Our New York mails failed us on Satnrday. To balance the thing, we got four New Orleans mails.

By a despatch from Memphis, it seems that the Martha Putnam was burned at Cairo, and is a total loss.

The Martha did a good deal of business at our wharf here, and was a favorite with shippers.

Our Washington despatches state that the affair between Grow, of Par, and Branch, of N. C., the two members who had words in the House, last week, has been settled by the police, instead of at ten paces, or, by the amende honorable, as the law directs.

We are sorry for this. A duel was needed at Washington to clear up the political atmosphere, and bring about a speedy organization. A trifle of spare blood from either side would have assisted materially. REMEMBER that the first of a series of three lectures by the Rev. J. Marks, before the Young Men's Christian Association, comes off to night, at the Second Presbyterian Church. The subject matter is a visit to Egypt, comprising details of ob servations among the Pyramids-along the Nile-among the Arab villages, &c. Mr. Marks enjoys an enviable reputation among the newspapers as a lecturer, and we hope and expect to see a fine turn out.

Our friends B. B. Stone & Son, formerly of the "Big Boot" up at the Bridge corner-late of Cleveland-are with us once again, and have installed themselves in the magnificent building opposite the Merchants' Bank, on Monroe street, where they propose to make and self all brade of Boot and Shoe work. In another column they make their debut, and we call public attention to the facts therein set forth.

The Messrs, Stone are well known to our public as gentlemen of the strictest integrity and as apt and accommodating in their business. We welcome them back

THE Democratic Senators have given all the good places on the Senate's committees to their own side. They forget that the time is fast coming when it will be in the power of the Repulicans to retaliate. Let them look at what the Senate was five years ago, and, contrasting that with what is, behold in advance the hour that is hastening on, and the men for it. Interest should teach them to be liberal in their conduct, if they have no regard for principle. We hope they'll be manly enough not to whine when they shall be seized up for punishment.

FIFTY-NINE has gone and sixty come since our last issue. The passage of time over the heads of humanity is generally reckoned to be a matter of doubtful compliment or congratulation, and therefore, we shall simply wish our readers

A Happy New Year.

This year of 1860 is to be an eventful year, we have no doubt. It is one of the Twenties. Eighteen hundred was a momentous year in this country; so was 1820; so 1840; and so will be, we say, this 1860. The greatest political contest that was ever fought on this continent is to be one of the events, HUUULI MULLINU

Come what may, the prayer of every patriotic heart will be, God save our native land from every danger!

BROWNE, editor of the Washington Conetitution, chief democratic organ of the naion, is charged with having applauded Mr. Crawford, of Georgia, when that gentleman made his disanion speech in the House. Had a Republican thus acted, the last of it never would have been heard of, while the last of him would soon have come about; but as Browne is an Irishman and a democrat, he has a double right to be a disunionist, and a disturber of the peace. He is one of those Hibernians to -whom lawlessness is first nature, and who carry the Tipperary code of morals with them wherever they go.

THE much talked of European Congress will meet in Paris, this week-on the 5th, but is not expected to go fairly at work before the middle of the month. Thus in three years, the French will have seen two Congresses meet in their capital. The first settled the Russian question, and enabled Napoleon III. to return the favor which Russia showed to France in 1815, when she saved that kingdom from partition, Austria, Prussia, Spain, and other nations being desirous to cut up "that hideous country which calls itself la belle France." England helped Russia then, but France helped Russia in 1856, and would not suffer England to humiliate her. She was allowed to stand pretty much as she stood in 1853. Now Austria's time has come, and we shall see how far she is to be saved from humiliation. She wishes to have the Italian question settled in such with a letter, returning that gentleman his manner as she will be able to get back her | sincere thanks for the magnificent adverold position in Italy at some future day .--There is, we see, a story that Napoleon III. has bought Venitis from Austria, for the round sum of $80,000,000; and if this be grue, Austria may have come to the sensible conclusion to have nothing more to do with Italy, a conclusion that would be the beginning of a wiser system on her part than she has ever yet pursued, and which would render her indifferent to the dispositions that might be made of the Duchies, though she must ever, while a Catholic Power, feel an interest in the welfare of Rome.

