

The Social Side

"She said without a single sigh, An hardly hesitation, That she would be my sister, ay, Or any fond relation. I answered cunningly, 'Ah, me, I've sisters by the dozen; Please make it in the next degree, For one may wed a cousin.'"

Weddings, the McEchen-Halley, the Wallace-Dunlap, the Hayes-Henry, and the Forsyth-Brockmeyer, of more than usual note, because of the position in Wheeling's world of letters and society, supplemented with the James B. McKee and Caldwell-Aeschmann club receptions, and Opera House attractions, will be the order of a full coming week. The Toney, Wilson, Pollock and Carroll Club entertainments kept society on both the east and west sides of the river, on the top of the wave, during the week now ending.

Mrs. James B. Toney entertained the Island Whist Club last Monday evening at the Toney home, North Front street.

Miss Flora Wilson entertained with a "Guessing party," the Spinster organization and a number of from-out-of-town guests. The prize was captured by one of the latter, a house guest of Mrs. Albert C. Whitaker. The next Spinster entertainment will be given Friday, November 3rd, by Miss Lillie E. Vance, at the Vance home, North Main street.

The Twentieth Century Girls at the Pollock home, Chapline street, Thursday afternoon. The prize-winners at the game of euchre were Mrs. John H. Storer and Miss Virginia Harrison.

The Married Ladies Euchre Club will be entertained by Mrs. George B. Caldwell and Mrs. G. A. Aeschmann next Friday afternoon, at the Caldwell residence on Sixteenth street.

The Island Euchre Club and a number of friends will be entertained next Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. James B. McKee, at her home on North Main street.

Mrs. Harry C. Franzheim and children, of the Island, are at Cambridge Springs and will be absent from the city for a month.

The Ladies of the Hospital Association are arranging for a Charity ball.

The managers of the Mercantile Club are arranging for a Hallow E'en ball, which will open the winter festivities at the club house.

The Daughters of the Confederacy have arranged the annual ball for the Christmas holidays, instead of Thanksgiving time.

The Daughters of the Revolution have formed a Shakespeare Club, meeting on the third Thursday of each month.

The Carnival of Books for the benefit of the Day Nursery is progressing rapidly toward completion of all details, and an interesting charity entertainment is assured.

A barn dance at Echo Point is under the discussion of the Spinners, and a brilliant affair is anticipated for Hallow E'en night.

Mrs. Nelson C. Whitaker leaves Monday for Charleston, to attend the wedding of Miss Bessie Dana, a friend of her daughter, Miss Elsie Whitaker, who is now travelling on the continent.

Miss Julia Savage is entertaining a house party at the Savage home, Bethany road. The young ladies enjoying the hospitality are Miss Jennie Jepson, Miss Laura C. Dalzell, Miss Alice Bates, Miss Emily Pollock and Miss Mary Gardner, of Steubenville, the house guest of Mrs. John Frew.

Mrs. Joseph Spedel, of Chapline street, is in Pittsburgh.

Invitations for associate membership in the Woman's Musical Club will be issued during the coming week and an extraordinarily brilliant season from the artistic and encouragement side of the art is anticipated. The regular weekly rehearsal occurs this afternoon, and the active membership already enrolled warrants the assertion that much good music will be publicly presented through the medium of the club's monthly recitals. The evening concert, to which associate membership season tickets include admission, will have distinguished professionals as the attraction.

Mr. William Molineux, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Rogers, of Fifteenth street, leaves New York to-day by the Canard steamer Lucania for Liverpool.

The marriage of Mr. John Wallace, of the Intelligencer, to Miss Olive Donna Dunlap, of West Alexander, Pa., is booked for Thursday. The bride-elect is one of the prettiest girls of this section, and Mr. Wallace is known throughout the state as a writer and poet of marked credit. Many sketches appearing from Saturday to Saturday with their clever dealing with topics of the day, have been the subject of flattering comment by critics. Mr. Wallace was born in Canada, but educated at the West Virginia University at Morgantown. He has the distinction of being honored with the dedication of a volume of poems by a contemporary poet.

