

AN AGNOSTIC'S WORK

Consigned to the Flames by his Children—A Man who Always Posed as a Christian.

New York Press: After revoting all the spare moments of his lifetime to writing a book on agnosticism, the study and member of Henry M. Taber, the millionaire, who died at his home, No. 43 West Twelfth street, in February, 1898, have been in vain. All the plates and copies of the book already printed have been bought up by members of his family, and are to be destroyed.

To all outward appearances, Mr. Taber was a Christian. He was president and treasurer of the board of trustees of the Old First Presbyterian church, at Fifth avenue and Eleventh street, and attended the services regularly up to the day of his death. He was a warm friend of the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, the pastor, and had married a daughter of the Rev. Dr. William W. Phillips, who had been pastor of the same church for twenty years.

But at heart, Mr. Taber was not a believer in the Divine Being. He was a warm friend of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, and had been converted to Agnosticism by the great unbeliever, who died only a few weeks ago.

All this was a secret which Mr. Taber kept locked up within his breast, and not until after his death did even the members of his family know of it. It was found that he had spent much of his time and money in attacking Christianity, and in preparing a large volume on Agnosticism, which was placed in the hands of the publishers only a short time before his death.

This book was entitled "Faith or Fact?" and for it Colonel Ingersoll wrote the introduction. It was to have been published by Carl D. Eckler, who has published most of Colonel Ingersoll's writings.

After Mr. Taber had ten volumes printed at his own expense, he sold a half interest to Clinton P. Farrell, Colonel Ingersoll's son-in-law, and the publisher also took an interest in the work.

When Mary A. Taber, Mr. Taber's daughter, learned about her father's book on Agnosticism, she was about to obtain possession of the plates and all the copies that had been printed. Through her lawyers she managed to get the books and plates, by paying a high price for them, although those who owned an interest in the work were loath to part with them.

The books and plates now are in the possession of Miss Taber, and if they have not found their way to the furnace already, they will soon.

The Agnostics who were interested in Mr. Taber's book feel very badly about the loss of the work, although they were reluctant to continue the matter with Mr. Taber's family. They say that as he left a fortune, they should have respected his life work, which was the only thing he wished to be left for future generations to remember him by.

They also say that it was Dr. Duffield, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who was chiefly instrumental in urging Miss Taber to get the plates of the book and have them destroyed.

In his book Mr. Taber gave the result of his study of Christianity for a lifetime, having kept track of the utterances of clergymen the world over. He dissected and analyzed their sermons, and devoted many pages to pointing out the flaws in the Christian belief as they appeared to him.

In the author's introduction of the book, Mr. Taber said that he should have asked the question, "Would the world be better off with or without Christianity?" My answer is "Without," and it is made advisedly.

An extract from Colonel Ingersoll's introduction reads: "Henry M. Taber, the author, has for many years taken great interest in the various questions raised in an orthodox atmosphere, was acquainted with eminent clergymen, from whom he endeavored to find out what Christianity is, and the facts and evidence relied on to establish the truth of the creeds.

"For half a century he has watched the ebb and flow of public opinion, the growth of science, the crumbling of creeds, the decay of the theological spirit, the waning influence of the orthodox pulpit, the loss of confidence in special Providence and the efficacy of prayer.

"During these years of change, of decay and growth, the author of this book looked and listened, became familiar with the arguments and the results obtained. For this work no better man could be found. He has no prejudices, no hatred. He is by nature candid, conservative and just.

"I agree with Mr. Taber that all religions are founded on mistakes, misconceptions and falsehoods, and that superstition is the worst plague-spot of every creed. This book will do great good. It will furnish arguments against the supernatural and absurd. It will drive phantoms from the brain, fear from the heart, and those who read these pages will be emancipated, enlightened and ennobled."

But in spite of it all, Mr. Taber's work was in vain. Neither his daughter nor his son, who no longer practicing law in Chicago share their father's belief as set forth in his book, and they are determined that it shall not go forth to the world to cause doubt in Christianity or possibly to convert others to agnosticism.

AN ELEGANT TIME. Housewife's Inference from Value of an Unexpended Cent.

Washington Post: A certain Washington man congratulates himself on the fact that he has the best wife in the world. He does not mean to draw any invidious comparisons to his superlative estimate of his helpmate, but he thinks no other woman would so well adjust herself to his eccentric habits. To tell the truth, he has not yet settled down so much that he does not enjoy a little whirl with the boys. Sometimes these celebrations develop into orgies of magnificent proportions. It is here that wife's good disposition asserts itself.

