appreciative audience who crowded the building long before time for the exercises to begin.

The stage was most artistically decorated and the class nicely arranged two young men and one young lady, and so on to the end making a spiendid group of haudsome young men and beautiful young ladies.

Misses Jessie Speed and Mary Perrin bore off the hightest honors of the class while each and every one did well, some graduating in English alone, while others graduated in English branches and Latin, taking the entire course.

The entire class reflected honor upon the institution as well as their teachers, and each one came off with well deserved honors for themselves and the people of Abbeville were justly proud of their sons and daughters. The musical programme was fine and most beautifully rendered by Miss Helen Miller and Mr. Luther Ellis plano and cornet.

This newspaper was the first in the state to call for an investigation into the affairs of the state dispensary. We insisted from time to time as evidence of wrongdoing cropped out. After more than a year, the work of the investigating committee has thus far proved a galiure. Not only so, but it would seem that they persistently bringing in irrelevant matter and making much of nothing, the combite of trumpets that the committee finds that beer dispensaries, were not run as ilquor dispensaries, that they were virtually run on the diffense system. Surely that was never as escret. The committee could have found out the fist day of their investigation, that beer dispensaries were simply required to pay to the state of South a flat royally of $3 per barrion every barriel of beer they sold; that they paid their own expenses of bottling and every other expense. This would have saved agreat deal of muddying the waters and obscuring the issue, for the evidence as to brewerles giving one beer dispensers in this state were precisely on the same footing as beer sellers in other states except that instead of paying an annual license, they paid a flat royalty on what they sold, of $3 per barrel. When that royalty is paid the state has nothing whatever to do with transactions between the brewery and the dispenser nor with any of the transactions of the dispenser except to see thal be obeys the law with regard to the mode or selling.

obeys the law with regard to the mode of seiling.

The committee finds that the Augusta Brewers built an ice box and furnished $550 to Mr. Thackston when he was elected dispenser. The breweries do this always when a man starts in business and needs help. They do it in other states and there is not the slightest moral turpitude in the transaction. If this money was used as a corruption fund, that is another matter. If they chose to give Mr. Narry a suit of clothes or a house and let, that is their business and Mr. Narry's and not the states.

If the committee has evidence that dispensers have bribed county boards to give them the position, that is material. That is one of the many things it was hoped the committee would ascertain.

Of course, we cannot know what the committee has in hand until it is given out We hope they will develop something as to why certain firms were placed on the blackillat, why certain concerns got business at a higher price than competitors, though if they have such evidence it is passing strange that time should be wasted and the issues confused with continually slifting over thrice told tales of a county that has voted out the dispensary and cannot now be concerned, Next to owning your own home, the next dispensary and cannot now be concerned, while other counties offer equally as inviting fields for investigation into what is going on and likely to continue.
