

SONG OF THE SIREN

Is What Turned Dewey's Head From Military to Civil Ambitions.

BUSY SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Present House of Representatives Has Lost Seventeen, Ten of the Number Having Died—Many Important Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—There is certainly no new development in Washington to indicate that Admiral Dewey's presidential candidacy is any stronger. The first effects of the announcement having passed off, it is possible to view it in calmer mood. And yet people here do not regard it with any more favor and on all sides and from people of all shades of political opinion are heard sincere expressions of regret that the admiral should have permitted himself to be announced as a presidential candidate.

The suggestion is heard, but very infrequently, that perhaps the politicians fearing his strength before the people, are belittling his candidacy in order to weaken it, but the fact is that every expression that has been made has been spontaneous and sincere.

The impression prevails that the admiral has simply misunderstood the popular ovations given him in the south and has permitted himself to be used by designing politicians such as John R. McLean, his brother-in-law; ex-Senator Gorman, William C. Whitney and some eastern Democrats, in the hope of breaking the force of Bryan's popularity and making his nomination on the first ballot, under the two-thirds rule, impossible. In that event, they thought the Democrats might turn to Admiral Dewey. Then the admiral has been much influenced by his wife's ambition. She always has been an ambitious woman.

It Is Entirely Too Late.

That there can be anything done to destroy Bryan's boom is not deemed possible by cool-headed politicians of both parties. The verdict is: "It is entirely too late." Not that Democrats cannot be found to say privately that Bryan should be beaten, but they realize that he is the inevitable nominee of the Kansas City convention. The fact that the admiral has no political platform to announce also weakens his candidacy, and then he has given out some remarkable interviews, which do not tend to make public opinion more favorable, but to cause surprised comment, as his reputation has been so striking for good sense and good judgment. Perhaps the interview published with him in the New York Journal is the strangest. In that he said among other things:

"The responsibilities I had in Manila I have had in a degree in other parts of the world. Perhaps they were as great responsibilities as any President ever had. They were greater responsibilities than many persons who aspired to the presidency have ever had. I have performed service that some of these clowns who aspire to the presidential office have never performed."

If Admiral Dewey actually spoke in that vein he lost his dignity, and certainly has helped neither his candidacy nor his reputation. Who are the clowns? Why should the admiral think it necessary to exalt himself by thus blowing his own horn?

Fighting Taylor.

The story comes from Ohio that Representative Taylor, who represents the old McKinley district, is finding himself opposed for re-nomination by the Mormon influence, and that large sums of money have been poured into his district from Utah to defeat him. Taylor, it will be remembered, challenged Brigham H. Roberts' right to a seat in the house, was chairman of the Roberts investigation committee, and did more, perhaps, than any other member of Congress to secure the unseating of the Mormon congressman. It would be, perhaps, natural for the Mormons to seek to prevent his return to Congress, but would they be so unwise as to risk further agitation of the polygamy question by trying to defeat Taylor? Is it not natural, too, that finding opposition to their friend, supporters of Taylor should assume that Mormon influence is behind it? These are questions that naturally occur in view of the Ohio story.

Has Lost Seventeen Members.

The present house of representatives has lost seventeen members since it was elected in November, 1898. There have been ten deaths, four resignations and three members have been unseated and barred. Seven members did before they could take their seats as representatives in the Fifty-sixth Congress. These were Nelson Dingley, of Maine, chairman of the ways and means committee in the Fifty-fifth Congress; William L. Greene, of Nebraska; Samuel T. Baird, of Louisiana; Richard P. Bland, of Missouri, one of the old warhorses of the Democracy, who became famous as "Silver Dick"; Lorenzo Danford, of Ohio; Daniel Ementrout, of Pennsylvania, and Ewan E. Settle. Successors have been chosen to fill the vacancies thus caused in the persons of Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine, who sprang to national prominence by his speeches on Roberts, the Utah polygamist; William Neville, of Nebraska; Joseph E. Farnell, of Louisiana; D. W. Sheekleton, of Missouri; Joseph J. Gill, of Ohio; Henry D. Green, of Pennsylvania, and June W. Gayle, of Kentucky. The other three members who died passed out of this life while the house was in session. They were Charles A. Chickering, of New York, who had served with distinction for several terms; Sidney P. Egan, of Virginia, who, though a comparatively new member, has won a reputation for considerable ability among his colleagues; and Alfred C. Harner, of Pennsylvania, the father of the house, whose long service has given him a large influence.

