WHEELING: Friday Morning, Nov. 23, 1860.

The Steamer Pacific. Full particulars of the burning of this steamer will be found on our first page, Patriotism on the Rise. A Washington correspondent telegraphs that 37 hpplications have been made to Lincoln for the Richmond Post Office.

Letter from Mr. Clemens. An important letter from the Hon. Sherrard Clemens, our representative in Congress, will be found in our paper to-day. Mr. Clemens does himself great honor in this letter, in the high union position which he takes. He is remorselessly bitter on the disunion movement in South Carolina, and on all who either here or elsewhere sympathize with it, or in any way aid or encourage it. He will go to Washington prepared to make uncompromising war upon it, and will do so unless instructed contrawise by the people of this district, (which is hardly probable,) in which case he will resign, and let them elect some fire-eater in his stead. He says what is the truth in his letter, and what we have said all along, and what we think is palpable on sight, and that is, that "the result of the recent Presidential election is made the pretext for an assault upon the Constitution, under the forms of which it has been decided." He speaks of the action of South Carolina as being "hot and indecent haste," which it is, indeed, and after giving it his unqualified condemnation, says that "it perils whatever or merit there may have been hitherto in the cause of the South." This is also very true.

Mr. Clemens' letter will be well received by his constituency, and we would not be surprised to see the democratic portion of it moving for his renomination, despite his expressed purpose of retiring from public life. His letter places him several lengths ahead of any of the ultras who have been impatiently waiting for his cast off slippers, and if he has a mind to use his advantages, he can beat them worse than he did the Argus junta in 1859. Our advice to Sherrard is to go in and win.

In our telegraphic columns yesterday morning appeared the following dispatch: RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 21st .- The Enquirer publishes an important letter from Letcher, in reply to a letter from Jas. S. Brisbin, of Pennsylvania, indicating secession, and stating that 200 Vir-

We wish we had been at Gov. Letcher's elbow when he was penning the above mentioned letter, in order to tell him how utterly he was wasting his precious time. If he had known a hundredth part of what we know about Mr. Jas. S. Brisbin, or Col. Brisbin, as he delights to call himself, he never would have wasted a letter on him. Never. He is the came chap who spoke at Washington Hall on the eve of the Presidential election, and is, for his years, about as big a humbug as exists out of the United States Congress. We are persuaded that the Colonel will appreciate this last remark of ours, perfectly. If he does not, however, and will inform us, we will, in a a more elaborate manner, endeavor to apprise him of our meaning. In the meantime, Governor, take no more notice of the stuff such fellows as Brisbin may write to you; for if you do you will soon be no better than Wise.

WE cannot bring ourselves to doubt the practicability of Democratic institutions. Yet the events now occurring in some portions of the South, would seem legitimately to suggest misgivings as to the outcome of our experiment in popular government. We recently read a remark, attributed to Fisher Ames, illustrating the difference between the working of a monarchical and a democratic government. It was to the effect that "a monarchy is a merchantman which sails well, but will strike on a rock and go to the bottom; whilst a Republic is a raft which may never sink, but then your feet are always in the water."

This, in a somewhat general and delphic way, illustrates what was at least the conception of one noted American statesman, as to the difference between a monarchy and our form of government .-Such a thing as a pure democracy is, of course, unknown to the world, and always will be, for the simple reason that the people must govern themselves by representatives, to whom they delegate the powers belonging to them in their en masse capacity. The question was, with our fathers, how far power should be removed from the people. They graduated it as well as they could, and compromised their several opinions in the arrangements known to the present Constitution. Alex. Hamilton thought too little power had been given to the federal government, and Thomas Jefferson thought too much, or at least full enough, had been taken away from the States. The two men represented the two extremes of opinion which were compromised in the adoption of the constitution. Hamilton was almost, if not quite, a monarchist, while Jefferson was as near an approach to a French radical democrat, as any American ought ever to be. The question is now before the American people, whether the compromise government effected by the fusion of the opposite opinions of these two men, and those who respectively sided with them, will answer the ends intended, or, more properly, the ends which might have been attained by the adoption of place stands thus: Breckenridge 210; Lincoln 99; Bell 49; Douglas 37, Total have been attained by the adoption of or the other. It seems to us that we are | 305, Yours, &c., R.

