The Manufacturers Record. The announcement is made that Atlantic City, that marvelous place of marvelous hotels, not content with being the world's greatest summer resort and with being a very great winter resort, is now putting forth a combined effort to make its winter business rival, if not surpass, that of the summer. In connection with its great and wonderful hotels it is spending money lavishly to make the facilities for the enjoyment of its visitors as complete as possible and to advertise its attractions even more broadly than heretofore. The entire life of Atlantic City is centered on providing as many advantages and attractions as possible to secure and hold tourist travel and to make these facts as widely known as possible. Its amazing success ought to be studied by every tourist resort in the South. There are a great many places in the South, even when tourist business is already developed, where far-less attention is given to the comfort of visitors than can be found in Atlantic City. It is because the hotels in Atlantic City are untiring in their efforts to make their

When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. guests comfortable that they draw at all times so many tens of thousands of visitors. The average Southern tourist-resort hotel does not begin to give to its guests the same attention and the same care that can be had at Atlantic City, though, of course, some of them are equal to the very best in the land. This is all the more surprising when so many of these Southern-resort hotels are managed by Northern men, who ought to know how to cater to the very best advantage to Northern and Western guests. In the spring and early fall Atlantic City hotels are extremely careful to see that ample heat is available for every room in the house at any moment that a guest desires it. They take into account the fact that many of their guests are semi-invalids or aged people, who want more heat than the robust man who lives outdoors and who wants no heat. They take care to provide the heat for the invalid, the semi-invalid and the aged, and then the man who does not want heat can live on the porch or open his windows or keep the heat shut off from his bedroom to suit his convenience; but the other guests are not frozen merely to accommodate the fellow with too much heat in his blood. Florida hotels, on the other hand, to a very large extent, go on the principle that it is always warm in Florida, which is not true, and that it is not necessary to keep steam going so that it may be available when needed. There is not a spot in Florida which is warm enough every day in the winter not to need steam heat, and yet there are some big hotels in Florida where steam heat is not available except it be in the halls or lobbies, and then it is by no means always available at the time when needed. One day in a cold hotel has often driven tourists from Florida and made them vow never to return. Many people go to Atlantic City, preferring to stand the cold of winter days in preference to going to Florida, because they know they are absolutely certain to have thoroughly heated hotels and be able on every bright day to walk or ride in rolling chairs up and down its wonderful Boardwalk, and they can find amusements without end. Something is being done every hour of the day for their entertainment. Until the South takes hold of these problems as seriously and handles them as vigorously as Atlantic City has done, it will not measure up to its opportunities. Thousands of people who go to Atlantic City during the winter should, and doubtless would, be drawn to Florida if they found in that State the same hotel advantages that they find at Atlantic City.