A Number of Resignations.

The resignations are: Warren H.

"Dear Sir:—Please accept my sincere thanks for yours of recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test and the benefit has been extraordinary. It has completely braced me up. I am just as vigorous as when a boy, and you cannot realize how happy I am."

"Dear Sir:—Your method worked beautifully. Results were exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have completely returned and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."

"Dear Sir:—Yours was received and I had no trouble in making use of the receipt as directed, and can truthfully say it is a boon to weak men. I am greatly improved in size, strength and vigor."

All correspondence is strictly confidential, mailed in plain sealed envelope. The receipt is free for the asking and he wants every man to have it.

HOOKEE, OF NEW YORK, WHO WAS APPOINTED TO A NEW YORK JUDGESHIP; THOMAS BRACKETT REED, THE SPEAKER OF THREE CONGRESSES, WHO RETIRED TO ENGAGE IN LAW PRACTICE, AND WHOSE LOSS HAS PROVED A SEVERE BLOW TO THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY; JOHN W. SMITH, OF MARYLAND, WHO WAS ELECTED AS A DEMOCRAT GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND LAST NOVEMBER, AND REPRESENTATIVE McPHERSON, OF IOWA, WHO HAS JUST BEEN APPOINTED A FEDERAL JUDGE AND WHOSE RESIGNATION WILL BE HANDLED IN AS SOON AS HE IS CONFIRMED. E. B. VREELAND, OF NEW YORK, SUCCEEDED HOOKEE, AND AMOS L. ALLEN, OF MAINE, WHO WAS SPEAKER REED'S PRIVATE SECRETARY FOR SOME YEARS, SUCCEEDED MR. REED.

Those Unseated and Barred Were Brigham H. Roberts, of Utah, the polygamist, whose successor has been chosen but has not qualified; Gaston A. Robbins, of Alabama, a Democrat, who was unseated in favor of William F. Aldrich, and William A. Young, of Virginia, who was unseated in favor of Richard A. Wise, Republican.

Including Judge McPherson, of Iowa, whose resignation will be tendered in a day or two, there are now six vacancies in the house. One will soon be filled by the seating of Roberts' successor. The other vacancies will remain until they can be filled at the coming November elections.

The house, it will be seen, has suffered more than usual by deaths and resignations, though so far there have perhaps been fewer members unseated than usual.

Accomplished Much Important Work.

While Congress has been busy debating grave questions that arose out of our war with Spain, and though for the first six weeks of this session it seemed to be especially inactive, the fact is that it has accomplished much important work in the way of appropriation bills, which will tend to make an early adjournment not only possible, but probable. Judging by the condition of the Porto Rican bill, the Hawaiian bill, the Philippine bill, the Nicaraguan canal bill the ship subsidy bill and other important legislation, it might seem as if an adjournment was very far distant. The fact is that appropriation bills are what chiefly delay adjournments, and when they are out of the way it is customary to rapidly dispose of other pending legislation, either by passing or defeating it or by postponement to another session.

The House Has Already Passed Nine of the Fourteen Appropriation Bills. These include the urgent deficiency bill, the pension bill, the Indian bill, the consular and diplomatic bill, the legislative, executive and judicial bill, the army bill, the District of Columbia bill, an additional urgent deficiency bill, and the fortifications bill. The naval bill has been reported to the house. The bills remaining unacted upon in the house are the military academy bill, the agricultural bill, the sundry civil bill, and the general deficiency bill.

The Senate Has Passed the Two Urgent Deficiency Bills, the Pension Bill, the Consular and Diplomatic Bill, and the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Bill. These bills are now laws or in the President's hands.

This is comparatively quick work for a long session of Congress, particularly when it is remembered how the time of both houses has been occupied with new questions of vast importance upon which there are differences in the party power.

KEYSER, W. Va., April 11.—The committee, representing the Baltimore & Ohio shop employes, which went to Baltimore to wait upon the officials, and ask for an increase of wages, returned yesterday, feeling confident that their requests will be complied with in a great measure. The employes asked that the following be made the scale of wages: Lead men, $2.50 per day; mechanics, $2; helpers, $1.50; laborers, $1.25. Present wages are: Lead men, $2; mechanics, $1.50; helpers and laborers, $1.10. The scale of prices for piece work will be adjusted soon.

