TRADES ASSEMBLY

An Interesting Meeting of Labor

WILL OPPOSE THE CHARTER

By all the Means in Their Power-An Advisory Board Named-Mr. W. J. Hodley Scored for 11ts Action on the Committee. Breezy Discussion on the Selection of s Labor Paper-A Delegate Wanted the Intelligencer Representative Excluded From the Assembly.

A regular meeting of the Ohlo Valley Trades and Labor Assembly held yesterday afternoon. President M. F. Tighe occupied the chair and secretary J. C. Boes was at the desk. There was a small attendance of delegates. Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and accepted. The following new delegates were admit-

A delegate of the stonemasons' union objected to the admission of the delegates because the laws of the two organizations conflict, but President Tighe ruled that as the stonecutters gantzations conflict, but President Tighe ruled that as the stonecutiers have a charter from their parent body, they were entitled to representation in the assembly.

A delegate wanted to know what had become of the application of the assembly to the Wheeling Rallway Company for cheaper street railway fares for the working people, but the committee to which the matter had been referred, could give the assembly no light. Another delegate wanted the assembly's voting strength thrown against certain candidates who are on the street railway board of directors. No action was taken, aithough there was an extended discussion.

President Tighe reported the proceedings of the general charter committee. He claimed his position in the committee was the occasion for opposition by the majority. He reported having submitted the several resolutions advocated by the assembly, which had been incorporated in the charter, without, however, making the provisions law. The charter merely gives council power to pass ordinances in accordance with the resolutions. At Saturday night's meeting the board of public safety clause, upon which the assembly has stood steadily in opposition, was passed, by a vote of 8 to 3. According to the assembly instructions he had withdrawn from the meeting of the committee when the board of public safety clause had been adopted. Mr. Tighe's report was received and accepted.

President Tighe introduced the fol-lowing resolutions, which were adopt-rules and instructiona is one of the most important tenets. Resolved, That as W. J. Bodley, one of our representatives on the charter committee violated the trust reposed in him by not only voting against the in-structions of this assembly, but antag-onized his colleague at the same time; he it Resolved. cessor to him be requested to be elected by his local.

There was a heated discussion on the resolution in which a number of delegates took part. One delegate favored tabling the resolution as it would have the effect of dividing the desembly strength in opposition to the new city charter. Most of the delegates who spoke, however, jumped on Mr. Bodley rough shoul and it was seen the sentiment of the meeting was greatly in favor of the resolutions. Finally a motion to adopt the resolution was put and passed, with but one dissenting vote. The committee was then discharged.

and passed, with but one dissenting wate. The committee was then discharged.

A delegate reported that the public library will place on file two-labor journals. When it came to the selection of two papers there was a very lively discussion and much time was wasted in doing nothing.

Among other papers, it was suggested that the National Labor Tribune, of Pittsburgh, be named, President Tight opposed this step, and was pressed for his reasons by Mr. Llewellyn. Mr. Tighe answered that until three weeks ago he had believed the Tribune was a good labor paper. At that time, lowever, he had changed his views, because of certain political articles that appeared favoring the Republican candidates. Ex-President Grogan said if it could be proved that the paper had printed articles favoring the election of McKinley, he would not ask that it be placed on file in the public library, but, be added: "You can't prove it. It is one of the fairest papers in the country."

Finally a motion to have a commit-tee of three select the papers was adopted. The president refused to ap-point the committee when a motion was made that such a course be taken. de that such a course be taken Riley, Cline and Doane were

Secretary Boes read communications from the Democratic and Republican state committees, given in full in another column.

The Steubenville Typographical Union asked for particulars of the stepa necessary to secure membership in the assembly. The secretary will furnish the information.

A resolution approving the action of President Tighe in resigning his membership on the general charter committee, was passed.

A delegate favored the assembly entering a vigorous compality against the feature of the charter which takes away from the people the right to vote direct for chief of police.

A delegate moved that all unions be asked to vigorously oppose the adoption of the new charter. Another member wanted the matter referred to the advisory committee, when a plan of opposition could be mapped out. The formation of a good government chib, exclusively mentioned in Saturday's Intelligencer, by those who favor the new charter, was spoken of, and it was suggested that the assembly takesteps at once to oppose the charter's adoption, President Tighe suggested a general committee, made up of members from the several wards, who shall interview councilmen and ask for their opposition, et three members from each ward, be appointed, but it was wand the committee on clearter opposition, et three members from each ward, be appointed the committee as follows: Message Collins, Grogan, Donnelly, Foster and Bauer.

A delegate objected to a publication in the intelligencer two weeks ago and moved that the reporter he excluded from the privileges of the hall. The motion was not even neconded. An explained by President Tighe the pub-

Heation was the result of a misunder-standing. The trouble with the dele-gate was that he failed to think before he leaped, and as the assembly general-ly was more level headed, his motion fell flat. ly was fell flat.

CAPTAIN CRAWFORD

Addresses a Men's Meeting at the Y. M. C. A.—Something of His Career in the Far West-His Literary Work.

The regular young men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association building yesterday afternoon was largely attended, Captain "Jack Craw ford," the "Poet Scout," made an ad dress, touching and eloquent. His dedress, touching and eloquent. His de-scriptions of church life on the plans were very interesting, and the ser-mons by the cowboy preachers, given in their own vernacular, were intensely interesting. Captain Crawford believes that the most good can be done to humanity by getting down among men and associating with them, never liv-ing above them, but on a plane with them.

them. He told of the good accomplished by "Brother Bush" and "Pony Bill," two converted cowboys. By their plantalking and earnest lives they have reclaimed many from the gambling and liquor dens, so common in western towns. A sermon on the Prodigal Son by Brother Bush was given in synopsis by Captain Crawford. As told in the cowboy vernacular it was greatly enjoyed, yet withal, it was pathetic.
Captain "Jack" gave a good, sound temperance talk also. He is not in favor of Prohibition. He said that the American people cannot be compelled to do a thing; but by going around in a practical way, lifting up the follen and showing them the misery and wretchedness, results of drinking, the number of drunkards would lessen. This must be done by men who have a thorough love for humanity in general; not the kind of Christians that never move from out the "amen corner" of the church.
Captain "Jack," whose full name, by the way, is John Wallace Crawford, gave a short history of his life. A mother's request, made him promise never to touch liquor thereafter. This pledge he has always kept. Years after his mother's death, thoughts of that promise given her at her death-bed, suggested the theme of a beautiful little poem, "Mother's Prayers," which he recited yesterday.
Captain Crawford was born in Ireland, in 1816, came to this country while yet a child, settling with his father in Pottsville, Pa. At the breaking out of the war, he donned the coat of blue. He was wounded in the leg at Spottsylvania, causing him to be lame ever since. His father was killed six days later. At the close of the war he went to the frontier, and became a great seout. He served through all the frontier wars, and was wounded twice. For twenty-three years he has been chief of the government souts. Refusing to allow his name to be used in dime novels is one reason why he is not so generally known. He is a genuine product of the great south-west.
Captain Crawford at all times has taken deep interest in lifting up the fallen. He claims no particular denomi
