

West Virginia State

"City Day" at the fair was as good as the best in the history of the association for attendance—the official figures being 17,383—and but for the rain and threatening weather early in the afternoon the attendance would have far exceeded any other Thursday. As it is, the fair association is very well pleased with the size of the crowd, and with the expected larger than usual Friday crowd the 1899 fair will go down on record as the greatest in the career of the association in point of total attendance for the week.

The "big show" pleased everybody, and it was voted on all sides that the fair this year is far superior in attractions to any other given in Wheeling.

Yesterday's crowd in make-up was rather unusual, in that such a large percentage was composed of out-of-town people. So many visitors for "City Day" was never here at any of the other fairs. This is probably explained by the large number of "Merchants' Days" visitors who remained over to take in the fair on Thursday after having witnessed the fireworks Wednesday night.

To-day, the last of the fair, is "Children's Day," and the indications are that the attendance will be very large. The public schools will close for the day, in order that the thousands of school boys and girls and their parents and friends may have the opportunity to see the greatest of fairs in Wheeling's history. A special programme, in which are features that will especially appeal to the little ones, has been provided by the management.

THURSDAY AT THE FAIR

Was one of Great Enjoyment for the Thousands who Attended—The Weather, Happily, Turned out Favorable After Showers in the Morning.

In the midst of a heavy downpour of rain, every train on every road entering the city yesterday morning was crowded, and on some of them even standing room in the aisles was at a premium. The result was that by noon the streets were full of strangers, all hoping and wishing that the rain would cease, and that "Old Sol" would come from behind the clouds, and make the race track at the state fair grounds fit for the afternoon races. Their wish was seconded by every person in Wheeling, and it may have been so many "souls with but a single thought" that caused the change, but no matter, "Old Sol" did appear about 1 o'clock, and

A HEAVY MILKER.

In the afternoon the day was pleasant. As the crowd began to arrive about half of them did not wait until after dinner, but went immediately to the fair grounds, where they soon found the Midway in full blast, and the various features just the same as in fair weather. It was one of the most interesting morning sessions of the fair ever held, and with rain coming down, to use the proverbial phrase, in bucketsful, the visitors were here, there and everywhere, taking in the sights and the shows.

At noon the rain ceased, and it was then that the cars, ferries, yachts and every other conveyance to the Island began to fill up, and from that hour until after three o'clock it was difficult to ride comfortably on any of them. The grand stand soon was packed, and the quarter stretch was lined with people. The fence all the way around the track was thronged, and from the reporter's stand the sight was great. There were faces everywhere, and crowds surging in all directions. From that point over 17,000 people could be seen, and 17,000 makes quite a bunch.

When the crowd began to arrive after noon, the Midway features were worked hard, and when the darkness came the "barkers" who stand outside and tell you "how it wuz" were pretty hoarse. The snake eater swallowed reptiles until there were tears in "it's" eyes and perspiration on "it's" brow. The coochie-coochie dancers danced until they were a tired lot, and the strong man was about as fatigued. The Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight pictures in the big tent were seen by thousands, and it is the general verdict that this is the banner attraction of the Midway. The pictures were very clear yesterday, and every move of the big fellows was seen true to life.

The races were exciting, and although the track was heavy, the horses made fair time. The free-for-all pace was very close, and all the events pleased the crowd immensely.

The hippodrome events given by the Jay Cook combination were splendid, and best of the chariot and dog races, Mr. Cook put out the hurdle race, much to the satisfaction of the people.

The exhibits of live stock and poultry were of particular interest to the strangers, and many favorable comments were to be heard on all sides at the excellence of the cattle and poultry entered. The incubators were lively all day, and a chick every five minutes was about the average.

The main hall, of course, was the center of attraction, and all the exhibits were carefully inspected. All day long excellent music was rendered at the F. W. Baumer Company's booth, which went a great way in enlivening things in the hall.

The souvenir hunters were out, and so were the card hunters, and as usual the exhibitors handed them out by the thousand. It was a good day all around, and everybody was satisfied. Let today's crowd be just as large.

THE RACES

Held the big Crowd Until Darkness Fell—The Unfinished 2:17 Pace Taken by Jean Lee—Other Events Hotly Contested—Fine Card To-day.

Yesterday's racing card was a fine one. Every event was exciting and although in some heats the leaders were not headed from the start, the fight for second place maintained the interest. The bookmakers did a lively business and lots of money changed hands. Jean Lee captured the unfinished 2:17 pace, which required a heat yesterday.

Lucy B. took the 2:23 pace in three straight heats. The free-for-all pace was a hummer. It required four heats and went to Effie Powers. The 2:23 trot will be trotted this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Ferris W. got two firsts, Henrietta and Improve each getting one.

Unfinished 2:17 Trot

The unfinished 2:17 trot was the first event. J. W. C. and Jean Lee had each won two heats Wednesday. Una Bell was the other entrant. Una Bell was said to be able to do 2:10. J. W. C. was the favorite, the others selling even in the pool. It was 3 o'clock when the opening heat started. Jean Lee won easily; time, 2:24 1/2. J. W. C. the pole horse, broke badly at the start and couldn't close up the gap, but got second place. This heat gave Jean Lee the race, J. W. C. getting second money.

