Real Estate Transfers.

The following transaction in real estate was recorded in Clerk Hook's office yesterday. Deed made April 6, 1896, by the United States Glass Company, for $1 and other valuable considerations for the glass making plant known as the Central glass works. This is nothing more than a re-transfer of the company's works which were sold to the United States Company some years ago.

Floating Bethel Services.

For some days past religious services have been in progress on a boat called the Floating Bethel, moored directly above the Island ferry landing. Rev. Randall, the well-known evangelist, has been conducting the meetings, and has been quite successful in his work, attracting many persons to the exercises who could be reached in no other way. This evening Rev. Randall will extend his field by visiting the city workhouse and addressing the inmates confined there.

Only One in the State.

Some time ago the manufacturers of brown salters, of Baltimore, offered a number of prizes to druggists all over the country handling their article making the largest sales. Mr. Charles Goetze, proprietor of the pharmacy at the corner of Market and Twelfth streets, received notice yesterday that he had been awarded one of the prizes, and was the only druggist in the state of West Virginia who had. Also that only one druggist in Pittsburgh, received a higher award than he was entitled to. All of which is quite a compliment to Mr. Goetze.

Electric Light Plant Incorporated.

Yesterday the Dillon, Wheat & Hancher Electric Company filed their certificate of incorporation, issued by the secretary of state, in Clerk Hook's office. The certificate authorizes them to deal in electrical machines, instruments and appliances, also to carry on the business of generating and supplying electricity for heating and lighting purposes. The capital subscribed is $500, and the company has the privilege of increasing it by sales of additional stock to $250,000. The shares are $100 each. The incorporators are: I. G. Dillon, A. A. Wheat, C. N. Hancher, E. T. Albert and J. M. Westling. The company now occupies with light and business houses in the half block bounded by Twelfth, Market and Main streets.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB

Of Ohio County will hold a Rousing Meeting Thursday Night.

On Thursday evening of this week, the Ohio County Republican Club will hold a meeting at which the delegates to the late meeting of the West Virginia League of Republican Clubs at Charleston, will make a very interesting report, not the least agreeable feature of which will be an account of the triumph of an Ohio county club member, Mr. John W. Kindelberger, in his fight for the secretaryship of the league. The meeting will be held at the usual place, Old Fellows' hall, and it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance of members and Republicans generally. Although the club is already very strong in membership, it is desired that every Republican shall contribute to the success of the meeting and get in the fold.

STUPIDITY OF EMPLOYEES

Of the City Gas Board in Needlessly Destroying Trees.

Lately there has been some complaint of the stupidity exhibited on the part of employees of the city gas board in needlessly mutilating and in some instances destroying trees whose growth interfered with the system of city electric light wires. Yesterday, two linemen practically destroyed the fine shade trees of a Fourteenth street resident by cutting off the limbs and branches that were not within ten feet of the electric light wires, and in no way interfering with the wires. Such stupidity is without the shadow of excuse. The property owner in question threatens to sue the linemen for this act.

In this connection it is not amiss to quote the city ordinance that governs the matter, the portion of its title being "An ordinance to preserve from destruction or injury, fences, trees, etc." The two sections that apply are as follows:

Section 2. It shall also be unlawful for any person without authority from the owner thereof or from some authorized agent of such owner; to cut down, mutilate, deface, tear down, destroy or injure, any fence, tree, shrub, plant, building or other structure lawfully upon the land of another in said city.

Any person offending against the ordinance in this respect shall be liable to a fine of $5 to $20, or for imprisonment for not to exceed thirty days.

THE U. S. COURT.

An Amusing Case Tried Before Judge Jackson Yesterday.

ACCUSED AND ACCUSER RELATE

Stories that Differ Widely—The Accuser Gives Mr. Atkinson all He Can Attend to—A Hung Jury in the Freeland Case Causes a Continuance—Sweeney Not Sentenced Yesterday—Other Business Transacted.

Morning and afternoon sessions of the United States circuit court were held yesterday, Judge John J. Jackson presiding. Considerable business of minor importance was transacted. The unique and amusing character of some of the witnesses in the Nutter liquor law violation case, heard in the afternoon, was a feature.

