And the slouds around as fiee.
On the wings of moistest silver
The clouds do fiset and flow,
And they sink in the argent splendor
Of the moon's declining glow.
They kiss the cold horizon
With their silver-threaded lips.
And shadow the trembling sea
To a silver dusk eclipse.
And shall into announce nothing.

And melt into vapoury nothing,
Where the trees wave to and fro.
And the blue sea hugs the distance
In the far horizon's glow.

My love bath a tongue of silver, And be talks of the roses white. Of the flowers, so fair and fragrant That gleam on a bridal aight.

They bloom in the bottomiess sea,

Where he will carry me soon,
No more to ride on the billows.

Or to gaze on the weird-like moon. But there with him forever, Where comes nor night nor day, We'll wonder at willess pleasure, And frolic our life away.

DUEL BETWEEN ARE LINCOLN AND GEN

SHIELDS.—The Chicago Press and Tribune relates the following anecdote of Abe Lincoln and Gen. Shields:

A great deal of fun was had by the his connection with some public measure. The General was greatly incensed, and demanded of the editor the name of the of-fending party. "Old Sim" put him off with a request for twenty-five hours to consider the matter, and, shortly after-wards, meeting Lincoln, told him his perplexity. "Tell him I wrote it!" said Lincoln; and tell him he did.— After a deal of diplomacy to get a retraction of the offensive parts of the paragraph in question, Shields sent a challenge, which Lincoln accepted, named broadswords as the weapons, and an unfrequented, well-wooded island in the Mississippi, just below Alton, as the place.

"Old Abe" was first on the ground, and when Shields arrived he found his antagonist, his sword in one hand and a hatchet in the other, with his coat off, clearing away the underbrush! Before the preliminary arrangements were completed, John

J. Hardin, who, somehow, had got wind of what was afloat, appeared on the scene, called them both d-d fools, and by his arguments, addressed to their good sense, and by his ridicule of the figure that they, two well-grown, bearded men, were ma-

heard of Lincoln's saying that the accep-ravine, we doubt not this act of his, by which he prevented two really brave men from engaging in fatal strife, was not the least of the consolations of that bitter Author of "The Green Book," de.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without Medicine and without dangerous Surgical operations, bougles, instruments, rings or cordisals; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual. by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. THE SKIN,

This Ointment hears no resemblance to any other external remedy at present before the world. The mole of its operation is peculiar.

It penetrates to the mass of the disease—goes to its very source—and cures it from the flesh beneath to the skin on the surface.

Other ont ward applications for Scrofnia, Salt litheum, &c., operate powwarm, thus driving the disorder inwards, and often occasioning terrible internal maleies.

NORTON'S OINTMENT, on the contrary, throws the poison of the disease upwarm, and evary particle of it is puscusant timeout the points.

Thus the cures it effects are complete. Not only are the sores healed, the eruptions removed, the swellings reduced, but the surns of the disorder are expelled from the flesh; consaquently there can be no relapse.

Sold in Large Bottles—Price 50 Cents. Wheeling, Benwood, Baltimore, and Washington City Express departs daily except Saturday at 9:30 P. A. and arrives at Haltimore at 4:45 P.
