Somehow or Other we Get Along.

The good wife bustled about the house, Her face still bright with a pleasant smile, As broken snatches of happy song Strengthened her heart and hand the while, The good man sat in the chimney nook, His little clay pipe within his lips, And all he'd made and all he'd lost Ready and clear on his finger tips.

"Good wife, I've just been thinking a bit.
Nothing has done very well this year;
Money is bound to be hard to get—
Every thing's bound to be very dear;
How the cattle are going to be fed,
How we're to keep the boys at school,
Is kind of a debit and sum
I can't make balance by my rule."

She turned her round from the baking bread,
And she faced him with a cheerful laugh;
Wity, husband, dear one, would think
That the good, rich wheat was only chaff.
And what if the wheat was only chaff,
As long as we both are well and strong?
I'm not a woman to sorrow a bit,
Somehow or other we get along.

"Into some lives some rain must fall,
Over all lands the storm must beat,
But when the rain and storm are o'er,
The after sunshine is twice as sweet.
Through every strait we have found a road,
In every grief we've found a song;
We've had to bear and had to wait,
But somehow or other we get along.

But somehow or other we get along.

For thirty years we have loved each other, Stood by each other whatever befell, Six boys have called us father and mother, And all of them living and doing well. We owe no man a penny, my dear, We're both of us loving well and strong, Good man, I wish you would smoke again, And think how well we've got along."

He filled his pipe with a pleasant laugh; He kissed his wife with a tender pride; He said; "I'll do as you telt me, love; He said: "I'll do as you tell me, love:
I'll just count up on the other side."
She left him then with his better thought,
And lifted her work with a low, sweet songA song that followed me many a year,
Somehow or other we get along.
