+++++ WRESTLING.

Before an audience much less than the ontest merited, Frank Davey last night at the Pythian Castle, defeated Charles Dailey in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match, getting two falls out of three. The exhibition was new to many of the spectators and it wrought their excitement up to fever pitch when Dally, the South Sider, recovered himself from the trais set for him by his clever opponent. Davey is an Englishman by birth, and before coming to Wheeling, lived in He is a wrestler both natural and trained, and when stripped shows up bigger than he does on the street. He s as slippery as an eel and very power-up bigger than he does on the street. It is as slippery as an eel and very powerful, and has few superfors, if any, at his weight. He toyed with Daily like a cat with a mouse, and his sgillity and sirength are wonderful.

On the other hand Davey did splendidly, but he was handicapped in weight and science. His back sommersaults saved him several times from a fall, for which he was roundly cheered. The match was governed by Lancashire rules. Both shoulders touching the floor constituting a fall. The "sirrang-ler," and full and half Nelson "holis" were barred. M. Ferinell was referee. The first fall was won by Davey; time 15:9. After considerable "sparring" and sixing each other for advantages, Daily took the offensive. He could do nothing with Davey. Then the latter sailed in Four times he threw Daily over his hea shekward by the "jack hold, but as often "Con" wriggled over on his feet before both shoulders touched ground. Finally both got down on their knees and with a quick threw Davey landed him. The Wheeling boy, after getting out of some bad fixes, succeeded in throwing the Engishman by the "jack hold, a favorite method in this style of wrestling. Time, Il minutes.

Bevey took third fall and the purse. He the Engissman by the fact access the vorte method in this style of wresting. Time, it minutes.

Bavey took third fail and the purse. He went at his man like lightning. Dally wrisgled out of his grasp, dodged and jerked. Davey threw him off his feet,but Daily was up in a second. Then Davey got him by a quarter-Neison, and it was all off. Time, 1:15.

The boxing preliminaries were good. Note and Shutterfield; Stein and Beuley; Auber and H. Clancey; Core and J. Clancy; formed the bill. A colored quartete, a plano player and Phil Gleason, the boy champion buck danger, helped the thing along. If Davey could arrange another contest even with a topnotcher, he can get lots of backing after his work last night.

BOXING.

The waiting spell before the stellar attraction looms up in the ring is often but faintly broken by the preliminaries, but this will not be the case to-morrow evening at the "Mets" Fullon club house. The three preliminary contests will be decidedly snappy. In the first Will Donaldson, or "Allegun," as he is better known, faces young Wanko for mix rounds for a decision. Though the six rounds for a decision. Though the dusky ple-eater has about twenty pounds advantage, it is said by Wanko's friends that the Washington boy will cut "Allegun" down before the sixth round closes. Another feature will be the exhibition by the "cogwelghts," Burr Rankin and Willie Daronburgher, two clever little fellows from Little Washington. Al Walton and Robert Enman, local colored youths, meet for five rounds for a decision also.

"Buck" Steizer is in the pink of ondition, and asserts that he will make the greatest showing of his life in his the greatest showing of his life in his twenty-round contest with Louden Campbell, of Pittsburgh. He was never more confident of victory. This belief is shared by Trainer Hart, who is proud of "Buck's" prime condition. Both are anxious to get on a match with Jack Williams, of New Orleans, who, however, has shirked the challenge recently sent him. It was expected to arrange a match between Stelzer and Williams for the end of this month, but it will hang in the balance until Williams shows front.

extreme interiority of unfortunate Yalo. Last week there were eligibly indications that Princeton had a little the better of the argument. But one thing is lacking to put Pennsylvania at the head of the list in every way—that some minor eleven should score on the Tigers. Pennsylvania now has a lead of five points per game over Princeton in average scores, though auainst the four teams which both have met—Franklin and Marshall, Lebish, Darimouth and State College, Princeton has scored ist points to Pennsylvania's 145. For this latier achievement, and for possessing the honor of being the only team still without a score against them, the Princetonians may still crow over Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania.
It does not need a detailed compari-son of Harvard's scores with those of either Pennsylvania or Princeton, to show that the Cambridge men are unquestionably behind second place. The Brown and Dartmouth games, respectively, tell the story plain enough, without reference to average scores. Until last Saturday Harvard divided with Princeton the honor of a clean score, but now Cornell has robbed her of even that distinction, though by that plece of foot ball luck—a goal from the field.

This evening at the Wheeling Athletic club, representatives of the Wheeling Tigers will confer with a committee of the club, relative to the proposition to have the Tigers play under the W. A. C. colors, as exclusively announced in these columns a few days ago. There is every likelihood of the scheme going into effect, as both recognize it is to their interests. In the event of the arrangement a strong effort will be made to have the Thanksgiving Day game here a "whopper."

The Tigers are still hopeful of getting West Virginia University here for Thanksgiving. The 'varsity wants rather a stiff guarantee, considering the attendance Wheeling turns out at football games, but it is hoped they will come down a peg. New Castle is willing to play here that day. The W. V. U. is preferred, but in case it can't be secured an effort will be made to get the Pittsburgh College eleven. The Tigers have no games scheduled for the future, and it is possible they will go to Steubenville Saturday, where an easy thing awaits them.

Prospective mothers should know that Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, which gives perfect health and strength to the special organs concerned in motherhood.
