Bourko Cockran—1896-1900.

Hon. Bourko Cockran will address a meeting of the supporters of William J. Bryan in this city this evening. Four years ago he addressed a meeting of Gold Democrats in this city at the Opera House—to be exact, it was Thursday afternoon, October 2, 1896.

POPULISTIC PROGRAMME RAISE THE WORKINGMAN'S WAGES?

If Mr. Bryan answers that question to-night I will come back to your city, and will let you dress me in any garb you choose, place a candle or lamp in my hand and stand me in a public place, where all who pass may point the finger of scorn at me, but I know I will not have to do it. MR. BRYAN WILL NOT ANSWER THAT QUESTION.

Mr. Bryan did not answer the question, as Mr. Cockran predicted he could not. Mr. Cockran comes back to Wheeling, not to do the penance he set for himself, to have the finger of scorn pointed at him, but wonderful to relate, to advocate the election of the man he held up to such ridicule four years ago, and whose policies he so bitterly condemned.

Mr. Cockran closed with this comprehensive condemnation of Bryanism: "THE WILD ATTEMPT TO DIVIDE THE INDUSTRIAL PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY INTO CLASSES HOSTILE TO EACH OTHER WILL FAIL. I do not regret this campaign. I am glad this issue has risen. The time has come when the citizens of this country will show their capacity for self-government so that no man will again venture to challenge it. By defeating with crushing majorities the forces of disorder, they will prove that the men who have led the world in the pathway of progress will always be the vigilant guardians of liberty and order. THEY WILL FOREVER JEALOUSLY GUARD AND TRIM THE LAMP OF FREEDOM. THEY WILL EVER RELENTLESSLY EXTINGUISH UNDER THEIR HEELS THE RED TORCH OF POPULISTIC DESTRUCTION."

In the name of Altgeld and Debs is not Bryan trying to do the same thing now. Is he not every hour of the day at present making this same "wild attempt to divide the industrial people of this country into classes hostile to each other?" Yet Mr. Cockran is advocating his election in 1900. Mr. Cockran's alleged conversion is of quite recent origin, for in a speech delivered at Boston, February 23, of this year, he solemnly affirmed:

"If we were confronted now with the choice between imperialism and the principles involved in the Chicago platform, I do not hesitate to say that I should pursue the same course that I did in 1896, because, while I regard imperialism as fatal to this form of government, I regard the Chicago platform as destructive to all government, and I should prefer some government to no government."

Here we have his word for it that "between imperialism and the principles involved in the Chicago platform," he would not hesitate to pursue the same course he did in 1896. Can there be anything under the heavens more contradictory than Mr. Cockran's principles? He is a smooth talker, and no doubt by tricks of oratory and rhetoric, at which he is as adept as Bryan, he may, to-night, fool some people—but not many, and they will not be worth the exertion that will be expended by the speaker.

Bryan's Hobby.

When William Jennings Bryan was speaking at Ann Arbor, Michigan, on October 11, some one in the audience asked, "How about free silver?" and the great apostle of calamity cried out: "We are in favor of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation on earth."

AFTER THE COOL RECEPTIONS, BRYAN TRIES TO REMOVE HIS SHIRT WAIST.

The semblance of power to control and prevent combinations in restraint of production or commerce. This law performed its functions as well as it could, but the Republicans did more than that. They met the Democracy fair and square in the last Congress, and the real attitude of that party is shown in the vote in the House of Representatives, June 1, 1900, on the constitutional amendment proposed by the Republicans, regulating the trusts.

A Word About Judge Brannon.

It has come to the knowledge of the Intelligencer that certain efforts are making to alienate Republican votes from Judge Henry Brannon, one of the candidates for the supreme bench on the Republican ticket, on account of decisions he has made in the state supreme court. This is bad logic and worse sense.

Miners Strike Declared Off.

At last we have some definite announcement with regard to the conclusion of the miners strike in the anthracite region, and what promised to be a long and disastrous struggle is now happily ended, the strike having been declared off against all companies which have complied with the demands of the employees.

I supported Mr. Bryan in 1896.

