

The Strength of a Paper Car Wheel.
A paper car wheel will run 300,000 miles before it wears out, and even then a new tire will make it as good as ever. This distance is equal to going twelve miles around the world. These car wheels are made by pasting about 160 sheets of straw paper together and pressing them in a hydraulic press. When they are finished they are over five inches thick and tougher than seasoned hickory. The hub and the tire are made of iron, forced on by a hydraulic press.—New York Journal.

Billion Dollar Grass and Alfalfa.
When we introduced Billion Dollar Grass three years ago, little did we dream it would be the most talked of grass in America, the biggest, quick, hay producer on earth, but it has come to pass.

Ag. Editors wrote about it, Agr. College Professors lectured about it, Agr. Institute Orators talked about it, while in the farm home by the village postoffice, at the corner grocery, in the village saloon, at the creamery, at the depot, in fact wherever farmers gathered, Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass, that wonderful grass, good for 10 to 15 tons per acre, and 100 lbs. of pasture feed, was always a theme worthy of the farmer's voice.

A. Waldorf, Westmore Farms, Pa., writes: "I have 60 acres in Salzer's Alfalfa Clover. It is immense, in the three crops this season and have lots of pasture besides."

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. NEGRO MURDERER LYNCHED

Mob Batters Down Jail Doors to Reach the Prisoner;

VICTIM KILLED A POLICEMAN

Fifteen Hundred Infiltrated Ohio Citizens Overpower Sheriff and Prison Guards—After Killing Negro the Crowd Drag Lifeless Body Through the Streets of the Town—Sheriff's Appeal Unavailing.

Springfield, Ohio.—A furious mob of 1500 men battered down the doors of the county jail, broke into the cells and dragged a negro prisoner, Richard Dixon, who murdered Policeman Collins, into the jail yard, where he was shot to death, nine bullets being lodged in his body.

The mob then carried the body through the principal streets of the city, strung it up to a telegraph pole and riddled it with bullets.

Policeman Collins had served for twelve years on the force, and was regarded as one of the most reliable and efficient men in the Police Department. He had gone to Dixon's room on the negro's request. The negro said a woman had his clothes in her possession, and had got the consent of the colored proprietor to keep Dixon away from his house.

Collins accompanied Dixon to the room, and in a short time the man and woman engaged in a quarrel which resulted in Dixon shooting the woman in the left breast, just over the heart. She fell unconscious at the first shot, and Collins jumped toward the negro to prevent his escape from the room. Dixon then fired four bullets in Collins' body.

Dixon went immediately to Police Headquarters and gave himself up. He was taken to jail, and Collins and the wounded negro were taken to the hospital. The killing of Collins soon became the sole topic of conversation. It was the general feeling that a trial would only result in an insufficient sentence, and talk of lynching was frequently heard.

Nothing was thought of by the officers until suddenly a group of boys gathered in front of the jail. This group was augmented by a few men, and presently 300 men had congregated about the jail yard and steps.

Sheriff Routhahn appeared on the jail steps and pleaded with the mob to disperse, but he could be heard only with difficulty. His appeal was ineffectual, and he was compelled to retreat. The mob then surged through the east door, overpowered the Sheriff, turkey and handful of deputies, and began the assault on the iron turnstile leading to the cells.

The jail yard gates were blocked by fully 1500 men, thus making it impossible for the militia to have prevented access to the negro had it been on the scene. The heavy iron partition leading to the cells resisted the mob effectually until chisels and sledge hammers were brought two or three minutes later.

Fearing an attempt on the part of the police to rescue the leaders formed a hollow square. Some one knocked the negro to the ground, and those near by shot him four or five feet. Nine shots were fired into his prostrate body. Satisfied that Dixon was dead a dozen men grabbed the lifeless body, and with a triumphant cheer the mob marched through the principal thoroughfares in the town.

COUNT VON WALTERSEE DEAD.

Only Subject Not of Royal House German Public Always Cheered.

Hanover, Prussia.—Field Marshal Count von Waldersee died here after several days' illness.

Count von Waldersee was the only subject not of a royal house who was always cheered by the public. In appearance a fine, strong, handsome old man, not even the Chancellor was treated with more respect and admiration, for he had to do with the things that made Prussia great and the Empire possible.

His partial estrangement from the present Emperor in the early part of his reign, the reason of which still remains obscure, had disappeared long since and been replaced by the Emperor's cordial friendship.

TRIED TO BLOW UP A FAMILY.

Dynamite in the Firewood of the Leases, of Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Springfield, Ohio.—An attempt was made near Bellefontaine, in the home of John J. Lease, to blow up the entire family. Shortly after a piece of hemlock timber was placed in the stove an explosion occurred which caused severe injury to Mr. Lease and his three daughters, Emma, Dora and Clara.

The women were in the kitchen. It is believed the wood contained dynamite and it was put in for the purpose of killing the family.

Holes were blown in the walls and one piece of the stove went through the side of the house. Dora Lease, the least hurt, put out the fire that had begun to burn the garments of the others, who lay insensible on the floor.

