"Joe" Kinsey Dead.
 The death occurred at 11 o'clock yesterday morning of Joseph Kinsey, the well known and equally well liked colored hotel porter. Death was due to pneumonia after a brief illness. Recently the deceased was employed at the Windsor, but for three years he worked at the Stamm. He was a deacon in the Macedonian Baptist church. Surviving him are a wife and three small children. The deceased came to Wheeling from North Carolina.

Would Build a Hotel.
 Robert Mossburg, a North End man, has recently become imbued with the hallucination that he could build a gigantic hotel on the Second ward hillside, to cost a million dollars, and he has interviewed architects on his pet scheme. It is needless to add that the poor man's mind has become weakened, and Squire Greer last night committed him to jail, pending medical examination as to his sanity. Mossburg injured the property of his next door neighbor, William Swann, at 938 Chapline street, while preparing the ground for his hotel.

AT VARIANCE
 Was Testimony Relative to the Shooting of Chas. McLaughlin
AT THE PRELIMINARY HEARING
OF CLARENCE JOHNSON AND HUGH DEVINNEY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, CONDUCTED BY SQUIRE DUNNING—OFFICER SHORT POSITIVE THAT HE SAW JOHNSON FIRING AT McLAUGHLIN, WHILE JAMES HANNAN EQUALLY CERTAIN THAT DEVINNEY RAISED A REVOLVER TO FIRE—THE PRISONERS HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

The preliminary hearing of Hugh Devinney and Clarence Johnson, charged with the murder of Charles McLaughlin, last Friday afternoon, was conducted in the county jail office yesterday afternoon by Squire Dunning, and resulted in the prisoners being held for the next term of the criminal court, which convenes on November 7.

The hearing was largely attended, and the testimony was eagerly listened to not only by those within the jail precincts, but also by the curious throng which craned its necks and unfolded its ears, as it blocked the Fifteenth street entrance, and was massed against the iron-grated doors. There are thirty witnesses for the state, but only sufficient were called for the purpose of holding the two prisoners. The two principal witnesses were Constable John Short and James Hannan, the Market street cigar man, and the testimony of Short's was in conflict with that of Hannan's regarding the man who fired the fatal shot.

Officer Short repeated his previous statements that when he heard the shooting on Market street, and turned around to whence came the reports, he saw Johnson out in the street, "jumping around and firing at a man on the pavement." Mr. Hannan was positive that he saw the revolver in Devinney's hands, raised to fire, while a voice he supposed was Johnson's, cried, "Give it to him." The other witnesses were Dr. Armbricht and Mr. Comar. Their evidence had no bearing as to the identity of the man who ended Charles McLaughlin's earthly career.

The prosecution was conducted by Prosecuting Attorney W. C. Meyer, who was aided by John A. Howard. The defendants' counsel was Sam O. Boyce, who was assisted for the occasion by John B. Wilson, the latter merely taking notes for Mr. Boyce's benefit.

At 2:30 o'clock, Jailer McCormick brought in the prisoners. Devinney betrayed signs of nervousness, Johnson being cool as a cucumber, and their countenances still bore traces of the fight with McLaughlin, a day or two previous to his death. They sat together, at the foot of the table used by the reporters and Messrs. Boyce and Wilson. Justice Dunning sat at the head of a "round table," around which were clustered the lawyers for the prosecution and Stenographer Schrader.

SHORT'S TESTIMONY.
 John Short was the first witness called. He was asked the usual preliminary questions by Mr. Meyer as to his business, his knowledge of the prisoners, etc. Mr. Short said he saw the prisoners on Market street, near the creek bridge, September 8. His attention was called to them by the sound of shots. He saw Johnson out in the street jumping around. McLaughlin was firing also. Johnson shot until McLaughlin fell. Later Johnson walked to Devinney, and gave the revolver to the latter. The men then walked down South street. The witness was standing in front of Fisher's foundry. He heard two shots before he turned around and gazed on the scene of action. Devinney was on the pavement, Johnson in the street. Witness saw Johnson firing. Witness was certain he saw Johnson fire two shots. He saw him firing at a man, and the man firing also. Didn't know the man was McLaughlin until later. The man on the pavement appeared to be in distress, and wasn't standing erect. He fell near the street car pole on the pavement in front of Brinkmyer's photograph gallery. Witness wasn't certain how many shots were fired. He had made no examination of the bill board or fence to ascertain where bullets struck.

To Mr. Meyer, Officer Short related other testimony, most of which he gave at the coroner's inquest. He saw Devinney put the revolver in his pocket, after Johnson handed it to him. Witness left the east side of Market street to very near where the men stood. Witness went into Mehen's saloon, got a revolver and followed the prisoners, but lost sight of them until he saw them in the jail. Witness didn't see Devinney do anything with the revolver after Johnson gave it to him. Witness reached the county jail before prisoners were locked up. He didn't examine McLaughlin's condition closely; noticed a stream of blood flowing from his mouth. Witness again stated he didn't know the number of shots fired.

Attorney Boyce then cross-examined the witness, first asking him as to his certainty as to the time of the tragedy, about 2:30 p. m. Mr. Short was interrogated as to the number of shots fired; he again disclaiming definite knowledge. McLaughlin's position was opposite where the bill board and photograph gallery connect. Johnson was in the street when witness turned around. Witness first saw Johnson, and then McLaughlin, both using revolvers. Witness didn't see either Craig or Young, or Frank McLaughlin. Devinney stood ten or fifteen feet on the pavement, north of McLaughlin, and looking at the shooting going on. Witness got a full view of Devinney and didn't see anything in his hands. The affair occurred so quickly that witness could not tell how long he stood before he walked across the street. Devinney and Johnson started north. Witness saw McLaughlin fall on his shoulder and face. There were no obstructions between the witness and the participants. "Don't you know McLaughlin never fell," Mr. Short said.
 "No, sir," answered Mr. Short, "I know nothing of the kind."
 Witness again stated that Johnson walked from out in the street, to the west side of the pavement, where he joined Devinney, Johnson handling De-

Let's Look at the Facts As They Are.
 The Big Store this season wears the crown of leadership more deservedly than ever. In all your clothes buying you've never seen Suits and Top Coats to compare with our new line. They're absolutely without a peer in the state. They're tailor made at ready made prices. They're bestness at the price of cheapness. We guarantee them to be better values, better fitting, more satisfactory in every way than those that cost more money elsewhere. It's your money's worth that you want, and you get it here.

Take advantage of the few days that stand between you and the need of these medium weights to look through the variety—at the handsome and exclusive styles we have provided. You'll find ours is a stock three times larger than any other, and yet there are stores that stand on the stilts of imagination and proclaim themselves leaders. Probe to the fact and they'll topple over under the weight of their own presumptive misrepresentations. Works makes leaders, not boasts—truth doesn't need any trumpets—gold doesn't need any gilding.
