JUENCK NOT GUILTY

Second Trial of the Alleged Thief Ends in Acquittal.

THE VERDICT WAS A SURPRISE.

As it was Generally Believed Juensch would be Found Guilty for the Second Time—A Tilt Between Judge Hugus and One of the Attorneys for the Defendant. The Judge Had Advised Juensch to Lose No Time in Leaving the State.

At yesterday's session of the criminal court, Judge Hugus on the bench, the case of the state vs. John Juensch, accused of stealing property of considerable value from the old Maxwell home on Market street, south of the creek, occupied the entire day. The arguments were concluded at 1:30 p. m., and when court convened for an evening session the jury was charged by Judge Hugus.

The jury was out only a few minutes, and then returned to the court room. After the usual formalities had been gone through, the foreman of the jury, Daniel Cochran, read the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, John Juensch, not guilty of burglary as charged in the indictment."

This verdict was a surprise, as it was generally believed that Juensch would be convicted for the second time. When the words "not guilty" were heard there was a perceptible buzz over the crowded court room.

Judge Hugus seemed to be as much surprised as others. He addressed the prisoner, and after formally discharging him from custody, took occasion to add a few words of advice, in which he advised him to lose no time in leaving this community. This was objected to by Mr. Frank W. Nesbitt, of counsel for the defense, who claimed the occasion did not justify such language from the bench.

The case attracted many spectators and last night before the jury had come in the room was crowded to its full capacity. Among the witnesses examined yesterday, were Mr. Lewis Bennett, of Weston, and ex-Police Lieutenant "Wally" Lukens. Their testimony closed the state's case and then came the witnesses for the defense, including the prisoner, John Juensch, his wife, Mrs. Fannie Juensch, Harry Koops, Frank Ayers and John Henderson. With the exception of the testimony of Mrs. Juensch, there was little or nothing new adduced. On the cross-examination of the prisoner's wife by ex-Prosecuting Attorney Howard, the witness became very much mixed and frequently contradicted herself. It was quite evident she was perjuring herself in an effort to save her husband.

The arguments by counsel began in the afternoon. The new prosecuting attorney, Mr. W. C. Meyer, opened for the state, and reviewed the case from beginning to end. There was considerable interest in this speech, for the reason that it was Mr. Meyer's first effort since becoming prosecuting attorney. He did himself proud and his many friends who were present took occasion to personally congratulate him after he had concluded his brilliant argument. Mr. Meyer was followed by Mr. Frank W. Nesbitt for the defense, who made a very ingenious speech that seemed to have an effect on the jury. Colonel Arnett, counsel for the defense, followed, and of course made an able argument for his client—he always does. For the state, Mr. John A. Howard closed the arguments, and his review of the case was indeed masterly. Being prosecutor at the time of the former trial of Juensch, he was thoroughly familiar with the circumstances, a knowledge that served him well in making the evidence against the prisoner.

At the conclusion of the arguments, the court took a recess until 7:30 o'clock when the case went to the jury, who gave the verdict outlined above.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

B. A. Moneypenny Dies From Injuries Received at Benwood Junction.

Mr. B. A. Moneypenny, a car inspector on the Fourth division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, died on Monday night, about eleven o'clock, from injuries received by being struck by an engine, at Benwood Junction, on Monday morning. The deceased was standing on the platform watching one train and did not notice the approach of another train, which striking him, threw him back on the platform. At the time he did not seem to be seriously injured, there being no injuries visible on him, but he was hurt internally, and he died in his home in Benwood, but after going to bed lingered in a critical condition until death came at the hour stated.

He leaves a wife and family in Benwood, in which town he had made his residence but one week, since coming from Fairmont, his former residence.

THEY MISSED COAL.

A Well Known Eighth Ward Man Caught Stealing.

For several weeks Bell Bros., proprietors of the coal yard on Thirtieth street, have been missing large quantities of coal. It seemed as though every morning, considerable coal had been removed, so they decided to keep watch, in order to catch the thieves. They did indeed catch them yesterday morning about 4 o'clock when they saw a well known resident of the Eighth ward, walk into the yards and coolly help himself to as much as he could carry. Though only weighing about 140 pounds, the amount of coal he was able to carry would have done credit to Sandow. They stopped him before he had gone far, and when he saw that he was caught, he broke down and begged the owners not to prosecute him. They agreed to his request, upon his offering to settle for all the coal he had taken away during the past few weeks.

THE FALL IN COFFEE.

The Price is Half a Cent Lower than Last Week.

The fight between the sugar trust and the Arbuckle coffee people continues and the consumers of sugar and coffee—and who doesn't consume them?—look on with huge delight, for every drop in sugar and coffee makes the price that much lower to the people who buy at retail. Since last Tuesday there has been an additional drop of standard brands of roasted coffee, which are now down to $17 25 per hundred. As soon as the Arbuckle's coffee, their sugar refinery at work and are in a position to fight the sugar trust on their own staple there will be heavier drops in sugar than have yet been felt, although the mere announcement that the Arbuckles would go into sugar has had a depressing effect on quotations.

WHEELING NOT REPRESENTED.

At the Monetary Conference in Indianapolis This Week.