THREE PERISH IN WRECK

Fire Destroys the Bodies of Two of the Victims.

Train Crash on the Missouri Pacific Causes Partial Destruction of a Tunnel.

Jefferson City, Mo.—A wreck which caused three deaths, the burning of several cars of merchandise, the partial destruction of a tunnel and so interrupted the operation of trains that this city has been without passenger and mail service, occurred on the Missouri Pacific about four miles from here.

Conductor Shumacher and brakemen Weyot and Nevis were killed. The latter and Shumacher were completely incinerated.

The collision occurred at the mouth of a tunnel, a local freight crashing into a through train. A flat car loaded with lumber and the caboose of the through train in which were the victims remained inside the tunnel and were burned.

The heat of the flames caused the rocks in the tunnel to crumble, and many tons of them fell upon the burning cars, smothering but not extinguishing the fire, and creating a dense volume of smoke and hindering entrance to the tunnel.

The caboose was between the car of lumber and the massive locomotive which ran into it. It was crushed and broken into splinters and caught fire from the overturned stove, the flames communicating to the car of lumber.

Conductor Shumacher was so pinioned in the wreck that he could not be extricated, the flames preventing help reaching him. Attempts to extinguish the fire in the tunnel were futile.

MURDERER ESCAPES.

Made Him Call Jailer to Open Door of the Cell.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Mark Dunn, convicted of the murder in this county of a wealthy farmer named Fenton, two years ago, and sentenced to be hanged March 11, escaped from jail.

Dunn got possession of two revolvers that were smuggled into jail in a coal oil can and forced the death watch to submit to being bound with wire. Dunn had used in making baskets. He held the watchman prisoner for an entire night and forced him to call the jailer soon after daybreak.

When the jailer appeared Dunn, threatening to kill the death watch, made the jailer open the cell. Then the murderer locked the jailer and his brother, a deputy sheriff, in the cell and escaped.

CHARGED WITH PARRICIDE.

Son of Wealthy San Francisco Packer Under Arrest.

San Francisco, Cal.—Albert, the son of the wealthy packer Joseph Buttgenbach, is under arrest here accused of murdering his father. At first the police believed that robbers had attempted to hold up Buttgenbach, but a negro porter said he had seen Albert enter his father's place on the night of the crime with a pistol in his hand, and soon after had heard a shot fired. Albert and his father had quarreled, and the son had threatened to shoot the old man. Bookkeeper Louis Brune is in jail, charged with being an accomplice.

VLADIVOSTOK BOMBARDED

Five Battleships and Two Cruisers Shelled the City.

NO REPLY FROM BATTERIES

Japanese Squadron, Consisting of Five Battleships and Two Cruisers, Fire at Long Range, and After Forty-five Minutes Retire to Askold Island—Warships Covered With Ice.

St. Petersburg.—A dispatch was received at the Admiralty, saying that five Japanese battleships and two cruisers approached Vladivostok from Askold Island, steaming toward Ussuri Bay. When opposite Patrochis and Sotol Bays they took up positions for battle and opened fire with all their guns at long range.

The Japanese squadron was at a safe distance, about eight versts (five miles and a quarter), from the shore. Their fire was directed against the forts and shore batteries. The town was not damaged.

Most of the 200 shells fired failed to explode, although charged with lyddite. The Russian batteries, on which were Commandant-General Voronetz, Brigadier-Commandant-General Artamonoff and other military authorities, did not reply.

The bombardment lasted fifty-two minutes. When the firing ceased the enemy retired in a column to Askold Island. At the same time two torpedo boat destroyers made their appearance near Askold Island and the other ships near Cape Maidel. The enemy's ships were covered with ice.

The attack cost the enemy over 200,000 roubles. Most of the shells fired were from six and twelve-inch guns. The population of Vladivostok had been warned in the morning by signals on the lookout from the Askold Island. It was probable, and had been notified that the Japanese squadron had appeared on the horizon.

The people remained tranquil during the firing. It is said that several Chinese in the town were hit.

Advices from Vladivostok say that the 2500 Japanese troops, who landed at Plaksin Bay, on the east coast of Northern Korea, are advancing toward Mungang, 218 miles from Wosan, with the intention of ultimately reaching Hunchun, on the left bank of the Tumen River, about a hundred miles west of Vladivostok, and threatening the Russian flank.

In order to checkmate this move the Russian outpost, 1500 strong, which crossed the Tumen, is advancing to occupy Koryyeng, on the Tumen, a walled city, commanding the trails along which the Japanese must pass.

PRISON DUEL TO THE DEATH.

Colored Convicts Stab and Slash Each Other in Their Cell at Trenton.

Trenton, N. J.—Two colored convicts, Elmer Durant and Henry Jones, engaged in a duel at the State prison and Durant was killed and Jones severely injured. The men were employed in the laundry and had hardly been returned to their cell when they began a fight, Durant being armed with a penknife and Jones with the blade of a pair of scissors.