The first case of the morning session was that of the United States against James Freeland, of Hundred, Freeland conducts a saloon at Hundred, a little town on the Baltimore and Ohio road, and is accused of selling beer and whiskey at his residence, which is located one-half mile from his saloon. Freeland entered a plea of "not guilty" and testimony was heard, the accused being represented by Hon. G. W. Atkinson. The case went to the jury at the conclusion of the morning session, but when at 2 o'clock yesterday had not rendered a verdict the jury reported it had been unable to agree. The case was then continued to the next term of court in Wheeling, Freeland being released on his own recognizance. Mr. Atkinson wished to have the charge dismissed, but to this the district attorney would not agree.

The next case was also an alleged violation of the revenue liquor selling law. J. Nutter, of Marion county, near Fairmont, was accused of selling whiskey to his neighbors without the formality of first securing a United States retail license—an act of licensees that caused "Charlie" Wells' minions to descend upon him recently. His accuser is James Hefflin, a young man of nineteen summers, who is charged by the defendant with never having "put in a day's work" for him. Hefflin indignantly denies the truth of this accusation and says the shoe fits on the other man's foot—Nutter, by the way, is a shoemaker.

Atkinson represented Nutter, and Assistant District Attorney Stewart Walker was Uncle Sam's right hand man. Some of the testimony was very amusing. Nutter charges his accuser, Hefflin, with being a genuine "good-for-nothing" individual; says he came over to his "back yard" recently and knocked down his bean pole, which was doing duty as an upright for his wife's clothes line. On another occasion, says he saw Hefflin in a gray suit, also an ear. Mr. Atkinson brought out these weak spots in the prosecution's case very neatly. Incidentally, Messrs. Atkinson and Walker became engaged in a little cross-fire of their own. When the accused spoke of "skiffs," "bat-teaus" and "push boats," the able district attorney seemed to be altogether at sea, which was surprising, as these are only in use on "bar" craft, and are of great importance in the river and harbor bill in hand.

That boy Hefflin possesses enough assurance to place him in the presidential line, but he is nervous for anything. He "sassed" West Virginia's next governor in great shape during the cross-examination. The crowd became so boisterous at times that Judge Jackson had to rap for order.

"Is it true you never worked?" asked Mr. Atkinson.

"You just bet it ain't," was the ready response of young Hefflin. "See these here hands? Bet you can't show up anything like 'em."

An investigation of the boy's hands showed that he was indeed a horny-handed son of labor.

"Let me see the inside of those fists," said the lawyer.

"That's all right. Let's see yours." (Laughter.)

He got his "hands" while "grubbing a little patch of three or four acres out home."

When Mr. Atkinson expressed doubt as to the "grubbing" story, the young man got very excited and quite indignant, and remarked that it would be a good thing if some lawyers would do a little "grubbing." If Mr. Atkinson was open to a rural engagement he could get him a job at $150 a day. This, of course, brought down the house in great shape.

The case went to the jury at 5 o'clock and a verdict of "not guilty" was soon brought in. Nutter was then discharged from custody.

Mr. Atkinson called the attention of the court to the fact that one, Robert Campbell, who is charged with threatening a government witness, has been confined in jail for twenty days, has admitted substantially all the charges against him, but has an explanation that puts his action in a more favorable light. The lawyer wanted the matter heard by Judge Jackson. This had not been done at yesterday's session, however.

United States Marshal Charles E. Wells has appointed D. W. Frampton of Huntington, a deputy marshal in place of E. E. Cole, of Huntington, resigned. Frampton is a good man, who has had experience in work of this character.

Yesterday morning, on motion of the district attorney, the cases of the government against Wheeling and other dealers, for selling "oleo" without a United States government license, were continued until the next term of the circuit court in this city.

Yesterday, Judge Jackson appointed James Ewing of Wheeling, a master in chancery.

WOMAN'S CAUSE.

Meeting of the Women's Equality Club. Many Interesting Subjects Discussed. Aims and Objects of the Organization. The Women's Political Equality Club, the organization of which was effected some time ago, has engaged for their place of meeting, Mrs. Ziegenfelder's parlors, and from now on they hope to increase in membership as well as accomplish some practical good. At first the women of the city who were heartily in sympathy with the objects of the society were somewhat timid about connecting themselves with an organization that was so sure to draw public attention to its character. But after attending a few of the sessions, and making themselves familiar with the spirit and aim of the club, they soon became the most enthusiastic of the membership.