Although the Wheeling chamber of commerce passed a resolution at its last meeting authorizing President Quarrier to appoint three members to represent the chamber at the national monetary conference being held at Indianapolis this week, there are no Wheelingites in attendance. President Quarrier and Secretary Hazlett asked several members to accept appointment on the Wheeling delegation, but for various reasons all who were approached declined to serve.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED

By Several Local Corporations Yesterday Afternoon.

Among Wheeling corporations that elected boards of directors yesterday, were the Dollar Savings Bank, People's Bank and National Bank of West Virginia. In most cases the old directors were re-elected. The meetings were as follows:

Dollar Savings Bank.
The stockholders of the Dollar Savings Bank, of Wheeling, met in annual session yesterday afternoon at the bank's handsome home on Market street, and elected directors for the ensuing year, as follows: B. Buckman, Peter Cassell, W. J. W. Cowden, P. B. Dobbins, William Goring, Bernard Klaves, C. J. Rawling, N. B. Scott, Joseph Speidel, John S. Wetly and John M. Brown. This is the old board of directors with the exception of Mr. Brown, who succeeds Mr. George Hook. The latter, as is well known, is to be the cashier of the newly organized Germania Half Dollar Savings bank.

People's Bank.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the People's Bank, of Wheeling, was held at the banking house, corner Twelfth and Main streets, yesterday afternoon, and re-elected the present board of directors for the ensuing year, as follows: Thomas O'Brien, T. T. Hutchison, D. L. Ratcliff, Edward Reed, David Gutman, Frank Gruse and John A. Hess. Officers will be elected at the first meeting of the new board, next Wednesday. The present officers are: President, Thomas O'Brien; vice president, T. T. Hutchison; cashier, George W. Eckhart, Jr.

National Bank of West Virginia.
The annual stockholders' meeting of the National Bank of West Virginia, was held in the banking house, corner of Main and Twelfth streets, between 1 and 3 p. m. yesterday. The old board of directors was re-elected, as follows: Dr. R. W. Hazlett, August Rolf, R. T. Devries, E. B. Potts, Earl W. Oglesby, J. R. McCortney, John Wagner. Officers will be chosen today.

STRANGELY MISSING.

Charles Bowman Believed to be Dead. Disappeared Four Months Ago, and Has Not Been Heard From Since.

Charles Bowman, boss roller at the Bellaire steel works, has been strangely missing for about four months. The matter was known, of course, at the time, and it was supposed he would turn up in a little while and no particular attention was paid to the matter. He has a wife living in Bellaire and has grown up children by a former wife, two of his boys being employed in the mill, where they had worked alongside of their father for a long time.

He was a German, never talked much, took a great interest in his work and seemed deeply interested in the success of the new plant, as the owners themselves. He worried over the failure of the new rolls to work as smoothly as they hoped for and grew excessively sensitive over the chiding of some of his fellow workmen. One day everybody about the new plant seemed to be worried about the rolls not working just right. This was four months ago, and shortly before dinner time Charles Bowman left and has not been seen or heard of since by his family or the mill folks. He said nothing to his sons nor to any one else and if he is still living, he has not advised anyone of that fact. It was at first thought that he might have gone to Pittsburgh, to Cleveland, or to some other point, to get pointers about the new rolls. But his family and friends have written every place they can think of that he was likely to go, even to Germany, but no tidings of the missing man can be had. When he left home he had no money, so far as is known, and there is a great deal of speculation as to what became of the man, who was evidently distinguished over the failure of the new rolls to work just as they wanted them to when they were first started. His wife and children believe he is dead. Others share in this belief.

There are persons who say he was in New Castle, Pa., after he left here, but that was some months ago, and his sons, who still work at the steel plant here, believe their father is dead. They have no tidings of any kind from him. The last knowledge they have of him is when he crossed the river here on the Benwood ferry just before dinner time the day he left.

THE BENWOOD SOUTHERN

Electric Line Receiving a Generous Patronage—It's Successful.

Receiver Howard Hazlett, of the Benwood Southern Electric road, which runs from Benwood, where it connects with the Wheeling electric system, to Moundsville, says that the road is enjoying a generous patronage, all it can accommodate, in fact, with the limited amount of rolling stock now at command. Another closed car will be received shortly. At present the road is operated on an hourly schedule, similar to that of the Elm Grove motor line. The first cars leave Benwood and Moundsville at 5:15 a. m. and the last through car leaves at 11:20 p. m. At midnight cars leave both terminals, but they run only to the power house at Ben's run, about midway between the terminals.

Mr. Hazlett says that there is already a general inquiry among Wheeling people for residence sites at Glendale and other suburban towns along the electric line. This road will undoubtedly turn a tide of home seekers in that direction.

An Amusing Case.

Squire Rogers had an amusing case in his court last night. All the participants were colored, and the testimony at times grew very warm. Lena Caves was the plaintiff against Frank Jackson and his wife, the charge being assault and battery. It was a domestic quarrel on Monday and the plaintiff was so badly beaten that she had to be carried into her house. There were ten witnesses examined, the last of which was the famous Hattie Grantham Johnson. The Jacksons were held over to keep the peace for one year in $50 bond and to pay the costs. In default of payment, they will spend ten days in jail.

In Clerk Robertson's Office.

Seven deeds of trust were recorded in Clerk Robertson's office yesterday. A marriage license was issued to T. J. Minns and Miss Maggie McGrail, of Wheeling.

THE INNUMERABLE testimonials in the possession of its proprietors show the good work Salvation Oil is doing. 25 cents.
