GARBAGE CONTRACT

Bids Received Last Night, but Action Deferred.

IT WILL LIKELY BE AWARDED

At a special meeting of Council next Tuesday night—The Crematory Ordinance May Come Up at this meeting, as the Flood interfered with the Transmission of Mr. Howland's Bond—The Garbage Bids.

A special meeting of council may be called for next Tuesday evening, and at this meeting will be considered matters chiefly relative to the crematory, and disposal of the city's garbage. The crematory question has engaged the attention of the city fathers for several months, and it is unfortunate that Mr. Howland's bond, owing to the flood, it is said, was received one day too late to conform with the ordinance.

This delay may be remedied at council's next meeting, if Mr. Howland submits his bond with the reasons stated. The bond should have been filed within the fifteen days stipulated by council, but the train bearing it was delayed by floods, and when Mr. Howland offered it to City Solicitor Nesbitt, the latter was unable to receive it, as the stipulated time had expired the previous day. Mr. Howland is out of the city now, but is expected to reach the city to-day. Repairs to the crematory road were considered last night by the committee on health, and bills amounting $55.40 were ordered paid. The committee did not award the garbage contract, merely considering the several bids and deferring action until next Monday evening, when the committee is called to meet again. The bids show a considerable decrease from those submitted two years ago. It was an impression with some people that Mr. Howland would be a bidder, but of course he could not bid, not being a citizen of Wheeling. The bids submitted last night were as follows:

William Carney, $11,500; J. J. Kenny, $11,425; Charles Becker, $10,500; Naber & Holmes, $10,440; James Conrad, $9,700; Thomas Coffey, $9,000; Robert D. Cline, $8,850.

Matters of Minor Moment in and About the City.

This is "April Fool's Day." Grand to-night—"A White Slave." T. C. Wilson, who is to run a yacht. There were two cases in police court yesterday.

American Navy photographic portfolios furnished by the Intelligencer.

There will be confirmation services, Sunday morning, at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Alfred, the one-year-old son of Robert Johnson, of South Wheeling, died yesterday.

A board of public works pay roll of $940 will be paid at the office of the city clerk, Saturday.

Rev. B. M. Spurr, of Moundsville, will preach at St. Luke's P. E. church, Sunday, this evening.

Beneke Bros' furniture factory, on South Water street, will resume this morning, after an idleness on account of the flood.

The rise came to a stand yesterday, with twenty-five feet as its top-notch, not quite as much water as had been expected.

In the circuit court, yesterday, in the case of the Palace Furniture Company vs. Mary Mitchell, et al., there was an order of sale directed to the sheriff.

The first April Fool drunk was run in this morning by Officer Michaels. It was a Dago or something to that effect, and Registrar Supler couldn't decipher its intentions sufficiently to put a legible name on the blotter.

Last evening at her home, on South Market street, Miss May Rose was surprised by a "phantom party," tendered her by a number of her friends, attired like ghosts. They were rather lively spirits, however.

Rev. Dr. Alexander, of St. Clairsville, O., delivered an eloquent sermon at the First Presbyterian church. The special services preparatory for the regular communion service to be held Sunday are largely attended each evening.

ferry between the foot of Ohio street, Island, and the head of the wharf on the city side, expects to receive his yacht from Battle Creek, Michigan, in a few days. The boat was to have been received on March 27, but has been delayed by the breaking of a casting.

In another column the city of Wheeling, through Solicitor Nesbitt, gives notice of condemnation proceedings in the circuit court for the acquisition of property owned by W. J. Cotts and others at the corner of Baker and McCulloch streets, East End.

If Register "correspondents" were not so busy at the shrine of Envy, in a futile attempt to belittle Intelligencer enterprise in arranging for the "three tens" war signal, they would probably have learned that Sigmund Kapp was convicted in the criminal court Wednesday evening, on the charge of forgery. As it was, the Market street sheet made itself unusually ridiculous yesterday morning by stating that Kapp's trial would be concluded on Thursday.

"UNCLE SAM'S NAVY."

Superb Pictures of the Modern Vessels of the New American Navy are to be Published by the Intelligencer—First Portfolio is Now Ready.

As will be seen in another column, the Intelligencer has perfected arrangements to furnish its subscribers on the coupon plan with a superb collection of photographs of the modern battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, and other craft that make up the New American Navy, in which such an intense public interest is now manifested on account of the possibility of the navy figuring in actual warfare with Spain. With the exception of the late and very short war between China and Japan there has been no opportunity to test the wonderful and awful instruments of destruction with which these vessels are equipped, and of course the people desire to know something of the force that will be operated against the Spanish navy in the event of war. This opportunity is offered to the readers of the Intelligencer at an expense so small that it will without doubt be eagerly grasped.

The photographs come in portfolios, one issued each week. The first portfolio is now ready and is of especial interest, containing photographs of the battleship Maine, which was destroyed in Havana harbor; portraits of Captain Sigsbee and General Lee, a representation of the explosion in which 260 brave Jack Tars were killed, pictures of many other ships of the navy, etc. In addition there is an interesting description of each picture.

One coupon and ten cents secures one of these magnificent portfolios.

"THE AMERICAN BOY"

Battleship Movement is Taken Up by Wheeling School Boys.

"The American Boy" fund took root in Wheeling yesterday, as a result of the publication in the Intelligencer of the movement originated by a Cincinnati school boy, to raise a fund among school boys and girls to build a battleship, to be called "The American Boy." Yesterday morning the Intelligencer's article attracted the school youth, especially at the high school, where Benjamin Honecker, an Eighth ward boy, took the initiative.

Other boys soon fell in with the scheme, and a delegation visited Principal Work, who after hearing the scheme discussed, said he was in favor of it, but advised the boys to wait until the close of the present vacation, which starts to-day. The high school and public schools will not reopen until April 11, and "The American Boy" fund will then be started with a boom. Although the high school has taken it up first, the public school children will be right in line.

Thoroughly Patriotic.

SIR—Miss Whally, of Madison school, had one of the most excellent, unique, interesting, instructive and thoroughly patriotic exercises it has been my good fortune to listen to for some time. "On the Flag." Her blackboards were as brilliant with national emblems as red, white and blue crayon could make them, and were certainly beautiful. The walls of the room were draped with flags and bunting until one felt thoroughly enthused before hearing any of the exercises, which were very good indeed.

HAZLETT'S BANK FAILS.

The Assignment of Major Samuel Hazlett Received with Regret.

The news received yesterday of the assignment at Washington (Pa.) of Major Samuel Hazlett, a private banker, was heard with feelings of regret in Wheeling, where he was well known. He assigned yesterday for the benefit of his creditors and confessed judgments in favor of upwards of forty people, all women, the amounts ranging from $100 to $2,700, and the total aggregating $22,600. No schedule of assets or liabilities was filed and the only information that depositors have is contained in a statement published by Major Hazlett, in which he announced that he was going to liquidate his business and retire. The Hazlett bank was established in 1837.

False War Scare.

Moundsville citizens last night telephoned the Intelligencer to learn if war had been declared against Spain. A rumor to that effect had set the Mound City ablaze with excitement, and its denial enabled the citizens to resume their peaceful dreams. A similar rumor was current in Bridgeport yesterday.
