Life or Death

The famous old Libby Prison in Richmond, Va., so celebrated during the war as the place of confinement of nearly sixty thousand Union soldiers,

The Union captives were assembled in a room in the prison at noon by Captain Turner, and after being formed in a hollow square around a table,

"Now," said Captain Turner, "you may select one, your own number to draw lots; the first two names taken from the box will indicate the two that "I suggest," said the duty being performed by one of our chaplains," remained Captain Sawyer of the First New Jersey Cavalry.

The proposition was acceptable to all, and three Union chaplains were called down from the upper story The matter was explained to them,

It was certainly singular that the first name drawn by the chaplains should have been that of the officer who asked that the task might be "Well," remarked the brave man "some one had to be drawn, and I can stand it as well as any of you.

Chaplain Brown once more reached his hand in the box and drew out the second slip of paper and everything became like the tomb again!

This officer showed considerable emotion, and naturally was greatly depressed. The two condemned were taken to General Winder's office (the near the close, where he bade farewell to his wife, his mother and to his children. Brave as he was, he was unequal to this. "I beg you to pardon and only desired a priest. The wishes of both having been complied with they were ordered to be kept in close confinement.

Tennyson as a Preacher of Peace?
Tennyson was not a peace poet—he was a war poet. He believed in war,

"The soldier knew Some one had blundered!" The world is slowly waking up to see that it is always because "some one has blundered" that brave men

But take the lines that follow:
"Ther's not to make reply, Ther's not to reason why, Ther's but to do and die!"

How perfectly they describe the system under which our soldiers live, and in describing how utterly though unconsciously they condemn it! Soldiers must not reason, must not question, but must obey orders whether right or wrong. They must be content to be machines, or unreasoning animals, without conscience, without

"Ther's but to do and die!"
Is it right or fair that any human being should be degraded to so low a level as this?
"The great, the supreme, the overtopping factor of war is the suppression of the spiritual and the elevation of the brutish elements of man."

The story is told of an eminent divine and his bright boy that is not devoid of instructiveness. The father had a way of saying to his son, when leaving home, "Remember whose boy you are."

It is not a good plan to feed hogs exclusively on corn.

Helping the Minister.

Wallace is seven years old. Ever since he was three he has been a Sabbath-school boy. He loves Sabbath school, but till lately has not liked going to church.

It was so much pleasanter, he thought, to stay at home, as he was sometimes allowed, with mamma, who is an invalid, and listen to her stories from the Bible and Our Little Ones.

One day last spring a great change came into Wallace's life; his papa, a machinist, was suddenly killed.
When the next Sabbath came Wallace asked, "Mayn't I come home after Sabbath school and stay with you?"

But his lonely, heart-broken mamma had the courage to say: "No, my son. Remember papa will not be there to day, and when the minister looks from his pulpit and sees the empty seat it may trouble him. I think he will like to see you in papa's place."

So that morning at the close of Sabbath school the little man went at once upstairs and took the seat his father had occupied from week to week, with rare exceptions, for years back.

After service he hurried home to tell his mother. "I guess I helped him a little; 'cause he came and spoke to me."

Since then, every sabbath Wallace feels that he has a place to fill in the church.

When sometimes the usher brings strangers to that pew, the little boy by the door, standing up, makes his slender figure very small that they may pass in, but never papa's seat to any one.

Not only the pastor, but many of us, while our hearts ache with pity, feel confident that such a boy, with such a mother, will some day take his father's place in the church and the world.—National Baptist.

The Salvation Army.
The Society of Friends must now give place to the Salvation Army as the great peace church. They preach peace and practice it, and at their annual meeting General Booth stated:

They were their largest missionary organization an earth, with over five thousand officers at home, and more than six thousand officers abroad. In 1891 they had 4,262 corps and outposts; this year, 5,293. In 1891 there were 10, 452 officers; this year, 11,113. They had thirty-two newspapers and six magazines, the annual circulation being 47,600,000. There were eighty six training garrisons—that was to say, eighty-six colleges in their university.

They had twenty-five homes of rest for sick and wounded officers. They occupied thirty-eight countries and colonies. This year they had gone to Western Australia, where they had already got a magnificent footing, and converted some of the biggest black guards.

The Army preached salvation in twenty-four different languages, and had local officers and bandmen to the number of 31,713. They had forty-three rescue homes, seventy-two slum corps, fifteen prison-gate homes, twenty food depots, twenty-four shelters, one inebriate home, and eleven elevators or factories, the total number of social institutions being 205. In connection with them 915 officers were employed. A large number of officers, lasses, lived in the slums to do the slum work—"angels" the people called them, and so they were. More were wanted. In connection with the rescue work, 1,484 lost creatures were received up to last Christmas, and 972 since—nine hundred and seventy-two girls!

A gift in secret pacifieth anger; and a reward in the bosom, strong wrath.

Terra Cotta Wells
Reduced PRICES.
I AM USING A 12 inch and 15 inch AUGER of superior make. Doesn't let dry dirt or quicksand run out like some old time infernal AUGERS. It brings a good head of water in quick and in much less time.
My plan of putting in pipe is the only one that keeps quicksand from filling up the well, but if one-third, or even one of my wells should ever be a failure my guarantee would amount to something for I would go and remedy same, or return the money.
The 12 inch Auger has given splendid satisfaction, especially for rock, tenant houses and small families at much less cost.