The wedding of Miss Sara Brockmeyer, youngest daughter of Hon. Charles W. and Mrs. Brockmeyer, and one of Wheeling's most fascinating young girls, to Mr. George Howard Forsyth, of Chicago, will be solemnized Wednesday evening in the presence of intimate friends, at the family home on North Main street. The officiating clergyman to be Mr. Reed, of Carlisle, Pa.

The marriage of Mr. Bernie Kenard McEchen, one of the city's prominent business men and social leader, to Miss Ruth Bally, of Allegheny, will be celebrated with great eclat Wednesday evening, in the Presbyterian church of that city, to be presided with a reception at the family home. Many of Wheeling's society people will go to Pittsburgh on a special train Wednesday afternoon.

The wedding of Miss Isabel Henry, one of Wheeling's talented girls, to Mr. Hayes, of Chicago, will be solemnized Wednesday at high noon, at St. Luke's P. E. church, Rev. Brittingham officiating.

Miss Mae Belle Hart, sister of Hon. Charles Burdette Hart, United States Minister at Bogota, is the house guest for two weeks of Mrs. W. W. Irwin, South Chapline street.

Dr. and Mrs. John C. Hupp, of Fourteenth street, are out of the city.

The sacred cantata "Daughter of Jairus," was sung to a well pleased audience at St. Matthew's P. E. church last evening, by the boys' choir. The solo, vocal and instrumental work, were exceedingly well done by Mrs. Flora Williams, Miss Letha Francis, Messrs. Paris R. Myers, Elwood Dobbs and Carl Lang.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The big deal that was pending, mention of which was made in these reports some weeks ago, was consummated Thursday, and is the largest transaction of the kind that has taken place in many months. The seller is the Northern Oil Company, of which T. N. Barnard is the president and principal stockholder. In the sale is included 1,000 barrels of daily production, a large acreage, and more than fifty wells, located in Wood and Ritchie counties, West Virginia, and in Adams county, Ohio. The price paid was $750,000. The purchasers were Boston capitalists and Fred E. Boden, it is said, negotiated the trade.

In disposing of the amount of production named, Mr. Barnard has not included all of his holdings. He retains his Whisky Run, Ogden, Archer's Fork and part of his Jackson Ridge property. The sale represents a big job, and many of the leases have not been fully developed. Mr. Barnard will continue to operate the property he has retained and will still be the largest individual operator in the eastern fields. There were many small interests held by individuals in the property sold, and in order that his operations might be more easily handled and come more closely under his direct supervision, he concluded to part with that portion of his holdings.

The style of the new company has not been made known, but it is understood that a corporation will be organized and capitalized at more than a million dollars and with the purchase as a nucleus, will engage energetically in the oil producing business.

In the McDonald field, Wiles, Boyd & Co. have purchased from H. M. Ernst five producing wells on the Charles, Melise farm. The wells have an aggregate net production of 7 barrels a day and the consideration was close to $7,000, or about $1,000 a barrel.

The owners of the Bricker farm well and leases near Cadiz, O., have organized themselves into a company to be known as the Bricker Oil Company, with a capitalization of $25,000. It is the purpose of the new company to begin active operations on the John Bricker and adjoining farms. Notwithstanding there has been the greatest excitement and the new strike visited by many prominent operators, few leases have been taken outside those held by the owners of the Bricker farm well. The drillers who worked on the Bricker secured a 70-acre lease, some distance from the gusher for $500. It is reported that they sold it last Wednesday at an advance of $2,500. Farm owners a mile or more from the well are asking a bonus of $100 an acre, but operators are not anxious to invest at any such figures and at such long range from the producer. The Bricker farm well is flowing by heads and produced 50 barrels from 6 o'clock Wednesday evening to 11 o'clock this morning. Nothing has been so to make increase in production since it was shut last Saturday midnight. It is thought that it will increase its output after it has been cleaned out and put to pumping.

BOWLER'S GOOD LUCK.

The Reilly Building Janitor Secures a Fortune of $35,000 by the Death of his Grandfather in England. The many friends of William H. Bowler, janitor of the Reilly building, will rejoice in the knowledge of the good luck that fell to his lot yesterday in a communication from over the sea. To be brief, "Billy's" astonished eyes feasted yesterday on a letter sent him by a sister in England, which announced that the Wheeling man is heir to $35,000, his share of his grandfather's estate, which comes to him by the death of his grandniece. Mr. Bowler is his father's eldest son and his portion of the estate is the largest of all. His father is dead.

