SHERER and PARKS.

There is only one factory in the State of New York.
Workmen are out.on a strike, and every factory has orders for more pianos than they can possibly make within the next six months.

In the West conditions are somewhat better.
I have orders already on file for eighty pianos and players, and I hope to get some along for my trade. The highest priced upright piano I have on hand now is worth $$ 550.00$ (Five hundred and fifty dollars.) It is a Kroeger and is a strictly high class piano. I have, in the past few days, received over twenty letters from the piano factories telling of the scarcity of pianos, and declining to offer me any inducements, or hopes of getting any instruments from them any time soon. Pianos are difficult to obtain, and same manufacturers and also dealers are taking advantage of this situation to get big prices. I give below a letter which is a sample of what piano factories write, and gives one some insight into the conditions of the piano market. I hope to get some Carlisle Pianos in the next six weeks at four hundred dollars each, and some Hackley Pianos at four hundred and twenty-five dollars each.
I am endeavoring to procure pianos of quality at the lowest price for my customers.

Whenever you want anything in the way of a piano, either see me or write me, or phone and I will do the very best for you I can. Letter referred to follows:

Dear Sif:

Answering yours of the 14 th inst., sorry to state that we are not in a position at this time to consider new business as we are not able to fill the orders now booked within the next six months. We manufacture only a strictly high-class piano, selling retail from $$ 750.00 \mathrm{up}$, for regular uprights.

Thanking you for the inquiry, we beg to remain,
Yours truly,
Signed) Julius Bauer & Co
Anyone that is acquainted with the piano market and with my prices knows that I sell the same quality of instrument much lower than is generally the case.

I shall be pleased to serve you at any time

Syrup for stimulating bees during early fall may be made by dissolving white sugar in an equal volume of water. The syrup for winter stor-s is best made by taking one part of water to two and a half parts of sugar. To the latter syrup, which is very concentrated; add one tablespoonful of tartartic acid to twenty pounds of sugar while heating to dissolve the sugar:
