle has been appointed Hawaiian minister at Washington, vice L. A. Thurston.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Mrs. Marian Reed, mother of Hon. Whitelaw Reid, died at her home near Cedarville, yesterday, aged ninety-one years.

UNSPEAKABLE TURK

Has Just Taken the Preliminary Steps to Inaugurate Measures

TO STARVE NESTORIAN CHRISTIANS

In the Mountains of Kurdistan Into Submission to Turkish Rule.

MAY RESULT IN THEIR MASSACRE.

These Tribes Have Always Been Independent of the Ottoman Government—They Have Never Paid Any Taxes to the Sultan, and It is Affirmed in Certain Quarters That the Present Course of the Government Indicates That he Has Set on Foot a Systematic Persecution of Christians in All Parts of the Empire.

(Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press.) From the Special Correspondent of the Associated Press in Armenia.

DJULEFA, May 7.—The Turkish government, it is claimed, has just taken the preliminary steps in what may result in a massacre of Nestorian Christians in the mountains of Kurdistan. It is asserted that the government has given orders to starve the independent tribes of Nestorians in the mountain region immediately west of Gavar, which may be described as lying about midway between Mosul and Lake Van, about fifty miles west of the Persian frontier. The orders, it is stated, are that no food supplies of any kind shall be allowed to enter the territory of the independent tribes, and measures are said to have been taken to enforce these orders to the letter. This action is apparently taken as a means of compelling the independent tribes to submit to Turkish government, and is regarded as the first serious attempt that the Turks have made to extort taxes from the independent tribes.

From the earliest times in the history of the Ottoman empire these tribes have been independent of Turkish rule. They paid no taxes, and they have acknowledged no allegiance to the Turkish government. The present course of the government is taken, in some quarters, as an indication that the Sultan has set on foot a systematic persecution of the Christians in all parts of the empire. The Sultan has plenty of opportunity for knowing that the independent Nestorians are too poor to pay taxes, and that many of them make a living by going down into the villages of their less wretched poor fellow countrymen and begging. These poor creatures, according to the story, are to be starved because they will not share with the Sultan of Turkey the scraps of bread, the refuse of meat and the odds and ends which they obtain by begging. Their homes are in a wild and bleak wilderness of mountain peaks and narrow, rocky valleys, where nothing will grow except a tuft of broom corn here and there in the crevices of the rocks on the mountain sides, and a few stalks of millet in a casual square yard or so of soil in the valleys.

It is not difficult to forecast the probable result of the starvation of this race of beggars should the report turn out to be correct. Driven desperate by hunger the people will endeavor to obtain food from Gavar and other outside districts, and there will be fights with the Turkish troops. The villages will possibly be attacked and some of the wretched people will be killed and no man can prophesy where the persecution will end.

I have just returned from a rapid journey to the Kurdish mountains for the purpose of investigating the report that fourteen villages had been attacked and devastated by a raid of Kurds last week. The original rumor had it that the Kurds had massacred many Christians, and had carried off women and girls to the mountains. After riding day and night to reach the scene of the raid, I at length arrived at the Merquiver valley, which lies like the bottom of a boat underneath huge mountains covered from base to summit with almost unbroken expanses of snow. It was in this valley that the raid took place. I found that a band of Kurds from the mountains had indeed raided fourteen villages in this valley; but the raid was directed against other Kurds and not against Christians. There were a few Nestorian Christians living in the valley, but they were not molested in any way. As this was not a race or a religious raid it will probably have little interest outside of the Merquiver valley.

I regret to say that Mr. Paton of the British general in Tebriz, Persia, is very much in disfavor with the gentlemen who are conducting the Armenian revolutionary movements. In spite of the fact that Mr. Paton has been collecting evidence of the Sassoun and Moosh massacres for the use of the British government, the Armenians look upon him as a spy. They may go to the length of doing him bodily harm. The closing of the caravan routes to Van has rendered more acute the suffering from famine in the devastated districts near Van. The only hope of relief is now cut off.