An Alabama gentleman, a member of that state's Senute, is shrewder than most of his associates. Mone cider is now made in Connecticut than in any other State. The New Haven Journal says, in the town of Cheshire, within a few miles of that city, four establighments have made the past season from 1500 to 2000 barrels each, which is already disposed of, and will be sent to market as soon as ready for use. This, when clarified, is as pure as wine, and is sold readily in New Nork to bottle, for $4 per barrel for the liquid, and when bottled is in great The business is rapidly increasing,

Ms. Evenerr has contributed to the Mount Vernon Association, through his personal efforts, nearly $70,000. The Association has paid to Mr. Washington $199,934-due Mr. W. $6601. The Regent states that it is necessary yet to raise the sum of $120,000 in order to provide a permanent fund, the interest of which will be expended in keeping the estate in repair and in providing a force sufficient to protect and preserve the house and grounds in security, enforce order, &c.

A Great deal of Truth in a few Words. [From the Indianapolis Journal.]

"I have, Mr. Clerk, been a member of to learn many things which t 'neverwork have learned at home, and I think it has perfected my education on this point; I have learned that a man may support every measure of a Democratic Administration, and yet if he votes against a single interest of slavery he is, ipso facto, no Democrat; but if he votes against every measure of the Administration, and will sustain the interests of slavery, he is, into facto, a good Democrat. I put that as God's naked truth before this House, and before the country, and I intend to stand upon it as a solemn conviction."-Speech of Mr. Hickman in Congress.

It is "the naked truth," and any man can stand upon it till God's truth falls. A man may vote and speak against every measure of the Democratic party that does not affect slavery, and if he only supports one single measure that aids slavery, he is a good Democrat. If he opposes any measure benefitting slavery, no matter how faithful in all else, he is read out of the party, and only readmitted by humbling himself as Douglas has done. The whole country knows this, and therefore knows that slavery is actually the controlling and guiding principle of Democracy. Sound-ness or unsoundness, faith and treachery, are measured by adherence or opposition to this one principle. Democracy, there-fore, is the party of slavery. Slavery is its life and binding power. Slavery is its breath and blood, and every man who adheres to that party now is giving his whole power to the nationalization of slavery, its loption as a national institution, and its establishment as the predominant power of he Government to which every Free State interest must succumb.

Marked Men of the House.

The Washington correspondent of the Ohio Statesman, writes:

The marked men of the House are soon cognized. John Quincy Adams' son is demand at the South at $5 per dozen, there. He sits quietly on a back seat near the middle door, bald headed, rather austere in look, but not quite so crabbed in demeanor as was his father. He is said to be a fine debater, but as yet has taken no part. As an offset to him and not unlike him-is Houston, of Alabama,-as he comes in, jolly enough, singing almost audibly to the galleries, the song, "Few days -Few days" with special reference to the coming and continuing contest for Speaker. Then are pointed out the black headed, black bearded, black-republicanized Grow, of Pennsylvania; then John Sherman, with pale face, close, firm pressed lips and inxious bearing; then Keitt, tearing around as usual, clever to all and Keitt at all times, sobered some by marriage, but evi-dently Keitt still; then old Thaddeus Stevens, with his unfortunate lame or game foot, wig and severe front, as if ready to Locofocos with a whereas; theu Corwin, as mild and bland in his amiable demeanor, as if he had not a forty orator and hundred clown power in that swart visage and on that ready tongue.

Wishes it had been held in Wheeling. [From the Boston Traveler.]

It has been decided, by the Republican National Committee, that their party's National Convention shall meet on the 13th of June, 1860, at Chicago. Thus an intertween the nomination of the democratic candidate and that of the Republican candidate for the Presidency, which is well Chicago is a good place for the Convention to meet in, but we wish that Wheeling had been selected, for it is the best point in many respects, and we should have been glad to see a Republican Convention assemble on Virginia soil;-but it is too late to talk about the matter now.