On Monday evening the club met at the Ziegenfelder parlors, with a large attendance present. On the first Monday of each month the meetings are open to the public, at which everybody is cordially welcomed. The meetings on the second and fourth Monday of each month are for the purpose of study, including the live questions of the day, civil government, political economy, general political, congressional and legislative affairs.

At Monday evening's meeting local and social problems, and financial and labor topics were discussed, besides the latest phase of foreign news, and, last, but not least in importance, woman suffrage. It was the custom to have one member of the club appointed at a previous meeting to open the discussion in a five minute speech, after which general discussion among those present followed. The subject of woman suffrage was not unusual interest, and the number who participated in the discussion following the opening remarks was most gratifying and encouraging to the founders of the society, showing that the interest in its objects was increasing instead of flagging.

The society has now a membership of thirty, among whom are some of the most influential women of the city in social and public circles. Qualification for membership by the way, is not confined to sex, men in sympathy with the cause being admitted, and, in fact, their presence is desired. As yet, however, no man has had the temerity to appear at the club. The committees of the society prepare the programmes for each meeting and attend to all other matters pertaining to the systematic conduct of its affairs. Dr. E. H. Jones is the accomplished president of the club.

A very important and interesting programme has been arranged for the next meeting, which will be the discussion of the government of cities and city charters, and special attention will be given to the proposed new charter for Wheeling. The club has already appointed a committee to appear before the body having in charge the framing of the new charter, and the women are personally interested in some of its features they propose to be heard in the matter and make their influence felt. At the coming session the amount of taxes paid on property owned by women in this city will also be brought up for comment and discussion. The society certainly is not wanting in subjects or matters of business and personal interest for discussion. The educational advantages of a connection with the club are very desirable—by which is meant the interchange of views and a familiarization with matters that would not be brought to the notice of women through any other medium.

James Reilly Coming.

The last three days of this week there comes to the Grand Opera House an actor who has won fame on the stage and in the arena of the world in Wheeling. It is James A. Reilly, the well known German comedian, and he will present during his stay here, which lasts three nights, his two best plays, "A German Soldier" and "The Bremen Maker." The former will be given Thursday and Friday evenings, and the latter on Saturday afternoon and evening. Both plays are put on in excellent shape by a company which includes Miss May and Mr. Reilly's two clever children. Seats are on sale at the box office.

The New Order of Things

Is making an impression. Everybody is glad that there is one store that eschews the Cheap. Trusting to quality and not price-marks. Out of this policy has grown the better store. Out of your approval of it has grown the greater business. Figures are frail reeds. Lean on them alone and you'll sink in the mire of dissatisfaction. We quote the lowest for worth, always have, always will. Our buying power dictates terms, absorbs opportunity, attracts quality QUALITY—that's the foundation; that's our stock in trade. The prosperity of the present throws its strong light down the avenues of time, revealing a future of greater success. We'll keep on as we're growing—we're on the right track.

Men's Suits.

Where to begin is thoughtful food. Where does quality begin? That's our starting point. It's $10 most everywhere—so it's $8 with us—all wool fabrics—careful making and perfect fitting. $10 and $10.98—we are selling lots of these $10 and $10.98 Suits this season. They must be exceptional values. There are thirty-five styles to be suited from. The work in these suits is not put into the $15 grade even by the average manufacturer, but he doesn't care—we do. We could rest on the laurels in our $15 grade and still be leaders. There's $20 worth in every suit in it. We were ploughing for opportunity and struck a lead—found we could do better than the thought we could—kept on till here we are—$15 for the everywhere else $20. Judge when you see them.

Boys' Clothing.

Anything good enough for a boy. Will you take that attitude towards your boy and so cut him off from one of the manliest of virtues—personal pride, not conceit. It honest and fine conversation is good for him, why not nice, tasty and honest clothes? Does he not at his young and eager age absorb the character of the surroundings more than he will ever again in this life? Shall we surround him with honest and stylish clothes?—we will help you by selling good clothes cheaper than anybody else—any style, any size, any price—
