Amendments were introduced and adopted to include all officers of municipal corporations, and city councilmen.

Mr. Young (who is a minister) moved to include lawyers and Mr. Brown (who is a lawyer) moved to include preachers. Mr. Phelps (who is also a minister) was disposed to think that the last motion was not proposed in good faith. He saidthat the amendment would cripple the bill. You might as well say that a man shall do nothing without taking the oath-take a chew of tobacco or anything else. Mr. Slack, who ited. has beretofore been a very decided oath man, moved to strike out wall parsons applying for liscenses." He said that under the President's proclamation of ampesty a great many rebels were coming back and if we passed this law it would prohibit. The President says they may come back Market street. Mr. Young was particularly desirable for Wheeling men in favor of all the bill except that portion the battery being composed entirely of which might be construed into requiring young men from this vicinity. The officers allowed to sell whisky. That was a business they were peculiarly fitted for, and if they were required to take the bath it would be doing injustica to the dard. Mr. falling yesterday with about fourteen feet would be doing injustice to the devil. Mr.

Brown wanted to know if young people clear and pleasest during the greater part not. Before any decisive action was taken the bill was recommitted that it might be
