MAYOR CALDWELL

Finally Issues His Card Declining a Renomination.

THIS LEAVES SIX IN THE FIELD.

The Mayor's Withdrawal will Have the Effect of Brightening the Chances of One of the Six—Figures of the Primaries of Two and Four Years Ago—Prospects for a Heavy Vote at the Approaching Primaries—Political Intelligence.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer. SIR:—My name has been mentioned in connection with the mayoralty at the coming January election. You will please say that I will not be a candidate at the Republican primaries for the nomination for mayor. With many thanks to the people for past favors, Respectfully,
B. F. CALDWELL.
Wheeling, Nov. 21, 1896.

The declination of Mayor Caldwell to remain as a candidate for re-nomination, leaves six candidates in the field and from every point of view, simplifies the situation. Every one of the six was anxious to see the mayor stay out this time; every one of the lot felt that his chances were clouded by His Honor staying in. Naturally, therefore, every one of them will feel better this morning after reading Mr. Caldwell's card, given above.

Of the six still in the race, there is one whose chances are bettered more than the others by the withdrawal of the mayor, and he is Mr. Maxwell, of the Island. Both were conceded to be strong in the Seventh ward, and in other parts of the city were receiving support that would go to one largely with the other out of the race.

The contest for the Republican mayoralty nomination bids fair to become such an exciting and interesting battle, that the prophets are anticipating a large vote at the primaries on the 12th of next month. Four years ago the vote footed up 2,322. Two years later, when the interesting contest for the nomination for chief of police was waged, there was a heavy increase, the total vote reaching 3,857. Many shrewd ones are predicting that the total vote next month will reach the 4,000 mark. The vote by wards at the primary elections of 1892 and 1894 was as follows:

Wards.	1892.	1894.
First	287	479
Second	256	382
Third	226	340
Fourth	179	231
Fifth	289	331
Sixth	331	528
Seventh	432	804
Eighth	2,322	3,857

Mr. Leasure's Candidacy.
Friends of John G. Leasure are feeling pretty sore over the snub their candidate received one day last week from the party organ. In the biographical sketches of the candidates for the city clerkship Mr. Leasure's name was omitted entirely and his name not even mentioned. It is understood that Mr. Leasure had his "copy" in for the sketch and expected to be given the same attention as the other Republican candidates, but for some reason he was neglected. His friends are feeling in no kindly mood toward the organ.—Sunday's News.

Perhaps the above does not intentionally misrepresent, but the facts should be known. The reporter of the Intelligencer who was assigned the work of preparing sketches of the various Republican municipal candidates was unable to see Messrs. Leasure and Bowman, and for that reason alone, they did not figure in the series of sketches. The Intelligencer feels confident that Mr. Leasure is not the "sore" individual the News would have him appear. Needless to say, Mr. Leasure did not have his "copy."

Elkins Cadets to Meet.
The Elkins Cadets will hold a very important business meeting this evening in the second branch council chamber, city building, at 7:30 o'clock. Indications are that there will be quite a lively session, as several very important matters will be brought up for the attention of the club. The committee having the Washington trip in charge will make a report and it is important that every member who wishes to make this excursion should be present at the meeting. The election of permanent officers will also take place and the club reorganizational laws, a sound and substantial basis. Every member should endeavor to be present.

A TEMPERANCE SERMON
Delivered Last Evening by Rev. Dr. Sooy at Fourth Street Church—Strong Words Against the Liquor Traffic.

At the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held in Cleveland, it was decided that yesterday should be a day upon which a temperance sermon be delivered. Last evening Rev. J. L. Sooy, pastor of the Fourth Street M. E. Church, delivered a strong address on behalf of Prohibition. His topic was, "An Open Challenge, and Our Duty," and his text was taken from the gospel of St. Matthew, chapter VIII, verse 29, embracing the words: "And behold they cried out, saying, what have we to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God? Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?"

Dr. Sooy, in speaking of his text said that Christ had respected human regulations and did not interfere with the political regulations of his country nor that of bordering governments, but in matters moral, he spoke out plainly, and rebuked those who were transgressing moral laws. At the present day it is the right of one person morally superior to rebuke those in vice. There seems to be an opinion existing among the bestial and the vicious that the man who seeks to purify civilization is a tormentor. The criminal classes, those who cater to the lusts and vices, men who sell the blasting liquors that deaden the morals of their slaves, men who put the bottle to their neighbor's lips, stand up and say "We do not meddle with your churches, your Sunday schools, nor your religious work, why should you meddle with our business, the saloon business?"

