

SOCIETY.

The Horkheimer reception, a society function that had been looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation for several days, was held last evening at the handsome home of Colonel and Mrs. Morris Horkheimer, 60 Fourteenth street, and when it is said that the anticipation fell short of the realization, the enjoyment of the guests and of the genial host and charming hostess may be conveyed to the reader in a measure. It was a magnificent success, in the true meaning of the adjective, and will live in the memory of those who were present. The occasion was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Colonel and Mrs. Horkheimer, and both received the heartfelt good wishes of their friends during the evening.

The hours were 8 to 12, and although nearly all favored with invitations responded by their presence, the beautiful home was at no time crowded. The receiving party consisted of the following ladies:

- Mrs. Morris Horkheimer.
Mrs. Henry Jacob Ryder, of Lancaster, Pa., a sister of the hostess.
Mrs. Rose Ike Drucker, of Zanesville, Ohio, a sister of Mrs. Horkheimer.
Mrs. W. W. Arnett, and Mrs. Henry Sonneborn.

The decorating of the house was by a master hand. Soft-tinted electric lights and palms were everywhere, giving to the scene an effect that was indeed beautiful. Up stairs was stationed the Meibler orchestra, which played throughout the evening.

Aides to the hostess during the evening were the following young ladies:

- Misses:—
Millie Stein,
Ruthie Reed,
Celle Spier,
Carrie Mal Baer,
Marie Heyman,

In several of the rooms small tables were artistically arranged, at which the guests were served during the evening, the menu being as follows:

- Ham. Chicken Salad. Tongue.

A very pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. Lewis Metzger, North Main street, last evening, in the marriage of his daughter, Miss Edith Metzger, to Mr. Max Tafel, of Lazardville, W. Va. Only the immediate friends of the bride and groom were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. B. Graham, pastor of North Street M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. Tafel leave to-day for Lazardville, where they will make their future home.

LUTHER ENTERTAINMENT.

Those Who Will Take Part in the Production.

The bright promise contained in the rehearsal for "Luther," to be presented at the Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, will be more than fulfilled. The story is one of exceeding beauty and the style of presenting it, original, instructive and interesting. Aside from the historical interest of the production, great local interest attaches itself because of the array of local participants.

One of the most impressive representations is the "Nuns Scene," which illustrates the closing of convents and monasteries in 1524. The following ladies will appear in this scene:

- Abbes, Kate Ritter; Alice, Carrie H. Morrison; Anna, Sara Ott; Angelica, Mattie V. Shields; Varonica, Minnie Wynters; Christina, Lida Prince; Sara, Adda A. Wincher; Catherine Von Bora, Edna Baird; Isabella, Mrs. Herbert R. Helder; Agnes, Kate I. Lawson; Dorothy, Carrie Road; Ursula, Clara Meyer; Josephine, Cloda Seig; Cecelia, Alma Bauer.

Novices—Hilda, Jeannette Baird, Marnie Cowl, Annie McKelvey, Aggie B. Cline, Mary B. Redman, Grace Schwarm, Belle Johnson; Anna C. Joergens, Della T. Wilson, Sara Browne, Helen Perkins, Emma Israel, Cora Olmstead.

This scene is only one of the five representations under preparation. The entertainment is considerable of a novelty, a combination of lecture, stereopticon views and spectacular work. The musical features are elaborate. Miss Annie Israel is the accompanist. All the indications point to a fine, artistic and financial success. The sale of reserved seats opens Friday morning, at Baumer's music store. The demand for seats promises to be large.

PEACE IN SIGHT.

Surrender of Pillager Indians Wanted Will be Consummated to-day.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 17.—A Walker, Minn., special to the Dispatch says:

The surrender to-morrow of the Pillager Indians, wanted by Marshal O'Connor, and a speedy end of hostile demonstrations, seems apparent here.

Should both be consummated, the troops will remain in the vicinity for a short time only. The only hitch in the negotiations of Indian Commissioner Jones for surrender and peace is on the proposition by the hostiles that the government arrange for bail for those wanted by the marshal until the next meeting of the federal court at Duluth in May. The Indians object to confinement in jail until the time of the trial for the offenses charged against them. Commissioner Jones does not see his way clear to guarantee bail for the government, and Marshal O'Connor cannot promise that they will be released on their own recognizance.

