UNKNOWN KILLED.

Being Run Over and Horribly Mangled by a Baltimore & Ohio Train

ON THE SOUTH SIDE MONDAY

Night—It is Supposed That the Victim is From the Upper Part of Marshall County—He Had a Copy of the Intelligencer on His Person, Bearing the Address of W. S. Brady, of Glendale.

Last night, about 9 o'clock, an unknown middle-aged man was struck by the locomotive of the Pan Handle switching train in the yards near the plant of the Wheeling Ice & Storage Company, on the South Side, and instantly killed. The man is supposed to hail from the vicinity of Glendale or Moundsville.

The victim was walking on the track, and failed to heed the warning whistle sounded by Engineer Robert McQuay. He was crushed and the brains scattered along the track; the right arm was broken and the left arm was nearly cut off, hanging by a mere shred of flesh and cuticle. The left wrist, too, was nearly severed.

The train crew, composed of Conductor Harry Copps, Engineer McQuay, Fireman James Hall and Brakemen Charles Hughes, Jacob Lang and Albert Wright, gathered up the remains, after which Coroner Schultze was notified, who directed that the body be taken to the undertaking establishment of Foster & Watkins. The coroner will conduct an inquest this morning.

The only means by which the body can be identified are the following: Little finger of the left hand cut off; end of little finger of right hand gone; a copy of the Wheeling Daily Intelligencer of May 24, 1900, bearing the address, "W. S. Brady." He was about forty years of age; height, about 5 feet 9 inches; weight, 150 or 160 pounds; mustache partly gray; corduroy trousers; blue shirt and blue overalls. Mr. Brady, whose copy of the Intelligencer he had on his person, is an official of the Foster & Watkins Glass Company, of Moundsville, and lives at Glendale.

what a difference there is in the makes of Clothing? Many Suits are bought because the price is low. It is often the prices that governs the purchaser, and not the quality or the substantial makes.