2:23 P. C.

First heat—Six horses faced the starter. Star Onward, Ray & Waddie's horse, of this city, was among the three scratched. Kill Buck Rose and Lucy B. were the favorites. The former had the pole, but was soon passed by Lucy B., who was never headed. They were bunched prettily on the stretch for second place, which went to Doctor Improve, ch. s., by Unknown, 2:24. Second heat—Fanechon was looked on as a good thing. Lucy B. took the lead, the rest stretching out in single file. Kill Buck Rose was a good second until he broke on the stretch, when he was passed by Doctor Fox. Kill Buck Rose was placed back for his swerve on the stretch. Time, 2:20 1/2.

Third heat—It was a pretty race between Lucy B. and Kill Buck Rose, with the others closely bunched behind. Lucy B. drew away on the second half until out of danger, thus winning the race. The gallant Cadix mare was liberally applauded. Marion Eddy took second in this heat by a pretty bit of work. Time, 2:22 1/2.

Summary: Lucy B., b. m., Geo. W. Glover, Cadix, O. (Glover), 1 1 1 Doctor Fox, b. g., by Heaton Gem, C. H. Brues, Wheeling, W. Va., 2 2 2 5 Marion Eddy, b. m., by Jerome Eddy, R. C. Free-for-all Pace.

First heat—Nichol was scratched, leaving Moonstone, Rosa L., Frank Rysdyk and Effie Powers, the latter being first choice, selling 20-10 in the auction pools. After considerable scoring and a lecture to the jockeys by Starter Barnard, they got off. Moonstone, who had the pole, led for the half, chased by Effie Powers. Both horses went it at a terrific clip, a wheel separating them on the second half. Powers was urged to the limit on the stretch, but she was all in, Moonstone crossing the tape half a length ahead. Some watches made the last quarter in 30 1/2 seconds. Time for the mile, 2:15 1/2.

Second heat—Moonstone set a whirlwind pace. Effie Powers was with him and beat him out as they crossed the wire for the half. Moonstone lost several lengths by this burst of speed by the Marietta mare, and Powers joggled in. Only for this let-up the time would have been much faster. Time, 2:14.

Third heat—Effie Powers had too much speed for the rest on the first quarter. Rysdyk was cheered for passing Moonstone at the half, and the big fellow didn't seem pushed at that. The finish was uninteresting, with Effie Powers an easy winner, Rysdyk not letting out as expected, after collaring Moonstone. Time, 2:16 1/2.

Fourth heat—Effie Powers lost the pole to Moonstone and the two horses had a lively brush for the place. Moonstone carried her every inch of the road until the three-quarter pole, where the Marietta mare flew ahead and won by an easy two lengths this heat and also the race. Time, 2:15 1/2.

Summary: Effie Powers, b. m., by Anderson Wilkes, J. A. McCormick, Marietta, O. (Abrams), 2 1 1 1 Moonstone, blk m., by Mambrinus King, J. W. Jones, Wellsville, N. Y. (Bush), 3 3 4 Time—2:15 1/2, 2:14, 2:16 1/2, 2:15 1/2.

2:28 Trot

First heat—Improve took the lead, preceding Henrietta. After the quarter it was a nice bunch behind the leader, excepting Oneida, who was out of it. On the stretch Henrietta shot out of the bunch and the finish was a driving one. Neva Simmons beat out Ferris W. by a head for second honors. Improve finished fifth. Time, 2:24 1/2.

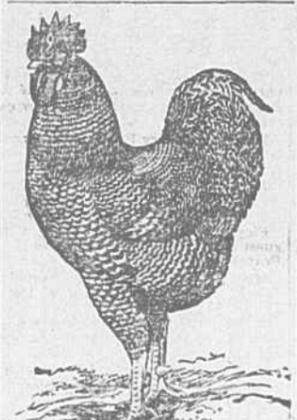

Second heat—Henrietta was forced to give up first position at the quarter to Ferris W., who finished first easy. It was a hard-fought battle for second, Oneida putting it over Neva Simmons by a head under the wire. Henrietta, which took the first heat, was a poor fifth. Time, 2:22 1/2.

Third heat—This was anybody's race. Ferris W., Improve and Neva Simmons had it nip and tuck, the two latter secawing for second. It was a very pretty heat, with Ferris unheaded, Neva Simmons second and Improve third. Time, 2:20 1/2.

Fourth heat—It was so dark when they lined up for this heat that it was difficult to distinguish the horses a furlong away. Ferris W. had a long lead, but Improve became dangerous at the turn and forged ahead of Ferris on the stretch, capturing it very nicely. Improve bore out his name, for he certainly improved in the last two heats. Time, 2:23 1/2.

EFFIE POWERS AND MOONSTONE.

This race will be finished to-day.

THE HIPPODROME FEATURES

Were Greatly Enjoyed, Especially the Hounds' Race.

The fair association made no mistake in putting on the hippodrome races, for they have proved extremely popular and form a pleasing attraction between the horse racing heats. The ladies and children took an especial delight yesterday afternoon in the race between the hounds, a team of each being hitched to a miniature sulky and driven by a boy rider. The long sleek hounds enjoyed the sport as much as the crowd.