impress the people of this country and all other countries either for good or bad, concerning our plan of government, and cither that, we will now disintegrate and fail, as Hamilton feared we would, or that we will, through the vitality of the democratic theory-which is but another name for the re-active infallibility of the popular instincts-rise superior to the dangers of the hour, and live and permanently establish the sway of our system. If the government is not superior to the contingencies arising out of the operations of its fundamental itician, recommending that the right of idea, viz., that of the elective or self-perpet- secessisn and the settlement of the present nating provision-then, indeed, is it an obvious and monstrous failure. An elective government, depending on a periodical exercise of the voting franchise, in order to obtain the instrumentalities, or, perhaps we should say the personalities, necessary to keep the government in existence, is simply a palpable dead failure whenever from any cause the exercise of the franchise is nullified. And for the best reason in the world, that such a nullification makes a clean, final and irremediable overthrow of the elective majorities or they must resort to revolution and proclaim the end and failure of the popularprinciple in government. We defy living man toconfute these alternatives. Well now the disturbances going on in parts of the dissolution of the cabinet is imminent, be-South make up a case of this sort, and one cause of the position taken in the meswhich is to try the worth of the federative sage. Trouble certainly occurred to-day. system of democratic compromises, which we call the government. And it seems to us, the more and more we look into the matter, that General Jackson's heroic conclusions on these points-the right of secession and nullification-can never be improved upon, but must now be either adopted and enforced or else their anarchical antipodes conceded. And, of course, in a concession of the kind, government ends and revolution commences. For, as Jackson well said.

secede from the Union, is to say that the United States are not a nation; because it would be a solecism to contend that any part of a nation might dissolve its connec tion with the other parts, to their injury or ruin, without committing any offence. Secession, like any other revolutionary act, may be morally justified by the extremity of oppression, but to call it a constitutional right is confounding the meaning of terms, and can only be done through gross error, or to deceive those who are willing o asserta right, but would pause before they made a revolution, or incur the penalties consequent upon a failure.

The question then is, as we said in the outset, will the government, either by choice or through the deficiencies of its plan of organization, yield to a faction, or will it prove strong enough to put down that faction? This is the great problemthe greatest and most solemn of all political problems ever tested-which is now upon its trial before the world. The result ocratic principle. May Gou, this second time, "turn the counsels of Ahithophel to foolishness," and preserve to the human race the possibility of a people to be free.

[For the Intelligencer.]

To the People of the Wheeling Congressional District in Virginia.

Before the last Congressional election, I announced to you my desire to retire frem public life. In repeating now that determination, I have to declare to you, my deep and unqualified thanks, for you kindness extended to me upon so many occasions in the past; and to assure you that whatever my future fate may be your favor shall not be forgotten.

As a border people you have peculiar interest in the integrity of the Federal Government. The result of the recent Presidential election is made the pretext for an assault upon the Constitution under the forms of which it has been decided.

The hot and indecent haste of South demnation. It perils whatever of merit there may have been hitherto in the cause of the South. It affords no remedy for alledged grievances, but will intensify every one of them. It may precipitate a revolution, which will end in a return to colonial dependence under the crown of England, in making the cotton States mere stipendiaries upon the despotism of France.

It is not necessary now to enlarge upon these considerations. I thank God! I have lived to do you some service in this crisis. I shall resume my sent at the commencement of the session, and by my vote and by my voice, I shall resist the consummation of this great wrong against the con-stitution and the laws.

I shall obey no command except that which comes from you. If you should differ in opinion with me; if you should think that treason to the confederacy should be dignified with the name of patriotism, let your instructions meet me at Washington, and I will at once resign into your hands, all the official power you have so generously conferred upon me. Your obliged Fellow-citizen, SHERRARD CLEMENS. ST. CHARLES HOTEL, NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 15, '60. Papers in the District please publish.

"SECESSION," says the Occidental Messenger, published at Independence, Missouri, is a very pretty word; it flows glibly from the pen, but the question is, will it be of practical purpose? Young men at the corners of our streets, who smoke fine Havanas and sport moustaches and all the other concomitants of gentlemen, are very earnest in their declaration to support a seceding State. But do they know that secession is treason, and do they know the penalty? Their tender necks may be stretched by Kentucky or Missouri hemp if any 'overt act' is committed' Keep cool, young gentlemen, the proclamation of the old hero of New Orleans is still in force; the government of the United States is a 'fixed fact,' and some of these fine winter mornings you may wake up, if you persist in your ideas, with a rather tight noose around your necks."

The Troubles of the Country. WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. It is expected here that every member will take his sent in Congress, except the South Carolina delegation. EFFECT OF SECESSION UPON THE INVENTIVE GENIUS.

The secession panic has caused a dimiution in the number of applications for patents, and the number issued weekly is decreasing.

The President is daily in receipt of many etters proposing terms which he ought to adopt for the secessionists. To-day, one was addressed to him by a prominent poldifferences be arbitrated by the Supreme Court, allowing South Carolina to secede and resist the federal law, when the case would arise in all its bearings; both parties to abide by the decision, and to agree to a final settlement as to the result.

