Open Air Schools Grow in Favor.
With the opening of the fall school term over 200 open-air schools and fresh-air classes for tuberculous, and anaemic children, and also for all children in certain rooms and grades, will be in operation in various parts of the United States, according to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. All of these schools have been established since January, 1907, when the first institution of this character was opened in Providence, R. I. On January 1st, 1910, there were only 13 open-air schools in this country and a year later the number had increased only to 29. Thus, the real growth in this movement has been within the last two years. Massachusetts now leads the states with 86 fresh-air schools and classes for tuberculous, anaemic and other school children, Boston alone having over 80. New York comes next with 29, and Ohio is third with 21. Open-air schools have now been established in nearly 50 cities in 19 different states.

The official figures gave Lyon 22,407 and Peeples 28,449. No returns were received from Greenville, Beaufort, Kershaw, Lancaster and Oconee counties.

Chairman Evans called attention to the need for funds for the national Democracy and urged each member of the committee to take up the matter with his county chairman and get him to ask each club president to attempt to get contributions from every voter. He said that 140,000 voters should each be willing to contribute 50 cents and impressed upon the members the sore need for funds to run the national campaign.

Chairman Evans also urged the people to turn out and vote in the general election and roll up a big majority for the Democrats ticket.

IVE pleasure. Lose no chance in giving pleasure. For that is the ceaseless and anonymous triumph of a truly loving spirit.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR BREAKFAST.

The American breakfast, compared to the English meal, is quite in the beginner's class. Here is a simple breakfast menu for August, taken from an English cook book: Bloaters on toast, collared tongue (whatever that may be), hot buttered toast, marmalade, white bread and butter, brown bread, and bread and milk.

Another—Pigeon pie, stewed kidney, milk rolls, dry toast, brown and white bread, mustard and cress, milk porridge.

A person who could digest such breakfasts as these in August ought to make a good soldier. It is said, and justly, that Americans eat too much, but we certainly are low on breakfasts, compared to the English.

We need follow no law except that of the individual in preparing our breakfasts, as each individual has desires peculiar to himself. Fruit is enjoyed by some and a source of distress to another. Cereal is energy to one and a "soggy mass of indigestibility" to another. Coffee, the fragrant, refreshing cup, a joy to many, is blamed for much of which it is innocent.

Then there are the "no breakfast" advocates, an arrangement which certainly has its good points, for it does away with the hurried meal prepared over by no house mother or a frowsy one. Such a beginning is not a good start for the day's work.

A dainty breakfast, well served, is of far more value to the individual than the more food properties served. A far better day is in store for the man who leaves his breakfast table in an agreeable frame of mind, and he will return, usually, in the same mood. No greeting, however smiling, or dinner well prepared, will atone for a hurried scramble at the breakfast table.

It has been well said that children, to be well trained, should begin with their grandfathers. To have and serve a successful meal, we must begin the day before. A meal well planned is usually a successful one.

HERE is no mystery about happiness whatever. Put in the right ingredients and it must come out.

FIGS AND DATES.

We are in the habit of thinking that dates, figs and raisins are confections, tidbits and luxuries. They are, in a measure, but contain much food value, and are much more wholesome for children to eat than too much of the so-called fresh fruit with which they are provided. These dried fruits are both nourishing and economical, as they take the place of more expensive foods. Dates have a food value in calories of 1275 to a pound, while the much used potato has only 295 to the pound.

Stuffed Dates.—Boil rapidly without stirring, one-half a cup of granulated sugar and a quarter of a cup of milk. Keep the granules from forming on the sides of the pan, by swabbing with water. When a soft ball forms when dropped in cold water, pour out on a platter and beat with a wooden spoon until thick. Add a quarter of a cup of shaved walnut or pecan meats and mold quickly in a sheet a quarter of an inch thick. Stone dates and stuff with the mixture.

Date-Dainties for Travelers.—Stone dates and stuff with a mixture of nut meats, candied ginger, candied pineapple, roasted almonds and fondant flavored with lemon juice. Roll each one in granulated sugar and pack in layers in a tin box, covering each layer with paraffine paper. These will keep indefinitely.

Fig Brittle.—Melt a pound of sugar in a saucepan, stir in a half pound of figs chopped fine, and pour into a greased pan a half-inch thick; cut in strips and serve. Nuts may be added with the figs, if desired.

Oriental Cream.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatine in a fourth of a cup of cold water, dissolve it in a fourth of a cup of hot milk; add a half cup of sugar, set into a pan of cold water and stir until it begins to thicken. Then add the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, a third of a cup of each of figs and dates chopped, and a half pint of whipped cream. Turn into a mold and chill thoroughly.

HIS MIND UP IN THE CLOUDS

Professor Imagined Appeal Was From Fido, and the Situation Became Embarrassing.

A great lover of animals, Professor Dryadust was much given to having his pet dog sitting beside him at meal times eating tidbits from his own little plate.

The other evening he was at a dinner party, and his partner was a very great lady, who was proud of her title.

But the professor paid absolutely no attention to her. His mind had switched off on to some abstract point and he was lost to the world over the problem.

The duchess did not approve of this, and presently, to attract his attention, she pulled him gently by the sleeve. Then the professor woke up. Grabbing a half-picked chicken bone from his plate, he thrust it under her startled nose.

"Don't bother just now, Fido!" he said curtly. "Here, take this and go and eat it on the mat, like a good doggie!"
