THE OLD SOLDIERS

Of the Blue Are Having a Very Successful Encampment

THIS WEEK AT MOUNDSVILLE.

Business Sessions Were Held Yesterday Morning and Afternoon, and in the Evening There Was a Rousing Camp Fire at the Court House, With Speeches by Hon. A. B. White, Captain Dovenor and Others.

The old soldiers of the blue are in possession of Moundsville this week. The town has willingly surrendered. The formal capitulation occurred yesterday morning at the court house, when Mayor Parkinson handed over to Department Commander Lavalley, of the West Virginia department of the G. A. R., an immense gilded and ribbon-bedecked key, signifying the freedom of the town. The old soldiers, after their taste of Moundsville hospitality, pronounced the brand all right, and to say that Moundsville is pleased with her visitors is stating a fact mildly.

There are several organizations in session. First, of course, is the West Virginia department of the Grand Army, with its eighteenth annual encampment; second comes the organization of the Woman's Relief Corps; also the annual meeting of the West Virginia branch of the Ladies of the G. A. R., and finally the fourteenth annual meeting of the West Virginia branch of the Sons of Veterans. The attendance on the part of the members of these organizations numbers several hundred, and many more will be on hand to-day, including large delegations from Wheeling and other Panhandle towns.

The first session of the G. A. R. was held yesterday morning in the circuit court room at the court house, which had been elaborately decorated with flags and bunting especially for the occasion by the enterprising Moundsville people in charge of the arrangements. Mayor Parkinson, on behalf of the municipality, presented the key, signifying the freedom of the city, to Department Commander Lavalley, of the G. A. R., and the latter responded in an appropriate and appreciative manner. The department then went into executive session and transacted routine business not of especially public importance. In the afternoon the usual convention committees were appointed, which will submit their reports at to-day's sessions.

The Woman's Relief Corps met at 10 a. m. in I. O. O. F. hall. The opening prayer was by the state chaplain, Mrs. Leach. The state president, Mrs. Robertson, presented Mrs. Harriet J. Dodge, of Hartford, Conn., national president of the W. R. C., and Mrs. Charlotte E. Wright, of Hartford, Conn., national secretary of the order, who made interesting addresses. The state president presented her annual report, showing the satisfactory growth of the order in West Virginia during the year. The other state officers reported, and the several reports were referred to committees. At to-day's sessions the annual election of officers will take place.

The sessions of the Sons of Veterans were held at the court house, and routine business was transacted. The election of officers occurs to-day. The camp at Moundsville, which died a natural death some time ago, is to be resurrected this morning and will be represented at to-day's sessions of the Sons.

The big feature of the day was the public camp fire at the court house last night, which attracted a crowd so large that not one-half could obtain admittance. Outside the crowd had to be satisfied with the pretty display of fireworks. Inside there was a programme of speeches. Among those speaking were Hon. A. B. White, of Parkersburg; Congressman Dovenor, of Wheeling; Major Swisher, of Fairmont post, and Major Moore, of Clarksburg. Another speaker was Mrs. Dodge, international president of the Woman's Relief Corps. Several others spoke during the evening, and the camp fire was pronounced one of the most enjoyable in the history of the department.

The parade will move promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will form in front of the court house.

The G. A. R. luncheon exhibition proves a great attraction. The lunch department has been well patronized. Coffee and sandwiches are served.
