GARDNER-McGOVERN FIGHT.

The Advance Guard of Wheelingites Leaves for New York.

The advance guard of Wheelingites that will witness the McGovern-Gardner fight left for New York last night, and another bunch will leave Wednesday evening. All told, not fewer than twenty people from this city will be at the ringside for Friday night's engagement, to root for the "pride of Wheeling."

It is realized that Oscar is going up against the hardest kind of game, and if he wins it will surprise the majority. One thing not made clear yet is the weight they will fight at. McGovern's manager promised to stipulate this feature three weeks before the fight, but nothing of this character has found its way into print yet. Gardner can do lower than Terry, and if they fight at catchweights, which seems likely, the chances favor the Brooklyn lad. In the event of McGovern's victory, Gardner will still claim the 116-pound championship.

One of the Wheeling men who will see the fight is John T. Ryan, who is well up in points on the boxing game, and he calls the turn of events than the most of them. Says "Toogler": "If they mix it from the start the fight will be short, with McGovern's end looking the best, but both are in-fighters, and there will be a good chance for Oscar. However, Oscar may try to hold back for six rounds, in order to 'cop' the bets that he can't stay that long."

Jack Glascock will likely figure before the national board of arbitration this spring. He has accepted terms offered by the Sioux City club, of the Western league, notwithstanding the fact that he is under reservation to Port Wayne, of the Interstate. The latter club states its determination to push its claims to every extremity possible. "Jack" informed the Intelligencer the other day that he could not be held by Port Wayne for the reason that that club still owes him $125 on last season, through some sort of an arrangement by which he was to participate in the club's profits. "Jack" claimed that he was at all worried over the situation, and said he didn't care particularly whether or not he played professional ball this year.

BASE BALL.

Columbus is booked for Inter-state league ball—of that there can be no doubt—but who will manage the team which will be located in this city has not yet been determined, says the Columbus Dispatch.

The patrons of the game have been hoping that John L. Riley would succeed in his effort to secure grounds in a section of the city where the game could be played on a paying basis beyond any possible doubt.

Riley has not given up the fight. He has looked at every piece of ground in the city that would answer his purposes, but he has met with the same result in his efforts to secure the several pieces of property that would do for a ball park. Not a single one of the fancy grounds that have met Riley's fancy could be secured as he long ago determined that he wanted nothing to do with a team that had to play on the Parsons avenue grounds, there seems to be nothing left but for him to give up his idea of starting in the "Magnetic Stakes" in his native city.

I am confident that if Riley should take charge of a club in the capital he would give us a club that the fans would take pride in supporting, even if it had to play on the Parsons avenue grounds. But the local man knows from personal observation during the past three or four seasons, during which the Western league tried to bring the game to this city, that the Parsons avenue park is not the location for a base ball team that expects to be able to declare a dividend on its stock at the close of the playing season. Riley does not care to break into the base ball business for glory alone, so there you are.

The Mansfield management has already forwarded contracts to nineteen men to play in the Mansfield team this season, thirteen of whom have either been under contract to or have played with Mansfield in former seasons. They are: D. J. Downey, manager and shortstop; James Hackett, Thomas H. Hackett, Harry Eichel, B. Merce, and Roy Montgomery. A number of these have already signed and returned their contracts, and from these men a club will be made up that will do credit to the city and the league. In addition to these, negotiations are on which will probably give Mansfield the services of three other men. Carl McVey expects to manage a team in the New York state league this season, but it is now probable that he will be signed to play center field at Mansfield, and if he is it is probable that he will be able to induce "Peggy" Ward to play at Mansfield again this season, as he was to play under McVey's management in the New York state league. Harry Truby is also anxious to play with Mansfield, and his application is on file with Manager Lowmyer.

Bethany Footballists Active.

Manager Frank D. Barger, of the Bethany college football team, has already begun to arrange a schedule of games for the fall season, and has written for three games with Wheeling, including the Thanksgiving game. It is usual for colleges to be early with their schedule, but Wheeling's football talent is not so arranged as to be able to figure on games before September, and for the Thanksgiving game, it has unofficially been given out from Morgantown that the University team feels unusually kindly this year toward Wheeling for the big game.

AMUSEMENTS.

Nothing that has been written by that clever playwright, Charles H. Hoyt, is more honestly mirth provoking than his amiable satire on the citizen soldiery entitled "A Milk White Play." The manner in which the fun-making is conducted gives no offense and leaves no cause for complaint. The scenery is

After Marriage

They are going to be together just as much as before; going to ride the wheel, take little pleasure jaunts, enjoying everything together. Isn't that what many a young couple promise each other? And yet, how very soon the wife begins to say "No, I don't think I care to go. You go alone, dear." Young women don't reckon on the great physical changes which follow marriage. How can they when they are allowed to grow up in entire ignorance of vital physiological facts? They feel languid, weak and nervous. Sometimes there is headache and backache. The pulse no more leaps in answer to the thought of a spin on the wheel. Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, know how promptly the languor, headache, backache, nervousness and weakness are cured by this medicine. Many husbands write in gratitude to Dr. Pierce for the medicine which gives them back the wife's companionship, as it gives her back her health.

"All praise is due to you for your wonderful 'Favorite Prescription' writes Mr. John W. Coffman, of Hillsburg, Casey Co., Ky. 'My wife suffered with female irregularity; was confined to bed every three weeks. After taking your medicine she was cured, and has not suffered any derangement since. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a boon to delicate women.'"

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

particularly pleasing and the costumes and handouts and, the gaudy military uniforms showing to great advantage. The ladies of the company are attractive and natty. The music is original and agreeable, and the special feature is the "A Milk White Play" comes to the Opera House, Wednesday evening, March 1.

"The Ragged Cavalier."

At the Opera House on Thursday, March 2, Mr. Creston Clark and a strong supporting company of twenty will produce his new romantic play, "The Ragged Cavalier." The piece is much on the order of "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Under the Red Robe," and other plays of a romantic type that have attained such a romantic vogue during recent years. It is a love story primarily, but there is an abundance of comedy element, while some of the situations are so stirring as to approach the melo-dramatic. Mr. Clark will be accompanied by Miss Adelaide Prince, an actress of remarkable beauty and intellectual resources, who was for five seasons a prominent member of Augustin Daly's Company in New York and London.

"The Limited Mail."

Elmer E. Vance's triumph of stage realism, "The Limited Mail," will appear at the Grand for three nights, commencing Monday, March 3, and will, without doubt, prove the dramatic surprise of the season. It is said to be so thoroughly realistic that audiences, after witnessing its highly wrought scenes, have involuntarily sprung from their seats, shouted and waved handkerchiefs in minutes. The flight of the Limited Mail, the wonderful electrical effects, the real saw mill in actual operation, and the thrilling wreck, make a performance almost unrivalled.

"The Heart of Chicago."

The question is often asked by those who have never seen Lincoln J. Carter's great play, "The Heart of Chicago," but who have heard of the approaching engine scene, "Is it accomplished by the use of the new animated picture machines, such as the vitascope, cinematograph, etc?" It is not. The engine and other apparatus is as real as stage limitation, iron, wood and steel can make it. As to how it is made to appear to come from miles away, all the time being in plain view—as Kipling would say, "That's another story." It is the inventor's secret. "The Heart of Chicago" comes to the Grand Opera House the last half of this week.