Wanko Gives a New Trial. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Kid Wanko, the pugilist, of Washington, Pa., who was on trial here charged with killing Phil Carr, of Cincinnati, in a glove contest here last June, the jury returning a verdict of voluntary manslaughter, will not go to the penitentiary. Judge Jackson, in criminal court this afternoon, sustaining the motion to set aside the verdict, has granted a new trial, set for the January term. Wanko at once gave bond, was liberated from jail, and left for his home at Washington, Pa., tonight. He will work in the Dungan glass factory there until his second trial comes up.

Choyanski Wins. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Joe Choyanski, of California, whipped Jimmy Ryan, of Australia, in the seventh round of their fight to-night at the Broadway Athletic Club. Choyanski was far more the conqueror of the two, and the result was expected. Ryan was outpointed from the first to the eighth and when he was knocked out Choyanski was as fresh as when he began. Ryan's previous showing with Choyanski, with whom he stayed twenty rounds, made some people bet even money that Ryan would stay the limit this time. But the even money they bet was badly invested, as Ryan never had a possible show when it came to hard work.

No Alarm Felt. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The Chronicle says: "There is little cause for alarm at present over the fact that possibly the United States transport Senator with the Iowa troops aboard, encountered a typhoon shortly after leaving Yokohama, according to marine and the owners of the steamer. The fact that the Empress of India did not sight the transport and was herself caught in the typhoon is not regarded as ominous for the Senator. In fact the firm officers and both members of the firm of Goodall, Perkins & Co., the owners, are firm in their belief that the Senator will arrive on Monday as scheduled, or at the most not later than Tuesday. The Senator is built of steel and cost $300,000. She is only two years old and is one of the staunchest vessels on the Pacific."

Presbyterians Approve. TROY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The New York Presbytery synod approved Bishop Potter's stand on the divorce question by the adoption of the following resolution: "The synod of New York recognizing with sorrow and alarm an increasing tendency toward a lowered regard for the sacredness of the marriage tie, here enjoins upon all its ministers absolutely to refuse to marry divorced persons, except it is the innocent party under a divorce granted for reasons fully recognized in the new testament, and further urges upon all its ministers, church officers and members to use all possible proper means to cultivate a high moral and religious sentiment on this subject in all our communities."

Library for Soldiers. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—A committee of prominent citizens, headed by Rabbi Jacob Voorzanger and including among its members Generals Shafter, Mayor Phelan and Mrs. Phoebe Shafter, has taken steps toward the establishment of a library in Manila for the use of the United States soldiers. The project which was originated by the late Colonel Miley has been taken up with enthusiasm by men and women who are determined to carry it to execution.

New Pacific Steamship Line. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The Examiner says that the firm of Mitsui & Co., of Japan, is considering a plan to establish a new trans-Pacific steamship line. The firm is said to have contracted for 100,000 bales of cotton to be delivered before next March and may provide steamers of its own to carry out this American project. Return cargoes it is stated will be solicited and the company's vessels may become permanent competitors of the existing lines. S. Adagaki, a member of the firm who has just returned to Japan from this city is alleged to have made agreements with merchants here to patronize the steamers of his company.

CHILDREN'S Suits, 65c to $7.00. Best grades and many styles than any other store in town. GUTTMAN & CO., Twelfth and Main Street.

HERE AND THERE. We're happy now in Heyville, for the times are of the best; There's money in our pockets, an' we're layin' back on 'em; An' those of us 'at's so inclined meet at Bill Wilson's store, To fathom out the tangle of the Briton an' the Boer.

There ain't a chap among us as ever crossed the sea, Bein' brought up here in Heyville, an' it's late we love to see; Simple country fellows, with no time for hidden love, An' 'twixt the 'at of the trouble 'twixt the Briton an' the Boer.

There's Deacon Jones allows the Briton is to blame, An' Conbrab's hired man he cuts in on the same; While Deacon Gray don't want to be put on the floor, Debates whether the Briton or the Boer.