As to the fondness of the Kurd for raiding villages, a curious story is told. A certain mountain Kurd was outlawed by the predecessor of the present governor of Urormania. A short time ago this Kurd called on the governor and said that he desired to have the degree of outlawry revoked so that he might become a law-abiding citizen. He further asserted that he was constantly persecuted by the son of the governor who outlawed him. The present governor heard this petition and said that he would grant it on condition that the Kurd destroyed the villages which were the property of the persecuting son of the former governor. In the dead of night the governor awoke. His conscience smote him. Within half an hour, a messenger from the governor was galloping furiously through the night bearing a message to the Kurd to stay his hand. The message said that if the villages were destroyed, it would mean the destruction not only of the Kurd but of the governor himself. The Kurd had already begun his work and was hard at it when the outstaid messenger reached him on a horse that was almost dead from hard riding. This story may not be true; but, stranger things are every day facts in Asia. But the circumstantial evidence is peculiar. Baloolan was one of the villages doomed to destruction by the governor's bargain with the Kurdish outlaw, and the attack on Baloolan I described in a communication from this place something like eight days ago. After the attack on Baloolan the Kurds for some unexplained reason withdrew and have not since renewed hostilities. As far as circumstantial evidence goes, it seems to be clear enough for a case.

The western Christian who finds it difficult to believe this story should bear in mind that in Asia Minor a governor receives no salary, but on the contrary pays a large sum for the privilege of holding his office. He gets rich very rapidly by the exercise of methods, the ingenuity of which can be appreciated and understood only by a visit to the orient.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Commencement Week at Fairmont—The Annual Address. FAIRMONT, W. VA., June 9.—Commencement week at the State Normal School is here and the prospects are that an immensely large number of visitors from various parts of the state will be in town. Already many alumni of the institution have arrived.

Last night the annual address before the literary society was delivered by Hon. John T. Metcraw, of Grafton. It was an eloquent address and was listened to by a large and fashionable audience. To-day the baccalaureate was delivered by Rev. Dr. Brittingham, of Wheeling. Dr. Brittingham also preached at Christ church this evening.

FORGER HOUNDED UP

At Huntington—He is Wanted in Lima, Ohio, for his Mistake.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., June 9.—The young man who was going under the name of Clarence Book here, and who was arrested upon a telegram from Lima, Ohio, where he went under the name of J. O. Williams and uttered a lot of forged paper, was taken to that city last night by the sheriff. He begged the turnkey to let him escape and cried like a child. His forgeries at Lima netted him several hundred dollars.

"FRITZ" EMMETT'S PEEK.

While Crazed With Drink He Attempts to Murder His Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—J. K. Emmett, jr., the German dialect comedian, attempted to murder his wife last night, and was only prevented from executing his design by the forcible interference of neighbors. Emmett had been about town all day and in the evening returned home in a drunken condition. He and his wife had an altercation, and the woman fled from the house. Emmett pursued her into the street and fired a pistol at her at close range. Then he caught the unfortunate woman and beat her about the face with the butt end of the gun. Two young men pulled the maddened actor from his victim and turned him over to the police. Mrs. Emmett was taken to the receiving hospital, where she refused to allow her wounds to be examined. She had a violent attack of hysteria, and the surgeons could do nothing with her. She insisted she had not been shot, and said her husband was too big a coward to shoot her. There was a slight wound in her temple, and the police surgeon said the bullet glanced from the bone and lodged under the scalp.

Baby Sinnott, a child who plays with the Emmetts, made an heroic attempt to save Mrs. Emmett from her husband's wrath, but was thrown aside by the drink-crazed man. Emmett is in jail.

SUPREME COURT DENOUNCED

By Omaha Workingtons for Issuing Habeas Corpus in Debs' Case.

OMAHA, NEB., June 9.—A mass meeting of the workingtons of Omaha was held this evening to take action on the recent refusal by the supreme court to grant a writ of habeas corpus in the case of E. V. Debs. The hall was filled with workingtons, and speeches were made by August Bierman, Rev. Alex. E. Irvine and "General" Kelly, of industrial army renown. The following resolution, introduced by Kelly, was adopted:

Resolved, That we, the workingtons of Omaha, in mass meeting assembled, denounce the action of the court as arbitrary and unjust and calculated to destroy the confidence of the masses in the integrity of the judiciary of the United States.

Andree Winner of the Grand Prix Race.

PARIS, June 9.—The race for the Grand Prix of Paris, to-day was won by M. Edmond Blanc's Andree. Viscount d'Harcourt's Cherbourg was second and Baron M. de Schickler's La Sagittaire third. The race was witnessed by a large crowd of English and Americans, while political and social Paris did everything possible to make the event this year even more magnificent than during the past seasons.

President Faure shortly before 4 o'clock inspected the sixteen starters in the paddock, paying special attention to the general favorite, Oumium. The trial gallop took place at 4:03, Cherbourg showing up in good form. Betting on Andree was 16 to 1, Cherbourg 8 to 1, and La Sagittaire 12 to 1.

A Distressing Case.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—Among the one hundred clerks discharged from the pension bureau in a reduction of the force was a grand-daughter of Francis Scott Key, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner." From her salary she supported her mother, who is 80 years old, and blind.
