Burgess in securing for this synod a full set of printed minutes, at great personal sacrifice to himself, and for the statement of the annual conventions of this body from the organization to the present time, and for the beautiful record of the minutes in the protocol, which is indeed a most worthy model for all succeeding assemblies.

AMUSEMENTS.

In connection with the engagement of "The Little Minister," to be seen here on Wednesday evening, at the Opera House, it is hardly necessary to more than announce its appearance. The play has been such a phenomenal success, that it has become a household word. The play has done phenomenal business and it will be many years before another play is produced that will equal it as a drawing attraction.

Mr. Charles Frohman, whose company presents the play here, has had to use extreme care in getting together a cast that could properly portray the peculiar characters that appear in "The Little Minister." Those who have read the novel will doubtless understand this fact. We strongly advise those who intend to see this famous comedy to be on hand early, as from the common talk the engagement has caused, it is doubtful if there will be a seat left at the close of the first day's sale. Reserved seat sale opens to-day at 9 a. m., at the Opera House box office.

"FAUST."

Lewis Morrison's most charming production, "Faust," presented by a company of unusual excellency, will be seen in this city in a few days. Of "Faust" much might be written, but one cannot attempt to review it in a short article, its beauty, power and greatness being known from end to end of this broad land. To grasp its full intent one must witness its enactment at every opportunity, for it is a study of humanity and teaches a lesson of deep significance. This being its farewell tour, it should and undoubtedly will be greeted by a crowded house at the Opera House, Saturday, matinee and night, October 21. Its staging will surpass anything ever attempted before in the same line, a wealth of scenic and mechanical effects adding much to make its beauties more enchanting than ever.

leaving a fascinating recollection, which will last while memory endures.

"Two Jolly Rovers."

Leonard's "Two Jolly Rovers," a musical farce comedy, which will appear in this city at the Grand, October 19, 20 and 21, for the first time, is one of the funniest comedies upon the road. It is full of funny situations and the scenery is beautiful, the second act showing the Harlem river and the High bridge, also the exterior of the Hubbers Yacht Club, and the third act the exterior of the Ladies' O. I. C. gymnasium, where the Two Jolly Rovers are captured by their wives, making love to the beautiful widow and her charming niece. The company is composed of only first-class talent, each and every one an artist in his or her line. A special feature is Miss Marie King, the acknowledged best tip-toe dancer living.

At the Grand.

A crowded house greeted Julie Walters and his excellent supporting company at the Grand last night. "How Hopper Was Side Tracked" has been revised since its last production here, and every change is an improvement. Walters in the role of the man with the colossal cheek, possessing the happy faculty of always being in the right place at the right time, was funny as ever. Miss Louise Lewellyn was heard in some new songs, which demonstrated her exceptional vocal ability. The specialties interspersed in the comedy were heartily enjoyed. "How Hopper Was Side Tracked" will be repeated to-night.

Peabody Hotel Sale.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 16.—The circuit court to-day confirmed the sale of the Peabody hotel by Special Commissioner Cox. It was purchased by Attorney Edgar B. Senator Scott out of Danger.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 16.—Senator Scott is still improving. His physicians say that he is out of danger now and will be able to leave for Wheeling inside of a week.

"STOP THIEF!"

It is an old trick among the light-fingered fraternity to divert attention from themselves by raising the cry of "stop thief" and so putting the public on a false scent.

There is a certain kind of advertiser who is expert in similar methods. One of his tricks is to tell women that it is "revolting" to write to a man in consultation about disease. "Women should write to a woman." The remainder of the advertisement invites women to write for advice, and is carefully worded to convey the idea that the advice offered is that of a physician. But a close examination shows that there is no physician's advice offered and the whole clamor of "write to a woman" is raised to divert attention from the fact that the woman offering advice is not a doctor, and therefore not competent to give medical advice.

For the advice of an unqualified woman is just as dangerous as the advice of an unqualified man.

Women who are sick can obtain medical advice free by letter, by consulting Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. As an expert in the treatment and cure of female diseases Dr. Pierce takes the highest rank. In over thirty years' experience he has treated half-a-million women and of that great number ninety-eight per cent have been perfectly and permanently cured. Each letter is held as private and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

WEEKLY OIL REVIEW.

Not in many months have field developments attracted so much attention as during the past week. There was a general awakening along the line and information was eagerly sought after. The fact that reports, emanating from various sources, with little reliability for their basis, made the interest all the greater on account of the conflicting rumors.