The man that is a stumbling block to human happiness is not the man that drinks, but the man who sells him drink. It is that man who first sells the drink to the country boy, just from home and mother, and after the poison has passed his lips, the boy starts on the downward path. He becomes a slave to liquor and daily sinks deeper and deeper in the mire, and after years have come and gone, his mother dreaming over his image sees nothing but her pure boy who left her side.

Another kind of tempter is the man of fashion, or the society lady. In the palatial dining room, where are served richly carved goblets of wine, many a soul first meets doom. The lady who offers the goblet to her neighbor is responsible for the wrecked life she causes. And the society lady when remonstrated with for her sinful custom of serving liquor to her guests will say: "It is my own business, whatever I do; it is none of yours."

There is nothing middlemost in being active in God's work. No Christian can be still in the world. He is immoral. God's workers can not be cold. We must stop this liquor traffic, and speak against it we must. The "let alone" policy is no policy, and business men who say they have no time to work in concert with a temperance policy are unworthy of respect.

Municipal reform is a creation of the past few years. Many large cities have organizations seeking municipal reform, and in these organizations are business men and not clergymen or "cranks." The challenge has been made openly that saloons in Wheeling cannot be closed. The police say they cannot do it. It is the business of every citizen to organize and enforce the laws of this community and see that in the coming city elections, men will be elected who will see that the laws are enforced.

Religion should fight for the right; not lie supinely on its back and looking on the light for prohibition, care not but that the fight be fair. It should be engrafted into politics so as to get good laws. Ballots not bullets must gain the desired end, that of prohibition, which is as needful as was the abolition of the slaves.

The words from Abraham Lincoln on the liquor traffic, were quoted:

"The liquor traffic is a cancer in society, eating out its vitals and threatening destruction; and all attempts to regulate it will not only prove abortive, but will aggravate the evil. No, there must be no more attempts to regulate the cancer; it must be eradicated. Not a root must be left behind; for, until this is done, all classes must continue in danger of becoming victims of strong drink."

In conclusion, Dr. Sooy said that total abstinence for the individual, prohibition for the state, and unwavering faith in Christ as the Savior of the man who has become a drunkard, are the results for which the Christians of to-day should strive.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

To be Made at the Schmulbach Brewery, German Societies to Build a Club House This Winter.

Extensive improvements are contemplated on the South Side during the coming winter, which will give employment to a number of men, and boom the southern portion of the city considerably. A number of factories are making plans for improvements and in a number of instances, more land has been purchased and contracts have been let for new machinery appliances. The most notable of the improvements will be those at the Schmulbach brewery, where workmen will be engaged all winter enlarging the already immense capacity, and adding new and improved machinery to the splendid plant. The old building which served as a part of the Nall City brewery, will give way to a handsome new structure, in which will be the main office, ware-rooms and general apartments.

A new bottling house is contemplated, and plans looking to this end have already been drawn. The building in which the bottling department will be situated will be built where the old brewery stood and will be a handsome structure. Several of the contracts for the new work have been given out and work on the improvements will begin in a few days.

Important Improvements.

Three German organizations of Wheeling have combined and will soon give contracts for a large club house, which they will occupy jointly. The societies are the German Krieger Verein, Beethoven Singing Society and the Bavarian Society of Wheeling. Yesterday afternoon in Beethoven hall, Fourteenth and Main streets, a general committee, composed of representatives of the three organizations, met and organized by the selection of Jacob Korn as president, and F. D. Friedrich as secretary. The committee is made up of the following: Beethoven Singing Society—Henry Schaefer, Andrew Schramm, Gustav Wengenroth, Charles Tunt and Henry Krieger. Krieger Verein—Cosmeann Miller, Joseph Korn and George Miller. Bavarian Society—F. D. Friedrich and Peter Stoltz.

The committee determined to advertise for a suitable piece of ground for the site of the proposed building. This advertisement appears in another column, and asks for offers on property Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth streets. A central location as can be had will be secured. The committee is empowered to expend for building and ground the sum of $10,000.

A sub-committee was appointed to confer with Architect Joseph Leiner regarding plans for the building. This committee will report at the next meeting of the general committee which will be held next Sunday afternoon in Beethoven hall.

The three societies expect to build a club house and auditorium that will make a comfortable home for them, and the ground will be purchased, plans adopted and work started on construction as soon as possible. Before the end of next summer it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy, when imposing dedication ceremonies will be held.

The building will be of brick and probably of three stories. The auditorium will be for the singing section, where concerts and other entertainments will be given. The club house portion will be fitted up in fine style, and altogether the home of these societies will be comfortable and satisfactory from every point of view.
