WHEELING, JULY 10, 1895.

Our Triumph on the Thames.

Three cheers for the American oarsmen, the Stars and Stripes and the Bird of Freedom! The Cornell boys have met the Leander crew and the Britishers are theirs. The triumph is not so pronounced, as it might be, but it is a fair triumph. Our boys went and the others did not.

The Leanders are supposed to be the strongest of all the crews entered in the regatta. They hold the challenge cup. In addition to this the American boys were suffering from malaria, supposed to be the result of the sharp atmospheric change to which they had been subjected.

Only last Saturday Courtney, the coach of the Cornell crew, admitted that he was discouraged. Five of his men were sick and the bounce was out of the whole of them. They suffered from pains in the limbs and drowsiness and their food did not nourish them. Courtney was so down in the mouth that he thought Cornell's chance was gone.

There will be two more rounds and the American boys may not beat all comers, but they have taken the first trick from the crew most dreaded. Certainly nobody can be more surprised than the English rowing sharps who have said that if Cornell, with a style condemned by all the authorities over there, could win, the British style of working a boat would have to be changed from the bottom up. They thought the Cornell method "quite preposterous." Now they must regard it as "extraordinary, most extraordinary," the more so as their own men would not start.

When our young athletes knock down a friendly foe in a fair contest of many sport we Americans have a right to be proud of them and to let the American Eagle shriek a regular Fourth of July shriek.

NEW YORK may be drier than usual on Sundays, but still it is not a veritable Sahara on first days. Not one person has been found dead of thirst.

The Newport Swim.

Newspapers that dwell much on such things, magazines, journals of polite literature and of social doings, are giving up much of their space to Newport. By this is meant, of course, not the Newport that lives as other people live, that toils for its daily bread and finds it hard to make ends meet.

The Newport that attracts so much attention and furnishes topics for a great deal of high-flown writing is the Newport of the summer season, that toils not and spins only along the beautiful drives, that has money to burn and goes to the Rhode Island resort once a year to get rid of some of it.

To read about these people and their doings, their exclusiveness, the eagerness of rich outsiders to break into the fashionable set, the councils held on them before they are let in, the unceremonious way in which some persons are bundled out before they are well in—to see all this dished up with seriousness almost makes one think that these are crowned heads that are being written about.

The suggestion is thrown out that these people do not like to be written about, and would much prefer to be let alone. The probability is that if they were left out of the public prints they would no longer enjoy life at Newport. What is the use of being "rich beyond the dreams of avarice," of scattering money like haysced, of doing things which ordinary mortals cannot do, if the rest of the world is to know nothing of it all?

Fashionable Newport cannot fool us common mortals. It enjoys so well the publicity it gets that if it could get it no other way it would pay for it at so much a line.

IT seems that there is to be no prince of the house of Grover, but the princesses come along all right.

Blackburn's Queer Campaigning.

Senator Blackburn, according to the Louisville Courier-Journal, continues to make silver speeches, in spite of the Democratic convention's endorsement of the financial policy of the administration. What is more, he says that as long as he remains in the senate he will advocate the cause of free silver.

It can hardly be that Senator Blackburn expects this kind of campaigning to help the free silver candidate for governor who stands on a sound money platform. The administration men would be less than human if they did not resent it and impair seriously the harmony of things.

But Senator Blackburn, probably with a merry twinkle up his sleeve, tells his fellow Democrats how to ease conscience in the distressing predicament in which their convention has placed them: "If you can't vote for the candidate vote for the platform and let the candidate alone; if you can't vote for the platform vote for the candidate and let the platform alone."

If this mock campaigning does not leave the Democracy of Kentucky on the short end of the balloting it would seem to be useless for the Republicans to try again. No wonder that Senator Blackburn has received an official invitation to quit talking.

MONEY will not induce a native Alaskan to work on the Fourth of July. It is plain that the native Alaskan is not sufficiently Americanized.

An Opening for the New Woman.

Mr. Depew continues to deny that he is engaged to marry or that he wishes to marry, but he throws out a feeler by giving an outline plan of the woman he would marry if he were to marry at all. He would not seek a rich woman, in fact he would prefer a poor woman. She must be noted for her intellectual capacity and must have accomplished something in the world.

It is evident that this genial man wants no chit of a thing, for that sort of person has not been long enough in the world to accomplish anything. Nor would a mere butterfly of fashion be to his taste. He sees a great deal of that sort of woman and knows how insipid she is.

The intellectual woman who has accomplished something in the world can be none other than the new woman. While the wits and the witless have been making fun of her this great man has had his eye on her in a general way and the arms of his love are ready to compass her, if they compass anybody.

Let not the new woman despair. The woman who catches Chauncey M. Depew will be able to congratulate herself on having landed one of the biggest of all the fish in the great matrimonial sea.

"CORNELL! I Yell! Yell! Yell! Cornell!" You may bet your last American dollar that the boys made the welkin ring at Henley-on-Thames.

Council and the Fire Department.