The well to stir up the fraternity in the Eastern field was the Southern Oil Company's strike on the Camden tract, near Weston, Lewis county, W. Va. The well was drilled into the sand early Friday morning of the week before and began to flow on the ground at a rate estimated at two hundred barrels a day. Later on, it drilled itself in and increased its production to between four hundred and five hundred barrels a day. It was no wonder that operators from all parts of the country hurried to the vicinity of the new strike, located full twelve miles from any previous production. It was thought that the opportunity had come at last to get back into the business. It was found, however, that the territory in the vicinity of the new well had been under lease for some time and all the openings were few and too remote from the new find. One block of 1,000 acres, three-quarters of a mile from the Camden site, was leased for $20,000, and was the only transaction in leasing of any magnitude. The excitement that was at a white heat early in the week has cooled down very much at the close, when it was known that the decline of the well was almost as rapid as its rise. It is the generally accepted opinion that the producing sand is the Big Injun formation and without any water there. There is a slight pressure and to this cause is attributed the falling off to less than thirty barrels a day, instead of holding up good and strong as when first drilled in.

The location of the well is farther east than any previous discovery in West Virginia territory. The oil was developed at a depth of 1,495 feet, and if anything like a field can be opened up it will take cheap territory to opening its status should not long be a matter for conjecture.

There remains the possibility that the well is only a freak and nothing better, or even as good may be found in that locality. Some of those who visited the well and watched its actions came away attaching little importance to its showing after it was four days old. Operators will push explorations farther to the east than they have in the past. There will be a new era of wildcatting in territory that has not been looked on with favor in the past.

After a fruitless search extending over more than a year in Harrison county, Ohio, looking for a new pool, success seems in sight at last and much news is being spread that we expect Cain & Company drilled in a test well on the Brinker farm, located three miles northeast of Cadiz, that gives more promise than anything that has been found since the Seio pool was developed. The new well made a forty barrel flow in a few hours after it was drilled in, but like all Berea grit wells will have to be shot and put to pumping to determine its true capacity as a producer. Judging the well by its initial performance and compared with the Seio well it should at least make a forty or fifty barrel producer. If as good as that it would indicate a new pool rather than an extension of the old Cadiz development of the Seio field. The latter is fully ten miles to the northwest of the Brinker farm strike, and the limits of the producing sand to the southwest of the Seio field was expected to have been quite well defined. Future operations northeast of Cadiz will be watched with interest, and if a new pool is to be opened a few months will show its value. The great demand for new territory has aroused the greatest interest in this and the Camden strike.

A Good Thing from Hungary.

Under the auspices of the Apollinaris Company, London, a very valuable mineral water, adapted for medicinal purposes, has been introduced into this country under the name of "Apenta." This product is a bitter water, derived pure and in a perfectly natural condition, from springs situated near Budapest, Hungary.

It belongs to the class of purgative waters; but its action happens to be of a mild and non-irritating character, due to the presence of a large quantity of sulphate of magnesia, which exceeds in quantity the sulphate of soda. The former is the milder purgative, and the sulphate of soda, in the proportion of one part of other waters is therefore said to be avoided in "Apenta."

THE RAILROADS.

The Ohio River railroad is branching out wonderfully. The means whereby it has operated under a traffic arrangement with the Pennsylvania, giving it outlets to the north, is, if plans already under consideration are perfected, to be followed also in giving it a footing with southern and western business.

The Cincinnati, Portsmouth & Virginia is the short line which the Ohio River people have in view for accomplishing the southern and western plan.

Local officials at Portsmouth of that road say that negotiations are well advanced for the sale of that road, to the Pennsylvania, to be used in connection with the Ohio River railroad, as a low grade line from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh.

The Cincinnati, Portsmouth & Virginia is already built beyond Portsmouth to Scottdale, and a stretch of thirty miles would connect it with the Ohio River road, at Kenova. Very extensive improvements have been made on the line this summer, between Portsmouth and Cincinnati, grades cut down, heavier iron put on and new bridges built. The line is now far above the requirements of mere local business so far as physical condition is concerned. This being the case such great improvements give considerable color to the rumor of the Ohio River extension by building the thirty mile gap and absorbing the Ohio short line. It all presages a big railroad system through the reaching out of the Ohio River railroad. Through trains from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, over the Ohio River are almost in sight.

All women like to look young, because health with rosy cheeks, clear complexion, bright eyes and grace and elasticity of form indicate perfect womanhood and the kind of youth that is not measured by years and which ought to last till past fifty. To look well a woman must feel well, and to feel well the most perfect health is needed by taking Dr. Greene's Nerve Blood and Nerve Remedy, the greatest health-giver and restorative for womanhood the world has ever known. Mrs. W. H. Smith, 24 Sutton St., Providence, R. I., says: "I was sick and my whole system and especially my nerves were in a terribly weak condition. I was dreadfully nervous and lost almost complete control of myself. I was all discouraged and did not know what I should do. My limbs were swollen, my feet ached and I had pains all over my body. I was scarcely any sleep, and what little I did get was so restless that I could not rest. I had used all kinds of medicine, but I was not cured. I wish every sufferer might use it. After taking one bottle I was almost entirely cured of all my troubles. My nerves were strong, and the pains left me, the swelling disappeared, and I could sleep well. Thanks to this wonderful medicine I am cured. I wish every sufferer might use it."