Jones invited Commissioner Jones to attend a final council with them to-day and selected Bear Island, their usual camping grounds, as the place. The fact that the Indians decided to return to the island for this council and especially requested newspaper correspondents to be present is taken as an omen that they have fully determined to fight no more.

Commissioner Jones and seven newspaper representatives left here to-day on the steamer Flora for the council on Bear Island. It is expected that fourteen of the Indians wanted by the marshal will return on the boat with Commissioner Jones this evening, leaving only six not arrested. A general council is appointed for the agency on Wednesday when the marshal is expected to take charge of the fourteen men.

General Bacon believes peace is in sight and will return to St. Paul in a few days in case there is no hitch in the negotiations. He will leave the soldiers here. General Bacon has not yet stopped preparations for a campaign against the hostiles.

"All of Which Dr. Greene's Wonderful Nervura Has Done."

"About one year ago I was in Providence, R. I., and one day slipped on the sidewalk and fell. The fall produced a very severe injury of my hip, and I was laid up for eight weeks. "Soon the grip set in, followed by the jaundice, and I was reduced to a very feeble state. All the doctors could do me no good. The grip was very severe, and left me low. I had one of the most skillful doctors in Providence, but to no avail, and the same result came from treatment at home.

"After all the doctors failed I commenced to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and am now feeling as well as ever, all of which Dr. Greene's Nervura has done.

AMUSEMENTS.

The attraction at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, will be a new farce called "A Mist Marriage," by Mr. H. A. DuSouchet, who wrote those highly amusing plays, "My Friend from India" and "The Man From Mexico." The new piece is on the same lines as the others, which have given Mr. DuSouchet such an enviable reputation as a writer of clean wholesome fun and which insure a warm degree of interest in anything new from his pen. The play was produced in Washington on Monday night, October 3, and made an instantaneous hit. Its dialogue is sparkling and crisp, and its situations novel and highly amusing. As in his other pieces much of the stage business is original and fresh, and some ludicrous surprises are promised in the new piece. The action takes place in New Orleans on Mardi Gras day and the comic situations proceed chiefly from the embarrassment attending a marriage in which an elderly lady, the real bride's mother, is substituted for the young lady. Messrs. Smyth and Rice, the successful young managers, who have brought out nearly all of Mr. DuSouchet's other plays have selected a company which is almost certain to give entire satisfaction in the presentation of the piece. It contains Messrs. Max Figman, Henry Herman, Clayton White, Malcolm Bradley, Frank M. Kendrick, Thomas McGuire, Miss Ina Hammer, Miss Katherine Mulkins, Miss Millie James, Miss Lucile Nunn, Miss Ann Warrington and others.

"GETTYSBURG."

"Gettysburg," a pretty play of love and war from the pen of Frank G. Campbell, has met with unqualified success. The realistic battlefield and patriotic tableaux, arousing the wildest enthusiasm. There are five acts, through which is interwoven a pretty love story, much comedy and a number of stirring patriotic scenes. It runs three nights at the Grand Opera House for Thursday. It is the first season of this patriotic melodrama and this will be its first production in Wheeling. That it will attract a crowded house on the opening night, goes almost without saying. Seats may be secured at the box office.

"ON THE SUWANEE RIVER."

A charming story of the south, enacted by a thoroughly competent cast, is "On the Suwanee River," which opened a half week's engagement at the Grand last night to a crowded house. The story is somewhat out of the ordinary, and it is beautifully embellished with special stage settings. It is a melodrama, but not of the sensational order. The situations are natural, and the climaxes strong. The play is presented by a cast of exceptional merit. Pathos and comedy are cleverly interwoven, and the production is, on the whole, delightful and wholesome. The company received an enthusiastic curtain call at the close of the third act. "On the Suwanee River" will be repeated to-night.

WEEKLY OIL REVIEW.

Field developments throughout the past week were marked by no new discoveries of any importance, says "D. S. W." in his weekly review of oil. It would seem that the earnest effort making in all quarters to open new pools would surely bring better results. In all the new territory likely to produce oil new wells are going down, and some have been completed from time to time, but the new pools remain in hiding.

The lower southwest is the most inviting for the prospector, but the results are not gratifying by any means. The amount of new production from that source is not equal to the capital invested in the great effort making to profit by the higher markets under present conditions. There has never been a time in the past that operators did not have a little reserve territory to drill when the market advanced above the dollar mark.

