THE INTELLIGENCER PRINTING

ONE CENT JOURNALISM

ONE CENT JOURNALISM

And Its Resultia-ii Caiers to Low Tasies to Tarive.

New York Post: There is an intereating account in Cosmopolis of the origin of the one-cent paper. It was Emlie Girardin who started the downward movement in 1838, when he established the Presse at forty france a year.
Some comment on the enterprise by Armand Carrel in the National led to the famous duel with Girardin, in which Carrel was killed, for Girardin had replied sharply and threatened, as our journalists do occasionally, to publish the biographies of various editors. But he disclaimed all idea of doing anything more by selling his paper cheap than making money, and he made it, differing in this from our one-cent editors, who sell for a cent not to make money, but ne disciaimed all idea of doing anything more by selling his paper cheap than making money, and he made it, differing in this from our one-cent editors, who sell for a cent not to make money, but to increase their power. Jules Simon, one of the oldest, if not the oldest, of French journalists, who writes the article in the Cosmopolis, commenting on the enormous change wrought in journalism by the one-cent movement, points out that no money can be made at that price by mere circulation; that it is the advertisements drawn by the circulation which supply the profits. To the advertiser, says he, "it is of no importance that you are listened to by diplomats, studied by financiers, discussed by the newspapers of every party. The only thing the advertiser cares about is the number of your readers; it is your publicity that he buys. You are therefore obliged on pain of bankrupicy or cn pain of death, to make large sales in order to make large sales of a penny paper—that is, a paper which goes to workingmen, furnace-men, messengers, and so forth—what do you need to be? A savant? No. Wise, tar-seeins, rational? By no means. Rationality is tiresome. It is passion which dominates; it is seandal which attracts and holds; it is hatred which is contagious; it is folly which excites the imagination. It is to whatever is silly and dangerous and unwholesome that such a journal must address itself, because instead of receiving from on high the manna of life, it is obliged to go down low, very low, and how! with the wolves and flatter all bad passions in order simply to live."

wolves and flatter all oan plasanism order simply to live.

This is a pretty black picture, and yet no one can deny its substantial accuracy. Still, there are countervailing considerations. One is that, considered as property, the most successful scandalous papers are not as sure as the soberer ones at higher price. There is no more stable property in the world to-day than the London Times, which is absolutely free from the faults described by M. Simon. A share in the Times is to-day as sure a possession as consols or Bank of England stock. So that, as a rule, in deciding what kind of paper you will establish, you have to choose between stability and very large profits. The competition between the scandalous papers is everywhere very great, and their success, therefore, in apt to be ephemeral. The supply of men fit to conduct such papers is large. Even if it does not run the older competitors out of the field, it cuts into their circulation, and may any day "get a beat" on a crime of scandal which would run up the sales by tens of thousands. This makes the profits very precarious; one day the owner is roilling in millions, a year later he is borrowing on mortgage. He never gets a permanent public of his own. The editor is, as Tocqueville pointed out, a man bawling out a window to a crowd in the street which is continually moving, and can be stopped only by something siartling.

Another thing which prepares his decay is the necessity of inventing, which in this market the competition makes inevitable. It is impossible to keep ahead of rivals all the time with real sensations. The professional liar has, therefore, sooner or later to be called in, and he goes the other fellow "one better," and although his public Hies scandal, it prefers it real. A nasty thing actually happened is worth two products of a nasty imagination. When this begins, the competitors shout "fake" and offer rewards for his exposure, and then there is a furious controversy over the question who of the lots of the shindy probably a new competit

Los Angeles is but twenty-two miles away, and the people come here in numbers during the hot season. It is a sort of Atlantic City resort for the residents of nearby places. Los Angeles has grown to be a large city, with an "oil field" in its limits. It is one of the chief interests and a sight to see, There are about 200 derricks standing, the wells yielding about ten to fifty barrels perday, by pumping, of a black oil of asphalt base. It is only used for fuel and is said to be cheap for steam making. It can only be used with steam. About 2,000 barrels are used in Los Angeles perday, by pumping, of a black oil of asphalt base. It is only used for fuel and is said to be cheap for steam making. It can only be used with steam. About 2,000 barrels are used in Los Angeles per day. Being too heavy for pipe lines it is hanled about in large tank wagons. Some of the railroad engines burn the oil for fuel. The wells are about 1,000 feet deep, and no dusters where wells are kept within the prescribed limits. Derricks in some cases are as close as ten feet from one to the other.

The "city of the angels" flourishes from the tourist trade. There is little else for it to flourish on. There is a good deal of wealth here, and many fine homes, but it is not a place for a poor man. There are but few industries to employ labor. Building is possibly the most prosperous, but it must have an end, so far as its present coal, from Australia costing 3700 to 311 00 per ton, not equal to that mined at Wheeling. The country is agricultural and horficultural, very productive where water can be had cheaply, has an unapproachable climate, and is a delightful country to live in, but the "comer" should have money, liverything is of the latest and all new things are tried. The electric cars on some lines have air brakes and whistles. The lines have air brakes and whistles. The lines have air brakes and whistles. The lines have

MARCH ON DORGOLA.