The chief of the fire department is held responsible for the efficiency of his department. He nominates men to fill positions under him, and council confirms or rejects. This has been the practice. Council has not been in the habit of selecting the men to serve as the chief's subordinates, and it is a mistake for council to begin to do that now. There is no surer way to upset discipline and demoralize the fire department.

The efficiency of Wheeling's fire department is a just matter of pride. The chief and his men make it so. What hold can the chief have on his men if council is to strip him of authority justified by experience? They were badly advised who thought this the way to conduct the fire department. Moreover, it would not have commanded the approval of the people.

Fortunately council has not agreed with the committee, which doubtless did not weigh the matter carefully before taking its wrong step. Council is to be congratulated for refusing to be misled into bad business, and the committee now has a chance to redeem itself.

THE growing corn bows its acknowledgements to the gentle showers and invites them to come oftener.

Silly Politics.

The suggestion made through the Register that Democrats will vote against the loan ordinance because of the tilt of Republican councilmen with the chief of the fire department, is a thought worthy of the silly reason. Democratic administration made the situation which requires more money.

It is a loan or a levy. Council thought a loan the best. If the people prefer an increased tax levy to dig the city out of the hole duz by Democrats, a levy it will have to be. At the same time the connection is not apparent between the appointment of a fireman and the proposed new loan.

THERE are indications of a dreary split in the free silver forces in Ohio, Coxey going one way and the rest of them going the other.

HON. MATT W. RANSOM, our minister to Mexico, reminds us that "good Mexican labor commands only seventeen cents a day in American money." Mexico is a free silver country. According to the free silver champions wages in Mexico should be twice as high as in this country. Every time their theory is confronted with a fact that fits it a hole is punched in the theory.

Those Pardons.

Charleston Evening Mail.

When the time arrives in West Virginia when a man is to be pursued, assaulted and almost murdered because he happens to change his political convictions, and then the assailants to be secured immunity from punishment, it will be time then for the red flag of anarchy to be unfurled and chaos to reign.

Petty Exercise of Power.

Parkersburg State Journal.

The two men were tried before a Democratic judge. There were more Democrats than Republicans on the jury. There never was a fairer trial. The sentence was not excessive. Sixty days in jail was mild punishment for their offense. But the governor rushed to their defense and pardoned them by telegraph. It was an ill-considered and petty exercise of pardoning power.

HARPER'S FERRY BOOMING.

A Big Hotel Enterprise—Iron Mines to be Opened.

Harper's Ferry Sentinel.

All the necessary arrangements have been made for the building of one of the finest, as well as largest, hotels in this part of the country, on Maryland Heights, opposite Harper's Ferry. The land has been surveyed and bought by a company at the head of which is Col. Charles F. Thompson, who is general manager of the Bakerton, Engle's Switch, Martinsburg and Buckeystown, Md., lime kilns, also the Kearneysville Stone Crushing Company, and a stockholder in many other large enterprises.

This building will be situated on one of the finest points for a hotel that can be found in the whole country. The building alone costing half-million dollars and all the improvements will cost a round million dollars.

Arrangement are now being made to reach the Heights by railroad, cutting through the gap at Gapland, which will avoid heavy grades and save much time. And with this, combined with the unexcelled scenery, there will be no place on the globe to equal it as a summer resort.

Colonel Thompson, who is a great oil dealer, is here preparatory to launching one of the biggest enterprises ever known in these parts.

He has leased several tracts of land on the Loudoun side, opposite Harper's Ferry and will form a company of New York capitalists who will be here at an early date and will then complete arrangements with the stock company with a capital of $100,000.

Inexhaustable quantities of magnetic steel ore is found on these lands. It has been analyzed and is said to register 89 per cent, the finest ore in this part of the country for the manufacture of steel.

This company will commence operations at once.

WEST VIRGINIA POETESS.

The Meritorious Work of Miss Frankie R. Moore.

Weston Democrat.

The Weston Democrat occasionally publishes poems written by Frankie R. Moore. They contain real poetry, and genuine merit, and in stating this we claim to be a fairly good judge of such matters. Who is the writer? Give us a sketch of her career. We will publish one of her poems—"Vanquished Joys" —next week.—Clarksburg Tribune.

She is the daughter of Judge C. P. T. Moore, of Mason county, for many years a member of the supreme court of appeals of this state and himself a gentleman of recognized literary ability, who, in connection with Dr. Letterman, founded the celebrated Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, whose membership includes many distinguished literary graduates in every state. She was educated by private tutors at home and at Mt. de Chantal seminary, near Wheeling, since which time she has occasionally engaged in literary endeavor for the pleasure it affords her. Her verses, which are characterized by a high degree of merit, have frequently appeared in periodicals in West Virginia and Ohio and have elicited very complimentary eulogiums. They have a true and poetic ring.

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

Conditions Favorable Throughout the Country—Outlook for Spring Wheat.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The weather bureau, in its review of crop conditions for the week ended July 8, says:

The temperature conditions of the week have been generally favorable throughout the country, but the northern and central portions of the cotton region have suffered from excessive rains, while drought conditions in Michigan and Minnesota have been intensified. Northern New York, central Ohio and eastern Iowa are also suffering from drought.