Rev. William Junkins, of Hartmonsville, who has been preaching for the past sixty-five years, was buried Sunday, at the Methodist Episcopal church, near Hartmonsville, at the age of eighty-seven years, having been born in Mineral county, May 25, 1813. He leaves eight sons and three daughters, besides a great many direct descendants. He had at his funeral, in addition to the eleven children, almost a hundred grand-children and great-grand-children, his entire number of grand-children being fifty-nine, and great-grand-children, sixty-one.

The moving of a large steam shovel, weighing forty tons, from Elkins to the tunnel being constructed on the Coat & Iron railway, was a question that caused the contractors considerable worry. Hillsary, late of the Buckhannon Delta, will be associated with Mr. Darlington. The Democrat will be changed in a number of ways. One of the principal changes will be the name, which, after May 1, will be the Tucker County Herald.

TWO YOUNG LADIES ARRESTED.

Had a Coughing Spell in Church, and the Minister Was Insulted.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE INTELLIGENCER. CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 11.—Misses Edna Scott and Mary Woods, two young girls of good family residing at Raymond City, were arraigned yesterday at Winfield before a justice of the peace, on a warrant sworn out by a local preacher, Rev. John H. Hayes, charging them with disturbing religious worship. At the trial it developed that one of the girls had a coughing spell and that the minister mistook this for laughing at his sermon. The charge was then withdrawn.

Hung Himself With Suspenders.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 10.—Charles Himmelsbach, who was serving a five days' term in jail which would have expired to-morrow, committed suicide in his cell last night. He looped his suspenders around his neck and tied the other end to the top of the grating in his cell door. Previously he had made a futile effort to cut his throat. His mind is said to have been unbalanced by religion.

A Distinct Difference.

London Truth: Politicians are astonishingly puzzle-headed. They are now referring every question to the "man in the street," while it is really the "man of the world" whom they have in their minds. The "man in the street," inexperienced, ill-formed, and generally ill-educated, cannot possibly be cited as an authority. On the other hand, the "man of the world" is one who has much and varied experience, has access to good sources of information, and has been carefully trained. The average man of the world can be depended upon to adopt the most rational opinion, to pass the most reasonable judgment, and to give advice which is most practical. It is altogether ridiculous to endow the average "man in the street" with those qualities. If we are to be governed by the "man in the street" we shall be led into all kinds of absurdities.

A Tale of the Virginia Border Before the War.

By GRANVILLE DAVISSON HALL
A powerful story, recalling forgotten tragedies. A love story threads a stirring recital of crime and detective work. Scene in the valley of the upper Monongahela, connecting with Pittsburgh, Clarkburg and Fairmont.
The book is something more than an ordinary bit of fiction. It has a substratum of historical fact, and some real people figure in its pages. There is a vivid glimpse of American life as found in that valley forty years ago. The book critic of a great metropolitan western daily, who read the manuscript, says the author has "dipped his pen in the very pigments of life." The head of a leading Chicago publishing house said of it: "The plot is clever" and details "ingenious." "The story itself is interesting and there are some capital situations."

BIG SPANISH CANNON

In Clarksburg Fired Off With Disastrous Effect to Nearby Neighbors. Inmates of a House of Ill Fame Greatly Frightened.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE INTELLIGENCER. CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 11.—This morning about 1:15, unknown parties fired the big Spanish cannon captured by Admiral Dewey at Manila, which is mounted in the park near the Baltimore & Ohio depot. The charge was very heavy and the report was heard all over the city. The cannon was knocked from its foundation, completely wrecking the carriage upon which it was mounted.

Madam Dowd's house of ill fame, which is located a short distance from the cannon, was badly damaged. Every window in the house was broken and the doors were torn from their hinges. The inmates were greatly frightened and rushed about the streets in their night clothes. Threats had been made against the house and they supposed that some one had attempted to blow them up. It is not thought now, however, that the cannon was fired to do any injury, but was done by some mischievous boys. The shock was felt all over town and a number of houses in the west end of the city were considerably shaken up. A reward will be offered by the G. A. R. of this city, for the apprehension of the parties who fired the gun and United States secret service men are here looking after the matter, but as yet no clue has been found that could possibly lead to the identification of the miscreants. The gun will be re-mounted at once.