It is almost true that I furnished all the money used by Maryland Democrats to aid in his election. I organized Bryan meetings in Baltimore on the same plan that the New York men are holding daily meetings for McKinley. I merely mention this to indicate that I was the staunchest of Democrats. Yet, on election night when I learned that McKinley had been elected, I said I would take off my hat to him if he did what he had promised to do. He has done it and I have taken off my hat to him. I shall work for him and vote for him.—General Lloyd L. Jackson, of Baltimore, in a speech delivered in New York.

The frenkiest of frenk election bets.

has been made in a western town in which the loser must roll a granite up a long hill with a toothpick. Staid Philadelphia is responsible for two hardly less foolish. The loser of one will lie in bed for a week in the window of a Chinese laundry; the loser of the other will take up the collection for a negro congregation on two Sundays, putting $5 in the box at each service and giving the sexton $1 every time he enters the church. Charges ought to be preferred against the Fool-killer for neglect of duty.

"The full dinner pail is not a sordid emblem. It has a spiritual significance for the spiritually minded. It means more comfort for the wife and family, more schooling and less work for the children and a margin of saving for sickness and old age."—Ex-President Harrison.

If "Justice" will send his full name to this office—not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith—the Intelligencer will take pleasure in printing his communication.

In such times as these the straight ticket is the safest thing. Scratching disfigures it so. The people of Kentucky are confident that they will wipe out Goubellam next month. The declination of Hon. Joseph Moreland to accept the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, leaves a clear field for Hon. John W. Mason, the Republican nominee.

Do you remember your speech in this city four years ago, Mr. Cockran?

Bryan still considers the majority of the people in this country fools.

Debs has forgotten several things the Intelligencer knows about him.

Note Teller Alvord's fall is the old, old story—a double life.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Every husband would be henpecked if he would allow it.

As soon as it gets so a man doesn't have to cut the grass he has to clean out the furnace.

If men had a right to whip their wives as they used to there would be no divorces and a lot fewer women's clubs.

When there is a party all of the married men get together so they can fool the old bachelors and pretend how jolly they are.

The average woman has an idea that her husband wouldn't have any show at all of getting into heaven if it were not for all of her praying for him.—New York Press.

Sudden Death.

New York Herald: Whenever death occurs from heart failure there is a suddenness in the event that is startling. Generally it is as if the victim were struck with lightning—one gasp, no other breath—and all is over.

The other day a paper simply fell from a passenger's hand and his comrade looked to see him limp and lifeless. Another man while conversing with a friend stopped in the midst of an unfinished sentence and dropped as one shot.

In the case of Mr. Charles Dudley Warner, whose death was reported yesterday, there was a slight preliminary warning—long enough to allow him to stagger into a convenient house before the end came.

There appeared to be no special occasion for the attack of faintness. Indeed, this seems to be the rule when age adds its feebleness to that of a chronic disease. There apparently comes a time when the heart can no longer bear its burden and ceases beating from sheer exhaustion.

When the victim receives the premonition of death the feeling of faintness is distressingly oppressive, and is said by pathologists to be due to the over-accumulation of stagnating blood in their cavities.

This sensation is believed to be occasioned by the well known responsiveness of the sensitive nerves of the stomach to those of the heart. Thus, in a measure, explained the reason why so many stricken patients call for water in the vain hope of being relieved from their distress, which is then obviously enough past all remedy.

In the particular form of heart disease from which Mr. Warner is said to have died there is usually no pain. The patient simply sinks into insensibility as the result of the quick and overwhelming shock.

Arch's Start.

Joseph Arch, the labor member of parliament, who is to retire, began his career by frightening birds off the crops at 4 pence a day. "In 1873," says The Kings, "Mr. Arch founded the National Agricultural Laborers' Union, on the back of which, thirteen years later, he rode into parliament. He was always a familiar and friendly figure there.

In Honor of a Brave Soldier.

Gen. O. O. Howard, one of the few surviving corps commanders of the Civil war, will be honored by his friends with a complimentary banquet in New York on his seventieth birthday anniversary, November 8.

Certain to be Charged.

Chicago Times-Herald: Sooner or later the Democrats will discover that Presidents Hadley and Eliot have been coerced and are basely tramping conscience in the dust for the purpose of saving their jobs.
