

HINT FOR PANAMA ABOUT TERRITORY

AMERICA DOES NOT "FEEL COMPELLED TO SUGGEST" ACTION—COSTA RICA READY TO ASSUME IMMEDIATE JURISDICTION.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The United States has informed the government of Panama that as friendly mediator between Panama and Costa Rica in their boundary dispute, it does not "feel compelled to suggest" that Costa Rica delay any longer in taking jurisdiction over territory, now held by Panama, and which was adjudged to belong to Costa Rica by the terms of the White award.

The position of this government was stated in a note transmitted by Secretary Hughes to the government of Panama, August 18, and made public today by the State Department.

Costa Rica has advised the United States, the note said, of its determination to assume immediate jurisdiction over the disputed territory.

Almost simultaneously with the publication of the note, it became known that a force of marines had been embarked at Philadelphia for the canal zone. Officials here refused to divulge its purpose or to comment except for the statement that it was ordered at the solicitation of the State Department.

The marines, drawn from Quantico, Va., base, comprised the Third Battalion of the Fifth Regiment and were commanded by Major Thomas S. Clark. Unofficially it was said in naval circles that no plans had been made looking to the employment of American forces in this territory delimited by the White award.

Art Criticism

Arthur, age nine, returned from his first visit to the John Herron Art Institute with such a depressed air that his mother was puzzled.

"Didn't you like it, dear?" "Not much. Mostly there were people with their heads cut off."

"But there must have been some pictures of animals and trees and lovely country."

"Oh, a few, but," in disgust, "there were more of people doing things they shouldn't."

"Things they shouldn't?"

"Yes, some of them had taken off all of their clothes, even their union suits."—Indianapolis News.

CARUSO COLLECTED COINS

Great Tenor's Hobby Was Gathering Gold Money.

From the New York Sun.

Enrico Caruso adhered to the law which many great physicians say operates in the lives of most happy men. He had a hobby, more than one perhaps, but one at least which afforded him much entertainment.

In his apartment at the Knickerbocker Hotel he kept an enormous collection of rare gold coins. From one dealer alone in New York he had purchased about $40,000 worth of these coins and he had made large purchases abroad. Few people knew about this hobby of the great singer, but some of his intimates sometimes were permitted to look over the precious coins with their owner.

The coins were kept in a cabinet, each filed in its own small envelope. From these receptacles Caruso would draw glittering minted pieces of virgin gold, some of them as large as the palm could hold, and others as tiny as a child's nail, but all in some way noted and desirable from the collector's standpoint.

"He collected American, Roman and Italian gold coins principally," said William Duke, representative of Joseph F. Negreen, dealer in stamps and coins, who had often called upon Caruso with some rare piece which the singer desired to add to his collection. "His most valuable coin was the $50 slug, which was issued in California in 1861 in commemoration of gold craze. The coin is of pure gold with no alloy. The forty-niners used to stow this coin away in their pockets and feel that it was a substantial guarantee against going broke. Mr. Caruso had the octagonal coin, which is now worth about $400.

"The smallest gold coin in the collection is a 25 cent gold piece, which was issued as an Alaska-Yukon commemorative coin in 1909. There were also 50 cent coins of this type.

"Another rare American coin which he possessed was the $4 gold piece issued in 1897. Two silver dollars, called 'Gloria' and 'Metric,' were issued at the same time. The set is worth $160 now. Mr. Caruso was greatly pleased when he bought the set to find that one of the silver pieces was called 'Gloria' as was his little girl.

"He also had 24 of the St. Gaudens were edged $20 gold pieces issued in 1907. 'In God We Trust' was left off of these coins, and partly because of this and partly because they wouldn't stack properly at the banks, owing to the raised figure, they were soon withdrawn from circulation.

"He had about 50 of the gold $5 and $10 pieces issued from 1795 to 1807 whose peculiarity was that they bore no denominations. The $5 pieces were as large as our $10 pieces today and the $10 pieces as large as our $20 pieces. His collection also included the Lewis and Clark dollar, the McKinley dollar, the Panama Pacific set including coins of various denominations, and the oblong Kohler $20 dollar piece issued in California in 1850. Almost all the coins which Caruso collected were gold, but he had a few silver coins also, among them the Jewish shekel made by hand more than 500 years before the birth of Christ."

"BONHOMIE" OUT.

Greenville, S. C., August 19.—The 1921 edition of "The Bonhomie" Furman University's "annual" is just off the press and copies are being mailed by the publishers to subscribers, most of whom are students now at their homes in widely scattered towns and cities of South Carolina and other states.

Though the annual was due to appear prior to the closing of the university for the summer vacation, the delay in its appearance is more than offset by the exquisite quality, appearance and get-up of the publication. It is by far the handsomest number of "The Bonhomie" ever published, and would do credit to a much larger institution than Furman University. Bound in rich, brown leather, with lettering in gold, the publication is done in several colors. Borders of all pages are in purple, which with the white background of the paper, making up the college colors—purple and white.

The publication consists of five books, as follows: University, Classes, Athletics, Organizations Miscellaneous, Illustrations of principal buildings on the campus are printed in sepia ink, on buff paper, presenting a most pleasing appearance. Cuts of members of the Senior class show a distinct departure from the usual style appearing in college annuals. They are done in sepia ink and printed on a handsome grained paper.

An interesting and unique innovation is the department of "Carolina Belles," in which full-page portraits of ten well known South Carolina young women appear. These prints are done in sepia ink on grained paper. Each portrait is set in a handsome frame, and the page bordered in purple.

The whole publication is replete from front to back with illustrations, the engraving being of an excellent and artistic order. Each book or department of the annual is marked by its own title page, these being of a heavy, green paper and each bearing an artistic sketching appropriate to the department it introduces. The illustrations of buildings as well as the "cuts" of members of the faculty are made from new photographs of these subjects.

The 1921 Bonhomie is dedicated to Dr. Orlin Ottman Fletcher, professor of philosophy and social science.

Technical Terms.

"Slipovers, ty-ons, tuck-ins, tie-backs and step-ins are already thoroughly familiar to our fortunately gentle readers, and yesterday we saw a girl engaged in trying to cover herself up a little better after assuming a sitting posture who, in addition to having on all these things, we suppose, seemed to be wearing a jerk-down and pull-up," raves the impertinent and irreverent Ohio State Journal paragrapher, who has evidently been peering into subjects which are taboo to the male biped. What it is all about, we can merely guess.—Knoxville Sentinel.