Corn has made rapid growth during the week and except in Michigan, the general outlook for this crop is excellent. Arkansas reports the largest crop in years and in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri the outlook is most promising.

The general outlook for spring wheat continues flattering. Winter wheat harvest is practically completed and threshing continues general. Some damage to wheat in shock has been caused by heavy rains in Maryland, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. Tobacco is growing well in Kentucky and the crop is uneven; in Maryland it is in excellent condition, and in Ohio it has improved, except in the central part of the state, where it is suffering from drought.

Returned to Work.

CANTON, O., July 9.—The striking employes of the Canton Steel Company returned to work this morning with a general increase in wages of 12½ per cent, to effect all departments engaged in the strike. About 275 were involved in the strike.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

When the Declaration of Independence asserted man's right to this, it enunciated an immortal truth. The bilious sufferer is on the road to happiness when he begins to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most efficacious regulator of the liver in existence. Equally reliable is it in chills and fever, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney trouble and nervousness. Use it regularly, and not at odd intervals.

THE Pan-Handle Dyeing establishment, owned by John Heilmeier, at No. 1431 Market street, is the best equipped house of its kind in Wheeling. In addition to the dyeing and cleaning departments a corps of first-class tailors are employed, who can do repairing as neat as it is possible. Clothes and ladies' garments, cleaned or dyed, can be made to look like new. Satisfaction guaranteed.

CHIPPEWA LAKE Pleasure Resort and Picnic Grounds on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railway is now open for the season. Please consult local agents for rates and train arrangement.

WE recommend De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure because we believe it a safe and reliable remedy. It's good effects are shown at once in cases of Cholera Morbus and similar complaints. Logan Drug Co., Wheeling, W. Va., B. F. Peabody, Benwood, and Bowie & Co., Bridgeport, O.

YOUTHFUL MURDERERS.

One a Girl of Thirteen and the Other a Boy of Eighteen.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., July 9.—Mrs. Levi Pierce, aged sixty, who lived two miles south of Berlin, Ottawa county, was murdered yesterday morning, and her daughter, May Pierce, aged thirteen, and her grandson, George Keesbro, aged eighteen, are now in jail at Grand Haven, awaiting examination.

Mr. Pierce went to the field to work as usual, leaving his wife and May and George at home. At about 10 o'clock May came running to him across the fields, yelling that her ma was dead. Pierce ran to the house and found a horrible state of affairs.

On the floor beside the kitchen stove was Mrs. Pierce's dead body. The chin was horribly gashed, the teeth were knocked out, and the neck was black and bruised, as if she had been choked to death. There were evidences of a terrible struggle. At the inquest, owing to the contradictory stories told by George Keesbro, and his evident desire to avert suspicion from himself and turn it towards a mythical tramp, Keesbro was arrested and taken to the Grand Haven jail last night.

To-day further investigation led to the girl, May, also being taken to jail. It is believed that Keesbro did the killing, and that the little girl knows all about it, and perhaps assisted in the murder.

DEBS' SENTENCE.

He Will Only Serve Six Months—Judge Woods Reinstates His Former Order.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Judge Woods to-day reinstated his former order making concurrent the sentences of Eugene V. Debs and other officials of the American Railway Union. As a result Debs will serve but six months in jail and his associates but three months. The men were convicted on two charges and in each Debs received a six months' jail sentence and the other defendants were given three months each, sentences being made concurrent. In order to take the case to the supreme court, Debs' attorneys had the sentences separated and when the appeal was refused it left the prisoners under the double sentence, with a prospect of a year in jail for Debs and six months for each of the order railway railway union officers. The defendants' attorneys then petitioned for a reinstatement of the former order, the petition being granted by Judge Woods' story.

AMBASSADOR EUSTIS ROASTED.

Foreign Papers Say He Is Guilty of a Breach of Diplomatic Etiquette.

LONDON, July 9.—Mr. H. de Blowitz, the famous Parisian correspondent, commenting in the London Times today upon the alleged interview with the United States Ambassador to France, Mr. James B. Eustis, published yesterday in the Figaro, said that such an interview evidently constituted a new departuse in diplomacy. In reference to the utterances imputed to Mr. Eustis regarding Canada, Mr. de Blowitz said it would be difficult to believe that the ambassador represented a friendly nation.

Several of the Paris newspapers also comment to-day on the alleged interview.

The Estafette says that in it Mr. Eustis admitted that the United States supported Japan against France, Russia and Germany, Canada against England, and Cuba against Spain, and that the United States has ambitious commercial ideas respecting Madagascar. All these acts and plans, the Estafette comments, "are contradictory of the professions of the Monroe doctrine and, combined with their apparent forgetfulness of our former fraternal relations, compels us to anticipate that future will be darkened by disputes and misunderstandings."

The Libre Parole also severly criticises Mr. Eustis, and, accepting the Figaro interview as genuine, says that the American ambassador has committed a breach of the laws of hospitality.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,