MUNITIONS OF WAR.

Col. Powell, of Alabama, is still here negotiating with parties for fire-arms for that State He meets with much success, as Northern manufacturers expect to reap a rich harvest out of the excitement. In irginia the law limits the price to be paid for each arm.

MR. BUCHANAN AS JACKSON. It is the general impression here that the principle. Either the people must rule by President will be severe in his message on the secessionists, charge and taking a Jacksonian position.

PILES: PILES:: PILES::: What is it ! How cured !

Thousands of persons have Piles-suffer for years with the disease-yet few know what it is, or how it is cured. Every case of Piles, whether manifested in the form of external tumors, frequent bleedings, or in violent itching and irritation depends essentially upon congestion of the abdominal venous circulation. This produces the engorgement, dilation of the veins formation of tumors, hemorrhages, pain and suffer ing; and the disease can only be fundamentally cured by medicines which, taken internally, relieve this venous congestion. Hence ointments, washes and even injections, are so ineffectual.

HUMPHRRY'S HOMEOPATHIC PILE SPECIFIC a simple sugar pill, taken two or three times per day cures the disease by curing the condition upon which the disease depends. Hundreds have been cured by it, even of the most obstinate cases. Al will be promptly benefited by it. Price, 50 cents ;

The following is an extract from a letter written by the Paster of a Baptist Church to the "Journal and Messenger," Cincinnati, Ohio, and speaks volumes in favor of that world-renowned medicine-Mrs. Wins-LOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TRETHING:

"We see an advertisement in your columns of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Now we never said a word in favor of a patent medicine before in our life but we feel compelled to say to your readers, that this is no humbug-we have thied it, and know it to BE ALL IT CLAIMS. It is, probably, one of the most successful medicines of the day, because it is one of the best. And those of your readers who have babies can't do better than to lay in a supply." oct16-1y-d&w

The Blood Food, is one of the greatest medicines of the age, and is rapidly driving out of the murk of all the quack nostrums of modern times. Its efficacy is so great, and its superiority so justly acknowledged, that it is found difficult to supply the immense and increasing demand for the ar ticle. Dr. Earon's celebrated "Infantile Cordial," is a medicine prepared by a regular physician of em nence in his profession, and one who has devoted his life to the peculiar phases of Infantile diseases. WHEELING OBSERVATORY.

THE TRUE TIME.

THE TRUE TIME.

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to announce that they have, at considerable expense, erected a suitable Building, procured a Reliable Transit Instrument, or Telescope, and with the assistance of gentlemen entirely competent, have established a True Meridian for the City of Wheeling.

By this Instrument, observations from the Sun are daily taken, when it passes the meridian, which gives us, with great accuracy, Apparent, or Solar Time, from which observations, the true or mean time, that a clock or regulator should indicate, according to the equation of time as laid down in Nautical Almanacs, for each day of the year, is calculated and obtained.

The Instrument is permanently located and se-curied, and we shall spare no time or trouble, in tak-ing the necessary observations to have the time that our Regulator will in future indicate alwas correct. Our Patrons and the Public may therefore rely upon its accuracy with entire confidence. Dealers and Jobbers in Watches, Jewelry, Clocks, &c., nov22 No. 127 Main St., Wheeling, Va.

morrhua (Codish), selected with extreme care, under the personal supervision of their agent in Newfound land.

Its sweetness, purity, and freshness, make it scarcely distasteful to the most delicate patient; while the uniformity of its mode of preparation makes it the most desirable brand of oll in the market.

The uncertain quality, and defective manner of preparing Cod-Liver (ill, have precluded many sufferfully testing fits remedial) according to the employment of a genuine and powerful article, no advantage will result from a single trial. In general it operates in a very gradual manner, requiring a long perseverance in its use. It must not be taken only occasionally, or irregularly, but perseveringly and steadily, continuing its use even after apparent recovery.

The physician may rely, with full confidence, on the merits of our brand of Oil, while the diseased patient has a guarantee, that, in using it, he is taking a medicine, the virtues and efficacy of which have been tested by eminent medical men.

It is the most effect mal remedy for Consumption, Bronchitic, Asthma, Gout, Ehenmutism, and all Scrofulous affections; oftentimes producing immediate and certain effects when other remedies have been tested by eminent medical men.

It enjoys the marked confidence of numerous scientific and medical men, whose spontaneous testimonials endors the superiority and efficacy of our Oil, giving to the public an assurance, that this truly valuable medicine, when obtained fresh, and free from admixture, is a safe and reliable remedy for the diseases named.