An' we have it hot an' heavy at Mafeking, so to speak; An' 'at's Natal, or some town 'at sounds like Greek; Till our voices drown the winds that out-blow the sea, Fur Heyville takes an interest in the Briton an' the Boer.

These are the days when the teacher assigns to her pupils, "The Glories of Autumn," as a subject for a composition, and the observant of the little ones find it a fruitful topic. Autumn has glories in her sunsets that charm the eye for the beautiful. It is full of reflections of the most callous mortal. It is the season of "melancholy-days," melancholy in that they recall sweet memories of the hallowed past, suggested by the fall of the faded leaves, the rustle of the wings through stubbled fields and "makey woods," the signs of decay where vegetation ranked luxuriant a few moons ago. In the changes that nature's penitence has opened as in the country. Fall time seems to tell its story only in the abandoned parks, the decline in the mercury and the rustle of the wings through stubbled fields and "makey woods," the signs of decay where vegetation ranked luxuriant a few moons ago. In the changes that nature's penitence has opened as in the country. Fall time seems to tell its story only in the abandoned parks, the decline in the mercury and the rustle of the wings through stubbled fields and "makey woods," the signs of decay where vegetation ranked luxuriant a few moons ago.

There is a certain amount of sympathy to be ladled out to the boy that has never spent some periods of his life in the country. Cowper, the tender English poet, may be pardoned for his lines—"God made the country and man made the town." A nature sensitive to beauty and pure and inspiring pleasures reveals amid the vapors of the city a longing for solitude and sweet rest and the tired nerve and wearied brain find rest and ease away from the persistent and perennial rush and roar of the city. A solitude more than a solitude in the hills, where the breeze sings as it winds its way and the green plumes of the wooded hills nod in a rookery the most so humanly as the hills of the city, where the solitude is the import of this digression. No, but schools are not all. Long before the public school system, the school in the hills, where the breeze sings as it winds its way and the green plumes of the wooded hills nod in a rookery the most so humanly as the hills of the city, where the solitude is the import of this digression.

To strike a compromise, bring forth the boy living in a small town. No street cars greet his sight, neither does a corn field. Still he lives in a town, mind you, and it's knocking off the chip on his shoulder to call him a farmer. He doesn't like to be called a "compromise" fortune. He lives on a street, where the houses have lots of room, and every man raises his onions and lettuce in the rear, while a capacious lot adorns the front. This boy sees an occasional "troupe" at the hall over the biggest general store in town, the hall flying under the colors of an opera house; does not see a sign of a volunteer fire brigade, an energetic brass band, and the other equipments of an incorporated municipality. The competitors of the existing minutes' walk to the outskirts, where the farm lands reign in profusion. The swimming hole is a short distance up the creek, and any boy may steal his wistful fall of apples from the neighboring orchard.

While much larger than the portrayed "town," and still retaining all the characteristics of a metropolitan city, Wheeling is ideally situated to pose as a "compromise" fortune. It is the Wheeling lad with typical rural scenes within a stone's throw. He has but to scale the hills which fringe the city and he's in the country. Few cities have as many farms so close to the postoffice. There are farms on Reymann's hill, Chapline hill and all the river hills, where the boy or girl may stroll in "the melancholy days" may do so in his heart's content and in conformity with the timely poetry.

It is something besides bad air that makes a woman faint in a close theatre. A well woman wouldn't faint. The woman who easily grows faint and dizzy—who has palpitation of the heart—a "stuffy" feeling—hot flushes—nervous troubles, better look for the cause in her digestive system or in the distinctly feminine organism—maybe in both.

Women who are not quite well and don't know just what is the matter, and women who are really sick and don't know exactly what is the matter should write at once to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., stating their symptoms in detail. They will be advised by Dr. Pierce without charge.

Dr. Pierce is, and for over thirty years has been, chief consulting physician in the world-renowned Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. He has treated and cured more suffering women than any other physician in the world, and more of his "Favorite Prescription," for the correction and cure of all disorders connected with the feminine organs, except cancer, has been sold than of all other similar medicines.