Very exciting was the grand Ben Hur chariot race. Maria Campbell losing it by a jump at the finish to J. M. Campbell. This event was quite spectacular.

Battle Cry, the guideless horse, won the half-mile heat from a running horse ridden by a jockey; time, 57 1/2 seconds. The time for the steeple chase was 57 seconds, and it was won by Mrs. Campbell.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

The Teachers and Pupils of the Various Schools Will Attend To-day.

This will be Children's Day at the fair, and if there is anything that fills the young heart with joy and gladness, it is to be taken to the fair and shown the many sights presented there which are calculated to entertain and educate. Since the association began holding the fairs, nineteen years ago, one day has always been set aside for the children and following the custom, the board of education has wisely decided to have no school to-day, in order that the teachers as well as the scholars might have the opportunity to take in the big show.

For this year a special programme of children's sports has been arranged and will be carried out to the letter. These sports are to be furnished by the children themselves, for every boy fifteen years old or under, is entitled to enter. The prizes in each event are

ATTRACTED THE CROWD.

There was no particular spot at the fair which attracted more attention than the F. W. Baumer Co.'s exhibit of pianos and organs in the exposition hall, and the fact that this firm has its exhibit there makes that portion of the fair doubly attractive. From the time the visitors begin to arrive until the fair closes the best of music rendered as can only be rendered from one of the excellent makes of pianos or organs handled and recommended by this old established firm. At the fair they have on exhibition the Krakauer, Stutz & Bauer and Stodart pianos and the Miller and A. B. Chas. organs, all of them recognized leaders in their respective lines.

At their two stores, Nos. 1310 and 1142 Market street, the F. W. Baumer Company has an immense line of all kinds of musical instruments, and a corps of clerks always ready and willing to show callers anything in the music line. At the sales room of the Miligan, Wilkin & Co., lately absorbed by the F. W. Baumer Co., a large line of fine pianos are marked down to less than cost price in order that they shall be sold within a limited time. Any person contemplating a purchase should lose no time in calling there.

IT PLEASED THEM.

Farming Implements Attracted Yesterday's Crowd—C. D. Kyle's Exhibit. The farmers who attended the fair yesterday paid particular attention to the exhibit of farming implements, and after comparing the many lines shown by THOUSANDS OF STRANGERS Crowded the City Yesterday, Attracted by the Fair—The Hotels Filled and Even the Boarding Houses Turned Away People—Some of the Arrivals.

Never before during state fair week were so many out-of-town people here for what has always been "Wheeling Day" at the big show, as thronged the city yesterday. All trains on all roads entering the city were taxed to their utmost yesterday to bring the people from towns within a radius of 150 miles to the Wheeling Mecca. Naturally, with the hotels already filled with visitors who had come for the fireworks Wednesday night, and most of whom remained to take in the fair Thursday, there was little more than standing room for visitors who reached the hotels late in the afternoon and last night. Hundreds—perhaps thousands—were turned away from hotels and boarding houses. Many took the night trains for Bellaire, Moundsville, Little Washington and Steubenville, where sleeping accommodations could be secured for the night. The pressure, however, will be relaxed to-day, and it is expected the morning trains out of the city will be crowded. Among the arrivals yesterday were the following at the hotels: Stamm—L. T. Latham, F. E. McKisson and wife, Alice Wilcox, Oat Flood, Nell Laws, Olive Jenkins, W. McSnodgrass and daughter, C. M. Star Fair Notes. LAST DAY. "CHILDREN'S DAY." It looked bad in the morning. The camera fiend was there. There's a palist on the grounds. YOUR LAST CHANCE TO SEE IT. The street railway service couldn't be improved. Were you one of the thousands who attended yesterday? To-day's programme is the most attractive of the week. The grand stand could have been filled twice yesterday. Secretary Hook will be entitled to a long rest after this week. Lester Smith did some mixing. Lester will make a good county assessor. All the children's sports take place in front of the grand stand at 12:30. The politician mingled cordially with the humble voter in front of the grand stand. If you are afraid of pickpockets, fold 'em by leaving your money in a safe place. Old Sol's coming out after the rain at noon was many dollars to the association. It's not often the Midway shows are run in the morning, but that was the case yesterday. The two best races of the meeting to-day—2:17 pace, with 18 entries, and 2:21 trot, 18 entries. The big crowd formed an animated fringe all around the track. The white-washed fence helped to make the scene a study in black and white. The Wheeling Railway Company gave fine service yesterday and handled the crowd well. They have been doing that same all week. An Italian organ grinder strayed into the grand stand enclosure about the close of the afternoon. He was sending out a note at a grand rate, and his monkey was "copping" the coin. Starter Barnard put an end to Italy's enrichment by summoning an officer. Secretary Hook made no mistake in adding Mr. M. H. McNabb to his staff as press agent. He has been one of the busiest officials at the fair grounds this week, and his labors often extended into the "wee sma" hours, but "Mat" gets there just the same, and has been no small factor in the great success achieved this week.