When her hubby comes home in the wee hours, and is crying vainly for the banisters, he is not confronted by an irate spouse at the top of the stairs. He is not compelled to listen to a curtain lecture before he is allowed to sleep off his indignation. He is confronted by no sour looks when he gets up the next morning with a fever-dizzy head, consequently he feels lighter with remorse. He even things up with his confidence, or tries to, by purchasing fine fainment and various articles for the feminine toilet in order to make himself believe that he is in some degree worthy of such a wife. It makes no difference whether he takes his bender at home or on the water-coast; it seems impossible to eradicate the dark-brown tangle until he has bought his peace offerings.

But the good wife herself has come to understand the meaning of these gifts. Not long ago the husband went to New York on some business. Contact with convivial friends and numerous "high balls" produced the Bacchantean fete that lasted for three days. With sobriety came remorse and the Washingtonian went down to a fashionable dry goods emporium and outdid himself. He bought an elegant dress and trimmings, which floated up. He expressed them to his wife and awaited developments.

When her two came a letter. It was not very long, but it is true, but it was a good long one. It recounted the effects of the recent cyclone at the capital even more vividly than it was described in the newspapers. The torrid weather also received honorable mention. All the details of the latest neighborhood gossip were fully cited. No mention was made of the receipt of the dress in the body of the letter. The postscript, always the best part of a woman's epistle, consisted of this brief sentence which spoke volumes: "You must have had an elegant time."

Dod Haalup, Grafton, necktie-holder. To Make Their Own Glass. DETROIT, Mich., August 16.—A spontaneous movement, looking to the establishment of a window glass manufacturing plant, sprang up to-day in the convention of the Society of American Florists and Horticultural Artists at Harmon's Hall. Different members declared that the window glass trade was charging exorbitant prices, and when E. C. Hill, of Richmond, Ind., arose with a proposal that the society organize a window glass manufacturing corporation, it was heartily taken up. A committee was appointed to formulate a plan for incorporation and report as to its feasibility, and report to the convention before adjournment.

Present plans contemplate the incorporation of a company with from $12,000 to $20,000 capital stock.

Miami's New President. OXFORD, Ohio, August 16.—Dr. Davis Stanton Tappan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Portsmouth, Ohio, has been elected president of the Miami University.

His Life was Saved. Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of this city, has lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to die before the afternoon, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Logan Drug Co.'s drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

FINANCE AND TRADE. The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, August 17.—Money on call steady at 2 1/2 per cent; last loan 2 1/2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 1/2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 84 3/4 @ 84 1/2 for demand at 84 3/4 @ 84 1/2 for sixty days. Posted rates $4 3/4 @ 4 1/2 and $4 7/8 @ 4 1/2.

Commercial bills at 84 3/4 @ 84 1/2. Silver certificates 60 1/2 @ 61 1/4. Mexican dollars 48c. Government bonds strong. State bonds inactive.

The stock market showed greatly increased activity and strength to-day. The strength was somewhat better diffused than has recently been the case, but the heaviest demand was still confined to a small number of stocks. The majority of the industrial stocks were listless and heavy. This was notably the case with the iron and steel stocks, except for Tennessee Coal, which has regained two points of its decline. The bears were disposed to continue the contest early in the day and handled the Tobacco stocks and Sugar rather severely, but even in these the bear campaign showed convincing evidence of exhaustion before the day was over.

Concerning the latter part of the day and closed with a net gain of 1 1/2. American Tobacco recovered its earlier loss and Sugar regained its earlier loss and closed 3/4 higher at 30 1/2. Oats, as usual, were very dull, but firm in the main, being influenced by wheat and corn. The market was quiet for cash, 150,000 bushels being reported taken for shipments. Receipts 413 cars. There was some selling of May, September ranged for 1 1/2 to 1 3/4. Corn was firm and closed at a slight advance, though best prices were not maintained. Receipts were moderate and cash and export influences demand good, and this and the strength of wheat were the influences. Receipts were 1,000,000 bushels. The market was quiet for corn. Shorts covered liberally. September ranged from 30 1/2 to 30 3/4 and closed 1/4 higher at 30 3/4.

Provisions were inactive, but firmer and stronger, although a decline was reported in hogs. The demand showed marked improvement, which was apparently the basis for the better feeling in the speculative market. Packers bought liberally. At the close September pork was 7 1/2 higher at $3 7 1/2. September lard was 1/2 higher at 20 1/2. Estimated receipts for Friday: Wheat 85 cars; corn 320 cars; oats 500 cars; hogs 18,000 head.
