THE FRIAR LANDS.
 Secretary Root Suggests the Government Buy Them—Are Hotbeds of Insurrection and Had Furnished Aguinaldo His Chief Appeal to Popular Prejudice.
 Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Root was heard on the question of the Friar lands in the Philippines before the house committee on insular affairs today. He said these lands constituted one of the chief causes of discontent among the people, they were the hotbeds of insurrection and had furnished Aguinaldo his chief appeal to popular prejudice. The secretary said the religious orders so fully recognized the bad condition of affairs that they were disposed to sell out, and he urged that the government should take advantage of the opportunity to remove the chief cause of discontent in the islands. He said that the government should buy the lands for a fair price and that a rough estimate of the value of the lands, he said, was from five to seven and one-half million dollars, American money.
 Secretary Root began his statement by explaining the enormous power which the religious orders had long exercised in the Philippines. They were represented at Madrid, and the archbishop of Manila as powerful as the governor general of the islands. The order had largely supplanted the native priests. As a result of the political power of the orders the friars became the medium of communication between the local and central governments. They held large tracts of the best land, amounting to about 400,000 acres at the time of American occupation. The people of the islands and the landlord and tenant system was now in operation. This caused intense hatred, and Mr. Root said the feeling of the tenants against the friar landlords had taken advantage of this intense feeling of the tenants against the friar landlords, and the movement had become very popular. The secretary said that about the most important thing to be done at this time was to dispose of the friar question, as it was felt that when landed proprietorship was brought to an end and most of the agitation would be disposed of. The friars had been driven from the land in many cases, he said, and if they were not driven from the land, they would be required to collect the rents due, but the secretary said this could be done without the aid of the archbishop, whose dominion was invaded as it was simply a condition that existed and was fully recognized. The friars themselves were so fully alive to the situation that they were ready to dispose of their lands. At all events, Mr. Root said they were a part of an organization, and the disposition of the lands would be determined by higher church authorities that the friars themselves.

State Maps.
 Mr. J. J. Strange, agent for the publishers of Tinsion's Survey, is in the County, selling maps of the States of South Carolina and North Carolina, which seem to be up-to-date in every particular. Distinctive lines show the dividing lines between the Counties; and important statistical figures are given. These figures are copied from the late United States Census, and are therefore reliable. They are correctly correct as to Abbeville, and this would lead us to believe that the others are also correct. Our people generally pay a much higher price for cheap maps, which look no better than these. These maps are useful and are certainly an ornament to the wall as many of our maps are hung on our walls. The price of this map of South Carolina and North Carolina is only 95 cents, and the map of the State of South Carolina is only 75 cents. If you want to find your way to Abbeville at the Glen Ethel Ion.
 Besides the maps for South Carolina and North Carolina, which are sold by the State, Agents wanted. Call to see him at the Glen Ethel Ion.

 ALMOST EVERY PERSON HAS NOW OR has had some desire to draw pictures, and the only reason that the demand for artists today is far greater than the supply is the fact that few young people of this day of hurry can afford to spend from one to four years in college to learn to draw pictures. Another reason why they have to pay so much for their materials. With the above system and a very small expense, I can teach the average person, even as young as ten or twelve years of age, to draw pictures, and to do so in one to three weeks to draw satisfactory life size portraits from photographs, make landscapes, sketch direct from nature or make any other picture you want any desired sized.
 The public is cordially invited to my studio in Rosenberg Building, opposite Telegraph office, to examine the work, also specimens of pupils' work. Come whether you wish to take the lessons or not. No trouble to show you the pictures. Studio is open to visitors from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. with lady attendant. Class taught at night for the benefit of those who haven't time to take the lesson in day.
 Very respectfully,
 W. H. WILLIAMS.

Art Craio, or Black and White.
 ALMOST EVERY PERSON HAS NOW OR has had some desire to draw pictures, and the only reason that the demand for artists today is far greater than the supply is the fact that few young people of this day of hurry can afford to spend from one to four years in college to learn to draw pictures. Another reason why they have to pay so much for their materials. With the above system and a very small expense, I can teach the average person, even as young as ten or twelve years of age, to draw pictures, and to do so in one to three weeks to draw satisfactory life size portraits from photographs, make landscapes, sketch direct from nature or make any other picture you want any desired sized.
 The public is cordially invited to my studio in Rosenberg Building, opposite Telegraph office, to examine the work, also specimens of pupils' work. Come whether you wish to take the lessons or not. No trouble to show you the pictures. Studio is open to visitors from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. with lady attendant. Class taught at night for the benefit of those who haven't time to take the lesson in day.
 Very respectfully,
 W. H. WILLIAMS.