Write to Dr. Pierce. If his medicines are what you need he will tell you so. If they are not what you need he will honestly say so and will tell you what to do. Dr. Pierce's position is a sufficient guarantee that his advice will not be biased by the hope of selling you a few bottles of medicine.

If you wish to study up your own case Dr. Pierce will send you, free of all cost, a paper-bound copy of his great two-page book, the "Common Sense Medical Advertiser," of which over 750,000 were sold at $1.50 a copy. All that Dr. Pierce asks is a stamped envelope, and you will pay the cost of mailing only. If you prefer the book in fine French cloth send 3¢ stamp. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

STRAINED SITUATION. In Samoa—Position of the Consuls not a Bed of Roses. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The steamer Moana arrived to-day from Australian ports via Apia, Samoa, and Honolulu. The correspondent of the Associated Press at Samoa sends news of a startling character. He says under date of October 6: "The aspect of affairs in Samoa is indeed far from reassuring. There is trouble brewing, and it will come soon if the three powers do not come to aid the government and the distracted officials. The three consuls were left here as a provisional government by the consuls, and the consuls are finding their position by no means a bed of roses."

Famine in India. SIMLA, India, Oct. 20.—At to-day's meeting of the supreme council of India, C. M. Rivaz said that the famine-affected areas comprised 100,000 miles of British territory and 250,000 miles of the territory of native states, each section containing upward of 15,000,000 of people. The situation in the central provinces and particularly in Berar, Guzerat, North Deccan, Southeast and Central Provinces, Barod, Indore and Rajputana was distinctly grave.

Carters' Sentence Confirmed. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Judge Lacombe in the United States district court, handed down a decision to-day dismissing the writ of habeas corpus in the case of former Captain Oberlin M. Carter, who is under sentence of five years imprisonment for conspiracy to defraud the government in contracts. The decision was given in a lengthy opinion which upholds the findings of the court-martial.

Andrade Resigns. CARACAS, Venezuela, Oct. 20.—The crisis is virtually over. General Andrade, the president, has accepted the conditions proposed by the insurgent committee, General Cipriano Castro, and will go abroad, the presidency devolving upon the vice president. General Castro will enter Caracas peacefully to-morrow, thus avoiding bloodshed and a dictatorship.

SMITH-BLACKSHERE. Prominent Young People Married at Mannington, W. Va. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. MANNINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Miss Jessie Blackshere, of this city, and Edward Grandison Smith, of Clarksville, were married Wednesday evening, October 18, 1899, at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of immediate relatives. Invitations had been issued for the marriage to be solemnized at the M. E. church, Wednesday evening, October 25, but owing to telegraphic messages summoning the bride's family to Mr. Blackshere, who is critically ill of Bright's disease at Colorado Springs, Colorado, the nuptials were celebrated one week earlier.

Under other circumstances this would, doubtless, have been one of the most brilliant weddings ever occurring in the state. Miss Blackshere is the daughter of John Blackshere, esq., president of the Exchange Bank of Mannington, and one of Marion county's wealthiest and most influential business men and respected citizens. She is a woman of remarkable beauty, highly accomplished and possesses great culture. Her education was obtained in a leading southern institution with a post-graduate course in Baltimore.

Mr. Smith is a native of this county, a graduate of the State University in the classics and law. He took a post-graduate course in law under that great lawyer and famous teacher, Randolph Tucker, at Washington and Lee University, graduating in 1892. In June of that year he began the practice of law here and has met with phenomenal success. As an orator of fine ability and power he won a handsome medal in 1892 in the southern inter-collegiate oratorical contest at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND. STRONG NERVES. STRONG BODY.

A vigorous constitution and power of endurance, depend upon the nerves. The nerves give force to all the organs of the body. The system is kept clean of morbid material. The blood circulates quickly, exhilarates; feeds the muscles and tissues with wholesome nourishment. Strong nerves keep strength of body increasing, and the muscles firm.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND MAKES NERVE STRENGTH.

Robert Fuller, of Alexandria, S. D., writes: "I was very nervous, and weak, with pain in the small of my back and nervous headache. I could sleep but very little. I took different medicines which did me no good. "Paine's Celery Compound changed my whole system from weakness to health and vigor, after taking only four bottles. I do not believe there is a better medicine in existence."