Great Britain's Advance on the Mahdi's Forces-Strength of Dervishes.

CAIRO, March 22.—Nows from the front received her to-day confirms the report that the British-Egyptian advance guard, under Major Collinson, occupied Askaheh on Friday without opposition. A fort is now being britt at that place. This force consists of 1,290 men, of whom 500 are cavalry.

The Egyptian debt commission met to-day, to discuss the question of the withdrawal of funds from the reserve, with which to defray the expenses of the British-Egyptian expedition up the Nile, but owing to the illness of the German commissioner the meeting was adjourned until Thuraday.

LONDON,March 22.—The main Egyp-

The march upon Dongola will depend upon the strength of the dervishes, who are concentrating there. Doubtful reports place their number at 10,000.

The Army Intelligence Department possess only the most vague information regarding the strength of the Mahdists, Military experts distrust the eatimates made by Slatin Pacha. These consider that a report made by the Russian traveler Eliselef, recently elected a member of the Russian Geographical Society, is more reliable than that of Slatin Pacha. He says that the Khalfa's force numbers 40,000 men, including 10,000 cavalry and camelry. They possess 100,000 rilles, of which 20,000 are Remingtons really lif for service. The artillery is poor. There are twenty guns at Dongola and five Krupp and ten siege guns at Omdurman.

A correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette states that the dervishes are now able to deliver a deadly fire. They will combine European tactics with the formidable onsets of cavalry and specramen in the old style. The correspondent declares that the British factics of forming squares and awaiting the shock of battle will not do now in fighting the dervishes, and if they are followed will result in rout and ruin. The consensus of military opinion is that if a reconquest of the Soutan is intended, a picked force of British and Indian troops 20,000 strong will be necessary.

Russia for Prance.

Russia for Prance.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 21—
France will certainly have the support of Russia in whatever policy she chooses to adopt in Egypt. The Novost calls for the neutrality of Egypt under the guarantee of the European governments. The Viedomosti will not be long before she speaks, and when she does, she will have the support of those with whom political honesty is not an empty term.

The feeling here against England and Germany is bitterly expressed.

DIVORCE FOR MRS. DRAYTON.

It is Granted on the Ground of Desertion.

Queer Verdict.

TRENTON, N. J., March 22.—Chancellor McGill this morning filed a decree granting an absolute divorce to Mrs. Charlotte Augusta Drayton, on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Drayton is the daughter of the late William Astor. None of the evidence taken in the case is on file in the chancery clerk's office, all being in the possession of Chancellor McGill. In the beginning the decree says:

"It is impossible to escape the conviction that the defendant's suspicions of his wife's infidelity were not destitute of foundation, in questionable circumstances at least, but I fall to find any judicial precedent, which holds that under a statute similar to that of this state, a husband may with impunity be guilty of desertion of his wife merely because he believes her, even under gravely suspicious circumstances, to have been guilty of adultery."

The chancelor, finds that there was no collusion on the part of the husband and wife to secure a divorce, and says that the mere fact that both desired to be divorced, does not constitute collusion. There must be an agreement.

The Sharp, Intense Agony of Neuralgia - Immediate Relief

The Wenderful Works of a Wonderful Remedy-Lightning liot Drops as a Pain

Nearly everyone knows the peculiarly keen, lancingting pains of neuralgia. Authorities say it is the most intensely paintul nervous malady known. Yet, neuralgia may be cured, and cured satisfacts.

neuralgia may be cured, and cured puickly.

Mrs. J. M. Fields, 856 Colfax street, Toledo, O., says: "I tried Lightning Hot Drops for neuralgia. The cessation of pain was almost instantaneous. I am well pleased with the remedy."

The important thing is to follow directions carefully; read sheet around bottle and proceed accordingly. The severest cases have been cured in ten minutes. Other aches and pains can be cured as quickly. Mr. Louis Samuels, of Scott afreet, Youngstown, O., states; "I had violent pains, caused by disorders of the stomach, and Lightning Hot Drops cured me when other remedies failed."

New Jersey Central, Kansas & Texas preferred received special mention. The trading in the forenoon was apathetic, but in the late session, the market became animited at the expense of values. The closing was steady, at the improvements noted, but with sharp net losses general as a result of the day's operations.

Business in bonds was restricted and the market developed heaviness in sympathy with the stock speculation. The aggregate dealings were $773,000. Governments were irregular, within a narrow range, on dealings of $14,000. Government bonds irregular. State bonds inactive. Railroad bonds weak.

The total sales of stocks to-day were 172,425 shares.

Evening Post's London financial cablegram:

The stock markets were idle to-day. Americans were good, but merely reflected New York advices so there is no initiative here.

The Berlin market was quiet, but steady and the Paris market weak on the aspect of Egyptian affairs.