The advance of two cents in the credit balance on the part of Pennsylvania crude oil is very pleasing to the producer, for the reason that it places a very different value on his producing property. An advance of 72 per cent in the price of this product, as compared with that of a few months ago, furnishes a different basis to figure from. During the depression the small wells were only valued at the price paid for junk and the demand for second hand values was not such as to inflate values.

Where to drill is as much of a mystery now as at any time since the market reached the dollar mark. In the upper fields there is nothing encouraging. There is an unprejudiced desire to drill, but the territory capable of producing even small wells is not obtainable.

In the lower southwest there is a little better chance. At Jackson Ridge, a comparatively new development in Monroe county, operators are securing new wells of a kind that make them a paying investment at this market. The same is true of some parts of Ritchie, Wood and Pleasant counties. The recent developments in the Murphyshot and Hendershot pools, in Wood county, seem to indicate that about all that is left over in the interior locations in these parts is being drilled over.

The shallow sand territory in Pleasant and Wood counties show marked activity, but it is doubtful whether the returns warrant the investment of so much capital. The deep sand territory in Pleasant, Monongalia and Wetzel counties leads in new production, and if it were not for the supply from that source the situation at this time would be more alarming.

All fields, including the least promising, show the stimulating effect of a higher market, but after all the deep sand territory in Monongalia, Martin, Wetzel and Tyler counties show the best results, and is furnishing the bulk of the new production.

Near Stringtown, Tyler county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 5, on the Enoch McIntyre farm, and has a producer that placed 140 barrels to its credit the first twenty-four hours. In the same district No. 4, Dorsey Baker heirs, has been completed, and is good for 100 barrels a day.

In the Murphyshot district, Wood county, Barnsdall & Rich have completed a test well on the A. Wright farm, and have a forty-five barrel producer from the Berea. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 3, Sarah J. Grant, in the same development, has been completed and shot, and is good for sixty barrels a day. The same company's No. 4, on the George F. Albright farm, is in, and good for forty-five barrels a day, nature of the well.

In the southwest extension of the Whiskey Run development, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 4, Barnes, thought to be a duster when drilled into the sand last week, has since been shot, and has 1,000 feet of fluid in the hole. It will make a small pump. No. 3, on the same farm, is holding up at 365 barrels a day.

Near Brink, P. O., Wetzel county, and in the vicinity of the Big Injun sand production on the Bates & Mariner farms, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test well on the M. Kendall farm, located northeast of the Bates farm, and has a duster. As a Big Injun sand development this pool has proven rather a disappointment. The last five wells completed, except one, have been dusters.

Near Smithfield, in the same county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 2, on the Cain-Morris farm, and has a duster.

In the north extension of the Elk Fork pool, in Tyler county, the Henry Oil Company has drilled in its No. 3, on the L. L. Gorrell farm, and has a small producer, good for only ten barrels a day. The location is 700 feet southeast of the South Penn Oil Company's No. 4, on the Cunningham farm.

The South Penn Oil Company's No. 4, on the Cunningham farm, will be due in the next few weeks.

On the Middle Island creek, Tyler county, Schmieck & Mowry have made a location on the Bailey heirs' farm, in Union district.

Pittsburgh parties have completed a ten barrel Big Injun sand producer on the Selden-Wells farm, located on Bin's Run, in the same district.

Arrangements have been made by Pittsburgh operators to complete the well on the Edward Massey farm, started last summer, by Steele & Co., and located on Tack's Run, Union district.

On Bear Run, a branch of McKim Creek, and in the McKim district, the United States Oil Company has made a location and erected a rig for the test well on the Edward Holden farm. They will drill for a Big Injun well.

Thompson & Company are drilling at the foot of their test well, on the Aron-Bills farm, on French creek, Jefferson district.

OIL ADVANCED AGAIN

Yesterday Three Cents on the High Grades and One on the Low.

est reports of the pipeline companies, issued a few days ago, show that during the present month there has been a decrease in the stock above ground amounting to about 500,000 barrels, and before the month is over there will be a decrease more than twice that amount. This is the principal reason oil should advance. There are others, such as the increase in consumption and the falling off in production, but the falling off in stocks is the principal one, and any time that it is so noticeable it is a certainty that oil will advance soon.