Jones received a number of ugly cuts, but succeeded in stabbing his opponent six times with the scissors blade.

Durant died in half an hour. Jones is in the prison hospital in a critical condition due to loss of blood. It was necessary to amputate his hand. There had been some ill feeling between the two men. Durant was serving a ten-year sentence from Hudson County and Jones was a seven-year man from Union County.

SIX KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK.

Broken Bridge Threw Train Into Creek—Bodies Seen Under Water.

Wellsville, Ohio.—Six men were instantly killed and four others seriously injured by the breaking of the bridge across Yellow Creek at Hammondsville, on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad. The dead, J. P. Maas, engineer; Wellsville, Thomas Powell, extra fireman; East Liverpool; J. Henderson, fireman; Wellsville; George Phillips, conductor; C. King, brakeman; Wellsville; J. J. Kounts, brakeman; Wellsville.

Two engines drawing two cabooses and carrying a part of a crew that had been at work in the vicinity of Salina-ville repairing washed out bridges and culverts were returning to the Wellsville shops when the bridge, weakened by the floods, gave way and precipitated the train into the raging waters.

FLOOD IMPERILS TOWNS

Thousands of People Driven From Their Homes.

Swollen Rivers in the Pennsylvania District Cause Millions of Dollars' Worth of Damage—Bridges Swept Away.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Bursting with a succession of loud reports, like those of a rapid-fire gun, the great ice gorge in the north branch of the Susquehanna River crunched into atoms, submerging the towns lying along its banks and descending in a torrent upon Sunbury. To warn the residents of Sunbury of the peril the great whistle on the roundhouse of the Pennsylvania Railroad was sounded constantly. As a result, the citizens, by plunging wildly through the water in the streets, managed to remove their most valuable goods.

Four spans of the Danville bridge were floating down the river with the ice. From the same cause the city of Wilkesbarre and all the Wyoming Valley are in a turmoil. The mighty flow of water spread out north and south, and west, making the north branch of the Susquehanna River a vast, coursing lake, sweeping in its path whatever there was to invade.

Industries all along the stream from Pittston to Nanticoke closed down on account of the high water, and in many places the water burst into the mines.

At Plymouth the entire business section of the town was under water. The ice gorges there, and the water backed up so rapidly that many families found it impossible to leave their homes, and were obliged to live on the upper floors.

Over a million dollars' worth of property has been destroyed in the Wyoming Valley, and over 2000 families were rendered homeless.

The Pennsylvania Railroad bridge over Catawissa Creek was swept away, taking with it four large steel cars. The waterworks at Danville are under water and the city is without electric light and gas.

The town of Plainsville has been deserted, every house being affected. Pittston is badly damaged, and the main streets of Forty Ford and Doranetown are under water.

A rush of back-water came so suddenly at Esby and Rupert that the residents of each town had to flee to the mountains northward in order to save their lives, and these 1500 people are homeless and practically cut off from communication with the outside world.

DEFENDS KING LEOPOLD.

Counsel Attacks Princess Stephanie, Who is Suing Her Royal Father.

Brussels, Belgium.—In the action brought to compel King Leopold to pay his daughters the money left to them by their mother, M. Wiener, counsel for the civil list, declared that Princess Stephanie endeavored to mask with flowery sentiment the odious character of the aggressive action which the daughter had taken against her father.

She did not mention the fact that the Queen's will remained unexecuted for sixteen months owing to the tacit resistance of Count and Countess Lonyay, the latter being Princess Stephanie, that the Queen wished to bequeath more than she possessed, and that the King regarded it as incumbent upon him to make up the difference in order to pay the bequests. M. Wiener accused Princess Stephanie of wishing to bring her father publicly in court.

SPRINGFIELD MOB OVERAWED.

Presence of Militia Brings Quiet to the Ohio City.

Springfield, Ohio.—As a result of orders by Mayor C. J. Bowlus, all the saloons are closed and the inhabitants of the resorts of the levee district have taken their household goods and left for other parts of the city.

It is understood that many of the notorious persons who lived in these houses have gone to Columbus. The people generally, while deploring the methods adopted by the mob in burning the eastern part of the levee, feel that the place will never be as bad again.

These steps were taken in order that the mob element would not have a chance to burn them out.

F. A. HEINZE IS ARRESTED.

Noted Mining Operator Charged With Contempt of Court.

Butte, Mon.—F. A. Heinze and two of his mining engineers, Albert Frank and Josiah H. Trevis, were arrested by United States Marshal G. E. Lloyd for refusing to obey the orders of the court to permit an inspection of the Rarus mine, in order to ascertain the extent of the looting of the Butte and Boston's Michael Davitt mine.

Under directions of the Federal Court several inspectors in charge of the United States Marshal were examining the underground workings leading into the Michael Davitt, and discovered that not less than $500,000 worth of ore had been extracted from the Davitt. The court had enjoined this.

The passenger has been lying back in his seat, half dozing, for an hour or so, when the train slowly pulls into the yards at the outskirts of the great city. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
